The Other Side of a Romance.

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., June 14 .- [Special Telegram to THE BEE. |-A new phase appears in the romantic case of Mrs. John Craddock, who recently came to Nebraska City from England in search of her husband whom she had lost since 1864 while on an overland trip to Utah, and for whom she claimed to have been searching during all these years. She found Mr. Craddock happily married, believing his first wife dead, The situation was embarassing, especially so since she claimed to have been true to her lust husband. A peace, however, was de-clared and she left for England. On the way chared and and her left for England. On the way she visited friends at Kansas City to whom she related the true story of her life. This marrative reached Mr. Craddock to-day in a letter. After being separated from her first husband she went to Salt Lake, married a whom This husband she went to Sait Lake, married a Mormon the same year, and removed to San Francisco where ise died, she returning to Utah, marrying again and soon deserted her husband returning to England where she married a man named Charles Jones, whom she deserted upon learning of Mr. Crad-dock's whereabouts several weeks ago.

A Prosperous Farmers' Union.

OAKLAND, Neb., June 14 .- | Special to THE BEE.]-The old adage, "In union there is strength," is fully exemplified here by the success of the Farmers' union. A call on the manager yesterday elicited the following facts: Since July, 1887, the union has bought 119,000 bushels of corn, turned off during this time fully 20,000, as all the corn had to be handled with shovels, and many times the demand was so great that all could not be accommodated. Their business has amounted to $35,000 the past year. It is claimed that the union has been instrumental in making prices from 2 to 3 cents higher here than in surrounding markets, and that this market has gained fully 20,000 bushels of corn tributary to other markets. The annual meeting tary to other markets. The annual meeting of the stockholders will be held the first Monday in July, when it will be determined by the union to build a $5,000 elevator, and then their progress will not be impeded. Nothing but words of commendation are heard in this section for the union.

Damage By Storm at Hastings.

HASTINGS, Neb., June 14 .- [Special Tele gram to THE BEE.]-The storm here last night was unprecedented in severity. There was a perfect deluge of rain accompanied by wonderful electric phenomena, Several houses were struck by lightning. The kitchen roof of J. W. Showalter's house was badly shattered and the building set on fire. The flames were extinguished, however, before any serious damage was done. A hole was torn through the side of E. Parker's house. The roof of Mr. Halderman's resi-dence was badly damaged. The family was severely shocked. Basements of business bouses were flooded. The damage to the Gazette-Journal company will reach $1,000. Campbell & Pearson, furniture, Burger, Bros & Alexander, hardware, and others, lose several hundred each.

Gate College Commencement.

NELIGH, Neb., June 14 .- Special to THE BEE. |-Gate college closed to-night, the most successful year in its history. The examinations, concluded to-day, have been of the most satisfactory character to both students and faculty. Tuesday evening's reception given by the faculty to the students was a very pleasant affair. The best of feeling has continued throughout the year between the faculty and students. Last evening President Shorey tendered the students a reception. The time was cut short by the desire to hear an dress delivered later in the evening, but the short time allotted to the reception was passed in a pleasant manner. The address of Rev. McNeille, of Bridgeport, Conn., "A Pice for Higher Education," was an exceed-ingly able effort. Rain Storm at Kearney. KEARNEY, Neb., June 14 .- [Special Tele gram to THE BEE.]-Last night one of the heaviest rainstorms that has visited this section for a long time, gave the country an unusual bath. So much water entered into the canal that It overflowed the tail race and covered a considerable portion of the south western part of the city. Many private cel lars, as well as a few in the business blocks are filled with water. The amount of dam-age at this time cannot be estimated, but it is quite large. It did considerable damage to houses which the Kearney Land and Investment company were building.

open cellar which was flooded in the rain and hail storm a few days ago, has begun the foundation for a fine brick structure that will be an ornament to the town. The Nackolls County hank has become incorporated with a capital stock of $50,000. The stockholders are C. P. Leigh, the former proprietor, J. A. Devore, D. T. Cornell and F. S. Shaw. A new bank is also to be opened in a few days by Messrs. Geer and Mease, their elegant banking room having been pro-vided with a time-lock safe and the bank otherwise furnished in first-class style. Four dwellings have been undertaken through the Building and Loan association since its inception about three months ago, and others are waiting their turn. Our two brick yards are well equipped and seem to be preparing for great improvements, as one of them is molaing 12,000 brick a day and has con-structed kilns of the most approved patterns so as to save fuel. The proprietor is also preparing to make use of a device of his own constitute to save the heat of a newly hurned invention to save the heat of a newly burned kiln and utilize it in the burning of the next

