The Amund Woods and Richard Davis attempted murder case has been granted another continuance, this time until Saturday, as it is thought that then old man Kerns will be sufficiently recovered from his wounds to be able to appear in court.

The Fair Association. The Work Upon the Temple, the Stalls and Amphitheatre.

Chairman Kitchen, of the committee which was appointed by the Omaha Fair and Exposition association to look into the subject of a Temple of Ceres, has not yet called a meeting of that body to take action on the subject.

One of the directors of the association said yesterday that nothing had yet been done with regard to the project.

Some people, he stated, had spoken to the board and favored the erection of the temple in the heart of the city.

"But," said the director, "if the building is put up in Omaha, the fair association will have nothing to do with it.

The extension of the time for the payment of the bonded indebtedness of the Union Pacific road, was the subject of the Omaha Board of Trade favoring the Outhwaite bill.

At the last meeting of the board of trade there was a series of resolutions adopted regarding the extension of the time for the payment of the bonded indebtedness of the Union Pacific road.

These resolutions, which were recommended and approved by the majority of the Pacific railroad investigating committee, under the joint committee appointed under joint resolution of the congress of the United States.

That the general provisions have also been approved by the president of the United States in his message, calling the attention of congress to the necessities for legislation in respect to the extension of time for payment of said indebtedness.

That it has become evident that it is impossible for the Union Pacific railroad company to carry on such a system of extension of its bonded indebtedness.

That it is also evident that under its wise provisions the certain payment of said company's indebtedness is amply secured.

For these reasons the following resolutions were adopted: "That our senators and representatives in the congress of the United States be most respectfully but earnestly requested to use every possible endeavor to secure the certain and speedy passage of said bill through the congress of the United States.

That the board of trade, in co-operation with the boards of trade throughout the state in asking congress for the extension of the time of payment of the debt of the Union Pacific railroad company, and in the certain and speedy passage of said bill through the congress of the United States.

That a copy of the foregoing be forwarded to each of said senators and representatives.

Secretary Nattenger yesterday sent out a number of these circulars to prominent citizens throughout the state, as also to all the Nebraska members in congress.

Traveling Men Disgusted. The Union passenger department, in refusing to grant a reduction in rates to the national convention of the Travelers' Protective association at Minneapolis, June 19 to 22, has aroused the ire of the commercial travelers and loud many are the complaints heard.

The gentlemen feel that they have not been treated fairly in the matter; that the members of the organization, who are the greatest travelers on earth and pay more railroad fare than any other body of men, should be entitled to some favors. The matter will doubtless be revived soon and another effort made.

The Boisterous Atlantic is a terror to timid voyagers, scarcely less on account of the perils of the deep than the most certain certainty of sea sickness. The best curative of mal de mer is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which settles the stomach at once and prevents disturbance. To all travelers and tourists, whether by sea or land, it presents a happy medium between the nauseous or ineffectual resources of the medicine chest, and the problematical alcoholic stimulant, no matter how pure. The jarring of a railroad car often produces gastric troubles akin to that caused by the rolling of a ship. For this the Bitters is a prompt and certain remedy. The use of brackish water, particularly on long voyages in the tropics, inevitably breeds disorders of the stomach and bowels. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters mixed with impure water nullifies its impurities. Similarly, it counteracts malaria and other prejudicial influences of climate or atmosphere, as well as the effects of exposure and fatigue. Use it for kidney complaints, rheumatism and debility.

We now have the largest and handsomest schoolroom in the west, and the largest exclusive shorthand and typewriting school in the United States. Call and see us. Take elevator at Farnam street entrance same as to public library.

Will Sue the City. John Maybright is a teamster who lives between Coming and 14th streets on the alley between Nineteenth and Twentieth. John owned a horse which he one afternoon turned loose for exercise, and while the old chap was loosening up his joints, told his wife to watch him until he returned from the store where he was going to purchase a plug of tobacco. While absent a special policeman arrested the horse on a charge of vagrancy and put him in the pound, notwithstanding the protests of Mrs. Maybright, who witnessed the whole transaction. The horse was sold at auction, Garbage Master Goldsmith purchasing it for $12 and afterward selling it for $30. Maybright claims it was worth $75. Mrs. Maybright contends that when the man came and got the horse the animal was not on the street, nor on the alley, but was on private property belonging to one Mrs. Wilkins, who lives on Pierce street. That she informed the officer of this fact, and asked him not to take the animal away and he agreed not to if she would give him a dollar, which she not having could not do.

As Maybright has money, he could not get the animal out of the pound, and it was sold. Under the circumstances there is good ground for the action, and the case should be investigated, it should be. Maybright is a poor man, and his family dependent upon him for support, and why vigorous measures should be taken with him when graver offenses are committed on the part of others are condoned, is a mystery.

Shot a Chicken Thief. Drogan Hall, a carpenter living on South Thirteenth street, making repairs on his house, and yesterday morning when the man of saw and hammer presented himself for duty he told of having filled the back of a chicken thief with a good sized dose of powder and salt petre. The hen coop of the carpenter has been besieged for some time past by pilferers, and it made him sore at heart and riled to the max as he saw his fowls disappear in large numbers. He resolved to lay in wait for the thief, and about day break yesterday morning he was rewarded for his alertness by discovering the purloiner busy at work in the coop. Grabbing up the blunderbuss which he had loaded to the muzzle he blazed away, and feels certain that his aim was perfect, for the fellow disappeared howling with pain.

A Pants Thief in Custody. Frank Hatcher, alias Frank Howard, a bartender in one of the Rothery saloons, is in lock on the serious charge of stealing clothing from Moses Block's store, 704 North Sixteenth street. It is said by Mr. Block that on May 7 Hatcher came into his store and pretended he wanted to buy some clothes. Under different pretexts he rejected this and that article, and had the proprietor bring all over the store to find him a suitable article. When he could think of no other excuse Hatcher would say the clothes were not his size, although he would neither try them on or let the proprietor take his measure. The suspicious suspicions of Block, and noticing a suspicious furtiveness under Hatcher's coat, he suddenly threw it open as though he were going to take his measure, when he discovered that the bartender had hidden two pairs of elegant pant-suits beneath it, which he evidently meant to make away with. As soon as he saw he was caught he dropped the stolen property and started out of the door. His description was left with the police, but he has been lying low for a number of days until yesterday, when he ventured from his hiding place and was captured by Detective Ormsby and Officer Cutler in the Turt and Field Exchange.
