CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET.

CHICAGO, March 24 .- [Special Telegram to the BEE.]-The big bears were not promisent in the wheat pit this morning. They were otherwise engaged. They were hammering pork, and it was the gossip of the floor that the same men who had overwhelmed the wheat buyers and driven the prices down by sheer force of offerings would to-day test the speculative pork market, and if they found it was not supported by Armour or some equally strong buyer, would try precisely the same tactics that had been so successful in wheat. They made fair progress in the new enterprise, and it looked for a time as if their attention was quite withdrawn from wheat. However, when at one time the latter market showed some signs of improvement and advanced 14c, their brokers were free sellers and convinced the crowd that the pressure had only been relieved for a time and not by any means removed. May wheat opened at 76%c, sold up to 76%c, held between that price and 761cc for some time. then advanced to 76%c, fell back to 76%c and held between that price and 76%c for a time, then fell to 76% c, advanced to 76% c and closed there. June wheat opened at 76%@76% c, sold up to 77% c and closed at 77c.

The corn market opened heavy, and short sellers tried to hammer prices down, but met with little success. There were strong buyers in that market, and when once the market was turned the shorts were the most eager buyers, and put the price up sharply. The switchmen's strike, which, it was thought would shut off receipts, was a strengthening feature, as were the prospective small re-ceipts, for Monday. The course of provis-ion prices was closely watched by the corn traders, and the break there induced considtraders, and the break there induced considerable selling of corn. May corn opened at 49% 650c, sold down to 49% 649%, advanced to 50c, and after a small reaction to 50% c, then gradually declined to 50c, and closed there at 1 o'clock. June corn opened at 49%, sold down to 49% 649%, advanced to 50% 650%, and closed at 1 o'clock at 49%. Speculative trading in oats was light, but Speculative trading in oats was light, but the market was firm and even advanced a little. May oats opened at 30½c, sold up to 30½c and closed at 30½c. June oats sold at 30½c, July at 20½c and August from 25½c up to 263cc.

In provisions the raiders controlled the market from the start. Concentrating their operations almost wholly in pork, they pounded and hammered that article in the pounded and hammered that article in the most determined manner. They sold it almost regardless of price, their offerings being frequently 254@5c under the figure bid at the time, and used all their tactics to make values touch the lowest possible level. For May pork sold from $13.77% at the opening down to $13.30 and closed at $13.35 bid. June pork averaged 254@5c higher than May and at the adjournment was in demand at at the adjournment was in demand at $13.37\cdot 6. The day's actual decline in pork was 45\(\pi 47\cdot 6.\pi \), while in lard it was only 5\(\pi \) and in short ribs 7\(\frac{1}{2}\)\(\pi \) and lard were depressed through sympathy with pork. May lard sold from $7.50 down to $7.45\(\pi \) and May short ribs from $7.50 down to $7.45\(\pi \) and May short ribs from $7.45\(\pi \) down $7.45\(\pi \). $7.47% and May short ribs from $7.15 down $6.424 and May short ribs from $7.15 down to $7.10. Both articles closed at the inside prices. June lard was 214.65c and June short ribs 714.610c higher than May, the former resting at $7.50 and June short ribs at $7.1714.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

CHICAGO, March 24 .- [Special Telegram to the BEE. !- CATTLE-Trade was slow and prices weak, some salesmen rating their sales substantially lower than yesterday morning, but not much lower than the close Although there was a large number of cattle sold yesterday, shippers taking half the receipts, a thousand or more were carried over, making plenty of cattle on the market for a Saturday, and the market closed dull at a de cline of 15@20c as compared with prices Monday last, or one weak ago. FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, March 24 .- | Special Telegram to the BEE.] - STOCKS-Gould's return to New York late last night caused a flutter in Wall street to-day. All were anxious to know what the little man would do in the market. The bull operators expected him to sustain the market and the bears looked for the reverse. The question regarding the Missouri Pacific dividend was as perplexing as ever. In some quarters the assertion was made that a 5 per cent dividend would be declared at Monday's meeting. Gould refused to be interviewed about the market, declaring that he had given it no attention for six months and knew nothing about it. It has been evident to close observers that Missouri Pacific was being sold by insiders for several months, and the general belief is that the Goulds, and, perhaps, good Deacon Sage, have quietly filled the crowd up. Parties having explicit faith in the statements of the company's officers -that the road was earning its dividend and that the campany's affairs were all right-have bought it freely, believing a 7 per cent stock cheap below 90. The price certainly was low, but recent developments prove the incorrectness of the cheap theory. The entire market hinged on the Gould stocks, operators were mostly bearish and a decline was noted in London News from the west of a general strike of Burlington switchmen also tended to cause a feeling of depression, and the opening sales were at declines ranging to % per cent. The professionals and longs sold Missouri Pacific heavily and a quick drop of M points resulted, 70M being the lowest price reached. trading was confined largely to the sale of odds and ends of butchers' stock, etc. What cattle did sall went at about steady prices.

