Omaha 12, Sioux City 6.

The Omaha went out to the ball park again yesterday afternoon and played with the Sioux Citys—played with as a cat does a mouse.

But, mind you, no disparagement is intended the Sioux Citys in the above assertion, for the Corn Huskers are a hard-working, industrious, gentlemanly set of fellows who are deserving of a better fate.

But the gods have decreed otherwise, and otherwise it must be.

Their ambition is to beat Omaha, just why it is difficult to say, but still it is a fact.

Vain, foolish Corn Huskers! They might as well try to dam Niagara with a bar.

They are just the puddle. Omaha has been waiting for and they need look for no mercy. The crowd yesterday was small, but enthusiastic. It was so exhilarating to see the home team smack the ball and prance round the bases in their ugly uniforms.

Just to fool the Sioux Citys the Omahoes allowed themselves to be whitewashed in the first innings, and then they came back at them in the second and third, and knocked out no less than seven in the fourth.

That made the Corn Huskers tired. They lost all interest in the battle from that point on.

In the third, with Anns and Burns on the bases, Nagle made a home run. He did not hit the ball on the nose, but square between the eyes, and it went whizzing out over the left field fence like a shot from a Parrott gun.

Bader started after it, and climbed upon the fence just in time to kiss his hand to it as it went on, on, over Walnut Hill, describing a lovely parabola in the air, as it went down behind the distant horizon.

A farmer from Dodge county brought the ball into Hardin's store at 9 o'clock last night with the statement that it had lighted in his orchard at precisely 15 minutes after 4 that afternoon, twenty miles away!

This was about the only notable feature of the game.

"Chippy" McGarry, however, made his debut with a bang, and played brilliantly, as the score proves, notwithstanding his one error. He will be a favorite before long.

Clark, who didn't have to pitch a very good game, did nicely, and big Wilson continued his great work both behind and at the bat.

For the visitors the prehistoric short stop made some circus stunts, and Genius made several wild, wayward breaks at the boundary sphere that stumped the men to keep away from the third bag that there is probably in the whole profession.

Steve Hagan, who pitched another fantastic game, his decisions all being prompt, clean and precise. He is a No. 1.

THE PULLMAN REGATTA.

A Heavy Wind and Bad Weather Interfere With the Sport.

CHICAGO, July 13.—The first day of the eleventh annual regatta of the Mississippi Valley Amateur Rowing association on Lake Calumet today was hardly a success owing to the weather. A heavy northeast wind created too much sea for the light shells of the rowers.

Four shells entered. The principal event of the day, the junior singles, was abandoned and the time made in other contests was unsatisfactory. The junior four-oared shell races, one mile and a half with turn, was won by Pullman No. 2, crewed by one jemah, time 11:39 1/2.

Pullman No. 1 second in 11:41; Crescent third in 10:37 1/2. The others were scratched. A number of ladies finished in making the turn, and the Modocs finished in leisure.

The race for the junior pair oars was won by the St. Louis Modocs in 14:43. The Modocs sailed up the lake, and the Modocs finished in leisure.

The final event of the day was the grand regatta, which was abandoned and the Modocs won in 12:00.

Valley Amateur Rowing association was held to-night at Pullman, H. C. Avery, of the Farragut club, of Chicago, was elected president, and J. P. Bryna, of Minneapolis, secretary and treasurer.

OUT ON BAIL.

The Appellate Court Orders Mrs. Rawson's Release.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 13.—(Special Telegram to THE BEE.)—The petition of Mrs. Cecile T. Rawson that she be released on habeas corpus proceedings from the custody of the remainder of the contempt sentence, was heard before Judge Tutthill this afternoon.

Mrs. Rawson was present in court attired in a beautiful white dotted silk dress. She looked calm and hopeful. Her attorney, Seth F. Crews, presented to the court his argument, which was based mainly on technical errors in the commencement of the proceedings.

Jameson, Judge Tutthill after reading various authorities tending to refute the argument, fully to grant the petition, and remanded Mrs. Rawson to jail. Nothing daunted, Mr. Crews and Captain Black carried the matter to the appellate court. The four judges then pronounced the points good and ordered Mrs. Rawson's release on bail. Attorney Crews hurried over to the jail with the news and Mrs. Rawson and her son were exceedingly relieved. A number of ladies belonging to the Women's Protective association came and congratulated the banker's wife, and altogether there was quite a jubilation in the jail. Mrs. Rawson now left the jail with her attorney and announced that she was going in the country for a few days.

Rheumatism

We doubt if there is, or can be, a specific remedy for rheumatism; but thousands who suffer have been greatly benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla. If you have failed to find relief, try this great remedy.

"I was afflicted with rheumatism twenty years. Previous to 1881 I found no relief, but grew worse, and one time was obliged to leave all the other medicine I ever had."

