A QUESTION OF CITIZENSHIP. Attorney General Leese recently had a pe-culiar case brought before him, upon which culiar case brought before him, upon which he has passed an opinion holding that under the existing laws a native Mongolian cannot become a citizen of the United States. The case was brought by a heathen Chinee of Fremont named Joe Wing Fong, who desired to become an American entiren and applied to the district court of Dodge county for citizenship, but was refused the papers. In his opinion of the case Attorney General Leese holds that the law prescribes that any white citizen of alien birth can apply and receive citizenship on comprying with the statute requirements. The ones. ing with the statute requirements. The ques-tion therefore arises whether a Chinaman is a white man, and as the Mongolian has never been considered as such the decision follows that he is not entitled to citizenship. A resident of the city is of the opinion that the Cal-ifornia delegation, if acquainted with the facts, would stop over long enough to give the attorney general of Nebraska a screnade on his interpretation of the law.

FACTS FROM FLORENCE.

Some Events of Recent Occurrence-A Brave Town Marshal.

FLORENCE, June 27 .- To the Editor of THE BEE: While Council Bluffs, South Omaha, Albright and Fort Omaha are represented in your columns every day, I concluded that it ould be but just to allow for some matters of recent date which are of great interest to our citizens. We are a lawabiding community out here in the suburbs. and allow no one to come here and create any disturbance. It was for that purpose we elected Mr. Freeland, our present marshal, and if anyone imagines that he does not at-tend to his duties in the strictest manner, they are mistaken. A few days ago a party they are mistaken. A few days ago a party of Omaha boys and girls came out here on a picnic. I believe they belong to a Sunday school down there. Well, as they were driv-ing through town they began singing "Oh, Think of the Home Over There," and when Think of the Home Over There," and when they had finished one of the boys commenced to blow a bugle. Of course, this was all wrong. We don't allow any street music in Florence, or any other in fact, and Marshal Freeland who was in the "Bank of Florence" cashing a chip—a check I should have said, knew it. And he did not wait, Mr. Editor, to be told. No, sir; as soon as he heard that "over there" business and the fellow tooting his bugle he went out and pulled his pistol. It's a nice pistol, too, with a barrel over a foot long. It's one that his old granddad Freeland carried at Resca de la Palma, so you see it's good stuff. Well, sir, he went out, wiping his mouth, and told them boys and girls that he was "marshal of this town, and within his mouth, and told them boys and girls that he was "marshal of this town, and don't you forget it, and that he proposed to see the law enforced and by the great horn spoon they had got to quit that dod-gasted singing, if it took all the money he had earned catching catrish for the last year to buy ammunition." And, Mr. Editor, maybe he didn't dry 'em up. Well, I guess so. You never saw such a scared lot of folks in your life. Why, they didn't sing any more until they got five or six rods away, and, of course, as it was out of range of Marshal Freeland's weapon, they knew they were safe. But Freeland was not to be outdone. He got his horse and started after 'em, but they had succeeded in getting outside the limits or blood would have been spilled. Freeland is no child, and us folks out here like him. He makes 'em toe the mark. I mean those law-breakers. Why, about a menth ago a fellow came here to paint the town and he walked all the way to Omaha and back to get the sheriff to arrest Omaha and back to get the sheriff to arrest him. That's the kind of a man be is. No foolishness about him.

him. That's the kind of a man he is. No foolishness about him.

We have a raw meat eater out here, Mr. Editor. He is a terror. He digs post holes for a living and eats nothing but raw meat. Last Saturday he nte five cents worth all at once, and Marshall Freeland ain't a bit afraid of him. He says he wouldn't be if he could eat ten cents worth.

On Saturday last we had a regular pienic. A fellow's wife got out on a tear and painted the town. Her old man didn't like it a bit, but was afraid to say anything. She raised Cain for awhile, Freeland was over at the river baiting his trot line, or else he would have took his pistol and arrested her. But this is all, Mr. Editor, and if you will print this in the Bax I will send you news every once in a while.

HAILED BY FIVE THOUSAND.

Speech Making, Street Parade, Music and Cheers Abound-Mr. Thurston and Paul Vandervoort the Speakers.

The Thurston Reception.

Major Clarkson, together with other prominent republicans, headed the procession of about two hundred men that escorted the carriage that conveyed Hon, John M. Thurs ton and wife from their residence on Farnam street last night to the Millard hotel, where in the presence of 5,000 persons, the tempor ary chairman of the late republican convention was cheered to the echo and every other word of his speech warmly applauded. The Union Pacific band went in advance of the procession and played "Marching Through Georgia" and other national airs, much to the evident satisfaction of Mr. and Mrs. Thurston, who displayed the campaign emblem of the republican party, the stars and strines.