Western Union also wunt off 1 point Brokers supposed to be working for Gould and the big shorts bought heavily and turned the current upward and a rally of 4 points on Missouri Pacific and % on Western Union were recorded at the close. Despite the sharp fluctuations sales of Missouri Pacific were only 15,500 shares and Western Union 14,200 shares. St. Paul was reported spiit into and anxious to sell out, but, although prices not only on that stock but the whole list declined, they rallied quickly, in sympathy with the leaders, and the majority of active stocks closed 360036 per cent higher than yesterday. The bank statement made a more favorable showing than expected, the decrease in the reserve being $599,025. This, in connection with the shorts covering, assisted in the rally. The total sales were 143,946

OMAHA LIVE STOCK.

General.

Union Stock Yands, 6 p. m. } Saturday, March 24, 1888.

One of the greatest detriments to this market is time of arrival of the stock trains. The trains should all arrive in the morning, but instead of that they come stringing along all day a few cars at a time. The heaviest train received to-day did not arrive until about 1:30 a.m. As the hog market closed lower all the hogs which came in on that train had to be sold 5@10c lower than they would have brought in the morning.

Cattle. There were only eighteen loads of fresh receipts here to-day and the market was very dull and slow. The packers were not is need of many cattle and the Chicago market is in such shape that shippers are not very anxious to buy and take the chances. Comparatively nothing was done in the market until late in the afternoon and then the trading was confined largely to the sale of which $4.10 was offered here but refused by the owner. Shippers are receiving lessons of that kind every day now and the time is Hogs.

To-day's market was liberally supplied for the last day of the week, there being fifty-three leads on sale. The general quality of the hogs was a decided improvement over the day before and as high as $5.35 was paid for the best load. A few sales were made early in the morning at about steady prices, but the market may be said to have opened to higher. It gained in strength until it was rapidly coming when all who can will sell on this market.

OMAHA WHOLESALE MARKETS Produce, Fruits, Nuts, Etc. Saturday, March 24.

The following quotations are wholesale and not retail. Frices quoted on produce are the rates at which round lots are sold on 5c higher. It gained in strength until it was all of 5@10c higher. The market was active and all the morning's receipts were sold by 10 o'clock. The B. & M. train did not arrive until afternoon and then it met with a lower market. The reported decline in pork taken with the fact that it was Saturday and everything would have to be carried over this market. Fruits or other lines of this market. Fritts or other (thes of goods requiring extra labor in packing cannot always be supplied on outside orders at the same prices quoted for the local trade. Rates on flour and feed-are jobbers' prices. Prices on grain are those paid by Omaha millers detivered. All quotations on mer-chandise are obtained from leading houses and are corrected daily. Prices on crack-ers, cakes, etc., are those given by leading until Monday, caused a decline on the hog market. The market closed with the ad-vance of the morning entirely lost but with manufacturers. There were two loads here, but they were

At the close of last week matters relating to Omaha's business were in a somewhat complicated condition owing to the strike on

A Good Demand For Money From Miscellaneous Sources.

INTEREST RATES RULE STEADY.

Considerable More Activity Mana fested in New York Stock Trading-Good Rusiness in the Produce Markets.

