The new management of the Ogden house have secured the services of Mr. Samuel Barnum as head waiter in charge of the dining room. Sam's experience in this line is very extensive, and under his care the wants of the patrons of the Ogden will meet with prompt attention.

A petition has been circulated lately to have the Tabor school directors reconsider their action in the matter of choosing a principal. Mr. Hamilton asked for an increase of salary which the board refused, and he was dis-missed. The patrons are hot and as a result of their petition two of the board have re-signed, and an election to fill the vacancies is to be held to-day.

The paved streets show no signs of the recent sixteen day's rain. They were yesterday as dry as it is possible for them to get, and the dust blew in a manner that was decidedly disagreeable. A few of the merchants used their hose with good effect on the street in front of their business houses, but this plan was not general. The street sprinkly resume coverations sprinklers will probably resume operations this morning.

Arrangements for the Y. M. C. A. enter tainment at the opera house next Thursday evening are nearly completed. Tickets will be on sale at Bushnell's to-morrow morning. The programme of club swinging and dumb bell exercises to music will be unique and pleasing. This will be the first opportunity that the general public have had to see the results of the work that has been done the past few months in the "gym."

Last Saturday night after the hour stipulated by the mayor for closing the saloons a tour was made to see to what extent the order was oteyed. Considerably more than one-half were running in full blast, open doors and all. In four cases no light was to be seen, while in several cases the curtains were drawn, the doors were closed, but "business" was being done on the inside just the same. On Broadway, from Benton street to the dummy depot, but four were closed. Not a policeman was seen and there was evidently no effort to enforce the may or's order beyond the disposition of the sa-loonkeeper.

The C. B. & Q. will run a special train to accommodate the democrats, their friends and the general public who desire to attend the National Democratic convention at St. Louis. June 5 or the Derby races June 4. This train will leave Council Bluffs Sunday, June 3, about 1 o'clock p. m., (exact time given later) arriving at St. Louis in the morning for breakfast. It will be finely equipped throughout with chair and Pullman palace cars. The rate will be one fare for the round trip. M. M. Marshall, general agent.

A Stray Lad. A liftle fellow, aged about seven years, came in on the Chicago & Northwestern Saturday, unaccompanied by any one, and unable to give any very clear account of where he came from or whither he was traveling. About the time of his reaching here a telegram was received from Missouri Valley asking that he be returned there by the next train. It develops later that the tired mother, having been three days and nights on the road and still not having reached her journey's end, stopped at Missouri Valley to change cars. With many bundles and two or three other children, she failed to notice this little fellow as he slipped away from her and climbed thoughtlessly aboard the Northwestern train, just as it pulled out for Council Bluffs. The child was returned to the anxious mother who then proceeded on her way northward.

A Good Idea.

If you are going to attend the Derby races or national convention at St. Louis, either by special train or regutrains, leave your name with Capt. O. M. Brown, as early as possible for sleep-ing car accommodations and avoid the rush sure to occur.

The New Ogden.

The improvements at the Ogden house are nearly completed, and it is thought that the formal opening will take place some time next week. The machinery for running the elevator is all in place, and as soon as the finishing coat of plaster is given to the elevator well the cage will be put in place and the whole will be com-plete. It is very probable that the man-agement will fix upon June 1 as the date of formally throwing open this popular hostelry with its handsome and expensive improve-ments to the traveling public.

Thirsting Humanity.

The Rev. E. K. Curry, of Fremont, Neb. occupied the pulpit of the First Baptist church yesterday morning and evening. He is a young man of very pleasing address as well as being possessed of fine literary attainments. He is a logical thinker and reinforces his positions by the legitimate conclusions of close reasoning. The sermon of the morning was able and was listened to by a large audience. He selected as his text the words of Christ, as recorded by St. John: "If any man thirst let him come unto me and drink." Said the speaker: "You will remember this occasion was one of the three annual feasts held by the Jews at Jerusalem. It was on the last day of the feast, the day when these observers of the ceremonial law took from one of the many pools pure water and scattered it about the temple courts. It was a day of joy and thanksgiving. From all parts of Jewry had worsnippers come until now, on the last day of the feast, the city was thronged by a vast multitude. When the throng was the largest Jesus came into the temple and in a prominent place stood up, and seeing the multitude He said unto them: "If any man thirst let him come unto me and drink." The truth contained herein is the need of the whole world. Humanity is athirst. Mankind are searching like a thirsty man, for something to slake that thirst. The bible gives, as no other book does, a true account of human sin, suffering and helplessness. The record is accurate and true because there is a vein of human ity running through the bible as it runs through no other book. It is a record of human sorrow, because it is a record of human sorrow, because it is a record of human life—a true record of human character. All other literature, in dealing with human subjects, is distorted by the preferences and prejudices of the writer, but in the bible this is not so. Look at the record of the life of David, "the man of God," one of the greatest of the great characters which history portrays. Alongside of this grand norand scattered it about the temple courts. It greatest of the great characters which history portrays. Alongside of this grand portraiture is placed the sins and failures of a human life, struggling against itself, often over-coming and again overcome by the weak-nesses of itself. So of Moses. If the bible did not give the sins and failures of the characters it presents it would not be a true record. It would be valueless as a teacher of men and a preceptor of character. Our best thinking substantiates this. What are the best pieces of English literature? Surely those that give the most accurate description of men as they are. What pieces of litera-ture have become immortal? The productions of Plato, Socrates and Shakespeare. Why!