Upon the arrival of the procession at the hotel Mr. Thurston was received by veciferous cheering, coupled with three mighty cheers for him. Mr. Thurston was introduced by Major Clarkson. After excusing himself as being tired and out of voice, he himself as being tired and out of voice, he expressed his gratitude to the people of Omaha for the demonstration of their approval of the part he took at the Chicago convention. His only aim was to do honor to his party and the state he is so justly proud of. Nebraska was tooked upon in Chicago as only a little state, entitled to only ten delegates out of $25. It was not necessary to give Nebraska anything, as its vote was sure for the regubblean ticket. But the boys of Nebraska went there to win, and it was due to them that he received what honors were accorded him. He next thanked the newspapers, regardless of politics, for their kind treatment of him, and Church Howe for his offorts in advancing him to the honorable position he was elected to. Charley Greene was next complimented, as were other well known politicians.

The Chicago convention met as a deliberative body, after four years of democratic rule, continued Mr. Thurston, for the purpose of nominating men who would be acceptable to the republican party. A ticket has been nominated that will sweep the winds at the November poils. For one, Mr. Thurston was anxious to see James G. Blaine nominated, and had he never written those letters there would not have been any other candid ate before the convention. Of all the men who voice the sentiments of an American in the judgment and wisdem of the republican party is sure to win on its platform. We have placed at the head of our ticket a men who has fought for his country, and did not send a substitute to the war as did Grover Cleveland. Harrison has proven himself loyal to the American government and its principles, a true man and an upright, honest man. The republican party marches under the stars and stripes, and does not dwell under the shadow of a ban

At the conclusion of Mr. Thurston's speech the band pinyed "The Red, White and Bine," and Paul Vanderwoort then came to the front and expressed his joy to see so large a crowd turn out to receive Mr. Thurston, who had been so signally honored in Ch cago. It was an honor to the great prairie state of Nebraska. Mr. Vanderwoort related his personal choice for presidents m. years gone by, and said that this year he knew that it was necessary to have a soldier at the head of the ticket, which they now had in Mr. Harrison, who will go through the campaign without a the will be through the came on, too, is an exceptionally pure and honest man, with a clean record far beyond the realms of attack. PUBLIC MEN AND AFFAIRS.

The Redman-Heimrod-Christopherson Controversy in the Board. There is a new candidate for the seat of Louis Heimrod on the board of public works. It is John Christopherson. This man for twelve years was in the employ of the postal department and transferred the mail in the B. & M. and Union Pacific depots to and from the wagons. He went out with the republican party. Since then he has been to Europe and taking things easily. Recently it was thought he would be appointed as an inspector of public works, but the arrangenent was in some manner broken. Since then John has hungered for the proposed vacancy, and solicited the kindly assistance of Senator Manderson. The latter responded. and the result was a letter to Mayor Broatch asking the board position for the petitioner, If Redman fails of confirmation, and mayor refuses to nominate Helmrod, the presumption is that Christo-pherson may be nominated, but it is very un-certain that he will be confirmed. There is a feeling that the board of public works is deeriorating and that it is being looked upon by certain officials as a means of enabling hem to pay political debts, instead of a body them to pay pointical debts, instead of a body of competent, practical men who have an actual as well as theoretical knowledge of public improvements. "There was a time," said a councilman yesterday, "when the board was composed of men who were well informed and experienced, but I don't think it will over he that way again if well over he that way again if it will ever be that way again if we now commence to put in men who, while they may have been good mail clerks, have not had the experience to qualify them to even seek so important a situation."

It was rumored Monday that ten men It was rumored Monday that ten men had been secured in the council to vote for Redman as Heimrod's successor. If this be true, Redman will be confirmed. Yesterday however, certain cpanellmen claimed that there was no more chance of Redman being confirmed than there was of being elected president. Said one of these: "Heimrod is good enough for us. I don't believe in making a change near when there believe in making a change now when there is so much work to be done. I believe the mayor's attempt to get Heimrod and Mayne out of the board is designed to put favorites in. I have been approached by certain men, friendly to one of the parties in question, who insignated that if I would vote for Redman's confirmation, there would be no more trouble about tion, there would be no more trouble about Fanning & Slaven's bill.
