WORK FOR LINCOLN LAWYERS

Judge Field Opened the District Court Yesterday.

SEVERAL NEW SUITS COMMENCED

Rtems Gathered at the State House-May Record of Convicts Received at the Penitentiary-Billings' Small Boomerang.

LANCOLN BURRAU OF THE OMAHA BEE,) 1039 P STREET. LINCOLN, May 21.

District court for Lancaster county opened to-day with Judge Field on the bench, Judge Chapman being expected from Plattsmouth to-night. The call of the docket opened the proceedings, about one hundred attorneys being in attendance at the call. The petit jurywas impannelled in the afternoon session and the work is fairly inaugurated for the coming six weeks. There were 420 cases on the printed docket and a number of others have been commenced. There are no cases of extraordinary interest but the large number of jury cases promise a long siege of trial

NEW CASES.

Nellie G. Scroggin has sued for a divorce from her husband, Joseph W. Scroggin. The plaintiff recites that they were married in the city of Lincoln on the 13th day of February, 1885, and that she has always conducted herseif as a faithful wife, while her husband has described her and neglected entirely to support her, leaving the county on the 1st of January last for parts unknown. She therefore asks that she may be divorced and that the custody of their child be given her and that she may be restored to her maiden name of Nellie G. Bailey.

Ellen E. Marvin, on behalf of herself and children, has commenced suit against the Chicago, Burlington & Omincy railroad for Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad for $5,000 damages. The grounds of the case are that her husband, Robert H. Marvin, was one of the victims in the construction train wreck two years ago, near Deweese station, Marvin, it is alleged in the petition, was a passenger on the construction train at the time of the wreck; that he had paid his fare, and it had been accepted, and he was en-titled to a safe ride and delivery to his point of destination. The damage sued for is the limit prescribed in the state courts.

Gustav Olson has brought suit against the city of Lincoln for $5,000 damages for injuries received from a defective sidewalk. The petition recites that when he was walk-ing on Eighth street, between R and S, a defective plank in the walk threw him so violently to the walk that he lay insensible for some time, receiving a severe cut on the head and internal injuries from which he is doubtful if he will ever recover fully. He states that he was confined to his bed for weeks, and has sustained both mental and bodily injuries to the amount of $5,000, with costs of suit.

The call for the meeting of the board of trade to night is an important one. There are a number of splendid opportunities just present to secure new manufacturing induspresent to secure new manufacturing indus-tries and action upon them will be asked. The Rock Island project is so near a cer-tainty that it is the prevailing opinion that a little active work is all that is required now to see the construction work commence. President McBride received a communication from Ashland to-day stating that a com-mittee from that place desired to accompany the Lincoln delocation to the conference with President Cable, of the Rock Island, at Fairbury this week.

HE PREACHED TO HIMSELF.

Rev. Mr. House Speaks Upon Sunday Baseball and Other Preachers. The Rev. T. M. House preached a sermon Sunday evening in reply to an interview with him by a Herald reporter in regard to Sunday baseball playing, in which he was misquoted, and also took up the cudgel against the Rev. Charles W. Savidge, who has given a reprimand from the pulpit for the sentiments expressed in the published interview. He announced his text from I. Peter, iv., 8: "And above all things have fervent charity

"And above all things have fervent charity among yourselves, for charity covereth a multitude of sins."

"I expect," began the speaker, "to say what perhaps you do not expect to hear me say to-night. First of all, I'm going to preach a little sermon to myself from the text I have named. In the exercise of christian charity we evince the spirit of the christian religion. Find a professed christian who does not possess the spirit of Christ's charity and you will find a hypocrite. As christians we should possess the fruits of the spirit, such as love, peace, etc. A do-nothing Cristian is no Christian at all. We do not pretend to tell you what your par-We do not pretend to tell you what your par-ticular duty may be, but you have a duty to perform. We are called upon to exercise our Christian graces daily.

