COWBOYS FOR A DAY. Two Incipient Border Heroes Returned to Their Parents. Two young gentlemen who have yet to be come older before they may throw off parental restraint, drove into town Monday night like incipient cowboys, trappers and Indian fighters, such in fact as they had read of in the western novels, which it seems long occupled their attention. One of them was onded with a magazine and an arsenal which would have bent the backbone of a mule. The other was ferocious with revolvers and dirks and a lasso, while both rode ponies which had been taken from their fathers' rns. They were bound for the far west, t thus far their map has been laid out only to Fremont. One was named Elton Roberts and the other O. Barton of Louis. In. They stopped at the residence of E. Clayton, Twenty-seventh and Pierce streets, and that gentleman telegraphed their parents, who answered to notify the police and detain the runaways. Sergeant Mostyn responded and caught the youngsters early yesterday morning as they were about to mount to continue their journey. Their parents were notified and the scouts were conducted home last

Held For His Crime. W. Johnson, who is charged with the unnatural crime upon little Frank Moeller, was the last case before Judge Berka Tuesday afternoon. The fellow stood up with his right hand in his pants pocket, while his left nervously fumbled an old slouch hat. He shifted his weight uneasily from one foot to to the other, but paid little attention to the reading of the charge against him. When asked whether he wanted to be examined, he asked whether he wanted to be examined, he replied:

"I own up to burglary, but I didn't do that other. I never did that in my life."

There was no charge of burglary, and the prisoner was held on "that other," to be examined at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Johnson had anticipated a prosecution for theft. He was arrested by two private citizens, C. E. Barrett and Dr. Jonkins, while in the room of the former stealing a watch, and was taken by them to the central station. He has been identified by a lady as a man who rapped at the back doer of hor house and on its being spend made as a indecent exposure of his before his capture. His appearance answers had a similar experience the day before. Johnson has been identified by Moeller as his assailant.

Drunk or Crazy-Which?

OMARIA, May 28 .- To the Editor of the BEE; What is the trouble with Mr. Festner's editor? Is he habitually drunk, or has he gone clean crazy? Those who know him say that he is a great "crank," but of late he has given symptoms of the jimjams. For one, I want to know whether Mr. Festner expects to impose on the Germans of Omaha such a lot of swill as that fellow is constantly pouring out through the columns of "the only German daily in Omaha," as he calls it. Last week he treated his patrons to a longwinded lot of buncomb about the schools, and he charged, point blank, that the present school board was elected by a combination between the schoolma'ms of Omaha and E, between the schoolma'ms of Omaha and E. Rosewater, and that a lot of soft jobs were given out to people through this combine, and that they do nothing but loaf around the streets. He also charges that Rosewater has always opposed Germans in the school board and the employment of any German in connection with the schools.

This is such a plain pack of falsehoods that nection with the schools.

This is such a plain pack of falsehoods that it is hardly worth while to notice the matter, because everybody knows to the contrary. I, for one know that the editor of the Ber made a personal effort for Mr. Schmidt, president of the German club, when a tracement occurred in the hearth last sum. vacancy occurred in the board last sum-

This demijohn crank charges that Mr. Resewater has made a bargain with Joe Redman to sell out Heimred on condition that Redman should stop his agitation of Jefferson square as a location for the city

He further makes out that the BEE is opposed to any German in public employment. Such stuff Mr. Festner's patrons are getting sick and tired of. I can't conceive what this thing Scribbler is up to. Why don't be go to somebody who knows something about this matter before he opens his jaw?

Lady School Board Candidates. Ten ladies met at the First M. E. church Tuesday afternoon to receive and correct the report of a committee appointed by the Woman's Suffrage association to select a number of ladies suitable for candidates as members of the board of education. The committee was composed of Rev. 1. At.
House, General Esterbook, Mrs. G. A.
Joslyn, Mrs. Orphia Dinsmore and Mrs. C.
S. Montgomery. They failed to put in an appearance at the appointed hour, and after a half hour of chatting the ten detailed two of their number to look up the delinquents.

The committee reported the following ladies as eligible and available: Mrs. Alma E. Keith, Mrs. Eleanor Dailey, M. D., Mrs. Orphia Dinsmore, Mrs. Abbie Van Count and Mrs, Faunie Ada Walker, all of them tax

The Suffrage association decided to present these names to the political parties nominating candidates, with a request that the women be given a representation by placing at least one of the five names above upon their tickets. Failing to receive that recognition, the association proposes nominating an independent ticket of its own.

The State's Schools.

VOTED IN FAVOR OF OMAHA.

The Next M. E. General Conference Comes to this City.

THE NEWS CAUSES REJOICING.

Pastors of the Denomination Give Their Idea of the Full Meaning of the Decision In Our Favor.

A Big Thing For Omaha.

Yesterday noon THE BEE received the ollowing dispatch from Rev. J. B. Maxfield: New York, May 30.—The next general conference of the Methodist church is fixed it Omaha. J. B. Maxylello. at Omaha. Rev. Charles W. Savage, of the Seward Street M. E. church, when informed that the Methodist general conference of 1892 would be held in Omaha, said, with earnest fervor "I am greatly rejoiced to hear it, and I would like to record my high appreciation of the work done by the committee we sent to secure it. The general conference will be one of the greatest affairs that this section of the country could have It has never be fore been held west of Chicago. That city seems to have the power to get almost anything it sets its heart upon. I suspect that the members of the conference want to come out here and see the great · A great deal has been said in the eastern papers about the wonderful growth and progress of Omaha, you know, and it is quite likely the people down there wish to come and see for themselves. I am surprised that the conference is coming so far west, but am heartily glad to hear it.

