JUDGING from the vote polled, South Omaha has not less than 7,000 population.

NINTH street and Capitol avenue would not make a bad site for a city and county jail.

BELIEF is gaining ground that the local labor troubles will be amicably settled in a few days.

AFTER flirting desperately three days with the festive Texas cowboys, Denver again resumes her widow's weeds.

PAT FORN's head was level when he introduced his resolution calling for an investigation of the Pinkerton crowd.

OMAHA was in the center of a lively political blizzard yesterday. Lincoln, Plattsmouth, South Omaha, Florence, and Fremont blew hot and cold on all sides.

It was rather a queer fight in the Iowa legislature over the amendments to the pharmacy bill. For once the democrats voted against whisky and for beer.

THE bosses employed by the city waterworks company at the Florence reservoir should not mix the Missouri river fluid with poor whisky so early in the spring. They are liable to catch the county jail malaria.

THE coroner's jury, which held the inquest on the remains of Mrs. Ecker, killed by the cars on Seventeenth street, is to be commended for not returning a whitewash verdict.

THE senate still shows great reluctance to give up the secret session, but Riddleberger keeps hammering away, and not without effect.

OUR pious friends who take a whiff of fresh air on Sixteenth street behind spanking frosters Sunday afternoons, should not be too hard on Sunday base ball playing.

THE Herald sees visions of democratic victory all along the line in Nebraska, just because South Omaha has elected a democratic mayor and council.

It is stated that Governor Hill will go into print at an early day, in the form of an interview, announcing that he is not a rival of Mr. Cleveland for the presidential nomination.

SHOULD President Cleveland be injudicious enough to make another appointment to fill the present vacancy on the supreme bench of the United States as objectionable to many of our people as was the appointment of Mr. L. Q. C. Lamar, he will do more to put in doubt his re-election than any other act of his official life.

The River and Harbor Bill.

The river and harbor committee of the house propose a generous appropriation for this class of improvements for the present year, and there could be no reasonable objection to this if the nearly twenty million dollars provided for in the bill reported from the committee shall be fairly distributed.

A not unwarrantable objection to the present river and harbor bill is the fact that it does not contemplate an equitable distribution of the liberal appropriation. Nine of the nearly twenty millions would go to the southern states, giving but a fraction over ten millions to all the rest of the country.

The local fraternity of Nebraska has been deeply interested in the outcome of the damage suit for alleged malpractice against Judge Hamer, which had been pending before Judge Wakeley for more than a week.

English in Indian Schools.

The action of the Methodist Episcopal conference at Philadelphia, in condemning the new policy of the Indian bureau requiring that the English language shall supersede the vernacular in the Indian schools, has been replied to by the president, who expresses great surprise at the attitude of the conference.

The Fractional Currency Bill.

The decisive majority of 178 to 67 by which the house of representatives passed the fractional currency bill, is indicative of a popular demand and a heading by congress. It is to be hoped that the senate will act as promptly and decidedly as did the house.

Taught in his own language, the affection which the Indian has for the vernacular would inevitably be extended to all the traditions of his race which would be conveyed to him through that language, to operate as a constant stimulus to his race instincts.

While Council Bluffs and the county of Pottawatomie derive local taxes on $600,000 for the four miles of Union Pacific railroad, neither has ever contributed a dollar in bonds toward the purchase of depot grounds or construction of the bridge.

Two freight trains came to a terrible collision east of Marshalltown Sunday, nearly smothering through the engines, bruising a man in one of the cabooses and killing twelve head of cattle.

A Mere Cipher.

Of course there is a cipher connected with General Grant's book. The cipher is Adam Badaou.

Volapuk Recognized.

By making Mr. Strother M. Stockslager commissioner of the land office the president has officially recognized Volapuk.

Happy and Prosperous.

A Badge of Honor.

Another virtue is to be credited to the account of the late Chief Justice Waite. He died poor. Not that poverty is a virtue or wealth a crime, but so many men in public life have misused their official positions in the interest of their private fortunes that poverty in office has come to be regarded as a badge of honor.

Nebraska's Buchard.

Nebraska has a political clergyman—a clerical politician—after George F. Hoar's own heart. His name is Rev. J. G. Tate, and he went to the banquet of republican clubs in Omaha the other evening.

STATE AND TERRITORY.

Nebraska Jottings.

Senator Van Wyck is booked for an address at Blue Hill next Monday night. Hebron proposes to bore for coal, and is discussing the best means of dropping $5,000 to $6,000 into a hole.

A Striking Contrast.

The Iowa state board of equalization has assessed the four miles of Union Pacific railroad—more or less—located east of the Missouri river at $150,000 per mile. At this rate the Union Pacific will this year be required to pay taxes on an assessment of $600,000 for its road bed, right of way and depot grounds in Council Bluffs.

of the depot grounds and right of way at Omaha is more than double the value of the grounds and improvements in Iowa, but the assessed value in Iowa is more than three times that in Nebraska. The depot grounds and right of way at Council Bluffs were bought and paid for by the Union Pacific at the full market value of the land.

