

THE CITY.

Sheriff Coburn went to Lincoln yesterday with six prisoners. The internal revenue collections yesterday amounted to $8,501.11. A water spout at White Rock canyon caused a small wash-out on the Elkhorn road yesterday. The funeral of the Rev. Garrett Luke will take place this afternoon at 3 o'clock from the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Rev. J. T. Chendening, corner Thirty-third and Center sts. Prohibitionists are invited to meet at Tenth street Methodist church Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. A first ward club will be organized. Prominent prohibitionists have been invited to speak. Lee Reynolds, who resides over a mansion at 120 South Ninth street, swore out a warrant yesterday for the arrest of Sarah Bernhardt, charging her with stealing a lot of underwear. The trial Sarah was run in, and will have a hearing to-day. Almost daily arrests are made of persons who have been guilty of leaving teams standing out. It is a dangerous and careless practice with some persons and the police are determined to stop it. The latest arrest was that of J. Egan, who was imprisoned over night for the offense. The chairman of the board of public works says for the benefit of those complaining about the torn-up condition of the sidewalk on the west side of Jefferson square that the same is to be replaced with a stone sidewalk as soon as the city secures a contractor for stone sidewalks. This will be August 3, and the sidewalk above referred to will be the first one laid.

Probable Infanticide. A case of probable infanticide was reported to the police yesterday. Some days since, a colored girl on the corner of Tenth and Capitol avenue, gave birth to a five months child. Some said it was dead. The child was made away with. The colored doctor has not reported the birth. The affair will be investigated. A New Feature. An item from Sioux Falls, Dak., says that a few days ago Mr. R. Buchanan received from the internal revenue department at Omaha a license to sell tobacco at retail. Inasmuch as Mr. Buchanan has never made application for such a license, and has no intention what ever of starting a cigar store, he is somewhat surprised at the supererogatory generosity of the government. Military Notes. Major James F. Handlett, Ninth cavalry, is relieved from duty at Fort Du Chesne, Utah, and will go to Fort McKinney. Leave of absence for one month has been granted Second Lieutenant William H. Camp, Seventeenth infantry (Fort Bridger, Wyo.). Captain Marcus W. Lyon, chief ordinance officer, department of the Platte, has been ordered to Fort Union, Cheyenne and Douglas, Utah, Fort Bridger, Camp Platte Butte, and Fort D. A. Russell, Wyo., on public business.

Dickenson's Arrival. Joseph Dickenson, the husband of the woman who was fatally burned at the "bobby" a week ago, has arrived in Omaha. He says he did not desert his wife, that he thought she was living here with her folks, and that he was to have brought her to Williamsburg, Ia., his home, this week. Her people, he said, lived here, yet they allowed strangers to bury her. Mr. Dickenson has not yet decided what he will do with his two children, though he has friends in the neighborhood are anxious to adopt them. Business Failures. According to Bradstreet's latest report the number of failures in the United States during the week closing July 6, was 149, a decrease of fifty-five as compared with the previous week. Of this number, sixty-one occurred in the western states, a decrease of one as compared with the week previous, and an increase of fifteen compared with the corresponding period in 1887. The 149 failures show an increase over the previous year of eight. The western states had more failures than any other subdivision. A Brutal Act. Yesterday, the passers by at the corner of Fifteenth and Farnam streets witnessed a act of brutality on the part of Officer Hagg which violently incensed many of them and turned some away with feelings of sickness. The officer had in arrest a man who requested that the former do not pinch him. But the request was denied, whereupon the party unceremoniously endeavored to wrench his fingers from the offender's hand. The latter brought his club into play, knocked the prisoner down and then deliberately kicked him in the ear so that the blood shot out in a stream. Frank Swoyer, a brick contractor, happened to see the blood and the sight made him faint so that he had to be carried to a neighboring drug store, where restoratives were applied. President Cleveland in the Suit. The Box of a few days ago noticed the petition filed in the district court praying for a partition of the Folsom estate in Omaha between the heirs of John B. Folsom and those of Benjamin R. Folsom. Among the numerous plaintiffs is Francis E. Cleveland, wife of the president. Yesterday Attorney W. D.

