JUDGE MASON'S TARIFF PLAN

Not a National One, But to Govern Nebraska Rates.

FOURTH CLASS HALF THE FEAST.

Synopsis of His Brief Presented the State Board of Transportation-State Building Notes-Strike Not Declared Off.

LINCOLN BUREAU OF THE OMAHA BEE, )

1029 P STREET, LINCOLN, May 4. At the state board of transportation Wednesday, Judge Mason presented his schedule and plan for a local distance tariff to govern shipments in Nebraska by the different roads operating lines in the state. The schedule and brief that were presented with it have both been carefully prepared by Secretary Mason, and fully set forth the needs of a revision to relieve the state from the enormous burdens laid upon the people on local shipments. Especially is this considered true when the shipping interests of the state are considered. The attention of the board, in the opinion of the brief, should be turned toward the building up and protection of the wholesale trade of Nebraska cities as against the wholesalers of Chicago, St. Louis and points outside. It is regarded by Judge Mason that a local distance tariff in this state as exists in Iowa, and on the same basis as the Iowa rate, should be put in operation by the state board of transportation. In commenting on the tariff schedules that had heretofore been submitted to the board and secretaries, the judge considered either the first class too low or the fourth class too high, and that a change was imperatively necessary so that tariffs would be more symmetrical. First class tariffs cover a very meager amount of business, while an enormous tonamount of business, while an enormous ton-nage is moved in the state yearly on the fourth class rates. In all the western states where the tariffs have been reformed in the light of reason the fourth class rate is placed at 50 per cent of the first class, while in Nebraska, as the present rates are manipulated, the fourth class rate is from 60 to 70 per cent. of the first class, giving on all to 70 per cent. of the first class, giving on all the heavy shipments of goods an unreasonably high rate of transportation.

In illustration it was cited that on shipments on all lines out of Chicago to Omaha before the reductions first class freight was 75 cents, and fourth class 30, or only 40 per cent, of the first class rate. Judge Mason stated that the schedule he presented was practically the Iowa distance tariff that has been adopted in that state, and that is working satisfactorily by the application of a formula on the first class as a basis. The formula was second class, 85 per cent. of the first, third class 65 per cent, fourth class 50 per cent., fifth class 40 per cent., class A 40 per cent., class B 35 per cent., class C 30 per cent., class D 25 per cent., and class E 20 per cent., class D 25 per cent., and class E 20 per cent., class B so per cent., class C so per cent., class D 25 per cent., and class E 20 per cent. This formula, it was recited, should be adopted in Nebraska. The board, after hearing the brief and discussing the proposed schedule, made the question of a distance tariff the question at the meeting one week fonce. As Secretary Ayer has read a brief leretofore claiming that the present rates are low enough there may be some contro-versy where it is manifest there should be wersy where it is mannest there should be none if the public are to get any relief.

Another complaint was filed with the board Thursday. This complaint is made by Lu-cretia Allen and involves the charges on a trunk that she had expressed from Liberty to Lewiston in this state, a distance of forty miles. She avers that the weight of the trunk did not exceed 150 lbs., and when she called for it they had a bill charging her $8.10 for transporting the trunk. THE STRIKE NOT OFF.

The brotherhood men at this point declare that the strike is not off and that dispatches to that effect are instigated solely by the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy officials. There is nothing at this point to indicate any change whatever in affairs save that the officials promulgate with more frequency statements that the road is all right and no rolling stock injured and trains on time and everything running smoothly. In opposition everything running smoothly. In opposition to this the men point to the record of the past two days in which collisions have been narrowly averted at Denton, Burks, Exetor and Germantown; to the fact that conductors say the scabs cannot read the train orders; that engine 470 died at Milford and engine 186 is dead at Crete, and that the flyer consumed six hours in running from Lincoln to Hastings, ninety-seven miles. A rather severe writer in the Saturday Review condemns the modern English girl in the following terms:
"Neither the moral nor physical training of modern English girls is such as to justify the hope that she will be invariably above reproach. The lives they lead, the aim set before them, all lead to degeneracy and detorioration. They are permitted, as they grow up. to develop all the vainer elements, to study to show off to traffic on their charms for charity, for popularity, for notoriety, and their ambition is to be-come professional beauties or something equally poor and objectionable, ultra fast and fashionable women."

