GOING ON A PICNIC.

Douglas County Commissioners Off For a Week's Trip.

The county commissioners set out on their junketing tour to-morrow night, presumably and as represented to examine jails in Kansas City, St. Louis and Chicago with a view of making improvements upon their return on the Douglas county bastile. Mr. Billy Moran, the clerk of the commissioners, will accompany them, and will carry in his grip a few gross of drawing materials so that when the delegation gets back they can present "the pictures" of foreign jails to their admiring constituents. The six tourists expect to be gone one week, during which time Douglas county will be bereft of her legislators.

By way of an affectionate adieu to their constituents the commissioners met yester day afternoon and read a communication from Pat O. Hawes, esq. He agrees to col-lect money due the county for boarding and lodging its prisoners, asking 20 per cent of the amount collected for his labors. The committee on judiciary will consider the modest proposition when they get back from their support their jaunt.

Redemption money in the sum of $837.20 was reported to have been recovered from A. C. Pennock, and ordered placed in the judgment fund.

At Athens, Ga., the other evening, great preparations were made for a wedding among the colored folks. The bride was prepared in gorgeous raiment; the table groaned with good things. But the groom came not. He sent word that he could not be present. Another young man offered to take his place, but the bride objected. Then all feil to eating and drinking and the occaall fell to eating and drinking, and the occa-sion was quite as jolly, and all enjoyed them-selves as though there was really a wedding.

It promises to be one of the most successful entertainments ever given in this city under local auspices. There has been a large sale of tickets and excellent prices have been offered for the boxes.

The sale of seats yesterday was unprecedented. On Monday at noon there will be a parade of all taking part in the performance. The procession under the lead of the Musical Union band will leave the opera house at noon and march through the principal streets of the business center. This afternoon at 1 o'clock there will be a dress rehearsal at the opera house of all taking part in the performance.

RANASCER'S.

Madame Janauschek's coming engagement at Boyd's will be the last she will ever play in Omaha, and gives occasion for a special word of recognition. What the historic Rachel was, over thirty years ago, Madame Janauschek is to-day-unequivocally the par-adigm of superlative dramatic excellence, and the world-bestowed title "Queen of Tragedy," has been nobly won by triumphs un-paralelled in the annals of the dramatic pro-fession. In Europe she was the admired of the masses and the favorite of royalty. Her career has been a substantial repetition of her triumphs in the older world, and long years after she shall have left our shores she live in kindly and honored remembrance. She will appear here in Mary Stewart next Tuesday evening and in Meg Merrilies on Wednesday evening next.

KATE CASTLETON.

Kate Castleton will be here for one night only on Thursday next. Miss Castleton has earned the reputation of not imitating, "Crazy Patch" will be, again, the play. It will be rendered by an entirely new cast. Miss Castleton has always been accompanied with a good company, and without doubt the present one will reach the average. Big things are said of her new song, "Excuse Me, I'll Tell You No More."

Me, I'll feil fou Ko More. BGYPT, DON, ELLSLEB. Miss Effic Ellisler comes to Boyd's opera house on Friday evening and continuing until Saturday night in her new comedy "Egypt," or "A Daughter of the Nile." until Saturday night in her new comedy "Egypt," or "A Daughter of the Nile." "Egypt," contrary to the suggestion of its title, has little or nothing to do with the Orient. It derives its name from the heroine Egypt Allyn, the daughter of a strict Puri-tan. She was called so because of having been born at Alexandria. One of the scenes is laid in "The Brambles" near a home on the Hudson where Laura Don (the authoress of "Egypt") herself lived. The history of Don herself, its quaintly pathetic, and the fascination of her play, lies in the fact that it is a mirror of her own erratic brilliancy. it is a mirror of her own erratic brilliancy. Fifteen years ago, Laura Don, then a young and beautiful girl, walked into John Ellsler's (Efficie's father) Cleveland theatre and asked for theatrical employment. She made her appearance some weeks afterward in a play in which Effic played the child's part. A year later she wandered eastward and at length found herself in New York.

She wrote "A Daughter of the Nile," (now called Egypt.) She essayed the title role herself, but was only moderately successful. She made a tour of a few weeks and then her health gave way. In Chicago one night, in the fourth act of the play, where, as a statue, she must stand motionless for many minutes, she stand motionless for many minutes, she stepped from the pedestal right in the midst of the scene, crying "My God! I can stand this no longer!" and ran from the stage to return no more. She went to the south of France in broken health but returned to America three years ago and died at her home in Dutchess county, near the Palisades of the Hudson, which she had pictured so faithfully in the second act of her play. Last February Miss Ellsler got the MSS of "Egypt" and in the theater of the same John Ellsler who started Don in her career filteen

"Egypt" and in the theater of the same John Ellisler who started Don in her career fifteen years before, produced it and scored a bril-liant success. It has been in Miss Ellsler's repertoire ever since. "Egypt" will be played Friday evening only. On Saturday at the matince "Camille" will be given and Saturday night "Woman sgainst Woman." To NiellT.

This evening, at the Boyd, Baureis & Puls' excellent company gives another per-formance in German in which nearly all the members of the company will take part. CARLETON AT THE GRAND. W. F. Carleton is the eldest and most sucbeen very warmly welcomed. Since his last appearance here Mr. Charles Carleton and his company have been wonderfully success-ful in a new opera, styled "Darothy." The piece has been most wonderfully successful, both on the western and eastern coast. The composer, Collier, has written an opera that will be acceptable to the great mass of Amer-icans, though its thoma is more "Social to add icans, though its theme is very English and its treatment even more so. The hunting chorus in the second act is one of the most ratting and spirited pieces of that class of music ever composed, and both words and music of Bantam's Chanticleer Hall song are charming. The company appears at the Grand opera house on Thursday, Friday and Saturday matinee and night of this week.

AT THE PEOPLE'S. This theatre which has now been dedicated to the vandeville performances under the proprietorship of Henry A. Parrish offers an excellent programme for the coming week. Besides a number of other stars there will be Clifford & Hieley, kings of the knock about song and dance business; the Osbornes Irish sketch artists: Rush & Bryant in original specialties, and Lavender & Thomp-son and Burns & Monroe in entertaining acts. The theatre has been doing an excellent business and deserves well of the people.

THE GIANT. One of the largest specimens of humanity ever seen in this part of the country is now on exhibition on Farnam street, immediately east of Mux Meyer's store. The most talked about man in town the past week has been Seymour, the mind reader. On account of the pronounced hit he has made at the Musee