Beckett filed a supplemental petition making President Cleveland a party to the case. This may mean that any possible interest he may have obtained by reason of his marriage to one of the heirs, and is largely a matter of form. The two sets of heirs seem to have agreed on this suit as a means of equating their interests. Fifty lots valued at over $200,000 are to be divided. Drink Malto, 25 cents a bottle. IMPORTANT MEETING. The Council to-night Will Consider Three Building Ordinances. The city council will meet to-night to take up the ordinances providing for a city hall, a jail and a library. One ordinance that there shall be a city hall on the present Farnam street site, to be not less than six stories high and to cost not over $250,000. Another provides for the erection of a jail at a cost not to exceed $250,000, and it has a section permitting the county to join with the city in the building of the jail. A third provides for the erection of a public library on Jefferson square at a cost not to exceed $100,000. In all three ordinances are provisions that the propositions must be approved at a special election to be called in not less than twenty days. One of the propositions is that the mayor and council shall be authorized to issue bonds in sums as needed and suggesting the amounts named in the ordinances. As amended the ordinance naming Monday, August 13, as the date of the special election, and the mayor is "authorized and requested" to issue the call for said election. The ordinances were approved by the committee, and their report was accepted by the council at its Tuesday evening session. The impression left by the incident, however, is that the ordinance committee will be used whenever that gentleman thought he might influence the administration with regard to his successor. Mr. Boyd was, or had been in Washington until I received a note that he had resigned, and that Mr. Boyd was no longer in the city. The news was corroborated by a prominent democratic official who is always well posted on these hidden deals. Marshal Bierbower is now dividing his time between his office and that of the Bank of Commerce, of which he is vice president. He was called on by a reporter and, in most positive terms, denied that he had tendered his resignation as marshal or that he had ever been in the city. THE LAND ASSESSMENT. The proportion of platted and unplatted realty in Douglas county. The assessors show that the land in Douglas county platted in city lots is about five-sixths of the whole in valuation. They also show that a large amount of realty within the city limits of Omaha is not yet platted, and many will be surprised at the aggregate value represented by this farm property. Following are the figures: Precincts. Unplatted. Platted. Omaha. "WINDY" BOB POLAND. Arrested at Plattsmouth with a Couple of Pats. "Windy Bob," otherwise Bob Poland, one of Omaha's hardest characters, who, it will be remembered, some time ago was reported to have been lynched at Maryville, Mo., has turned up at Plattsmouth and has been turned into jail by the sheriff. He is in company with a rat and a butcher Sunday night. The latter was set free, while Bob and his companion were taken to jail. In searching Bob at the jail, the sheriff found two watches on his person. While he was wiping his face with a handkerchief, the sheriff, thinking that he was found a handkerchief, and nothing being heard in response to the telegrams, they were turned loose again, with permission to make themselves scarce. Nelson, wife of the proprietor of a boarding house on Seventh and Leavenworth streets arose in her sleep Wednesday night and walked off the porch at the second story of the building. The fall was very fifteen feet and the woman sustained very serious injuries. Several ribs were broken, her head very badly cut and bruised and a contusion of the lungs sustained. In the opinion of her physician, Dr. Miller, the injuries are fatal.

A GOOD PIECE OF WORK. Probable Capture of One of Wednesday Night's Safe Blowers. A cab driver, yeoman "Jap," with badge No. 4, reported to Officer Fleming yesterday morning about 8 o'clock that while driving by then Orange building on Eleventh street, shortly before he had heard an explosion in the Hayward Bros' store. The officer ran up there, and the back door being open, entered and found that the safe had been blown, but ineffectually. The gophers had evidently been frightened off before completing the work. They had drilled into the steel door above the combination to the depth of three or four inches, and filling the opening with powder, had attempted to blow the door open. Although there is evidence that the work was done by inexperienced hands, it was better done than they probably suspected. The outside steel sheeting was torn completely off, and the lock thoroughly demolished, but the door remained intact. The plaster of Paris filling which covers the combination, and which cracked, remained in place and hid the destruction done by the explosion, and ere they had time to investigate and ascertain the thoroughness of their job, they had become alarmed and left. When the proprietors and employees reached the store, one of the clerks took a small ribbon and tried to blow the door open, and pulled the door open. The disappointed thieves will feel doubly disappointed when they learn there was a large sum of money in the safe. Leaving things just as he had found them, Officer Fleming left the store by the way he entered, and then the door was closed and the safe re-locked and the proprietors and employees were notified. The safe was found to be a safe made by the Union Pacific shops by that name, an officer was sent there to investigate. He learned that Thompson was an associate of Carroll's, and that the latter had been in the city for about one year ago and had been taken from the Union Pacific shops, and the opinion was that the two tools were one and the same.