This is as severe as anything that Bishop Coxe or Rev. Morgan Dix could say. It all goes to show that if morals are not bad, manners certainly are.

Rappy Homes.

Much has been written and said about how to make home happy. The moralist and preacher have hackneyed this theme until it would seem nothing more remained to be said. But the philosophers have gone far out of their way to account for the prevalence of ill-assorted couples and unhappy homes, and have over-looked the chief cause. Most of the unhappiness of married life can be traced directly to those functional derangements to which women are subject. In nine cases out of ten wife is a sufferer from some "female complaint," A trial of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will produce more domestic happiness than a million sermons of philosophical treatise. It cures all those peculiar weaknesses and ailments incident to women. It is the only medicine sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manu-facturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be re-funded. Boston Herald: One of the most narvelous instances of artistic make ever seen upon the stage was that of the late Charlotte Cushman in "Meg Merilies." To those in the audience she looked like an ordinary wrinkled old woman, but see her close to upon the stage and one could not but be surprised at the amount of labor and fine artistic powers displayed in bringing out the desired effect. In the work of making up her face, Miss Cushman would spend at least an hour. Close to, the touches of varying, and various coloring here and there would look broad and uneffective, while the remarkable lines running all about the face and neck were coarse and unmeaning. At the distance of a few feet, however, they all blended into one harmonious whole, and formed such a network of delicate wrinkles, out of which the deeply sunken eyes shown forth with a species of dying brilliancy, as to be a perfect of old age, and as startling to the beholder as it was highly effective in a dramatic point of view.

A Poor Woman's Hardship. Nashville American: There is a very excellent lady living in South Nashville who is dependent upon her own labor for support, and in order to get work she recently canvassed some private residences. Among other things she obtained orders in West Nashville for seven sun bonnets, one of them being from a colored woman. The good woman went home, and though really sick, with necessity's relenting hand compelling her, she sat up late at night to get them done that she might deliver them at the appointed time. Next day, when the work was finished, though still sick, she trudged the long distance and presented the bonnets at the time agreed. There was only one out of the whole seven who paid for them, and that was the colored woman. The poor lady had spent what little money she had to buy the goods to make the bonnets at a few cents' profit, and now she has them left on her hands and must suffer want until she can hunt new cus-

ANOTHER IMPORTANT CASE

Michael Murphy Surprises His Friends.

Told by One That He Would Only Live Three Months, Interview Extraordinary.

Some eight months ago there came to Omaha an eminent physician who, after looking over the city and satisfying himself is to its future greatness, located an office and opened it for the general practice of medicine, making a specialty of catarrh and throat and lung troubles. That physician was what is known in the profession as an advertising physician. He commenced advertising in the daily papers, not as the average advertising doctor does, promising to cure all manner of incurable diseases, but instead, he did not promise anything but published each week the testimonial of some person whom he had cured. These testimonials have not been taken from mythical persons, but from well-known citizens of the city, citizens who are known far and wide, and who give their testimony voluntarily. Most of those patients were people who had been treated before by different physicians who did not benefit them in the least and had tried patent medicines to no end all in vain, and as a last resort had come to this physician, where they obtained not only a relief, but a radical and permanent cure. The physician referred to is Dr. J. Cresap McCoy, late House Physician to the Bellevue Hospital, New York city, and who has gained for himself wide fame as a successful physician, in the west as well as the east.

Among the many patients of Dr. McCoy was a young man, Michael Murphy, who resides on kleventh streetbetween Jackson and Jones, Mr. Murphy was formerly an employe of the Omaha Barb Wire works, and was very well thought of by his employers. He took sick about a year ago and was compelled to stop work, he tells the following to the interviewer.

MICHAEL MURPHY.

