

SCHARBEANO'S TRIALS.

His Father-in-Law Bound to Have His Scalp.

Joseph Scharbeano, arrested Wednesday on a charge of bigamy, preferred by his father-in-law, W. T. Herman, of 212 Capitol avenue, was dismissed yesterday the court being convinced that sufficient evidence to warrant binding him over to a higher court could not be obtained. Upon this motion Herman immediately filed information against Scharbeano, charging him with perjury. Herman swears that he swore that his wife was of age when he applied at the county court for a license to wed her. The records of this court bear the complainant out. He did swear that Dora A. Herman was of lawful age on the 15th of November last, when she was but past thirteen.

A reporter talked with Scharbeano in his cell after he had been remanded thither. He says he honestly thought his wife was of age when he applied for a license. He says that his wife, being present, corroborated this. She said she represented to Joe that she was of age, and that her "pa" was persecuting him out of spite. "Why," she went on, with great volubility, "Joe and I are just as happy as we can be; he has made me a good living and has yet to mistreat me in any manner for that. I have had a husband and kept him clothed and fed him, and gave him a home, and he did nothing but love me and be kind to me. He's just as mean as he can be, and I'll never desert Joe if they send him up for ten years. But you don't think they can do anything with him when I told him I was of age, do you?" and the girl-wife threw her arms about her husband's neck and "went a good while." The reporter made his exit from the case comes up at 11 o'clock this morning.

HE GAVE HIS CHECK.

Young Todson Endeavors to Do the Town.

Louis Johnson is the proprietor of a grocery at 2429 Cuming street. J. P. Todson, a young man of doubtful antecedents has been clerking for him for ten months. Monday this morn'g he was arrested on a charge of larceny. His father had just died at Elm Grove in York state and had left him $15,000, $10,000 of which he was to receive within a few days. He was engaged to be married to a young lady who resides at 2011 Cuming street, and the nuptials were to have been celebrated last evening. All this Mr. Johnson was told by Todson. He told him he was willing to buy him out he was not surprised. Johnson said he would close out for $2,500, and Todson said it was a go. Thereupon Todson purchased a check for that amount on the First National bank. The bill of sale conveying the stock was accordingly duly executed and turned over. Wednesday afternoon Johnson, accompanied by Todson, came down to the bank to get the check cashed. Johnson went in, Todson, on some pretext remaining outside. The check turned out to be worthless—Todson not having a cent on deposit there. Johnson, considerably worked up, rushed out of the bank to demand an explanation. But Todson was not there—he disappeared as effectually as if he had disappeared into the air. This little episode led to an investigation, and it seems that Todson is either a lunatic or was attempting to turn a big trick. His checks are to be found all over the city. Tuesday he bought a $500 Chickering piano of Max Meyer, giving a check for the same. The piano was delivered at his rooms, at Twenty-seventh and Cuming streets, but Meyer got it back yesterday. He also bought a new furniture set from the different furniture dealers giving in payment these spurious checks. Of Erickson, the Sixteenth street jeweler, he purchased $240 worth of jewelry, which he succeeded in getting away with. A warrant was sworn out for him but the probabilities are that he is far from the city. The checks Todson has set afloat, so far as heard from, aggregate $4,750.

A Reprieve For the Condemned.

Wretched men and women long condemned to suffer the tortures of dyspepsia, are filled with new hopes after a few doses of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This budding hope blossoms into the fruition of certainty, if the Bitters is persisted in. It brings a reprieve to all dyspeptics who seek its aid. Flatulence, heartburn, sinking at the pit of the stomach between meals, the nervous tremors and insomnia of which chronic indigestion is the parent, disappear with the first dose. It is the most beneficent of stomachics; who can wonder that in so many instances it awakens grateful eloquence in those who, benefited by it, speak voluntarily in its behalf. It requires a graphic pen to describe the torments of dyspepsia, but in many testimonials received by the proprietors of the Bitters, these are portrayed with vivid truthfulness. Constipation, biliousness, muscular debility, malarial fever, and rheumatism are relieved by it.

He Was Executed.

Oliver Bovier, the De Soto, Neb., farmer, who came to Omaha last year, and of his wife, whom he believed had eloped with a tramp, states that he is a number of errors in the account of that unhappy affair. Mr. Bovier says that he was married seven years ago to Cora Hovian. That his wife has at all times been a good wife and excellent mother. He states that it is not true that he ever found his wife and the tramp, Hubbard, in compromising positions. That he never had the slightest trouble with Hubbard, and that no hard words or blows were at anytime exchanged between them. Mr. Bovier states that when he came to Omaha last week in search of his wife, who had absconded herself, his jealousy had been aroused by the gossip and information of alleged friends. The couple are now living together, and in the happiest frame of mind, and Bovier acknowledges that his wife has satisfactorily explained her absence, and that the unpleasant publicity of the affair was due to his own insane jealousy and lack of thought. He is satisfied that the greatest injustice has been done to Mrs. Bovier, for which he cheerfully assumes his part of the blame.

MORTUARY.

At 12 o'clock last night Nelson Lathrop died at his home, 1434 North Nineteenth street, in the eightieth year of his age. Mr. Lathrop was for twenty-five years an honored citizen of Henry county, Iowa. At one time Mr. Lathrop was a director of the old B. & M. road, before the title was changed. In the spring of 1887 he moved to Omaha. The funeral will take place to-day at Glenwood, Ia.