THE NEBRASKA WAREHOUSE. Bierbower Won't Step Out Until His Term Expires. RUMORS OF HIS RESIGNATION. His Term Will Expire on the 11th of February Next When Some Good Democrat Can Expect to Fill His Place. The Office Several Want. James E. Boyd was in Washington a few days ago and his actions, in a political sense, were very closely watched, so much so that the news was received in this city that he had resigned. The news was, however, the best authenticated report was that he had intended to tender the latter's resignation to the president when he should consider it possible to effect the appointment as a successor, of a young man in the city who is more or less known to fame as a member of the Democratic party. Marshal Bierbower is now dividing his time between his office and that of the Bank of Commerce, of which he is vice president. He was called on by a reporter and, in most positive terms, denied that he had tendered his resignation as marshal or that he had ever been in the city. He used whenever that gentleman thought he might influence the administration with regard to his successor. THE LION AND THE LAMB. The Terms on Which the Cable and Motor Lines Run Together. The agreement between the Cable Tramway and Motor Railway companies, was completed yesterday morning. The instrument was drawn up by J. C. Cowin, and then sent around to the various parties to it for their signatures. It provides that between the corner of Leavenworth and Twentieth and Poppleton avenue and Twenty-fourth streets both roads shall run with equal rights upon the double track which is there to be constructed by the cable company. The cable company, however, reserves the right within ninety days to elect not to build said track on Twentieth street, in which case the cable company will have the right to build the motor line. No cars owned by the latter road are to run on the track mentioned with animal, steam or other traction, and the speed which would interfere with the cable cars. For the construction of the track, the motor company will contribute to six per cent on the cost of building a track of its own for the distance mentioned, less half the cost of paving. The space between the track is to be paved with stone and the motor company is to contribute to the cost of maintaining the same, the amount to be required to be paid by the cable company. It is further stipulated that the motor company shall not within a year, without the consent of the cable company, extend its line to any point south of the Twentieth street cable company agrees to build the necessary curves at Twentieth and Leavenworth streets, and to have the tracks reach it. The latter, however, is now engaged in a legal squabble with the horse car line as to right-of-way on that street, and the matter has been taken under judicial advisement. THE UNION PACIFIC, the famous route to and from the Pacific Coast. A SENSITIVE CORPORATION. The Horse Railway Company "Defers" to the Opinion of the People. The ways of needy corporations are just finding their way. Recently an ordinance was passed granting the Omaha Horse railway company the right to lay its track across the Eleventh street viaduct. The time for accepting the terms of the ordinance passed by, and the company sent the city council the following remarkable communication: "The directors of the Omaha Horse railway company have carefully considered ordinance No. 1713 and believe that they ought not to accept it. It is due to your honorable body, to the city and to the people, that we state the reasons for this decision. The criticisms which some of the council have passed upon the ordinance on the ground that it is a violation of the charter rights of the viaduct, and the fact that many of our citizens take the same view of the ordinance, have been a great deal to us. The directors of this company and they are disposed to accept and defer to such opinions as far as they may so and maintain intact the charter rights of the company they represent. Besides this consideration for the opinion of the council, the directors of the company recognize the fact that they are not able to occupy all the streets of the city with their lines and that other companies will build their lines in the city of Omaha. They believe that it is not only to the advantage of the public but of themselves also, that they should agree to the means of access with their lines to the south part of the city, and for that purpose have the right to cross the viaduct. The directors of the Omaha Horse railway company it is both right and expedient that an ordinance providing for laying street railroads across the viaduct should be passed in a reasonable way for other companies doing so. "They, therefore, propose to your honorable body that they should accept the ordinance which the Omaha Horse railway company may extend its lines from Jackson street to Mason street on Fourth street across the viaduct, with the express provision that any other street railroad company or companies may use their said tracks upon paying a reasonable compensation for such use of the same. Such ordinance should further provide reasonable regulations for the construction and operation of said railroads. "If your honorable body pass such an ordinance this company will at once build its track between Jackson and Mason street on Eleventh on the viaduct, and hold and operate the same subject to the right of other companies to use the same, and subject also to reasonable regulations for the construction and use thereof, which may be provided in such ordinance. "The document is signed by Mr. Frank Murphy, president of the Omaha Horse railway company. This letter accompanied the ordinance, apparently to the effect that the directors of the company, which was presented to the city council at its Tuesday evening meeting. Following is the clause covering the joint use of its tracks by other companies: "Any other properly authorized street car line shall have the right to run its cars over the tracks of this company, and the Omaha Horse railway company shall at all times permit such company to use its said tracks in drawing or running its cars over the same, and afford to such company all reasonable facilities so to do, such company to pay to said Omaha Horse railway company reasonable compensation therefor."

Deputy Sheriff Green has returned from Chicago with Theodore Teedrow the blind kidnapper of Frederick William Dainton, son of George Dainton, who resides at the corner of Fifth and Mason streets. Teedrow employed young Dainton, who is only eight years old, to lead him (Teedrow) about the city while he was begging and playing the violin. He was taken to the city jail a week. While he remained in this city the boy was able to return home to sleep at night, and the father was attending to the demands of the blind begger very satisfactorily to all parties, including his parents. About three weeks ago Teedrow asked to be allowed to take the child to Council Bluffs for a week. The request was granted with the provision that if he desired to return home at any time he was to be permitted to do so in case he did not want to return home word was to be sent to his parents that all was well. Mr. Dainton waited some time from his son and after waiting for a week and a half went to the Bluffs to see what he could learn about him. The pair was never seen in the Bluffs and the father at once began searching for him. He was finally heard of in Chicago and it was stated that the boy was being grossly abused. The latter was also brought back in a horrible condition and showed that he had been most grossly abused while he was away. He was taken to his home by his parents. Yesterday at 11 o'clock a market-gardener, named Adam Frahm, residing on Taborer Williams' property in Benson, was almost instantly killed on South Seventeenth street. He was driving along the thoroughfare with his little daughter in the wagon when the horse took fright and ran away. Both Frahm and the girl were thrown out, the former against the curb stone. He sustained internal injuries and died almost instantly. The little girl was injured, but though severely, she was taken to her home. The father was brought to Drexel & Maul's where Coroner Drexel held an inquest, the verdict returned being in accordance with the above facts. Frahm was fifty years of age and leaves a wife and three children. THE UNION PACIFIC was first called the Great Overland Route.