H. T. BALCOM, Shirley Village, Mass.

"I had rheumatism three years, and got no relief till I took Hood's Sarsaparilla. It has done wonders for me. I recommend it to others." LARIS BURMAN, Biddeford, Me.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is characterized by three peculiarities: 1st, the combination of remedial agents; 2d, the preparation; 3d, the process of securing the active medicinal qualities. The result is a medicine of unusual strength, effecting cures hitherto unknown. Send for book containing additional evidence.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla tones up my system, purifies my blood, and restores my appetite. It seems to make me over." J. F. THOMPSON, Register of Deeds, Lowell, Mass.

Eloper Moore is Released But Immediately Rearrested.

STILL FIGHTING FOR DELAY.

He Hopes to Worry Norton into a Compromise—List of the Valuables Which Mrs. Norton Took Away.

In the Hands of the Law.

TOWNSHIP, Kan., July 13.—(Special Telegram to THE BEE.)—Henry W. Moore appeared in court this morning and after some wrangling over technical legal points between the attorney his case was continued until 2 p. m. At that hour another adjournment to 4 o'clock was taken the argument was made then and after three hours talk Judge Guthrie ordered Moore released. He was promptly rearrested, however, and lodged in jail despite his request to be allowed to stop at the hotel under guard.

New habeas corpus proceedings were at once instituted, the writ being made returnable at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning. Moore's attorneys are making every effort to delay the proceedings and hold Moore here as long as possible and hope in this way to wear out Norton and get him to consent finally to the release of Moore on condition that the property is surrendered.

Moore said to-day: "I feel more confident than ever to-day that they will not get me back. Every delay and continuance secured is in my favor."

Following is a list of the funds, jewelry and valuable papers brought here by Mrs. Norton and turned over to her lawyers. The original list is in Mrs. Norton's handwriting, and after each article she notes from which source it was received, whether from purchase or gift from Mr. Norton or other sources. There is an assortment of jewelry cases, bound portfolios, pocket books and ornamental trinkets not itemized in the list which is as follows:

Abstract of title for several lots, 3742 in St. Louis; one promissory note for $5,500, dated August 17, 1887, due in three years, payable to Emma S. Norton or order at the Bank of Commerce, St. Louis, with interest from maturity at the rate of 6 per cent per annum, signed by H. Hudson, Esq., St. Louis.

One and one-quarter miles—Barnum won, Val second, Greenfield third. Time—2:11 1/2.

Seven-eighths of a mile—Valiant won, Cruiser second, Glenhall third. Time—1:20 1/2.

IRVING HALL?

Organization on the Quiet of a New Democratic Club Last Night.

Thirty democrats gathered in two of the parlors of the Millard last night to perfect the organization of a new democratic club. Among them were none of the wheel horses of the party. In fact they seemed to be an entirely new aggregation, which might be styled in political parlance the silk stocking element of the party. They had gathered on personal invitation.

The largest liberty of the individual consistent with public order; local self-government; opposition to centralization; separate independence of the legislative, executive and judicial departments; recognition of the supreme court of all constitutional questions; maintenance of the public faith; opposition to enforced contributions for political purposes; tariff for revenue at as early a practical period as possible with due regard to existing invested interests and needs of the government and reduction of the surplus in the treasury in conformity with the following principles.

The club was named the Omaha Democratic club. It was stated that 150 democratic had announced their intention of joining the association, and that that number would be greatly increased. The initiation fee was placed at $1, the monthly dues at $1. The following officers were elected to manage the club: President, Arthur Wakely; first vice president, Frank Irvine; second, John C. Drexel; third, Nat Brigham; fourth, Samuel Rees; fifth, W. H. Cray; sixth, Jesse Lowe; recording secretary, Will Wakely; corresponding secretary, Geo. Bergman; treasurer, P. Lang. These constitute the executive committee. The committee on hall was given further time. Adjourned till the call of the president.

"Why haven't you people joined the Samoset club?" asked THE BEE man after the meeting.

"It was the answer, 'there's no room for two clubs in Omaha—an Irving and Samoset club, you know.'"

The unwelcome appearance of THE BEE man, and his subsequent departure, was a surprise to a couple of the managers of the affair, who had intended a star-chamber meeting. Their efforts to constrain the newspaper man to a place beyond the threshold were most emphatically destroyed by their attendance.

MEDITATION AND PRAYER.

Both Have Been Indulged This Week by Catholic Pastors.

The retreat of the Catholic clergymen of the dioceses of Omaha and Lincoln came to a close yesterday. SNAP JUDGMENT.

Courland Adams sues W. E. McCloud, Lew 112.37. The plaintiff alleges that D. N. Wheeler mortgaged 100 head of cattle to C. Cloud, Lova & Co., $3,000, and mortgaged the same to Adams for the same sum for $2,000.74. Afterward plaintiff bought 124 of the 100-cattle of Wheeler at $200 per head, and sold the same to Adams for $2,000.74. The defendants took $2,000 of the price and did not return the $2,000.74, and later they also sold the 124 cattle conveyed to Adams, sold same and converted the proceeds to their own use, knowing at the time of Adams' interest in them. The plaintiff alleges that said 124 cattle were worth $2,000 at the time of their sale, and he claims that his interest in them was $2,123.74, for which he sues.
