There will be a special meeting of the Unity guild at Mrs. Gardiner's Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, sharp. Business of importance. By order of the secretary. Two bad bills were passed in at the police station yesterday. They were Bill Jones and Bill Bates, both charged with non-conformity to the laws of dietetic integrity, commonly called drunkenness.

Miss Sadie Morehouse died at the residence of her sister, Mrs. H. C. H. on February 20th from a congestive chill. The remains will be taken to Missouri Valley this morning. The deceased was 45 years of age.

The case of Levy, for obtaining money under false pretenses, was set for yesterday in "Squire Schurz" court. One of the attorneys in the case was out of the city and the other busy in a higher court, so it was indefinitely postponed.

Alfred Woodward of Macedonia has started the manufacturing of a washing machine, which is proving a startling success. J. D. Gault of Council Bluffs, Ouren and other well-known residents of this county voluntarily sound its praises, having tried it. All lovers of music will have an opportunity to pass an enjoyable evening at the opera house to-night, on the occasion of a concert of the Apollo club of Omaha, assisted by Mrs. Lacey and Miss Pennell. The programme is varied, and can not fail to please.

The proprietors of the Kiel hotel are starting in on some extensive improvements in the kitchen, plumbing, etc., that will greatly add to the convenience and comfort of their guests. It is not strange that this well-known hostelry continues to hold its place in popular favor.

In the district court yesterday the Richardson-Scott case came to a finish, and was given to the jury about 6 o'clock. The charge of the judge was very full and took an hour to deliver. The Coffman case will come on to-day, and most of the day will probably be taken in securing a jury.

Carter & Son, of the Ogdon Boiler works, have been putting in a large punch and adding other facilities for doing more and better work. This manufacturing enterprise is a credit to the city, and there is no need of going away from home to secure the very best sort of work in this line.

It is stated on good authority that one of the First avenue bellies will soon enter upon a state of double-blessedness. As there are about a half dozen of them to whom the soft impeachment might apply it is somewhat difficult to determine which one will first send around a sample of aristocratic dyspepsia in disguise, known as wedding cake.

It is now authoritatively stated that Jacob Neumeyer has his arrangements completed for the erection of a three-story hotel. He has purchased of George Rudio the lot abutting upon his property on Broadway. This will give him a good frontage. Plans are being prepared, contracts let and within a short time the active work of building will be under way.

There can no longer be any doubt about the crossings for the motor line to Lake Manawa. The bills of lading for the crossings reached here yesterday, and the crossings themselves will probably be received to-day. The motor line will now be completed as speedily as possible. It is authoritatively stated that two new motors are being built, and will be ready in abundant time for the opening of the season. Mr. Reed is quiet in his moves and does not indulge in a manly vain boasts as those who had the enterprise in hands last season, but he seems to be accomplishing much more.

Watch Tipton's real estate bulletin under its own column. Money to loan. W. S. Cooper. Personal Paragraphs. Mr. Henry M. Lewin, of Sioux City, who has been in the city for some time, returned home Monday evening. Miss Oberholzer entertained a whist party last evening in honor of her friend, Miss Eno, of Newark, N. J. Miss Adeline Sawyer, who has been the guest of the Misses Bedison for the past week, returned to her home in Sioux City Sunday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Townsend, of Cleveland, O., arrived in the city yesterday and are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ingraham. Mrs. Townsend is a cousin of Mr. Ingraham. M. M. Marshall, general agent of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy in this city, lost his pocketbook, containing about $20, Monday evening. It was found at the city hall by Contractor Owen and returned to the owner. Captain H. J. Henry, of Three Rivers, Mich., is visiting old friends in this city. It is three years since he was here last, and he is much pleased with the changes that have so greatly increased the value of his real estate in the Bluffs.

The Work On the Bridge. A hole was cut in the ice yesterday, through which to sink the caisson for the new bridge, in the center of the channel. The caisson will be sunk to the sand to-day, and is expected to have it down to bed-rock in a few days. As fast as the caisson is sunk it will be filled, and it will take but a short time to complete it. The work is being carried on the ice, and it is expected to have this big pier complete before the river is open.

WORKING FOR A NEW HOTEL. The Progress of the Bridge—A Silver Wedding—The Grand Jury—The Aldermen Will Not Resign.

The Fool and His Money.

