The case of Steve Taylor, the confidence man who bamboozled a granger out of a load of corn, a few days since, came up before Judge Berka yesterday afternoon, but his attorney secured a continuance until Saturday at 11 a. m. It now transpires that Taylor is one of the pals of the Barretts, who killed a street car driver in Minneapolis. He is a tough-looking specimen of humanity.

Dan Parmelee Sick. Dan Parmelee, one of the old citizens of this county and well known in this city, has been dangerously ill for some time past at the corner of Twentieth and Corby streets. In the last few days, however, he has experienced some improvement.

In Battle Array. Arrangements are being made by the various ministers of this city to hold a mass meeting at the Grand Opera house Saturday afternoon, at which a plan will be formed to begin a systematic war on Sunday base ball, and other forms of Sabbath desecration.

Waiting for His Money. One of the temporary victims of the closing of the State National bank is Captain Mainwaring, formerly of this city and now of Chicago. Two days before the closing of the bank a draft for $250 sterling reached here and Mr. Ambrose called to get it honored, but found that the money was being paid out. The captain will have to wait about sixty days for his cash, during which time he will have the sympathy of his friends.

Pilgrimage of Elks. A party of Elks whose horns have become somewhat prominent, left at noon yesterday for Salt Lake City, carrying with them a special dispensation for the institution of a new lodge of Elks in the land of Jordan. The drove were led by past exalted ruler, John Francis and was composed of the following: W. F. Bechel, R. C. McClure, G. T. Miller, B. W. Hayes, W. G. Geyer, E. A. Hatch, Elmer D. Frank, H. J. Morrison, F. M. Morgans, Frank Macdonald and Thomas F. Boyd.

He Watched the Game. Rev. George M. Brown, who preached a vigorous sermon at the Hancock Park M. E. church last Sunday, after noon, on Sunday last, was seen yesterday afternoon peering upon the fence opposite the Elks club watching a game in progress. The game was a struggle within the enclosure made a year and half ago for a hotel. The overcast gentleman became much excited in the struggle, and clung to his perch for the period of an hour or so. Perchance he was stung by his mind with points on "base ball and how she is played" to be worked and kneaded into another disquisition on the great sport. It is dollars to doughnuts that Mr. Brown is a great admirer of the game.

James Kerns' Condition. James Kerns is still lying in a critical condition at St. Joseph's hospital, but there has been a material change for the better during the last forty-eight hours, and there is a possibility that his splendid constitution may pull him through all right. He is in a very reduced state, and the pus from the wound in his face finds its way through the pores to the stomach, making him continually sick at his stomach. The shattered bones also absorb considerable pus, which is carried into his system, causing blood poisoning. He is receiving the best of care and the city physician has hopes for his recovery.

Orange Blossoms. Mr. L. B. Hall, a prominent gentleman of Dorrance, Kan., and Miss Eva Foss, daughter of M. A. Foss, of this city, were married yesterday at the home of the bride on Walnut Hill, Rev. The happy couple left on the evening train for Denver, and after an extensive visit in Colorado, will take up their abode at Dorrance.

The bride is one of the most accomplished young ladies in this city, and possesses those qualities of mind and heart which go toward making man happy, while the groom is a very estimable young man. Both parties were congratulated on the excellent choice they have made.

Close of the Convention. Yesterday morning's session of Woman's Foreign Missionary society at the First Baptist church was largely attended, and the proceedings of much more than ordinary interest.

The 9:30 devotional exercises, under the leadership of Mrs. F. Chetwood, were fraught with good things, and participated in by about one hundred of the members.

Following this came the report of the board, which was a good showing, and was adopted and placed on file. The missionary address by Mrs. O. E. Ambrose was one of the best things of the morning's programme, the lady touching most of the points of vital interest in missionary work and advancing some theories for the accomplishment of greater good in the future that received the unanimous endorsement of all her hearers.

The discussion of systematic study in the circle and how effected, was resultant in adding many new and interesting subjects to the subject, which will assuredly lead to greater perfection in this branch of the missionary school.

In the afternoon a paper, "In Memoriam," was read by Miss E. Church, an address by Miss R. K. Williams, reports of committees, short talks on various topics and singing by the children.

Last evening closed the exercises of the convention, and the auditorium was again filled to its utmost capacity. The praise service was conducted by the Rev. W. W. Foster. The address of the evening was delivered by Mrs. H. Thane Miller, one of the leaders in the work of the society. She is a vigorous thinker and ready talker, and the ideas she advanced were followed with the closest attention. After the reading of the annual report, showing the present status of the society and its work for the past year, a letter from missionary fields was read by Miss Clara M. Hess. A paper discussing the means of enlarging the scope of the work was read by Mrs. C. W. Barber. She was followed by Ida Glenwood, in a pretty poem. After a song the meeting closed.

The anniversary has been a most successful one, and has given renewed vigor to those working for the missionary cause. The society has been organized for seventy years, and in that time has accomplished a great deal of good.

That Tired Feeling. Afflicts nearly every one in the spring. The system having become accustomed to the bracing air of winter, is weakened by the warm days of the changing season, and readily yields to attacks of disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine needed. It tones and builds up every part of the body, and expels all impurities from the blood. Try it this season.

WORKING FOR THE FAIR. The Special Meeting Last Evening of Mount, Clark and McShane.

Last night there was a meeting of a special committee of the Fair association in the office of the Florence Land company, Chamber of Commerce, to take action upon the plans submitted for some of the proposed new buildings in the fair grounds. Those of the amphitheater were approved. They comprise a structure 287 feet long, 36 feet wide, with fifteen rows of seats, capable of accommodating 3,600 people. The old amphitheater was intended for 2,000 people, but as many as 2,500 have been crowded into it. The cost of the structure will be in the neighborhood of $3,000.

In regard to the plans drawn by Mr. Mount for the horticultural and floral building, which are for three buildings each 316 50 feet with a connecting building sixteen feet wide, it was decided to take no action, the feeling being that they would not serve for the purposes of a corn or a grain palace, which has been discussed. The plans proposed were ornate enough to be in keeping with the ideas of a palace, which latter would be a structure of considerable expense.

In carrying out the idea and getting material with which to decorate the grain palace, Assistant Secretary Gibbs will send requests to the different counties in the state to forward exhibits which may be placed upon the structure, with shields to tell whence the display came.

The committee which consisted of Mount H. G. Clark and J. H. McShane will visit the grounds in a course of days again to locate seats for about 1,000 people. These will be located in various parts of the grounds and form an accommodation which has heretofore been neglected, people being required to remain on their feet all day except when in the amphitheater.

The stalls which were burned down by the fire, will be replaced by others which will not butt against the fence. They will be separated from that by a driveway, which is intended to prevent the holders of stalls from knocking out boards in the fence and enabling friends to enter the grounds without paying the price of admission. It is known in this way that at the last fair hundreds of dollars were lost to the fair association.

The action proposed to be taken by the association in the matter of a grain palace, will be decided next Monday night.

MABLE REDDY. A Little Girl Among the Mysteriously Missing. Mable Reddy, a little nine-year-old girl who resided with her parents at No. 319 South Twelfth street, is mysteriously missing. Tuesday evening she left her home to attend the performance at the Eden Museum, and since that time, notwithstanding diligent search, she has not been seen or heard of. Her parents are in much distress, and appealed at the central station yesterday for aid from the police to assist them in a continuation of the search.