In the Commercial World. CHICAGO, March 24 .- [Special Telegram to the Bee. |-As a rule bankers generally report a good demand for money from miscelaneous sources, which in the aggregate absorbed their loanable funds. The increased speculative trading in grain and provisions has slightly enlarged the inquiry from speculators, but the demand from that source is not pressing and confined to banking institutions, which have a greater portion of these accounts. Packers are out of the market and shippers of grain and provisions need very little assistance. There is considerable money being forwarded to the interior for the movement of grain and live stock before the advance in freights from western points. but a good share of it is forwarded through commission houses. Lumbermen are moderate borrowers for the opening up of the spring trade. Wholesale merchants still present considerable paper for discount and succeed in obtaining all the favors required. The mercantile trade of the city is fairly active for the season of the year and the volume of all kinds of goods distributed is quite large. Farmers are engaged in their spring work in the southwest, though the severe weather of the past three or four days has interferred with operations to some extent Rates of interest are reported steady and without material change. Good paper is readily accepted at 514@6 per cent, while fair names succeed in obtaining moderate amounts at 6@8 per cent, depending on the standing of the borrower and the sum required. Some paper was offered on the street and in a few instances gilt-edge names obtain accommodations at 5@5% per cent. In eastern financial centers the supply of loanable funds is fair and good mercantile paper is accepted at 5@51/2 per cent. Foreign money markets show no material change. Balances m the leading banks in England and on the continent show a further increase, and the demand for loans is limited, as operators are not disposed to engage in any extended transactions at present. Interest rates favor bor-rowers. New York exchange was in light supply and the demand was limited. Prices ruled very steady and transactions between banks were made at par@25c premium for $1,000, and the market closed steady at the range. Foreign exchange was in moderate request during the past week and offerings were small, owing to lighter exports of the leading articles. Shippers' sixty-day documentary bills on London were quoted a $4.84 @4.8414, and closed steady at $4.8414 @4.8414. Considerable interest was manifested in the New York stock market during the past week and trading was more active than for the New York stock market during the past week and trading was more active than for some time past. The undertone to the mar-ket indicated an easier feeling, with a gen-eral desire to realize. The continued unset-tled feeling in freights, uneasiness in regard to strikes and labor complications and de-creased earnings have created a lack of con-Prices on staples are generally steady, there being of course the slight fluctuations which invariably occur, but no radical change fidence, especially on behalf of out-side parties. Consequently the increased offerings resulted in quite a marked decline in prices. Wall street operators were inclined to enlarge their business, and 4@14c lower. While at times values have ranged above the figures indicated, a general review of the markets show the tendency to be toward lower prices. The leading lines of dry goods are taken as a whole a fraction higher than on the period indicated when cambrics were quoted at 414c. liberal purchases were made by parties who were on the "short" side of the market. Western speculators were largely on the selling side, and foreign operators, too, were inclined to realize. In fact, there were few inclined to realize. In fact, there were few features to sustain prices outside of the deindicated when cambries were quoted at 41/40 the price at present being 5c. Sheeting, which then ranged at 61/4 (20c, is now quoted at 61/4 (21c. Flannels on January 1 were 20 (35c, at present 20 (42c. On some articles prices have ranged downward, but the general tone of the market is higher.

At present prices on lumber are lower than they were thirty days ago, which is due to the control of the market is higher. mand to provide for outstanding contracts. Sales on the New York stock exchange for the week aggregated 1,512,000 shares.

A decided increase in speculative business occurred in the leading produce markets during the past week. There was apparently more desire to trade, both by local and outand June delivery. The markets were all unsettled and weak, and a further material reduction in prices for all the leading articles was submitted to. The general surroundings of the markets were particularly favorable to lower prices, yet there was more inclination on the part of heavy operators to take the "short" side of the markets, and "short" side of the markets, and the room trading element was disposed to follow. As prices gradually receded "stop orders" came to the surface and property held on margins was thrown on the market, all of which added to though an improvement in trade is always looked for at this period of the year, the in-crease this year exceeds that of last by at the general depression. At the same time the "longs" were tired out and weary and in-some instances disposed of their holdings. Near the close the markets exhibited rather more strength, but the improvement in-The crop conditions and weather, both in this country and Europe, were rather unfavorable, but appeared to have little influence on the grain markets. However, the majority of the week libers. ity of the weak "longs" appeared to have closed out and parties who have been credited with large "short" interests have made liberal purchases, and the impression prevails that there is no particular reason for at further reduction. Foreign advices have been less encouraging to holders, though the reduction in prices has created some demand on export account for some articles. The receipts of grain have been more liberal in all western points, partially attributable to the anticipated increase in freights.

The movement eastward has been fair and the exports somewhat larger.

Provisions followed the course of the grain markets to some extent and trading was quite brisk. The arrivals of live stock at all western points were fair. The packing of hogs in the west is progressing favorably and stocks of provisions exhibit little change.