TWO DEATHS.

Two deaths occurred yesterday at St. Joseph's hospital, namely Alex. Carney, aged eighteen years, and John A. Carban, but three years. The remains are at Hooley & Healey's, 215 South Fourteenth street.

He Wants Brick.

OMAHA, March 15.—To the Editor of the Bee: I am sure that the Oakdale seminary board will be very thankful for your ample and generous notice of my visit here in their behalf, and if you will allow me a little space occasionally while here to make explanations and report progress, they will be still further obliged. Let me say then that I am a pastor of Omaha for Oakdale, as one of the rural villages within your trade circle, and so near as to sit in a suburban, a speculative city, and a city of the future. It is a better country than you can possibly make out of the porous loam of that region. The structure to be reared is, so far, too well made and stands in too conspicuous view in the edge of our fair Elkhorn valley to be enclosed with any inferior article. Again we wish to get these bricks in the wall in such a way that the future generation, as well as the present, may know it a glance that the wall is the gift of Omaha people. You may not care for this; we do. You have heard the expression, "Come down on him like a thousand bricks." Now please prolong the illustration and let Oakdale be the victim. I greatly desire to be started out with 1,000 from each one of many old timers whom I will first endeavor to call upon. I can't-day report two or three such who, with less than five minutes' reflection, "came down." I. N. TAYLOR.

BENCH AND BAR.

District Court.

BEFORE JUDGE HOPWELL. The jury in the case of Bullard against Policeman McElreath returned a verdict yesterday morning in favor of the plaintiff, and assesses the damages at $100.

Suspicious characters—James H. Holmes, ordered out of town.

Jim Daley is the possessor of a disobedient wife. She persists in running with other men, and visiting wine rooms, and Jim does not like it. Yesterday he met Anna—that is his wife—promenading up Dodge street with a handsome man. He hauled off and smote her on the jaw. An officer was near. They were notled to the station. Five days each over the hill.

Albert Winock has been making cigars for L. F. Hockoff, who has a factory on St. Mary's avenue. They fell out, and on Winock's applying for his wages they got into a wrangle, and the proprietor knocked Albert down. It cost him $3 and costs.

Joseph Suttler was run in yesterday for dumping excrement into the sewer at Twenty-ninth street and St. Mary's avenue.

Pat Hockhad, better known as "The Rocky Mountain Skipper," was sent up for thirty days. He is a pedestrain and has made one or two good races. He is also a bum and a loafer. Wood's grocer, 123 Saunders street, who has assaulted his wife and that was the cause of his arrest.

Joe Callop, a little "dago" banana vender, was on the docket yesterday charged with obstructing the sidewalk. He will have a hearing in the morning.

H. A. Wood, a wife beater, who resides on Jones between Twelfth and Fourteenth streets, was locked up.

Ben Roth, a young hoodlum, awaits a hearing on a charge of stealing a ham from James Whalen grocer, 123 Saunders street. Whalen caught him making off with the meat. Warrants are out for his two brothers and George Callidine, as partners in the theft. Whalen claims this gang has been robbing him all winter.

George Heller, a bright, intelligent little fellow, who lives at Lexington and Hancock, was sent up to the district court, a candidate for the reform school. He is an incorrigible.

Gotlib Hoffmeister, on complaint of Mrs. K. Kreklayger, was arrested yesterday for committing a nuisance.

Ex-Police Captain Morris Sullivan was fined $1 and costs for disturbing the peace at Cuming's saloon on Thirteenth street. Sullivan considers himself a much abused man in this affair.

The Gotham

cigar store at 215 South Fifteenth street will be opened Saturday, March 17.

Not Aladdin's Lamp.

The Bee, yesterday published a telegram from Blue Springs, in this state, to the effect that the explosion of a lamp there Wednesday night came near destroying the B. & M. depot, and that the prompt action of the employees saved the company much loss. D. P. Newcomes, a member of the last legislature, and also a member of the state central committee, who was in town yesterday, was a witness of the explosion and in no wise way feels that he is indebted to some unseen deity that he was not a victim of the fiery episode. It was after midnight. The train was late. It would not arrive until four in morning. Mr. Newcomes put his satchel on the bench, closed himself around several of the hand rests which outline the individual seats and fell asleep. The lamp was burning brilliantly above him. One of the attendants "piled" some logs on the fire and in the short time more than grateful warmth was proceeding to bake the recumbent legislator. But the r. l. had not invited that disposition of the fuel, and the fire soon got on to the surface of another hard-wood bench on the opposite side of the depot. Here again sleep drowsily touched his eyelids and he dropped into a comatose slumber. He had slept twenty minutes when there was an explosion. He slept no more. The lamp beneath which he had been sleeping, had been burning for some time, and the oil had become liquid fire and fallen upon the very bench upon which he had first been sleeping. The result was that the depot was ready in flames. Had Mr. N. not changed his couch he would have been burned as the bench was and there would have been a vast claim for damages. It was in the state central committee yesterday. The moral Mr. Newcomes draws from this, or rather the resolution which this little episode has induced him to form, is never to sleep under a lamp again.
