Burglars.

Monday night burgiars effected an entrance into Kilgor's boarding house on Q street, and succeeded in removing the trunk of Pete Nail, one of the boarders. They broke it open, but found nothing they wanted, and then left it with the contents strewn all over the yard. They just missed a purse that contained a few dollars, and the police have been notified of their neglect.

Triplet Sisters.

The B. & M. among other passengers on its east bound train yesterday carried Mr. and Mrs. George Slawson and family of Pueblo, Col., who are on their way to Lansing, Mich., to visit relatives. The "family" mentioned comprises three little girls : Lottie, Lettle and Lillie, who are triplets aged four and one-half years and who resemble each other very much, in fact so much that an outsider would experience no little difficulty in telling them apart. Mrs. Slawson is very proud of her little ones and seemed pleased to answer the many questions asked by the large group who congregated on the pint-form to admire the children. Like most ladies who have twins or triplets she dresses them all exactly alike and remarked that it scarcely made any difference whether they got their right dresses or not as they were

About one hundred Sir Knights with their lady friends were present to hear the entertainment that had been prepared. The meeting was presided over by the regular lodge officers, and the entertainment was opened with the regular song of the lodge and prayer of E. P. Savage. The programme for the evening consisted of music, recitations and readings, given by Charley and Grace Higgins, the Sanford family, P. C. Rogers, Miss Rogers and others. Rev. Mr. Savage delivered an interesting address on the history and origin of Damon and Pythias and a general outline of the work of the order of Sir Knights. At the conclusion of the literary programme, refreshments, cream, cake, berries and lemonade were served, and one of the most pleasant social seasons in the history of Marathon was enjoyed. The evening marks one more very pleasant mile stone in the history of this lodge in the city and its work.

THE DIAMOND ROBBERS CAUGHT The Three Bold Plunderers of Omaha

Mansions Are Now in Custody. The bold diamond robbery in the Garneau mansion has finally been ferreted out and the thieves are now in the stern hands of the law. At least so the officials believe. The persons implicated are three professional crooks named Frank Wilson, Charles White and Tim Daily. As reported in yesterday's BEE, the secret was divulged by Daily while badly intoxicated Sunday night, and on being taken to the central station and confronted with the evidence and knowing that Wilson and White were in custody on the same charge, he made a clean breast of it. He was kept apart from his pals so that they would get no chance to intimidate or bribe him.

The Garneau robbery was most coolly and deliberately planned. Daily and White were detailed to get employment cleaning up the Garneau premises, and thereby get the "lay of the land." They did so and reported to Wilson the "slick" worker of the trie. While Wilson was plundering the house White and Daily stood on guard with a pre-arranged system of signals to be used in case of danger. The bold robbery was thus safely committed and Wilson was not observed until he was en the point of leaving the house when Mrs. Garneau who suddenly appeared on the scene and caught a passing glance of the side

The fact that the men working about the

about the cash confirmed the suspicion.
Wilson, however, was arrested first, positive proof having been secured of his implication with the Laik silver robbery. The similarity of the two robberies led the police to believe that they were committed by the same persons and the fact that White, who same persons and the fact that White, who had been employed at the Garneau mansion, was seen in Wilson's company was in the eyes of the officer damning proof against him and he, too, was as ested. The police were meanwhile vigorously kunting for Dailey when news of his confession to a Thirteenth street bartender reached their eyes. The officers were overjoyed at this bit of information and five police officers were detailed to capture Daily at any and all hazards, provided he should happen to have a number of confederates with him who should show fight. The arrest was quietly made at 1 o'clock in the morning with the results mentioned above. mentioned above.

All the devilght robberies in Omaha can without doubt be laid to the door of this desperate trio.

There are still later developments that point to White's positive connection with the Lake silver robbery case. A fourth party named Miller is found also to be connected with both cases, and two warrants have been issued against him. He was captured yester-day morning. Captain Green and his corps of detectives have been working carefully on these cases and hope to bring to justice all the criminals connected with them.

Wilson, who is charged with having stolen the Garneau diamond, was brought up for hearing yesterday, which he waived and was bound over in default of bail, to await the action of the district court. Charles White's examination was postooned until to-day at 2 p. m.

A Clandestine Hug Causes Two Cases in the Police Court. A very amusing case occurred in the police court yesterday that developed another in which the plaintiff became defendant and both were fined. The first defendant was William Pickett, who was charged with assaulting B. Quinlan. The home of the Picketts is at 1013 Chicago street and Quinlan is a boarder with them. Mrs. Pickett is a charming and well-preserved woman of forty, while her husband is an old man. Quinlan is a nice looking young fellow and he and the buxom landlady have become great friends. Her husband has been on a drunk for over three weeks, and during this time it appears that she and the nice young boarder have had ample opportunity to enjoy each Monday morning Mrs. married daughter chanced society. Pickett's to drop into the parlor unannounced when she discovered her mother sitting in Quin-lan's lap, enjoying and returning his carceses. The cloerly dame was very much astonished at the sudden entrance of her daughter, but with rare presence of mind she jumped to her rect and exclaimed hastily to Quinlan:

"How dare you act so!" But the daughter was unfilial enough to declare that her mother was feigning indignation, and made some remarks which the erstwhile loving pair declared were base insinuations. Quin-lan became very indignant and called the daughter some ill-sounding names. When the father returned home, full as usual, a graphic account of the affair was poured into his ears by the daughter. He hunted Quinlan up and instead of kicking him out of doors and forbidding him the house, he simply struck him over the nead with a potato masher, inflicting a slight wound. Quinlan swore out a warrant for Pickett's arrest, and that gen-tleman was arrested Tuesday evening, tried yesterday morning and fined $7 and costs, The judge thought that Quinlan had not yet received his dues, and accordingly a warrant was imsworn out against him vile and abusive language to the daughter. He was tried, found guilty, and fined §7 and costs. He admitted while on the witness stand that Mrs. Picketts was on his lap, but he said he "liked her very well, and only wished to hug her a little bit." The case

Life is burdensome, alike to the sufferer and all around him, while dyspepsia and its attending evils hold sway. Complaints of this nature can be speedily cured by taking Prickly Ash Bitters Thousands once thus afflicted bear cheerful tostimony as to its merits.

