

SHERIDAN HAS A RELAPSE.

A Very Severe Recurrence of the Heart Trouble. HIS PHYSICIANS MUCH ALARMED.

The Patient Rescued From This Condition Only With the Greatest Difficulty—Very Little Hope—No Change at Midnight.

Life Trembling in the Balance. WASHINGTON, May 26.—General Sheridan's condition is extremely critical to-night and his death at any moment would not be surprising.

General Sheridan passed a comfortable day, took plenty of nourishment, spoke cheerfully and hopefully and generally did well until ten minutes before 5 o'clock this morning, when the action of the heart became very painful, and his condition has since that time been very serious.

At midnight there was no change in General Sheridan's condition. The pulse was 130 a minute, the temperature 101.5, and the respiration 30. The action of the heart was very painful, and his condition has since that time been very serious.
