LABOR AND INTemperance Discussed by Mrs. Saxon in Relation to the Ballot.

It was a small but presumably select audience which gathered at the First M. E. church last evening to hear Mrs. Elizabeth Lyle Saxon. The meeting was called to order by Pastor House, who started what he called "everybody's hymn," "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," inviting all to join in the singing. After a short prayer, Mrs. Alma E. Keith, acting as chairman, introduced the speaker of the evening.

The subject of the address was "The Ballot in Its Relation to Labor and Intemperance." The lady spoke of the ballot as the symbol of the highest and best privilege an American may have, and drew upon the necessity of maintaining its purity. Politics have become a synonym for corruption, and she reviewed the causes which have led to this state of affairs.

She asserted that the most necessary of honor power had been the greatest corruptor, closely followed by the corporate power of the railroad. She depicted the history of labor troubles and enforced her opinions with statistics. "Years ago, Wendell Phillips, with his intuitive sense, said there was but one weapon to save this country from anarchy, and that is the ballot in the hand of woman."

Mrs. Saxon arranged the room power for the misery and the burden it entails upon women. She said there were 3,000,000 working women, many of them with children to care for, and it is a pitiable fact that they are robbed of compensation justly due them. Woman, she argued, needed the ballot to protect herself. Of course she did not refrain from the stereotyped comparison of woman's work with that of man, but the burden of her address was upon the unequal struggle waged by woman in industrial pursuits and social life.

What is more attractive than a pretty face with a fresh, bright complexion? For it use Pozzoni's Powder. HE WANTS TO TRADE BACK. That is Why Helin Has Had Engstrom Arrested.

According to the story of Carl F. Engstrom, who is now occupying a cell at the central station, his arrest yesterday is a most unwarranted piece of maliciousness. He is charged with pretending to own a farm of 160 acres in Webster county, which he fraudulently traded to John F. Helin for another farm, receiving in addition $200 on the trade.

Among the assurances of health afforded us by the regular discharge of the bodily functions, none is more important and reliable than that which regards the bowels. Engstrom gives us. If moving is any—even a temporary interruption of this—the liver and the stomach suffer conjointly with inactive organs, and still greater mischief ensues if relief is not speedily obtained.

Uncle Sam Will Rest. As to-day is a legal holiday the post-office and other public offices will be closed.

A SOAP-CERTIFICATE. I used your soap two years ago and have not used any other since.

The world has not been fit to live in fifty years, if we are to accept the opinion of a noted orator of these times. In any case, the half century has witnessed most remarkable developments. It was at the beginning of this golden age that Messrs. KIRK & CO. commenced to make soap—crudely at first; then with more rapid advances as science contributed her willing aid, until at length the heights of the soap-making art were reached, and