We are exhorted above all things to put on charity, which is the bond of perfectness. St. Peter calls charity the grandest trait of Christian character. Let us define charity. First, charity has the desire to sacrifice itself; second, it has the desire to benefit humanity. Sacrifice in some form or other is the impulse of love, both human and divine. Love give; it does not hesitate, does not stop short of the line marking the possi-ble from the impossible. He who is capable of judging what a Christian minister's position ought to be to his fellow-man, never will question that position unless in a charitabe manner. Charity may be cultivated by conemplating the goodness of God. One who wishes to become a painter studies the works of great masters, one who wishes to become an orator studies the man-ner and thoughts of recognized princes of the realm of oratory. So in contemplat-ing the goodness of God we are brought into close connection with the gentle Christ. When you ask ministers of the goable to become detectives and prosecutors of criminals, I ask you, give me the instance where our Lord Jesus Christ did that. Give us our Lord Jesus Christ did that. Give ins more of the love of God, and when we meet a wretch who has violated law, instead of serving him with a warrant from the police court, show him brotherly sympathy, ex-tend a friendly hand, give him to feel that you are a friend to him, and have the desire to do him good. But when ministers of the gospel become prostitutors of their divine office by going into dens of infamy and peeping through curtains at the polluting sights within, it is a pitiful sight. God save us from such contemptible littleness!

The speaker then mentioned the fact that his sentiments with respect to Sunday base ball had been misrepresented, and that the interview with a reporter for the Herald was not correctly reported.

In this connection the reverend gentleman also read a letter from a fellow minister while he was on his hunt in the Rocky mountains, calling his attention to the article published in the Herald, and asking in the name of the ministers here for an explanation.

"If I am held responsible to this meeting of preachers," continued Mr. House, "God pity me! This article has been published by all the leading papers of this country, and has even gotten over the sea, and I am her-aided abroad as the champion of Sunday sports.

"The young gentleman who wrote that," continued Mr. House, "I think did not intend to do the harm caused by the article, for he, since I returned, stated to me, in the presence since I returned, stated to me, in the presence of witnesses, that the article had misrepre sented me, and was very sorry he had not reread it before publishing it.

"Had our would be Talmage prefaced his remarks with an 'if' I would have had nothing to say, as it is written in the good book 'Answer not a fool according to his folly.' When I said in answer to the question as to what my position was with regard to prosewhat my position was with regard to prosecuting the base ballist for Sunday playing, as proposed by the evangelical alliance, was I am not a member of that organization, and if I was, I would not favor such action. We have officers of the law who are sworn to enforce our laws, and it is not the business of ministers of the gospel to become detectives or prosecutors of criminals. The commission from heaven does not read that way. They are to be the beavers of good news; the publishers of peace.'

FOR A CITY MARKET. Farmers and Gardeners Moving to Secure a Location.

A meeting of representative farmers and gardeners who depend upon Omaha for a market for their produce, was held yester-day afternoon at the store of the Emerson seed company on Fifteenth street to talk over and act upon the subject of a city market place. A temperary organization was formed with Henry Eicke as chairman, and F. T. Emerson, secretary. Those present made remarks showing the need of a city market, how time was lost and much meon-venience resulted from the lack of a place centrally located where their products could be displayed for sale, not altogether for the consumer, but for the dealer as well, who would have the advantage of a large assort-ment from which to select his stock. A res-clution was unanimously adopted to petition the city council for a market house, one that would be adequate for the demands of a growing city, and that meanwhile, until such a location as might be deemed favorable by the council should be selected, the thoroughfare of Capitol avenue, between Thirteenth and Sixteenth streets, be designated as a temporary market place. A committee of seven was appointed to present the petition to the council to-night.

BENCH AND BAR.

United States Court. Judge Brewer, of this circuit of the United States court, arrived in the city yesterday from Leavenworth, Kan., and will preside at this bar during the present week. During his stay the regular court calendar will be set aside and some cases that are to be tried before the two judges will be heard.

The case of Fant against Lincoln was argued yesterday and is now in the hands of the jury. The case was begun last Friday afternoon and has occupied the attention of the court since that time.

Owing to the fact that the appropriation from the government for witness fees in this from the government for witness fees in this court is almost exhausted, and there is no more money in the treasury for this branch of the court's expenses, the probabilities are that the term will be brought to a close very soon unless a special appropriation is made to meet the exegencies in the case. United States Marshal Bierbower has telegraphed to the authorities in Washington to see if money can not be obtained from a special appropriation to allow the work of the court to be continued. be continued.

PARADA CLEARED.
The case of the United States against Antoine Barada, the half-breed, indicted for horse stealing on the Fox reservation was finished yesterday afternoon and a verdict rendered clearing the prisoner of the charge against him.

District Court.

There was even less of an appearance of progress in the trial of causes in the district court vesterday than there was the opening day. Judge Doane called the assignment but every case assigned was continued for another week. The cases on the assignment were all against the city and the continuance was due to the fact that the attorney for the city in the various cases will be occupied during the week in the United States court,

REFORM SCHOOL CANDIDATES.

