A Young Folk's Banquet.

At the close of the Ladies' Missionary society, of the St. Mary's avenue Congregational church, Monday June 3, the young people of the society gave a public school, repaired to the hospitable residence of Rev. Willard Scott, the pastor, where a banquet was spread, covering beds laid for fifty. They enjoyed themselves as the young folk can until the time for the meeting of the Y. P. S. C. F., when they returned to the church and spent a pleasant hour.

A Double Wedding.

An event which will be memorable in the family history of the Brien family occurred yesterday at his residence on North Eleventh street. His daughter, Fannie, was married to Mr. Frank D. Tenney, of Dakota, and his son was at the same time married to Miss Lucy Leese. These ladies have for some time been teaching in the public schools. The bride party left last evening for Minneapolis and Duluth and other cities to the north. Mr. Tenney will make a return to their Dakota home, and Mr. and Mrs. Wood to Omaha.

That Fatal Gravel Pile.

The verdict of the coroner's jury, Monday, in the case of John Mack, who was killed in South Omaha, was a surprise to everybody. If the company had not been unnecessarily allowed to run the car on the tracks, the accident had not taken place, it is claimed, and gravel was no more harmful than a pit into which he could have fallen. The report, as the funeral of the poor fellow will take place this morning at 9 o'clock from his residence on South Eleventh street, it will be under the direction of the Switchmen's union.

Going to the Typos.

Mike Buckley, the foreman of the Brien's stereotypy room, has been elected delegate of the Omaha Pressmen, Stereotypers and Electrotypers' union, to the international convention of the Typographical union, which is to be held in Kansas City commencing on the 11th inst, and continuing probably six days. Before the assembling of the convention, the pressmen and stereotypers will hold a convention of about four days and afterwards take part with their typographical brethren. Mr. Buckley will make an excellent representative. After the convention he will go to Chicago and return to Omaha with a bride.

A Morning Blaze.

A supply house of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railroad, situated near Out-of-lake, was discovered to be on fire about 6 o'clock yesterday morning. The building was about 40x30 and contained a large supply of engine, station and train supplies, among the latter about fifty barrels of oil. The flames rapidly spread and set fire to the oil and although fire companies 1 and 6 worked hard the building was burned to the ground. The structure was an old one and was not valued at more than $500. The loss in stock was probably double that amount.

Omaha's Races.

The array of fast horses for the Omaha June races is rapidly gaining magnificent proportions. The races will begin June 12 and continue till June 15. Among the flyers will be Elmwood Chief, Edgewood, McLeod, who was styled the Nebraska wonder in the east last season, and a host of others. Among the entries will be about twenty Omaha flyers, while in the slow classes there will be a number without a record which are destined to do some good work. It is quite probable that Westmont, with a record of 20 1/4 with running mate, will be secured for an exhibition of speed. The attractions will be trotting, running and pacing, and races will be so on the grounds. The races will be for a purse of $2,000.

AN UNKNOWN MAN.

Who is Pronounced Both Wealthy and Powerful.

In Hoefey & Hoefey's there lies dead a man whose name is supposed to be Frank Murray, concerning whom somebody must be lying. He died at St. Joseph's hospital on last Sunday morning. The undertakers above mentioned were called to take charge of the body. They found present a man named O'Neill, who claimed to be a friend of the deceased, and who stated that he had watched over him for a short time. He said further that Murray's folks resided in Rochester, N. Y.; that he knew where Murray's trunk was, but that he would get the trunk, open it, and he would get the name and address of the dead man's friends. He said that Murray was well-to-do, that two weeks ago Murray had said to Dr. Smith, who runs a highly advertised office in one of the buildings of this city, $200, to be cured of the dropsy, and that the cure had not been effected. He said also (O'Neill) would see Dr. Smith and get him to surrender some of the money alleged to have been paid by Murray to Dr. Smith.

As a proof of O'Neill's intimacy with Murray he paid Patrick Hoefey, of the above firm, $45 in advance, of $200, of Murray's money, which he had with him at the time, saying at the same time he would keep the remaining $5 for himself. O'Neill left Hoefey's to go to Dr. Smith's and Murray's boarding house, but has not since been heard of by Hoefey. Why has he not returned? If Murray was well-off in life, his trunk would perhaps be in some material, possibly money, which it might be thought advisable to make away with. But in so doing the scoundrel would consign the dead man to a grave among strangers. It was hinted that O'Neill had been bought up to disappear. But whether this were well founded or not is not ascertained, because thus far no clue has been found as to where Murray boarded or removed before going to the hospital.

The doctor Smith above referred to was seen by a Bee man yesterday. He has resided here three months. He formerly resided in Denver, went there to Leavitt, coming thence to Omaha. He said he knew Murray as a miner, under the name of Kokome, in Denver; treated and cured him, of the piles; was paid $25 for same. In Leavitt Murray sought relief for another internal ailment. The doctor said he could only give him some medicine because, if he (doctor) was not to move to Omaha and could not wait to cure "Kokome" said he thought he would come to Omaha too, as it was as good as any place. This was a strange resolution for a miner to make. The doctor moved here. Murray followed, and a couple of weeks ago, the doctor says, called on him. His bowels and liver the doctor says were in a horrible condition. He had no money, his landlady or landlady did not want to keep him longer. The doctor suggested he go to the hospital and make application. Murray was admitted and the doctor says he paid $100 for Murray's board and care for two weeks. Murray died. The story is still incomplete. Its lack of completeness suggests several queries. Who is Murray? Did he live in Rochester? Was he a miner? If so, why did he move to a town around which no mines are located? If Murray had no money, how could he have been able to pay $200, as claimed to be and gave up as Murray's? Where did Murray board or room in Omaha? Where is O'Neill now? O'Neill is described as a short, stout, middle-aged man, with dark brown and soiled clothes. It is possible that some person who may read these lines in Rochester, N. Y., may be able to identify the same, or tell where the unfortunate boarded in life. There are some strange circumstances connected with the affair which warrant investigation.

THE RAILROADS.

Not so Stupendous After All—General.

On several different occasions, the "only great" railroad organ of the city has printed letters concerning a scheme of the Santa Fe in obtaining a continuous route across the continent. A traffic contract has been made, so it was asserted, by which the Erie road was to carry east bound freight from Buffalo, while the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern was selected as the Chicago-Buffalo line.

First vice-president, C. W. Smith, says there is no truth whatever in the report, and further that the Santa Fe has no intention of extending its system east of Chicago, or of making any traffic arrangements whatsoever within these limits. Parties desirous of visiting Garfield Beach, on Great Salt Lake, the famous watering place of the west, should improve the opportunity now offered.
