Clinging to the Last. The virus of rheumatism often remains in the system through life, when it does not cut the thread of existence suddenly, as it is always liable to do by attacking the heart. Here the grip of this tenacious disease tightens, it should be loosened by that beneficent liberator from disease, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which will free the sufferer at the outset from subsequent pain and danger. No purer or more agreeable blood depurative exists, as multitudes of the rheumatic neuralgic have ascertained by certified experience. It is through a medium of the regular action of the kidneys and bladder that an outlet is afforded for the escape of impurities which beget not only rheumatism, but gouty ailments and dropsical affusions. To these organs the Bitters gives an impulse, never vying on the bound of irritation, but sufficiently vigorous to cause them and the bowels to perform their functions with clock-like precision. Use it so for dyspepsia, biliousness, fever and ague and debility.