The latest and most simple exhibition of gray-haired veranday is that of John F. Hunt, of Fillmore, Mo., who, yesterday morning, allowed himself to be "turned over" to the tune of $35 by a brace of slick rascals. It was the same old game with a little change by way of variety. The circumstances are as follows: On Monday last Mr. Hunt boarded the train for the purpose of visiting his two sons, who are located at Olerich, Dak. When the train arrived at St. Joseph a man got on the train and took a seat opposite to him across the aisle. In the conversation which ensued Hunt told his new acquaintance of his visit and his purpose, and it turned out that his new friend was a merchant at Valentine, Neb.; his name was Morgan and he had a brother in the grocery business at the same town near which Hunt's sons lived. By the interchange of these little stories the old man's faith was entirely won. When the couple arrived at the Union Pacific transfer depot the chicken was all ready to pluck. They alighted at the depot and Morgan casually remarked that his friend, the transfer agent, was done before the train reached the local depot. The "agent" came in and was introduced to Hunt. Then their "business" was introduced. The agent must have money, etc. Morgan had none about him, but had plenty in a sixty-pound sack which was in the baggage car. The safe could not be got at, as it was piled in with other safes, until Missouri Valley was reached. Morgan would give a check as security and a handsome bonus for the use of a loan. Hunt had only $35, in gold, in his pocket, at first, not near enough for the purpose, but the pair finally concluded they could get along with this amount until the Valley was reached. The old man parted with his gold; the train stopped at the depot, Morgan got off and went to the town, and the agent got off to attend to business. When he had got outside the train Officer Quinn, who was passing through the car, asked Hunt who the men were; what they had done to him, etc. At first Hunt would say nothing, but finally gave the whole thing up. When the officer had got the story he started out to find the rogues. Several persons had noticed them, and the direction they had taken was given. The officer hunted but to no purpose—the birds had flown.

Among those who saw the rogues was Baggageman Moxley. He suspected something wrong and followed them up into the city and into the yards of the Chicago Lumber company, where they stopped and divided the swag. In a short time Marshal Guanella and Chief Mullen were notified. A fair description of the men was secured from Hunt and a search for the rascals was instituted. Thus far no clue as to their whereabouts has been secured. Hunt describes them thus: Morgan as a medium sized, dark complexioned man, about thirty years of age. He had a dark chin beard and mustache and wore a dark suit and dark overcoat. The "agent," he says, was a tall, light complexioned, smooth-faced man of about the age of his companion. He has prominent eyes and a quick, nervous way of winking. Others who saw them describe them differently, so the police have very little to work on in the matter of means of identification. The depots and all outgoing trains are closely watched. Hunt remained in the city yesterday to assist in identification in case they are caught. This morning he will proceed on his journey a much wiser man for his experience with the "world and its ways."

Among those who heard the victim's story was Polenz, the German who was paid for $100 a few months ago for the bogus check racket. He says he thinks he knows the "express agent" from the description, and has seen him around the transfer a great deal. In talking of the case he said: "Since I was bit, it makes me hot to hear of these sardines. It is very anxious to secure the cooperation of Colonel Dailey, and thinks he can corral the sharpers. The police will keep a sharp lookout for them, but are not much elated with the prospect for catching them."

An Extensive Improvement. General G. M. Dodge was in the city yesterday and left last evening in pursuance of business projects. While here he, in company with his architect, Mr. Allen, of the firm of Allen & Bell, visited the postoffice block and planned for its entire reconstruction. It will be remodeled, within and without, and fitted up with all modern improvements. When completed the block will be one of the finest buildings for mercantile purposes in the west. The work will begin as soon as the government building is completed, and the postoffice moves into its new quarters. There is a possibility that Mr. Beno will connect this with his present stores, thus having the mammoth store of the west. The work will be completed and the postoffice moves into its new quarters. There is a possibility that Mr. Beno will connect this with his present stores, thus having the mammoth store of the west. The work will be completed and the postoffice moves into its new quarters.

WORKING FOR A NEW HOTEL. The business men of the city are having an opportunity to make a practical showing of their wants in the matter of a hotel. Two schemes are on foot and both are being pushed with much vigor. The board of trade committee are taking names and the amount each one is willing to give to the enterprise. The other plan is being presented by another committee. This provides for the location of the building at either Seventh or Eighth streets on Broadway. The following stipulations are incorporated in the subscription. The hotel shall contain not less than one hundred and twenty-five rooms, shall cost not less than $75,000, and shall be completed within one year. The terms of payment of stock are 25 per cent of stock when the foundation is completed, 25 per cent when the walls are up, 25 per cent when the building is enclosed and the remaining 25 per cent when the hotel is opened. The property in view is owned by several different parties. Josiah Danforth owns upon both corners at Eighth and Smith Saunders and Dr. Cleaver own the lots on the other corner. Danforth is already getting a fair revenue from his property, but is willing to devote it to this purpose if a small gratuity is furnished to cover incidental loss. The other property is vacant. Both Saunders and Cleaver purpose erecting some building upon their property. If it is not secured for a hotel site, they will, during this season, erect store buildings. Now that the matter has developed a definite plan and purpose the immediate building of a first class hotel seems a surety.