St. Paul 7, Omaba 1. Sr. PAUL, June 14 .- [Special Telegram to THE BEE. |- The "cripples" put up a pretty rocky game in the first two innings to-day, and St. Paul took advantage of it to secure a winning lead. Murphy and Carroll, the first two men at bat in the first inning, found the ball for a two base hit each, Murphy scoring on the latter. Carroll went to third on a wild pitch. Earle hit to Miller who assisted to first, but Nagle dropped the ball and the runner was safe. Earle got second on Wilson's wild throw to catch him, Carroll scoring, but Earle was put out trying to make third on an overthrow. Ringo got first on Cooney's wild throw, went to second and third on wild pitches and scored on Wilson's muff of Veach's third strike, the latter being thrown out at first. The next batter was re tired on a ground hit to Nagle in the second. A half-way swipe by Reilly, a wild pitch and Sowders' hit over the fence yielded two more runs. From this until the ninth inning the St. Pauls failed to find the ball except for two hits, when two two-baggers and errors by Cooney and Clark gave them two more runs. Omaha's score was made on singles by Nagle and Clarke, and two wild pitches, and although they had men on bases a number of times they were unable to get a hit when it would count. Wilson injured his hand in the sixth inning which accounts for the change about in the positions. The score : ST. PAUL.

you please answer the following questions. They came up in a game a few days ago and THEY'RE SICK AND WE'RE SAD we will await anxiously your decision.

First question A is at bat, has three strikes called on him and starts to run for first base. The eatcher gets the ball on the first bound and thereas it to first baseman. First baseman is standing about four feet from the base on? the line from the home from the base off the line from the home plate to first base. A runs past him, staying inside of the three-foot limit, and reaches first base, not having been touched by the baseman. The baseman claims that A was out; that he (first baseman) had to simply stand on the light from home plate to first base. A claimed have been touched by the bally, er. first baseman should have touched first base with some part of his body." Please give your opinion on this body." Please give your opinion on this sheet and retrun to me. Second Question-Suppose a base runner in running to a base comes in contact with a fielder, and the ball is knocked out of field-er's hands. Is the runner out!

The base runner is not out under the cir cumstances mentioned. The entire matter depends upon whether the base runner intentionally knocked the ball from the fielder's hands. If in the umpire's opinion such was the case the base runner is out.

MINOR GAMES.

The Republicans Win. O'NELL, Neb., June 14.-[Special Telegram to TRE BRE.]-A game of ball was played this afternoon between a republican and democratic nine resulting in victory for the former. The nines were both rusty but with some practice will play a fine game. Quite a little money changed hands.

Decatur Tired of Its Team.

BLOOMINGTON, June 14.-The stockholders of the Decatur base ball club of the Interstate league, to-day decided to retire from the league and accordingly released their men and their bond has been surrendered. It is likely that Springfield or Champaign will take the place of Decatur.

Legislative Wheels Greased. The New York Graphic: There is one bill which, when introduced into the senate and house of representatives is always sure of prompt passage. It is the one which provides for the expenses of congress. The tariff debate may delay the consideration of nearly every other measure, but when unanimous consent is asked for the consideration of the bill which appropriates the money for the pay of senators and the members of the house and officers and employes of both. not even the great objector, Mr. Holman, of Indiana, will whisper a word against its being brought at once to a vote. The bill has just been introduced from the appropriations committee, and in spite of the assumed importance of the great tariff issue which is filling the Congressional Record with speeches for consumption during the fall cam-paign the money will be voted that is asked for by this bill, and will be voted soon. They touched Dr. Knowles for $200, a Matt somebody for $170 and William Woods for $20 and valuable papers. At a late hour last night word was received at police headquarters that John A. Creighton had also been relieved of $609. Detective Ormsby and Officer Ward arrested a man giving the name of Charles Goodwin. as a suspect.