Because they have given us living, and not ideal men and women.

Our helplessness is shown by the fact that in our deepest hearts we acknowledge it. * * Our very constant activity substantiates it. All men are active in the pursuit of profit or pleasure. I do not believe that the sole reason why men keep closely to the counting room and the office is because they are greedy for gain. They feel this longing for something. They cannot define it. They set out to satisfy it, and this constant application is in this pursuit. The young woman seeks pleasure during six days in the week for the same reason. Do they find that for which they seek! Never Wealth may be gained in abundance, but this longing remains. It is not satisfied in houses, town lots, dresses, balls, etc.

This being true there must be some way whereby this longing can be satisfied. God is a faithful creator. He does not create a demand without also furnishing a supply. He makes the eye for the light; then he does not dispute his plans by creating perpetual darkness. No, he makes light for the eye as well." This thought was fully and beautifully developed, as were also the ideas that "this drinking, referred to in the text, satis-"this drinking, referred to in the text, satis-fies the demands of the soul;" unless one has this "foountain of waters within himself, The speaker contrasted the abiding faith and steadfastness of Paul with the fickleness of Cicero, and closed with a powerful personal appeal to partake of the water of life.

Enthusiastic Engineers. The brotherhood engineers and firemen held an enthusiastic meeting at half past two yesterday afternoon at their headquarters in Smith's hall. The hall was filled and there were several ladies present. The speaker was L. W. Rogers, of Creston, and his address of an hour was listened to very carefully. He said that the strikers were just as determined now as when they first went out. Even if they fail to win the fight, it will be a losing victory for the "Q," as no brotherhood men will enter their employ until the matter is settled. The "Q" will be unable to suc-cessfully compete with other lines, especially the Rock Island, which is a parallel road and visits all the principal points reached by the "Q." Ninety-five per cent of the en-gineers of the country are brotherhood men, and the other 5 per cent are with the "Q," which will be compelled to hold on to them, as there are none to take their places. The "Q" will be known and run as a "seab" road, and its fortunes will be the same. The strikers may have to seek posi-tions on other roads, but it will be as brother-hood men. The speaker stated that the end had by no means come yet and that hope of a victory was not given up.

There will be a banquet at Smith's hall in about ten days for the benefit of the strikers' campaign fund, to presecute the fight against the "Q."

The speaker talked rapidly and without apparent effort, touching briefly on all the phases of the strike. He was frequently applauded, and at no time did the interest of his audience flag. The meeting was conducted very quietly and in a manner highly creditable to the brotherhood.

Life at Manawa. There were a large number of visitors at Lake Manawa yesterday, and the motor line was well patronized. The steamers, Nellie Keller and C. E. Mayne, were both fired up and took several passengers across the lake. The bath houses have not yet been put in good repair, as the bathing season will not open for some time. No landing has been erected at the bathing beach, and the passen gers across the lake are landed at Wright's pier, about three hundred yards below. But few rowboats were to be seen on the lake yesterday, although one or two of the club boats were out. A new steamer is being built on the beach, and is about half completed. It will be about the size of the C. E. Mayne. Its builder is a man by the name of Smith. The sailboat season has not opened Smith. The saliboat season has not opened yet, but as there is a prospect of several new boats being added to the Manawa fleet, the list of saliboats will be increased as well as the others. The season at the lake has not yet fairly opened, but preparations are made so that as soon as the weather is warm enough to get the citizens started in this popular resort there will be no trouble whatever in caring for their numerous wants. The indications are that the coming season at Manawa will be by far the most successful in its history. The opening of the motor line does away with the exorbitant hack rates of previous years, and places the price of a round trip so low that everyone can afford to go. At present the price of a ride from the temporary terminus of the line at the Milwaukee crossing is 10 cents, making the round trip crossing is 10 cents, making the round trip 20 cents, and after the crossings are put in and the motors run through to Broadway the price will be 25 cents for the round trip. Book tickets, good for several trips will be sold at reduced rates. Heretofore the price has been from 50 cents to $1 for a single trip, and with such a reduction as this, Manawa cannot fail to draw. As the matter of railway crossings is now nearly settled, it will be but a short time until the motors will connect with the dummy trains and street cars at the corner of Broadway and Ninth street.

The exact condition of affairs in regard to these crossings can not be ascertained, but the management states that all differences

the Burlington is on the eve of a favorable settlement, and there is nothing now in the

Mr. Reed has proved his good faith in the matter by having his new motors shipped here, and doing all that he possibly could under the circumstances, utterly disproving the charges made by some interested parties that he did not intend to open the line. As soon as the line can be completed, two motor trains will be put on, and by leaving the dummy depot every half hour will virtually bring Lake Manawa within the city limits, as it will take no ionger to reach it than it now does to reach the suburbs on the street cars. Yesterday the run to the lake was made in fifteen minutes, and when everything is smoothed up and in fine running order the time required for a trip will be much less. The opening of this little line, less that four miles in length, is of more importance than many suppose. It will make Manawa what it could in no other way become, a summer resort well patronized by the citizens of two large and growing cities. It would furnish quick and cheap transportation to this beautiful inland watering place, benefitting every visitor, whether from Council Bluffs or elsewhere. It will help boom Manawa and Council Bluffs, and induce capitalists to invest here. As Manawa's success is likewise the motor line will be felt in both places, and there is no reason to doubt but that these re-