Johnnie Cover, Dora E. Harmon and James
Collins were arraigned before Judge Groff as candidates for the reform school.

Young Cover was charged by the state with petit larceny, having stolen $4.75 from a man named Wagner. He plead guilty to the charge. His father appeared with him and stated to the court that he had no control over the boy; that he would run away from school and bad become accustomed to taking what did not pelong to him. The father acknowledged his inability to control the fourteen-year-old lad and the court ordered that he be taken to the state reform school at that he be taken to the state reform school at Kearney. The young man weakened under this sentence and when his mother and father were bidding him good-bye the scene was too much for the court and he reversed his decision and or-dered the father to take the boy home again and give him one more trial for his free-

James Collins was charged with being in corrigible, disorderly and fighter. He has been before the court before and released. His mother asked for his release again and stated that she would send him at once to the fathers' school for boys at Desplaines Ill., where he would be under such restric tions that he would come out a man and would be better cared for than he could be at the state school. The court ordered the boy to be taken to the train when his mother came with the tickets for to send him to Illi-nois. He was sent east in the afternoon.

Dora E. Harmon, a girl fifteen years old, who has wandered from the straight and narrow path, was next arraigned on the charge row path, was next arraigned on the charge of being incorrigible and a frequenter of houses of ill-fame. She plead not guilty to the charge, and said that she was a married woman, and that her husband is now in jail under indictment for bigamy. His name is Scharbeno. He was tried in police court about six weeks ago, and sent up. The state holds that he has a lawful and wedded wife about six weeks ago, and sent up. The state holds that he has a lawful and wedded wife now living, and that the Harmon girl is not his wife. She stated that her husband had been married, but was divorced from his wife, a mayor of a Minnesota city having granted him the divorce. As the girl's parents were not in court the case was continued until this morning and her parents were or-dered brought into court to answer for her.

A CRIMINAL DISCHARGED.

The case of the state against A. D. Petty under indictment for the larceny of a team of horses the first of last November was dis-missed at the request of the county attorney. The court ordered the prisoner released from custody.

The case of Brown against Stevens was

THE CABLE FRANCHISE. Reasons Why It Should be Voted for

To-day. To-day the people of this city will be called upon to vote upon the question of granting right of way to the Omaha Cable Tramway company and authority to con-struct, build, operate, use and maintain cable tramways and street railways with suitable turnouts and connections and turntables with cars propelled by endless cables, electricity, compressed air, steam motor, or with such other motor as may now or hereafter prove to be practicable, over under and across, in and along a number of streets in this city. The franchise asked for is not exclusive. It is sought by a company which has kept its every promise with the people of tne city; which has expended over $700,000 on its lines already in the city, and which proposes to extend the same to all parts of the city with a view of giving cit-izens rapid and comfortable transit in summer and winter, and in cars with careful, accommodating and competent employes who are not excelled in this country. "What the cable company has already done," said a citizen yesterday "is an earnest of what it will be in the future and ought to prompt citizens of all classes to vote to morrow, for the franchise. There will be opposition of course, but it will not come from the citizens. It will be encouraged and supported by the horse car company which has never made a move to accommodate to which it has not been driven by public clamor and demand. This organiza-tion foolishly thought it owned the streets of Omaha and left no legal quibble untouched to prove the foelish claim. But they have been beaten in the courts, and to morrow they intend to send their drivers and barn men to the polls to vote and peddle tickets to defeat their young and formidable rival. men to the point of votes and pendic alegest to defeat their young and formidable rival. Such a defeat they would claim to be the result of public opinion against the road, but you know how miserable a pretense that would be when every citizen who looks to the advancement of his own property and city is in favor of the cable road. The road will run to the north, to South Omaha, to the west, and wherever it goes it will bring increased valuation to abutting property. For these reasons, the cable company should be supported to-morrow, otherwise it will be a disaster to recover from which the city will require many a day."

The ballots favorable to the franchise will have "Yes" printed on them. Those opposed, the word "No."

The Narrow Escape of Mr. Jeff Rey nods as Told by Himself-An Indian Crippled For Life by a Grizziy Bear.