Most of the spectators in the grand stand took the shady end, but to avoid being crowded Dr. Knowles sat in the sun. A stranger took a seat at his side and there were several men in front of him. The doc-tor bet $10 on the result of a heat with one of the men on the front seat, and took the bill from a roll he pulled out of his vest pocket. As the racers went under the wire all was excitement and the party arose to hurrah with the rest of the crowd. tor's choice won the heat and he offered to wager on the race. When he reached for his roll of bills it was gone. The stranger was also gone. He described the man and the officers arrested Goodwin on that descrip-

It was a hot day and Mr. Woods carried his oat on his arm. His vest was also thrown pen. In an inside pocket of the vest he had a b note for had a book containing about $20, a a note for $1,000 and other papers. At the central station he identified Goodwin as a man who was in front of him in the crowd, as they were pushing and shoving to get forward.

Goodwin told conflicting stories to different officers. To one he said he belonged in Omaha. To another he stated he had come from California to see a sick brother, and had arrived but the day before. He told a third that he was from Montana, where had followed the business of gambling. where The police speak him as a "tin-horn" gambler. They say he has been in town several weeks, taaking his headquarters at a house of prostitution on Davenport street. When arrested he had on collars and cuffs marked arrested he had on collars and curs marked "Johnson." A crook of that name, who was sent up a few days ago, is known to have stopped with a woman at the Davenport street house. Just Like Woman.

While a rich New York woman was visiting Richmond recently she awoke one morning to the disagreeable conciousness that the diamonds worn the night before had mysteriousty disappeared. Search being vain a detective was called in, after hunting high and low and finding nothing suspicious, came to the common-sense conclusion that they must be somewhere about theis owner. By his advice she at once gave herself a microscopic inspection with the result of finding the diamonds snugly nestled in her bosom, wither they had fallen from the entangling meshes of the lace about the neck, which had been put down beside them the night before. So once more all is quict below the Potomac-and the detective got his money just the same.

Besides the stock mentioned above, the barn con-tained all of his harness, a top buggy, a large portion of his farming implements, about four hundred bushels of oats, fifty tons of Indian. Cushing addressed himself to this task with his usual zeal, and after a short time the transmogrification was complete. He tells me that the Zunis have a hut in which they keep hay, grass seed, etc., all of which were con-sumed. He had only a few days ago received the scalps of their enemies, and as long a liberal offer for his Snetland pony and was just preparing to part with one of his stal-hons. The barn was insured for $3,000, horses $1,000, cattle $2:00, and the other con-tents had no insurance. His entire loss will

DES MOINES, Ia., June 14 .- Special Telegram to THE BEE.]-Judge Conrad to-day entoined the state executive council from awarding the contract for printing the supreme court reprots to Stephens, of Columbia, Mo. "One of the most amusing instances of attempted fascination I ever witnessed," remarked Hugh Longworthy, to a St. Louis Dispatch reporter, "occurred some years ago at a Mardi-Gras masquerade ball in New Orleans, A distinguished officer of the army was present, and evidently had no small opinion of his powers as a lady-killer. He was a man of much culture and excellent manners, but was the unhappy possessor of a huge and highly colored He fell into conversation with a masked lady, and each soon manifested a very keen interest in the other. The officer was very anxious to induce his unknown companion to unmask, and after much persuasion she did so, revealing a face fully matching in attractiveness a very graceful figure. The gentleman was expressing his admiration, when the lady interrupted him by intimating that as she was unmasked it would be only courteous for him to do the same. "Madam, I am unmasked," was the reply, accompanied by an astonished look. One glance at the the bulbous and rubicund probocis, which she had supposed to have been assumed as a disguise was enough, and with a low shrick the lady fled, teaving of the thousands of bills they put in they have employed about 400 people who are paid the snug little sum o $684,000 for doing so. Fact. Every member has one employe, and for the service of the same there is paid an average of $1,800 each. The snug little sum of $380,000 is required to pay the salaries of the senators, and for the compensation of the members of the house $1,695,000 is to be provided, and this brings the salaries of our national lawmakers to a total of over $2,000,000 per year. It costs a little less than $150,000 per session to pay the mileage of the members, and the country pays $50,000 to purchase the stationery for members and officers of the house alone in any one session. The treasury pays $52,000 for reporting the debates, whether con-

Right here is where the political workers come in; over $150,000 is appropriated for clerks to committees, who have about the snuggest places in Washington. One day's time each week would in all fairness suffice for the performance of their duties, and that only when congress is in session. When the adjournment takes place the good clerks go home, and the first of every month the sergeant-at-arms forwards a check for the salary due him, just the same as if he were engaged in the government service every working day in the year.
