MATED AND MISMATED.

Facts and Fancies of the Matrimonial Markets of the World.

SIX YEARS ON A BRIDAL TOUR.

How They Court in Other Countries—Married to Much—Anecdotes of Courtship and Matrimony—Connubialities.

She Caught On.

I wooed her long and covers do, With sight and sense she hid, Told how my life would be a blank, Without her love to fill it.

Isn't He Nice.

The passengers on the 6 o'clock train from the city hall of the Third-avenue elevated were attracted to a genuine little love scene last night—a decided novelty on elevated railroads, by the way, says the New York Telegram.

A Woman with Two Husbands.

A Wilkesbarre, Pa., special to the Philadelphia Press says: Samuel R. Jones, a minor and labor agitator at Kingston, was arraigned before Justice Boone on a charge of desertion and non-support preferred by his wife, Annie Jones. Jones had been paying attention to another woman, and his wife becoming jealous quarrels were frequent, and in the early part of January he gave her a severe beating.

They Will Never Kiss Again.

Two young Kansas City hearts that formerly beat as one are not on that beat now. A rain storm caused it all, says the News.

My Wife's Name.

He was visiting her house some time ago and just as they had kissed each other good night so many times that they had to begin all over again to count them he suddenly said:

He Wanted to Make Believe.

"He wanted to make believe whisper to me, and then kiss me again. What shall I do?" "What shall I do?"

He Was Mad Clear Through, Both Ways.

Every day after that, as he passed the house, she flattened her nose against the window pane to see if he really and truly would come back.

A Remarkable Story From Texas.

An Associated press dispatch from San Marcell (N. M.) says: A remarkable ble story comes from a Mormon settlement in the Luna valley that is vouched for by the federal authorities.

Two girls, named Mary Seomer and Sarah Ballon, aged, respectively seventeen and sixteen years, became rivals for the affections of a young cowboy named Whitman. The latter is a Gentle, and a recent arrival in the settlement. So desperate a phase did the rivalry between the girls assume that they fell to fighting in a tabernacle as a finale to the religious services. They were separated and two days later some men were attracted to the outskirts of the settlement by pistol shots, and found Miss Ballon lying on the ground seriously wounded. The Seomer girl was standing a few feet away with a pistol in her hand. She said they had fought a duel, and that she had hit her rival at the first fire. Two pistols were found, but the wounded woman says she was shot before she had an opportunity to use her weapon. The wound is not fatal.

How They Court in Mexico.

San Francisco Examiner: Going along the streets of Mexico city one day I saw a young man slipping his fingers grotesquely, as though playing an imaginary tattoo in the air. I looked all around, but I couldn't see anything.

Romance and Mystery.

Mrs. Lawrence Corcoran, of South Orange, New Jersey, is shortly going to London to endeavor to establish her claim to some $300,000 left as the residuary estate of Mr. Blake. The circumstances of the case are very romantic. In the town of Ballou, county Longford lived Nellie Sheridan. Her beauty captivated General Robert Dudley Blake, of the English army, and member of a great and prominent family.

A Gold Hunter's Romance.

A Chicago (Ill.) Dispatch to the St. Louis Globe says: Michael Sullivan left his home in Ore Hill, Conn., about four years ago to seek his fortune in California. He left behind a wife and a daughter ten years of age. Mr. Sullivan made money rapidly in the golden state and sent frequent remittances to his home. About two weeks after leaving home he sent his wife $500 and told her to come to him. She went to Chicago with a male relative named Kelley. When she arrived in San Francisco no husband was at the station to welcome her. She went to the address given her by Mr. Sullivan and learned that he had suddenly left two weeks before and nothing had been heard from him since. Mrs. Sullivan, assisted by Mr. Kelly, instituted a thorough search for the missing husband, and advertised liberally, but no tidings of the lost one came. Finally, after months of vain search, Mrs. Sullivan determined to return home. She purchased a ticket to Chicago and on the train between this city and Omaha was robbed of all her money, save a small amount of change. Arrived here, she secured shelter after many privations, and her husband was very hard to maintain herself and child.

A Romantic Marriage.

The Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution of a recent issue says: A romantic marriage occurred here at the Woman's Christian Home. The bride was Belle Romey, a home, and her husband was the penitentiary for murder. The happy groom was Dick Davis, a white man who was sent up from Bibb county for three years for manslaughter. It appears that these two met in the penitentiary to Arizona and shortly afterwards returned, through the efforts of Mrs. Harper, a pardon was secured for Miss Romey, and she was brought to Atlanta and circumstances, and their friends regarded the matter as a huge joke, but the husband converted much of his meagre possessions into cash, and accompanied his wife to Matawan, where detailed information was obtained which the Corcorans think will establish their claim.

The Wrong Year.

They sat beside the bright log fire, And watched the flaming embers dart; While love's bright light another pyre Did kindle in his heart.

A Novel Ceremony.

Some years ago, says the Chicago Tribune, when free-love notions were running around loose in New England, a Boston man and woman who had imbibed of those doctrines until they affected to despise all the common conventionalities of life came to the conclusion that they would live together without going through the ceremony of marriage. They had both moved in good society and made no secret of their intention. In fact, they announced it to every one they met. Said old Boston's aristocracy was shaken to the depths. The man was prevailed upon to give a dinner party, to which were invited prominent society people, including the governor of the state. When dessert was put upon the table the talk became general and soon turned upon the perverse couple. The man and woman answered every question put to them with the most perfect equanimity. Finally the governor took a hand in the conversation and asked a few questions, and commenting on the answers thereto, in a calm, judicial manner he turned to the man and asked: "Do you, Mr., intend to love and cherish this woman as your wife, for good or evil, for better or worse?" "Yes, sir," answered the man very calmly. "And you, madame, intend to obey this man as your husband, for better or worse, for good or evil?" "Yes, sir," answered the woman politely. "Then by the power vested in me as governor of this commonwealth I declare you to be man and wife."
