Governor Thayer Formulates Provisions For Transfering Prisoners.

THE TEXT OF THE CIRCULAR.

Doings in the District Court-Prohibi-Lionists Ready For she Campaign -Fixing For the Encampment -Other Lincoln News.

LEDGE THE BEE'S LINCOLN BUREAU. Governor Thayer has issued a circular setting forth the law m regard to the extradition of fugitives from justice and the rules that must be followed in securing persons and papers. The governor has worked very hard to clear this department of the executive of the very common complaint that parties were extradited from other states more especially to collect a debt a fugitive might owe, rather than punishing him for violating the law, and it has been the effort of the governor to see to it that the machinery of the state should not be used for the collection of debts in this manner. At a conference of state officials interested in the extradition question a set of rules were adopted to follow that the governor has approved for the state. One of the most important of the inter-state rules is that the application for extradition must be made by the prosecuting attorney. In addition to the general law and interstate rules Governor Thayer has added the following that must hereafter be observed:

1. No account for expenses will be allowed 1. No account for expenses will be allowed unless the fugitive has been returned to the proper county in this state for trial.

2. Each bill must specify all the items of expenditure, accompanied, when possible, with the proper vonchers. When payment for services is made to officers in other states, their receipts must be appended and the whole account proposely sworm to whole account properly sworn to.

3. The compensation of agents is limited to the refunding of the actual expenses incurred, and $3 a day when in actual service; that of assistants $2 per day. No compensa-tion or expenses will be allowed an assistant when but one prisoner is returned.

4. No claims will be allowed for compensation or otherwise which may arise after the prisoner has been returned to the county in which the crime was committed.

5. The state will not be responsible for expenses incurred in procuring the requisition, or before the requisition is issued.

6. The agent's commission should always or before the requisition is issued.

6. The agent's commission should always be returned to the executive office, with a brief history of its execution written upon the back, like an officer's return upon a writ, and should be accompanied by a receipt from the paler or other officer to whom the fugitive was delivered to await his trial.

7. The warrant issued by the governor for the arrest and delivery of any person, for whom a requisition has been made upon the executive of this state, should be returned to this office by the officer making the arrest, with his action written in full thereon.

DISTRICT COURT. The district court before Judge Field and a jury has consumed two days in hearing the case of Shamp vs. Meyers

This is an action to recover some $800 and has been in the courts for some County Attorney Stearns yesterday filed the following informations in criminal cases that cover the new cases on this docket for the term: Thomas J. Haylen, obtaining money under false pretense; Ed Hart, adultery; Charles Thomas, forgery and altering forged paper; Fred Able, adultery; W. W. House and Mrs. W. W. House, resisting and abusing an officer. A new divorce case was instituted yesterday, Rosa Blake asking divorce from William Blake on the grounds of failure to support and abuse.

OPENING THE CAMPAIGN.

The prohibitionists have taken the initiative in city politics by calling their march 20, at Red Ribbon hall, the pri maries in the different wards to be held on the Saturday previous. The city officers to elect the present year are a police judge and six members of the council. At the election a year ago by collusion with the democrats the prohi-bitionists shared in the spoils of city politics and a good sized hope remains to them for the coming campaign. The delegates are apportioned as follows: First ward 9, Second ward 15, Third ward 21, Fourth ward 18, Fifth ward 15, Sixth ward 15, each church in the city and each temperance organization in Some writer in New York—presumably more ingenious than ambitlous—is preparing estimates on the number of raliroad men as work in the United States. His work was prompted by the remark of Chauny. Depew, at a recent bauquet of locomotive engineers, that the New York Central road alone had more than ten regiments of men in its employ. According to the work of the statistician referred to the rallroad men, or the men at work in all the different branches connected with the railroads in the United States, if gathered together, would make an army greater than that of Xerxes when he marched eastward to the conquest of Greece.

According to his figures no European nation has a standing army one-half the numerical strength of the American railroad men, and, if he is right, the railroad men in this country, taken logether, exceed in number the roils of both the union and confedearte troops of our late war added together.

If this is true it is indeed wonderful. But when one stops to think that there is not a city of any size in the country that does not employ its host of railroaders, these figures do not seem so very strange.