Five young men who will attend school at Washington, Mrs. Mutsu and Miss Mutsu, the minister's daughter, were also on the train. Mr. Oda who speaks English very fluently, was quite communicative, and among other things stated that his object in oming to America was to study the of the people, and more especially to learn of the American system of running newspapers.
Mr. Oda stated that the item recently published in The Bee concerning the prohibit-ing of base ball playing in Japan was cor-rect, that the Mikado had expressly forbid-den it as he considered it demoralizing. The party are all fine looking people, the Abortive Attempt at Blackmail. Two scoundrels were foiled Monday i their attempt to blackmail Lotta Bradley, an inmate of Jettie Reynolds' house of prosti tution. Lotta, who like most of her class, is known by an assumed name, came here from Atchison, Kan., and is from a well-known and highly respected family there, Two scalawags, named Boyle and Turner, who knew her at Atchison, came to Omaha Monday and represented to her that they were detectives employed by her father to take her home. However, if she would "put up" her home. However, if she would "put up" a specified amount of money they would let the matter drop. But she understood their little game, and leaving the room asthough she was going after the money, she went to the telephone instead, and rang for the police. The sound of the telephone alarmed the would be blackmailers, and they made a hasty exit. The police have a full description of them, and are hard after their. tion of them, and are hard after them.

SUBURBAN TRAINS.

Probability of a Service to Seymour Park on the Missouri Pacific.

One of the crying needs of Omaha is an increased number of suburban trains to facilitate travel between the business center and the many outlying additions from three to six miles distant. This matter has been pressed upon the attention of the officers of the Missouri Pacific railway from time to time, and on Monday they took the initial steps towards giving Omaha the metropolitan conveniencies she needs and by right of growth is entitled to. Superintendent Dickenson and Division Superintendent Dodd rige invited a number of interested citizens to accompany them, and in their private car the party made a trip of investigation out over the line as far as Seymour Park. This is a plant of about 500 acres nine miles from is a pinite of about 500 acres nine miles from the depot. It is awned by Dr. George L.
Miller, who is building upon it a stone house with a view to making it his country residence. The park is well timbered and well watered, and the doctor contemplates throwing it open to the public if suburban trains are put on to enable the people to reach it readily. The trip can be made in twenty minutes.

minutes.

The inspecting car passed through a number of additions, and the location of stations for the proposed suburban service was discussed. It was agreed that one must be located to the terminus of cated at Seymour Park at the terminus of the run. The owner of West Lawn addi-tion pointed out the needs of a station at that point, which is six or seven miles from the city depot, and the force of his arguments were conceded. The gentlemen interested in Benson's place and Hitchrock's addition also put in strong pleas for depots.

Messrs. Dickinson and Doodridge were unable to give positive assurance that the suburban trams would be put on, but the fact that they were sent upon this trip by Jay Gould and General Manager Clarke to investigate and report is presumptive evidence that the matter is receiving favorable consid eration at headquarters. Mr. Dickinson thought the railroad's action would be governed by his report, and he said that report would be favorable. He feared an hourly service would hardly be justified at present, but he intimated that he would recommend a train at 6 in the morning for laboring men another at 8:30 for business men, one at noon one at 1:30 for ladies bent on shopping, and another between 4 and 5 to take them home, one at 6 for returning men, one for 8 o'clock trains, and the last one late in the evening.

She is Discovered in the Fifth Story of the Goos Hotel.

Ida Clayton, the fifteen-year-old runaway girl from Wisner, was discovered yesterda by Sergeant Haze in a room on the fifth floor of the Goos hotel. She was being kept there by a man named Myers, who is said to he the fellow who first coaxed her to come to Omaha. While working at 1723 Capitol ave was an infinite fund of amusement to the nue she had given the name of Sibyl Vaughn, but at the Goos hotel she registered as Miss Lilla French. The time of this registration being the same evening that she had left 1723 Capitol avenue led the officer to believe that she must be the crratic girl. When he found her and charged her with being Ida Clayton she denied it, giving the fourth name of Ida Van Norris. For a girl of fif-teen brought up in the country she is very shrewd, but she could not deceive the offi-cer. When Haze told her she would have to return home she stamped her foot and de clared she would go to the reform school be-fore she would return to Wisner. She admits that Myers was the man that induced her to leave her home and come to the great

> The circumstances just at the time of her departure seemed to point to William Pease, now a resident of this city, but up to a few weeks ago a neighbor and also lover of hers, as the person who had spirited her away, but a careful investigation of the case by the police removes all blame from him. He did not know from him. He did not know of her presence in the city until last evening, when she sent him a note from the Goos hotel asking him to call. He did so and reported her whereabouts to the police, and they have thus been enabled to ferret out the mystery. The girl is now in charge of her father, who says everything is satisfactorily explained.
