PROBABLE ROUTE OF THE ROAD.

Accommodations For Republicans Attending the National Convention-A History of Seward Connty-Memorial Day Preparations.

LINCOLN BURBAU OF THE OMAHA BRE, 1029 P STREET, LINCOLN, May 23.

The committee appointed by the board of trade for the conference meeting with the Rock Island officials at Fairbury, departed to-day for that place over the Union Pacific to Bentrice and the Rock Island from that point to Fairbury. The delegation is a representative one of the substantial and ener getic citizens of this place, and they go with a purpose in view. In fact it is rumored that the arrangements for the building of the road to this city are already consummated and that the present visit is more in the nature of a confirmation than the opening of new negotiations. From those directly interested in the work that is being done there seems to be two ideas concerning the ime, one that it is to be run direct from Omaha to Fairbury via Ashland and Lincoln, and the other that it will run from Fairbury to Lincoln and thence eastward over the proposed line of the Lincoln, Red Oak & Des Moines, crossing the Missouri river south of the mouth of the Platte river and thence making a junction with the main line east of Council Bluffs. By complying with a few requirements it is very probable that a bundle of bonds voted by this city last year could be transferred to the new line as ma-ferial aid for its construction. The return of the delegation from the conference and their report will both be watched for with more then ordinary interact more than ordinary interest.

TO CHICAGO.

Since the republican state convention a Since the republican state convention a large number of republicans in the state who have visited the capital city have expressed hemselves as desirons of visiting the na-tional convention. In response to these de-sires the following notice has been issued:

"At the request of a number of prominent republicans the undersigned has undertaken to secure cars for all who desire to attend the Chicago convention on June 19, Pull-man sleepers have been secured at a rate of 40 per day from the time of leaving here intil the car is returned to Chicago. Each car will accommodate thirty-six people and will be sidetracked near the convention (within four blocks) where it will be used for sleeping purposes during the stay in Dhicago; meals can be had at restaurants and dining halls convenient. The railroad fare will be one-half the usual rates, under such restrictions as the railroad company may prescribe.

excursionists will leave Lincoln at 1:50 p. m., Sunday, June I7, leaving Omaha over the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy at 3:85 p a. Parties wishing to secure accommoda-ions in the Pullmans should file their appli cations with the undersigned at the earliest soible day, accompanied by a guarantee of J." J. C. MCBRIDE.

BISTORY OF SEWARD COUNTY. Mr. W. W. Cox, one of the pioneer settlers of Lancaster and Seward counties whose hair has silvered through his long residence in Nebraska, has just completed a history of Seward county that is undoubtedly the most complete work of its kind over published in the state. The volume contains 290 pages and is handsomely bound in cloth and gilt, making a handsome and attractive volume as well as one of intense interest to every early settler in the territory it covers. Mr. Cox was amply armed for the work undertaken through his long acquaintance and residence through his long acquaintance and residence aside from his ability to write a good book upon almost any subject. He has published an edition of 2,000 vol-umes and has found a ready sale for over one half of them. The price of the work is $1.25 with 10 cents added when books are sent by mail.

on South Tenth street a few nights ago is having an airing in the police court. The facts brought in evidence thus far are some thing as follows: On the evening in ques tion as two "scabs," IL S. Hudson and James Quinn, were standing m front of the bar, they were approached by a striking fireman named Charles Greevy who applied to them the term of "scab." Hudson replied by saying: "I am an engineer on the B. & M. if you call that seabling." After making another insulting remark Greevy went out-side to return a few minutes later with seven or eight fellow strikers. Without any preside to return a few minutes later with seven or eight fellow strikers. Without any pre-liminaries they jumped upon the two scabs with brass knuckles and other weapons and commenced to give them a merciless beating. When Hudson saw that they were too numerous for him he pulled his re-volver and held them at bay. The strikers then caused his arrest on the charge of carrying concealed weapons, and he in re-turn had Greevy arrested for assaulting him. Both trials were fixed for yesterday afternoon. Hudson had a hearing first on the charge of carrying concealed weapons. His attorney made a strong plea for him, claiming that the responsible and dangerous position of a scab engineer at present made the carrying of firearms absolutely neces-sary for his personal safety. The only thing that probably saved Hudson from being badly or perhaps mortally injured in the as-sault on him was the presentation of his revolver, which he had no notion of dis-charging except in defense of his life. Pros-ecuting Attorney Smith also made a strong speech in reply in which he showed the viciousness of allowing any such men carry-ing revolvers. If the privilege was granted to one class of workmen it should be to one class of workmen it should be granted to all and murders would become a daily occurrence. The police magistrate agreed with the prosecuting attorney, and declared Hudson guilty, but owing to the ex-tenuating circumstances in the case he fixed the fine at the lowest possible limit $250 the fine at the lowest possible limit, $2.50. The trial of Greevy next commenced and at 6 p. m. was only about half through. Court was then adjourned until this morning, when the hearing will be resumed. The cases conpromise to consume considerable of the judge's time this morning. The court room was crowded with railroad men interested in the case.
