

FOR STORING UP THE WATERS

Governor Thayer Makes a Suggestion to Our Congressmen.

THE IRRIGATION PROBLEM.

An Interesting Session of the City Council—Opening the New Bills for the Court House—Capital City Brevities.

LINCOLN BUREAU OF THE OMAHA BEE, 1029 P STREET, LINCOLN, MAY 17.

The attention of Governor Thayer was called some months ago by settlers of western Nebraska to the fact that the waters of Colorado by monopolizing the waters of the Platte river not only deprived Nebraska agriculturists of the means of irrigating their farms, but also doubtless influenced the amount of rainfall by "diverting" the running streams from their channels and absorbing the water.

The following notaries public have been commissioned by Governor Thayer: George W. Thayer, Broken Bow; Charles E. Wheeler, Broken Bow; D. H. Waugh, South Omaha; Alfred C. Woolley, Omaha; J. B. Sexton, Geneva; E. A. Watrous, Beatrice; Thomas C. Patterson, North Platte; Jeff A. Buchanan, Burr Oak; Oke county; Henry Ernest Goodall, Grant, Perkins county; Benjamin F. Hastings, Grant; E. Whitcomb, Friend, Saline county.

State Superintendent Lane beamed more radiantly than usual on the newspaper men who visited him this morning in their regular round and announced to them that he was richer to-day than yesterday by the possession of a beautiful girl baby, which is said to look like its father.

C. A. Calkins, the engineer who brought Maggie Kruse to Lincoln, returned yesterday evening from a trip to Omaha. He says he is not in Kansas. It is true that does not interest our people personally, but enlightened and unselfish views should prevail, having reference to all sections equally interested.

If congress can expend millions for constructing reservoirs in the upper Mississippi to benefit the millers of Minnesota, why may not congress expend a few hundred thousand for the benefit of the farmers of Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado and the West?

My plan would be to have congress make an appropriation for the survey of the headwaters of the two Platte and the Arkansas in Colorado with a view to the location of reservoirs there to hold back the surplus waters from the spring rains and melting snows of the mountains and canons.

A system of this kind, it appears to me, is practicable, and under proper restrictions and control, the waters of those rivers can be utilized for the great advantage of all the people directly interested, as well in Nebraska and Kansas as in Colorado and Wyoming.

The measure of this kind were adopted and carried into execution by the people of public lands, now regarded as almost worthless, would be opened for settlement and made similar to that of a high degree of cultivation. The area of the public lands now open for settlement, and which attract the settler, is rapidly diminishing.

It is difficult to conceive any good reason why congress should not be induced to bring this measure into effect, as well to provide for the improvement of rivers and harbors. Furthermore, here is a field where a small portion of the surplus, now locked up in the treasury, can be utilized for the public good and add largely to the wealth of the nation, for it does not require any great degree of insight to be convinced that the surplus for this enterprise will be returned to the government with manifold increase.

The present session of congress being far advanced, the circumstances may not be auspicious for this measure, but the desirable result may be attained, and it is a consideration that the measure will be returned to the government with manifold increase.

Since the foregoing was written occasional reports speak of Senator Paddock having offered a measure on the subject of irrigation, but the measure has not been seen, and is not familiar with its scope and character.

The city council held an adjourned meeting last night, the objects of which were to open bids for paving and water bonds, and to meet the mayor's appointment of a sidewalk inspector. There were two bids for the $100,000 water bonds, which were as follows: The Municipal Improvement company of Chicago offered to take the bonds at par, exacting from the city the payment of 2 1/2 per cent commission. Nelson C. Brock of the Lincoln National bank made a similar bid, making 2 1/2 per cent. Mr. Brock also put in a bid for the $100,000 paving bonds, agreeing to dispose of them for a commission of 3 1/2 per cent.

On motion of Councilman Millenley the matter was referred to the judiciary committee in order to give others who had signified a desire to bid an opportunity to do so.

On invitation W. H. Stout told what he knew about a rumor current in New York City concerning Lincoln bonds. He said that he had been told by New York capitalists that they did not want to purchase 3 per cent bonds, as the city of Lincoln was known to issue 7 per cent bonds to the amount of $500,000 or $600,000. Nobody seemed to be able to throw any light upon the origin of the rumor.

Building permits were issued to the following persons: G. E. H. Swabe, J. D. Dummett, $1,000; Peter Pommer, $500; G. Meyer, $300; Clark & Co., $850; E. M. Wheeler, $300; Thomas Walton, $2,500; George Cook, $2,500; W. J. Fryer, $1,500; C. E. Stevens, $1,000.

An interesting discussion grew out of a bill for supplies from the house with which raised the point that the city was prohibited by the charter from dealing with any councilman. Dean pointed out the fact that no councilman could ever be considered as a contractor, and that the only houses here which deal in class of goods extensively used by the city and that it must deal with them or go away from them to make the purchases. Dean further remarked that Councilman Ensign had furnished a back to carry mailboxes to the post office, a stove had been purchased from Councilman Miller, and that the prohibition of the charter applied only to contracts for an amount over $500, such as had to be entered into by the board of public works, and he finally agreed to submit the question to the interpretation of Judge Ford.

The first bids opened for the court house several months ago were rejected, all being higher than the estimate. The Myers plans were rejected and plans drawn by F. M. Ellis were adopted. The bids opened on these plans were as follows: The Myers plan, $100,000; Rice & Bassett, Chicago: Complete building in accordance with plans and specifications, $158,700; Herza sandstone to be used; substituting Bedford (Ind.) limestone, $159,000.