POLITICAL NEWS.

Bill Withdrawing His Boom. NEW YORK, April 4.—[Special Telegram to the Bee.]—An interview with Governor Hill is expected to appear in one of the New York democratic papers this week.

Charles Springhorn, a cattle borrower in Adams county, was recently sentenced to two years in the penitentiary, expressed his contempt for legal restraints by digging his way out of the cell. He was caught and returned to the town doli. Shortly after he attempted suicide by hanging. This means also that he had been suffering a painful wheeze in his windpipe.

Quite a large bunch of Burlington scabs are herded in a hush house at Gibson just outside of Omaha. They wear iron-disk knives, revolvers and looks of terror. While the Pinkies are about they are boldly defiant and reckless. One day last week an engineer ordered his fireman under the engine to clean the ash pan. While the latter was at work the engineer started the engine, to "squeeze the coot out of his mate." The fireman dropped into the ash pit and escaped death.

THE IOWA LEGISLATURE.

Des Moines, Ia., April 4.—At the morning session of the senate the bill providing a uniform system of weighing coal at the mines and punishing irregularities, the bill passed providing for the payment in lawful money of those employed in coal mines; the bill passed providing that an escape shaft must be 300 feet from the working shaft unless otherwise ordered by the mine inspector and no building to be within 100 feet except the house covering the fan.

The senate concurred in the house amendment to the state printing and binding bill cutting the price of press work. The bill passed regulating and punishing pools, trusts and conspiracies. The senate concurred in the discussion of the temperance and pharmacy bill, and adopted but few amendments, none of which were important.

House.

Des Moines, Ia., April 4.—In the house, at the morning session, the bill providing for cities over 300,000, a board of public works, the report made by the second conference committee on the half mill levy, recommending that the house recede from the amendment striking out "1889," was rejected.

The Rice bill providing for apportioning the state into representative districts and declaring the ratio of representation at one for every 20,764, was discussed, but no action was taken. The committee bill is offered as a substitute, embracing the present law. At the afternoon session the special order was the Rice bill for apportioning the state into representative districts, one representative for every 20,764 inhabitants. The committee offered an amendment to the entire bill, embodying the Rice bill, and the amendment was adopted by a vote of 44 to 43, but was lost on engrossment.

Telling Engines By the Bell.

Springfield Union: A fine ear for music is no rarity, yet peculiarities are occasionally met with that attract attention. It is said that expert musical conductors can tell which one of thirty or forty instruments should come in at given points in orchestral work, or in minute technicalities who is wrong.

California Prohibitionists.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 4.—The prohibition convention for the state of California met here this morning and spent the day in routine work. Ex-Governor St. John, of Kansas, was in attendance.

Missouri's Municipal Contests.

St. Louis, April 4.—The municipal elections throughout Missouri yesterday were unusually quiet contests, much interest being centered on the question of local option. In many cases old governments were completely overturned by the fusion of parties and the election of citizens' tickets.

Subsidies Voted the Union Pacific.

PLAINVILLE, Kan., April 4.—[Special Telegram to the Bee.]—An election was held in five townships in this (Rooks) county to vote subsidies to the Union Pacific railway. It is to be completed here by July 4, and will be made the through line to Denver, and to the Pacific coast.

Rhode Island Republicans Win.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 4.—Present returns indicate the election of Taft, republican, for governor, by 1,000 to 1,500 majority. The entire vote will not vary much from that of last year.

Bloomington Republicans.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., April 4.—The republican convention in this city closed at noon today, after having instructed the delegates to vote for Pifer for governor, Rowell for congress and Reeves for the supreme bench.

CARNEGIE'S CO-OPERATION.

PITTSBURGH, April 4.—The strikers at the Edgar Thompson steel works today rejected Andrew Carnegie's co-operative proposition. Mr. Carnegie immediately ordered a complete shut-down of the great plant on Sunday 1, 1888. This announcement was received with dismay by the workmen.

The Farmer in Politics.

It is about time for the alliance to begin to stir things up again. Two years ago this organization created scarcely less rumpus in state politics than the two leading parties themselves. It is hardly to be expected that it will attract much attention this year, however, because Farmer Doubly is not here, but it is preparing for business early and shows a disposition to take a hand in the game as usual.

WEAK MEN.

WEAK MEN. I published this in the Bee, and it was taken up. House file 24 passed, establishing a uniform system of weighing coal at the mines and punishing irregularities.

The bill passed providing suitable scales to be placed at mines, providing for a check weighman and putting weighers under oath; the bill passed providing for the payment in lawful money of those employed in coal mines; the bill passed providing that an escape shaft must be 300 feet from the working shaft unless otherwise ordered by the mine inspector and no building to be within 100 feet except the house covering the fan.