They had met by chance and were A few nights since, while the rain was pouring down thick and fast, a notable group of men sat in one corner of the office of one of our prominent hotels. They had met by chance and were renewing old acquaintances and telling their experiences of narrow escapes in the western wilds. The group consisted of an old trapper, two mining prospectors and a cowboy, They had just settled down after a hearty supper, and the old trapper started in: "It was in the winter of '78 that I set off on snow-shoes, accompanied by an Indian, to a small lake in northern part of Dakota, to fetch some fish caught the previous autumn, which lay frozen in a log cabin on the shore of the lake some ten miles off. We took a train of dogs and calculated to return before dark. We had proceeded about six miles, when the Indian who was in advance, paused and appeared to see some footprints in the snow, after a moment's scrutiny, he rose and said, that a bear had passed not long before, and could not be far off, and he wanted to follow it. I told him to follow and I would bring the dogs in his track, as the bear was going in the direction of the lake. The Indian started away with his gun, and was soon lost in the woods. For a quarter of an hour I plodded on, occasionally stopping to listen for some sound from the Indian. At last I heard the discharge of his gun, and immediately after heard a second discharge. Then all became silent, and I concluded that he had killed the bear, and that I would soon come up and find him skinning it. Just then however, I was startled by a fierce growl, and seizing my riffe, I rushed forward. A loud roar from the bear as he saw me coming caused me to look up, and as I did, my snow shoe caught at something, and I pitched forward, accidentally discharging my rifte as I fell. I sprang to my feet again, and, with my rifle clubued, I waited for the coming of his bearship, who had left the poor Indian almost dead and was rushing to meet me. Can Catarrh be Cured.

The past age might be called a superstitious

BAMGE BL'R., OMAHA

The past age might be called a superstitions one. The present can more properly be called among the impossibilities have now become everyday possibilities. It would be superfinous to enumerate them. But have we reached the utmost limit? Have we? Physicians who claim to make certain aliments the human body is subject to a special study and claim to be able to sure such diseases, are pronounced by other self-satisfied practitioners as presumptuous, but does their saying so make it so? The man who comes the nearest to overcoming the seeming impossibilities of others is now all the rage, and well does he or they deserve the success they have labored so hard to attain. Dr. J. Cresap McCoy of his associates do not make claims to anything marvelous, such as raising the dead and giving them new life; neither do they claim to give sight to the blind; but by their new and scientific method of treating catarrh they have cured and do cure catarrh, as well as bronchial and throat troubles. They make catarrh a specialty because it is one of the most prevalent and troublesome diseases that the people of this climate are heir to. Since Dr. McCoy and his associates have located in this city they have treated with success hundreds of persons whom other physicians have told their disease was classed among the hourables. Do they not publish from week to week in the daily papers tastmonials from some of their many grateful patients, giving in each case the full name and address of the person making the statemont, that the doubting and skeptical may call and interview the said people prior to visiting the door is offices for consultation. The people advertised as cured are by no means obscure or unknown, but in the majority of cases are citizens well known by the business people and community at large, and it will more than repay any one suffering from catarrhal affections to visit those whose statements are published, or consult with the doctor or his associates at his Its superior excellence proven in millions of homes for more than a quarter of a century. It is used by the United States Government. Endorsed by the heads of the great universities as the strougest, purest and most healthful. Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder does not contain ammonia, lime or alum. Sold only in cans.

Paxton Block.

In order to seeme better accommodations for his many patrons, Dr. Smith has moved his office to rooms 313 and 315, Paxtoh block, over Max Meyer & Bros' jewelry store. Dr. Smith comes among us bearing testimonials from some of the leading physicians of this country, and his success in curing chronic diseases is unparalelled in the healing art. His patrons are among the prominent citizens of Omaha and surrounding country, and they all speak in the highest terms of his professional skill and the kind and gentlemanly manner in which they are treated. It is becoming generally known that Dr. Smith gives an honest opinion in every instance and hundred of people suffering from incurable diseases are advised to keep their money and not spend it upon dectors who can do them no good. There is no denying the fact that Dr. Smith cures more cases of chronic and long lingering diseases, through his wonderful magnetic power, than Dy any other known method of treatment. Writing of the qualifications of Dr. Smith an eminet professor says, "He is the best prescriber of medicine upon the human system than any physician we ever had in the state, and I am certain will successfully carry out any medical enterprise in which he is engaged. I regret that he ever left the state, as we can ill afford to lose such men."

Another old professor in one of the leading colleges in St. Louis, says: "I have been personally and professionally acquainted with Dr. Smith for upwards of sixteen years during which time I never heard a word spoken against either. My own knowledge of Dr. Smith is that of a professional genteman, of the finest character and reputation. He is unquestionably the peer of any practitioner in America. I take great pleasure in recommending him to all our friends and confrees."

Dr. Smith will continue to heel the sick free of charge every morning from 10 to 11 o'clock all of this week, at Max Meyer & Bros' Music Hall.