Omaha and Council Bluffs, with their network of railroads that stretch cut like hummerable radail from the ceuter of a circle towards the circumference, have a small army of railroad. In man and employes living within their bounds. The writer was never piore impressed with their numerical importance as a component part of the population of both cities than in the course of a conversation recently with Mr. William Connor, who was in the employ of the Union Pacific for inneteen consecutive years. A machinist by trade, but for some time past has been taking life easy, being now in his 5th year. He is well and favorably known, residing in Omaha for the past & years. During the conversation serious subjects were falked about, among which was the health of Mr. William Connor, who was in the employ of the Union Pacific for inneteen consecutive years. A machinist which, in addition to my liver, seemed to be always out of order. My eyes were weak and inflammed, and emitted considerable water at times. I had a buzzing and roaring noise in my head and ears, which put me in mind of a train of cars passing through a covered bridge. I would hawk and spit almost continually, and in the morning after rising would have to gag and voint for sometimes an hour before I would get my throat clear.

"But you seem all right now?" Do you feel as well as you look?" queried the scribe.

"Well, I should say. I am all right now, and think I feel even better than I look."

"By what method or treatment did you obtain the much needed relief?"

"I have been a reader of the daily papers aver the much needed relief?"

"I have been a reader of the daily papers ever since they were published in Omaha, and read the notices of the cures people had received by using Dr. McCoy's treatment. I concluded to try him, the result is I feel well again and am thankful there is located in Omaha, such a specialist as the doctor. I find both the doctor and his associates men or ability and believe them to be thoroughly reliable gentlemen.

Mr.Conner resides at 1616 Webster street, where he will be glad to corroborate the above statement.

A LEADIG PHYSIOLOGIST

on the Subject.

One of the best learned physicians of modern times, in an article on catarrh and consumption, says: "The treatment of consumption has made great advances by the introduction of new remedies, and has enabled the close student and specialist to establish indications for remedies long in use, so that by their methodical application better results are attained than were formerly gained at a time when consumption and cancer were regarded as edually incurable, and were somewhat similarly treated.

"The treatment of consumption demands a careful avoidance of all agents calculated to cause hyperemia of the lungs and bronchial catarrh. Persons in whom a tendency to consumption is suspected should be treated with the greatest care and attention.

"Finally, whenever there is the slightest susplicion of a predisposition to consumption, every catarrah, no matter how slight, should be treated with the utmost cure, which must not be relaxed until the catarrh is entirely well. This rule, so obvious from our point of view, is very frequently violated.

"Many patients fall a victim to the deeply rooted prejudice that a neglected catarrh never leads to consumption.

IN SIMPLE FORM.

Popular Explanation of a Matter Usually Veiled in Technicalities. Usually Veiled in Technicalities.

In this connection there can hardly be a more interesting subject than the ultimate effects of catarrh upon the hearing. The processes of this disease in policuling the breath, rotting away the delicate machinery of smell and taste, poisoning the lungs and the blood, and passing into the stomach, enfectbling the digestion, vitiating the secretions and polluting the very fountains of life. All this has, perhaps, been very generally discussed, but the very frequent effect of catarrh of the nose and throat upon the hearing has not been touched upon as often as the subject warrants.

catarrh of the mose and throat upon the hearing has not been touched upon as often as the subject warrants.

A very little study of anatomy will show the reader that the junction of the back passage of the nose and the upper part of the throat is connected with the ear by a minute and delicate passage known as the Eustachian tube. Along this tube the catarrhal process extends, producing congestion and inflammation. By the further extension of this process to the mucus lining of the tympanum of the ear is caused, in some cases, slight forms of catarrh of the middle ear, and in this way partial or complete deafness may in like manner result from the hickened tissue encreaching upon the mouth of the Eustachian tube.

Partial or complete deafness may also result from catarrhal interference with the masal breathing, depriving the ear of a proper supply of pure air or from the effects of obstruction in the masal passages, causing make ra incation or condensation of the air in the middle ear.

In such cases as these general remedies, which are of en prescribed, prove comparatively ineffective. A cure can only be obtained by skillful and scientific local treatment—and let it be said here that nothing could be attended with more disastrous results than unskillful local treatment—combined with constitutional treatment—and care for the disease which brought about the trouble to the hearing.