"It will mean a great deal for Omaha, and especially for our church. Methodism has not prospered in this city as it should have done. We have had several business failures -lost two or three fine properties. We are not now fixed to properly entertain a large gathering of visitors, but now that the con ference has been secured we must have a fine central church. That much is absolutely necessary. We have the lots already, and the coming of the conference will be a spur to pushing the work with vigor. It may also mean two or three other fine churches. The Methodists of Omaha need them. I think the conference will be of much benefit to other church denominations in this city. It will quicken christian thought and christian activity. But while Omaba will be specially benefitted, I think the whole will be specially benefitted, I think the whole west will be delighted. The general conference is an institution whose doings are of the greatest interest to the members of our church, and Methodists from all over the west will improve the opportunity to attend. Iowa will be especially pleased. Her delegates naturally presented the claims of Des Moines, but, that city being out of the question, they were heartily in favor of Omaha. tion, they were heartily in favor of Omaha. I think Dr. Smith of Council Bluffs was the first to propose making an effort to secure the meeting here. He has been an earnest ally. As I said before, too much can not be said in praise of the efforts of our committee, Revs. Clendennin, Brown and Dawson, and of course they had the sympathy and co-operation of our conference delegates, Dr. Maxwell of this city and Rev. William Worley of Schuyler.

"Great work will have to be Omaha, be-Methodists and the citizens of Omaha, because great promises have been given. I understand our committee promised to enter tain 600 persons for thirty days free of charge. That will be a big undertaking, and our people will have to thow open their homes. The general conference will bring 3,000 people here, I should think, and I don't know but a great many more. They will stay four weeks or more.
"I look upon the general conference as one of the finest ecclesiastical bodies in this country. It is the great law-making power of the M. E. church. We have a discipline, of course you know, the body of which was made by Wesley. Changes in it can only be made by the general conference. It is quite likely an important one will be made at the meeting in Omaha. A number of female delegates were sent to the present conference, among them one from Nebraska, Mrs. Augie Among them one from Kerriska, Mrs. Angle Newman. They were refused seats, and the question of woman's eligibility as delegate was sent back to the church for an expres-sion of sentiment. The west is not so con-servative in such matters, and I think the ladies will be admitted four years hence. Yes, the conference will be an important affair for the city.'

"If that's true," said Rev. T. M. House, of the First M. E. church, when told the good news, "it will be the greatest event that ever happened to Omaha. It will give this city an advertisement all over the globe. Other bodies of a similar kind are chiefly American in their make up, but the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church—be sure to put in the Episcopal—has delegates from the ends of the earth. There are 111 the ends of the earth. There are 111 conferences, representing not only every state and territory in the union, but Italy, Norway, Sweden, China, India, Japan, Africa, Switzerland, Germany, Mexico and Liberia. Why," enthusiastically, "it will be the biggest thing that ever came to Omaha. This city will get four years of constant advertising. In our church proper stant advertising. In our church papers and at our anunual conferences the attention of Methodists will be continually directed to of Methodists will be continually directed to Omaha. We have nearly two million mem-bers. I told you to use the word 'Episcopal' because there are fourteen or fifteen other wings of the Methodist church with whom the general conference has no connection. But as a matter of courtesy they are allowed to send fraternal delegates, who are received as guests, just the same as the fraternal delegates from the Presbyterians and other denominations; and this will give Omaha a denominations; and this will give Omaha a place in the minds of about two million five hundred thousand more people.

"How many visitors will there bet Good gracious; thousands! We have eighteen bishops, and all who are alive will be here. There are 643 delegates, including 178 laymen, who represent 15,000 ministers and nearly two million church members. This number will be swelled by the fraternal delegates from other branches of the Methodist church, from other denominations and from other countries. There will nations and from other countries. There will be many laymen from all parts of the counry, men prominent in business or professional try, men prominent in business or professional life. Well, it is the biggest thing on the face of the globe, as a body representative of a church. It represents about twice the memmership that the Presbyterian general assembly does. Of course, thousands of visitors will come in from this and adjoining states. Excursions will doubtless be run for that necessary.

"Care for them? Well, we will have to ask the citizens of Omaha to volunteer enter-tairment, and those not provided for in that way will have to go to the hotels. We will have to build more hotels in Omaha before that time, and in the natural course of events we will have more. I believe the city will by that time be better represented in the matter of homes. There will be more houses and fewer roomers, consequently more rooms available for visitors. I am sure Omaha will take great strides before 1802. We hope ere then to have a new church, built in amphitheater form and having a seating capacity of 1.800 to 2,000. "I suppose the general conference selected Omaha because its members wanted to get out west and see what the country looks like. These meetings have generally been held in the east. The Presbyterian general assembly broke new ground by coming to Omaha, and that probably spurred our people to do likewise."

For Selling Mortgaged Property. J. H. Gibson is wanted on a warrant is sued by Justice Anderson, charging him with selling mortgaged goods. The lien was for $375, and covered three horses, three wagons, a lot of agricultural juplements and 400 bushels of corn, the whole valued at $800 or more. It was given to J. W. Squire, who subscruently transferred it to the Nebraska & Iowa Insurance company, The latter sent a constable the other day to make Gibson pony up, or hand over the goods. Gibson failed to settle and told the officer the chattels were said. The warrant is the beginning of criminal proceedings against the delinquent.
