Master Stonccutters.

Yesterday the Missouri Valley Association of Stonecutters met in the rooms of the Contractors' association in quarterly meetmg. There were present fifteen contractors from Kansas and Nebrasks. Under the leadership of a couple of Omaha contractors they refused to give their names and transacted their business with closed doors.

Civil Service Examination. The local board of civil service examiners which consists of J. E. Waters, chief clerk of the registry division; F. M. Pickens, chief clerk and superintendent of the money order division, of the Omaha office, are in session at the government building examining appli-cations for positions in the postoffice. There are twenty six applicants.

A Traveling Men's Excursion. The managers of Lake Manawa are ar ranging for a traveling men's excursion for some time in the near future to that summer resort. The arrangements have been so far perfected that the success of the event now epends on the men themselves. The motor railway and lake managers will make ample preparations to enteriain them and their friends when the day is named for their visit.

A Change in the Hospital. An adjourned meeting of the county commissioners was held yesterday afternoon to consider a proposed change in the plans of the hospital for insane. It is proposed to readopt a part of the original and make a two story structure of the covridor between the main building and the laundry. Superintendent Shane was directed to ascertain the Hid in the Park. Monday night on Twenty-ninth avenue, near the centre of Hanscom park, K. Keller, an American district messenger boy, was returning from an errand in that part of the city when he was caught by a man who came out of the park. The boy broke away from his unknown assailant and ran down street yelling murder and for help. The mounted patrolman heard his cries, but be fore he could reach the child the man had retreated and could not be found. He was described by the frightened bey as being a large man and wearing a full, shaggy beard.

Board of Trade.

The room rented by the board of trade to a Chicago grain commission firm is number 15, comprising a suite and will be occupied in about ten days. The open board will not commence business until about the 15th of next month, when the crops will be in such a condition as to warrant an estimate of them to be made

Secretary Nattinger is in receipt of letters daily from country dealers in grain asking for rules as regards the open board.

The same gentleman is engaged in collecting data for his annual report, for the six

LAID THE STONE.

Dick O'Keeffe's Eloquent Oration at an Impressive Ceremony. The corner stone of the new county hospital for the insane was laid yesterday afternoon in the presence of the five commissioners, as many reporters and a half dozen other persons. The reporters gave a sigh of relief, for it would not be necessary to ring in that whiskered chestout, "the exercises were impressive," etc.

After much diplomatic negotiation it was agreed that Chairman O'Keeffe should make the address after Commissioner Mount had laid the stone. The latter succeeded in spreading the mortar under the guidance of a mason, and the workman set the stone. By special arrangement with the reporters, Mr. O'Keeffe's eloquent silence will not be re-corded. His profound contemplation was once interrupted with the remark, "I'nat's a pretty stone," and the luscious peroration, "What will yours be!" delivered on the return trip, struck a responsive chord in the bosoms of The corner stone bears the following in-1885. Sunk in the top of the stone was a copper box filled with a number of articles that will be relies a hundred years hence. Among them were copies of the Omaha dailies, several coins, a city charter, a sketch of the county and written lists of the personnel of the county commissioners', the county judge's and the county clerk's offices.

If he does, we'll try and win them away. If we can't, then off comes every workman in every building, plastorer, bricklayer and carpenter. They are with us in the amalga-mated trades."

Want to Buy the Horse Car Line. Kansas City has the reputation of being infatuated with cable lines, and it is a fact that she has them running everywhere. Lately the success of the Omaha Cable Tramway company has been brought to the attention of these people, and some of them have been moved to improve the opportunity which they have discovered in Omaha for the acquirement of millions. These men constitute a syndicate the purpose of which is to purchase the franchise and stock of the horse railway company. The syndicate is now endeavoring to agree upon a price to offer for the line, and, it is understood, stand ready to pay $1,000,000 for the same. It is said that the amount which would be required by the local company would be $1,250,000, though some of the friends of both parties claim that the property could be purchased by splitting the difference. If the purchase should be effected, the Kansas City people will put two or three millions into the road and convert the same into a cable system. The horse car company must do this soone or later, and it is understood that Guy Bar ton, who has just returned from Kansas City, is a strong believer in this fact. The question, therefore, for the horse car company to consider, is whether it would be advisable to make a similar outlay or their pockets a handsome sum for the pre

It is estimated in commercial circles that Mr. Claus Spreckles the sugar magnate of the Pacific coast, has got a corner on the raw sugar crop and will give the sugar trust a dose of their own medicine. As he is putting up a refinery in West Philadelphia, which will contain 36,000,000 of bricks in its walls, it is probable he will need a good deal of raw sugar to keep his plant supplied.

Laudanum. "Doe" Evans, who is foreman of one of the departments of the smelting works, attempted suicide vesterday afternoon at his home, 1104% South Seventh street, but through the efforts of a physician he still lives to tell the tale. He has been on the night shift for the past two or three weeks at the works and has constantly complained of his inability to sleep during the recent hot days. As a consequence he has been nervous and cross and made things very uncomfortable at home. Yesterday he was particularly moody, and in compliance with the request of the family, Officer Stiles hovered near the corner of Seventeenth and Pacific a considerable portion of his time to be on hand in case Evans attempted any of the desperate things he threatened. Shortly before 4 o'clock Evans' fifteen-year-old daughter came flying out and told the officer her father had taken poison. Stiles rushed off and brought a doctor, who discovered that the deadly drug taken was laudanum. Emetics were forced down Evans' throat and his life was saved. He seems very much ashamed at the works and has constantly complained was saved. He seems very much astamed of the affair, and evidently is glad that he was foiled in his purpose. His wife is prostrated with the shock she received from his desperate act.