Not Miffed. A report appeared in one of the city papers a short time since stating that Aldermen Wells and Metcalf were about to resign their seats in the city council on account of differences. They deny that this is the case, and say that their only reason for resigning is on account of other business. Alderman Metcalf states that he will be away on business during a part of the winter, and it was better for some one else to be elected in his place, but he was afraid that the vacancy might be filled by a party who would not be in favor of carrying on the city improvements as mapped out. It is probable that the resignation resolutions among the city fathers, and that those who hold over will continue to devote a part of their time to the consideration of municipal affairs.

A Find of Coal. Wild rumors were flying about last night and meetings were hastily arranged between A. Y. Fuller and certain other prominent citizens. It finally leaked out that while Mr. Fuller was on his way home he had accidentally fallen over the artistic stone bridge that spans Lake Woodbury at the corner of First avenue and Pearl. Mr. Fuller never does anything by halves, and so when he fell in, went straight to the bottom. When he reached the surface again he had in his grasp a number of specimens of splendid granitic coal. Naturally, Mr. Fuller was wildly excited over the discovery, and generously confided the secret to the above-named prominent citizens. It took considerable effort to convince Mr. Fuller that the coal had been dumped into the lake last fall by Cashier Haunon, in a vain endeavor to make a crossing for First avenue pedestrians.

Sheafe loans money on real estate. S. B. Wadsworth & Co. loan money. The Grand Jury. The grand jury yesterday returned three more indictments. Two of them are against parties now in the county jail. One is Grant DeWitt, charged with assault with intent to do bodily injury. The attack was made in Grove township on the person of William Oler. The weapon used was a loaded whip and the victim was severely wounded. The other indicted party is John Ealey, charged with larceny from a building. The stolen property, a ring valued at $15, belonging to Lizzie A. Hyer, was taken from the Egyptian restaurant on or about the 28th of December last.

There are several parties now confined in the county jail who have not yet been indicted, but their cases will soon come up, and the grand jury will probably finish its labors this week.

A Unique Anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Smith celebrated their silver wedding Monday evening at their home, corner of Seventeenth street and Sixteenth avenue. Many of the guests present were also present at the first wedding twenty-five years ago. The couple were married by Squire David DeVol, and Mr. H. H. Field played the "fiddle" on the happy occasion. At the anniversary the marriage ceremony was repeated by the squire, and Mr. Field played the same music on the same old "fiddle." Mr. and Mrs. Smith led in dancing the same old quadrille. Many of the relics of the former wedding were on display, and the enjoyment of the party was unbounded. There were many elegant and hearty congratulations.

For sale at a bargain—Six-room house, 3 blocks from postoffice. Bilger, 6 Pearl st.

It Tumbled Up. The pile driver now being used in the construction of the Broadway bridge got on a little tear yesterday and made things hum for a short time. A block became somewhat disarranged, and the heavy weight started to slip. The top of the frame at a lively rate. The steps of the ladder were ripped off, but a projecting bolt stopped the weight before it reached the man on the frame or he would have suffered severe if not fatal injuries. The damage was soon repaired.

The Ladies' Reading club will meet on Thursday of this week with Mrs. L. W. Ross, on Willow ave.

Charged With Bigamy. The attorneys for William J. Clark, the alleged bigamist now confined in the county jail, have filed a motion in the superior court for a reduction of bail from $1,000 to $400. The motion is accompanied by certificates from Drs. Thomas and Macrae stating that the prisoner's presence at the bedside of his wife is an imperative necessity. Mrs. Clark is still very low, although somewhat improved. It is intimated that if Clark is allowed to go on low bail he will not be here when wanted for trial.

Travelers' Stop at the Bechtels.