I commenced to feel poorly a year ago last fall about Fair time. I kept getting weaker and weaker, so much so that I could hardly walk a block without becoming entirely out of wind. I had had a cough for some time, but it kept growing harder and harder until it almost exhausted may After a long hard sough I would not be the sough in the sough it was the sough in block without becoming entirely out of wind. I had had a cough for some time, but it kept growing harder and harder until it almost exhausted me. After a long hard cough I would spit up some, but it was very hard to remove. I lost flesh rapidly, so much so that my clothes were entirely too loose for me. I had night sweats very bad, my coughing kept me awake nights a great deal, and in fact I got up in the morning more tired than when I went to bed. Would feel some fever in the morning and again in the evening, or rather about 4 or 5 o clock. I had no desire for food, the sight of it used to sicken me. In fact it was of little use to eat, for even the lightest food would not stay on my stomach, it was so weak. My lungs were very sore, and it produced severe pain to cough.

If anyone would have told me that I would pull through I would not have believed it. In fact I was told by four physicians of this city that I could not be cured, and one doctor told me I would not be cured, and one doctor told me I would not live three months. I had read the testimonials of Dr. McCoy in the daily papers, and at last mother thought we had better go and see him. I had hardly been out of the house for six or eight months, but we managed to get there, and saw the doctor. He did not guarantee to cure me, but thought my life might be prolonged in comparative comfort. I decided to take treatment, and was benefitted at once. Before going to him I could not hold anything on my stomach, but since the first treatment I have not thrown up once. I commenced to gain in flesh and strength: my cough has left me; my lungs are no longer sore; and in fact, feel the strongest part of me. I can take good long walks now. Of course I am not as robust now as when I was a boy, but I feel in good health, and feel positive that the doctor saved my life. My friends meet me while I am taking my daily walks and are surprised to see me, in fact some of them thought I was dead. I have had them tell me so, but I am a pretty live man, as you can see. I am mor

Can Catarrh Be Cured?

The past age might be called a superstitious one. The present can more properly be called an age of surprises, for many things once classed among the impossibilities have now become everyday possibilities. It would be superfluous to enumerate them. But nave we reached the utmost limit? Have we? Physicians who claim to make certain ailments the human body is subject to a special study, and claim to be a ble to cure such diseases, are pronounced by other self-satisfied practioners as presumptuous; but does their saying so make it so? The man who can come the nearest to overcoming the seeming impossibilities of others is now all the rage, and well does he or they deserve the success they have labored so hard to attain. Dr. J. Cresap McCoy or his associates do not make claims to anything marvelous, such as raising the dead and giving them new life; neither do they claim to give sight to the blind; but by their new and scientific method of treating catarrh they have cured and do cure catarrh as well as brouchial and threat troubles. They make catarrh a specialty, because it is one of the most prevalent and troublesome diseases that the people of this climate are heir to. Since Dr. McCoy and his associates have located in this city they have treated with success hundreds of persons whom other physicians have told their disease was classed among the incurables. Do they not publish from week to week in the daily papers testimonials from some of their many grateful patients, giving in each case the full name and address of the person making the statement that the doubting and skeptical may call and interview the said people prior to visiting the doctor's offices for consultation. The people advertised as cured are by no means obscure or unknown, but in the majority of cases are citizens well known by the business people and community at large, and it will more than repay any one suffering from catarrhal affection to visit those whose statements are published, or consult with the the doctor or his

One of the best learned physicians of modern times, in an article on catarrh and consumption says: "The treatment of consumption has made great advances by the introduction of new remedies, and has enabled the close student and specialist to establish indications for remedies long in use, so that by their methodical application better results are attained than were formerly gained at a time when consumption and cancer were regarded as equally incurable, and were somewhat similarly treatoc.

"The treatment of consumption demands a careful avoidance to all agents calculated to cause hyperenis of the lungs and bronchial catarrh. Persons in whom a tendency to consumption is suspected should be treated with the greatest care and attention.

I "Finally, whenever there is the slightest suspicion of a predisposition to consumption, every catarrh, no matter how slight, should be treated with the utmost care, which must not be relaxed until the catarrh is entirely well. This rule, so obvious from our point of view, is very frequently violated.

"Many patients fall a victim to the deeply verted received to the every catarrh prevent." "Many patients fall a victim to the deeply rooted prejudice that a neglected catarrh never leads to consumption.