Board of Trade. The board of trade met last evening in regular session. A correspondence was read between W. W. Wallace and a certain manufacturer, involving $250,000 and four to six hundred hands. Alderman Metcalf stated the syndicate of which he is a member would donate fifteen or twenty acres to this company if they would locate here. Proposals will be submitted from two insurance companies upon the erection of business blocks in this city. Correspondence from a buggy-gear and spring company was also submitted. A committee constituted of F. J. Day, George F. Wright and F. O. Gleason was appointed to consider the matter of the city. On motion it was made the sense of this board that the following gentlemen would receive the support of the business men if they would accept the nominations in caucus for councilmen: John F. Beno, Fred Weiss, John P. Weaver and E. H. Merriam. The following resolutions were presented, and on motion adopted: Whereas, Efforts are being made to locate a Chautauqua assembly in the vicinity of Council Bluffs and Omaha, and Whereas, Such assembly will contribute largely to the material as well as moral welfare of Omaha and Council Bluffs, as well as to the great western commonwealth; It is by the board of trade of Council Bluffs hereby Resolved, That the efforts to establish a Chautauqua in this vicinity are entitled to the confidence and material support of all our citizens. Resolved, That an invitation be extended to the board of trade of Omaha to co-operate with us in securing this enterprise, in which lie our mutual interests, and that the board of trade of Omaha be requested to appoint a committee to act jointly with a like committee of Council Bluffs in the management of the Chautauqua enterprise, familiarizing themselves with the plans and purposes and assisting in devising further means for the speedy and successful consummation of the same. The chairman appointed the following as such committee: Messrs. M. F. Rohrer, E. L. Shugart, F. O. Gleason, D. W. Archer and C. B. Waite.

The ladies of the Episcopal church will serve supper to-night at No. 317 Broadway, next door to J. B. Atkins' drug store. Everybody invited.

The Farmer's Insurance. The tenth annual meeting and election of officers of the Pottawatomie County Mutual Farmer's Insurance company will be held to-day in the parlors of the Kiel hotel. The company has at present about eight hundred members, representing $2,000,000 worth of insured property. During the year just passed the total losses amounted to only $1,800, and this is nearly double what it has been for any previous year. It is the policy of the company to draw money from the bank to pay a loss within ten days from the time it occurs, and afterward levy an assessment to the policy holders. The last year the assessment amounted to about 14 mills on the dollar, but is usually less than one mill, as this has been an exceptionally severe year. The territory covered by this company embraces three counties, Pottawatomie, Harrison and Mills. All farm property is insured against fire and lightning. The property is assessed at its full value, and in case of loss two-thirds of the assessed value is paid. Much care is exercised in selecting risks, as the result shows. The company has been very successful thus far, and the members are well satisfied with its workings.

Temporarily Embarrassed. At a meeting of the board of trustees of the Y. M. C. A. held yesterday afternoon it was developed that the finances of the association were temporarily embarrassed, but solely for the reason that forty-five of the members who, had subscribed $50 each to the gymnasium fund, have failed to pay their subscriptions, although repeatedly called upon to do so. The trustees are now working out of the purchase of the apparatus for the gymnasium that are now due and pressing. State Secretary Danner, of Des Moines is in the city and will assist Secretary Baker in collecting these delinquent dues and furthering the work of the association.

Always Left His Safe Open. "New York Sun": "The late ex-Congressman C. C. B. Walker of Corning," said a fellow townsman of the dead politician, "although one of the most careful of business men, never would permit the safe in his residence, where he kept valuable papers, money, and rich family plate and jewelry, to be locked when he left the house. He was one of those who, years ago, while he was away, burglars entered his residence and took from the safe over $5,000 worth of diamonds, none of which was ever recovered. When it was learned in Corning that the robbery had been committed with the greatest ease because the safe was unlocked, it could not be understood how a man of the congressman's strict business methods could be so careless and thoughtless in regard to the protection of his household treasures, especially as many of them, through association and long family possession, had a value to him much beyond their intrinsic worth. I mentioned the matter to the congressman one day, and expressed my regret at his carelessness, especially as he increased my surprise by saying that the fact of the safe being unlocked on the night of the robbery was not the result of carelessness or thoughtlessness, and that it was left open by his express order and direction. 'When I am home,' he said, 'I always lock the safe and put the key away. When I go away from home it is understood in my house that the safe must not be locked. You may remember that when the Wallburg robbery occurred a few years ago the cashier and members of his family were treated with great cruelty and violence by the robbers because of their resisting the demands for the keys to the vault and safe. That set me to thinking, and one day I said to my wife: 'We have some things in that safe which are valuable and very dear to us. Now, it is only a question of time when some ruffian or ruffians will come after them. If I am at home, the chances are that they will not get them; but I may be away at the time. If they come then and find that safe locked, they will hesitate at no personal violence toward you in their efforts to effect an entrance to it. All the precious results in the vault and safe will not recompense for the result of such treatment. Therefore, when I am absent from home the safe must not be locked. Then if robbers come they will secure their booty and retire without disturbing you.' 'Robbers came while I was away,' continued the congressman, "secured the booty, and left without disturbing Mrs. Walker or any one else. They were even considerate enough to administer ether to my wife, for fear of disturbing her. Suppose that safe had been locked? I don't care to even conjecture what the consequences might have been, and I feel that in saving my family from them, the paying of $5,000 was a trifling matter."
