

THE CITY.

The internal revenue collections yesterday amounted to $8,513.32. The Sunday school of the Latter Day Saints will hold a picnic at Hanscom park on the 28th inst. McVitie's grocery store at Eleventh and Farnam streets brought a little over $900 at Sheriff's sale. Three of C. E. Mayo's carriages were sold Thursday; sheriff's sale and brought a little over $400. The sheriff has taken possession of Paul O'Byrne's California wine store on South Thirteenth street and ousted the agent, S. S. Felker. The horse car company has abandoned Twenty-third street and its track is being torn up. Grinders are at work and in places will lower the street three feet. The children of the Hebrew Sabbath school are requested to be at the synagogue next Sunday at 10 o'clock to make arrangements for the family picnic to be given on Thursday, July 29, at Hanscom park. Frank Courtright, a young man of twenty-six, who is dying with consumption and is trying to get to his old home at Minneapolis in time to breathe his last, was at the police station yesterday, a pitiable object of charity. A number of police officers and newspaper reporters got up a collection and gave him a ticket to Sioux City and $13 in cash.

Personal Paragraphs. Mr. H. H. Robinson, of Kimball, is at the Paxton. Mr. George S. Cline, of Des Moines, is at the Millard. Mr. J. C. Cornwell, of Crete, is in the city yesterday. Mr. George E. Dorrington, of Falls City, is a Millard guest. Mr. P. E. Lambert, of Fremont, was an Omaha visitor yesterday. Messrs. W. T. Eubank and J. B. Timmony, of Sidney, were in Omaha yesterday. Messrs. E. L. Reed and J. P. Parkins, of Weeping Water, were in the city yesterday. Mr. G. F. Swift, of Kearney, was in the city yesterday looking after his packing interests. Messrs. Charles L. Schaeffer and P. T. Hanson, of Nebraska city, are Paxton guests. Messrs. T. J. Ross, of Beatrice, and Charles T. Neal, of Edgar, were in Omaha visiting yesterday. Mr. L. Goodman, of Tecumseh, and Mr. L. Gootman, of Talmage, were both at the Millard yesterday. Mr. Patrick Heafey is a lone widower, his sister, Miss Annie, having left last evening for a two weeks' visit with relatives in St. Paul. She was accompanied by her cousin, Jeremiah Knight.

More Fallen Curbs. The work of the curb contractor on Pacific street from Tenth to the bridge seems to have gone for nothing. Residents in that neighborhood say that the stone has all fallen down and that the work will have to be done over a second time.

Still Another Counterfeit. A counterfeit five dollar silver certificate has been discovered in the east. The engraving is coarse, and while apparently there is silk in the proper place, upon close examination it appears to be only an imitation of the article.

A New Loan Company. Major Klutsch, of Lincoln, was in the city Thursday with his brother-in-law, C. J. Barth, of Chicago. The latter is the representative of the Equitable Loan and Trust company of Chicago, which has been ordered the removal of its agencies from Illinois with a view to locating them in the west and especially in Nebraska.

Rowe and the Plumbers. John Rowe, the master plumber, arrived from Chicago, where he had been endeavoring to hire plumbers to come here to take part of the work who struck a week ago. An interview was sought but the injunction came from some person who affected to speak for Mr. Rowe to go to the plumbers and get information from them. Mr. Rowe declined to talk. The plumbers announced yesterday that two more important men came from Chicago, but were not heard, after a consideration of the question, to agree to return to that place.

A Worthless Mortgage. Some weeks since Mattie Reed, a siren in the house 1017 Capitol avenue, purchased a $125 gold watch of a Fifteenth street firm. She paid $20 down and was to pay the balance on weekly payments of $15 per week. She gave a mortgage on the watch as security. The first week demonstrated that Mattie was not able to meet the requirements of her contract, and the firm demanded the watch. To their dismay, they discovered that the ticker had been stolen. A search warrant failed to produce the property, and consequently the firm is out just $15.

Frank Had to Pay. Even railroad accounts, accurate and minute as they assume to be, are fallible. County Clerk Moore has just had the pleasure of plunking down $25 for a mileage ticket unaccounted for while he was agent for the Wabash. His accounts were examined when he resigned and everything found straight. Months afterward the railroad checked up and found that one mileage book had been for a year and a half and could not be placed. With the care exercised in keeping accounts, the only explanation is that the book was stolen.

South Omaha and the Fair. The stockyard company and the business men of South Omaha have authorized the Omaha Fair and Exposition association to offer a grand South Omaha stockyards special purse of $1,200 to be competed for at the fair, and to be called "a free-for-all trotting stallion purse," and requiring an entrance fee of only 5 per cent. Instead of the usual 10 per cent. The managers of the Fair association have further changed its special programme by adding another purse for jockeys that have never been beaten.

Another fair idea is that of sending apart one day for traveling men and their families. The thought is a popular one and will result in the presence of hundreds of travelers.

On the March. The second infantry on its march to Kearney will make halts at the following named towns, the numbers between showing the distance between each station: Omaha to Elkhorn City 13 miles, Fremont 13, North Bend 15, Schuyler 14, Columbus 16, Silver Creek 15, Clark 11, Central City 13, Chapman 13, Grand Island 12, Wood River 16, Gibson 14, Kearney 13, making a total of 180 miles. They will reach Kearney on September 1.

On their march to Norfolk the route is as follows: Omaha to Elkhorn City 13 miles, Fremont 13, Hooper 16, Crowell 13, Beemer 16, Pilzer 14, Norfolk 29, making a total of 110 miles.

Mrs. June, the Procureur. In speaking of Mrs. June, the depraved procuress who deceived Sarah Smith from Alhright station where the girl was forced to lead a revolting life of shame, the Schuyler Sun remarks that Mrs. June was formerly a resident of that place. Her name was Sylvia Wiley then, and a little over a year ago she married Dan June, the couple afterwards moving to Omaha. It seems the pair did not get along well, Mrs. June not caring whether she walked the straight and virtuous path or not. A man named Sterritt, with whom she had been carrying on her business, offered her $100 if she would leave Mrs. June and what things there were to him. June accepted the $100 and evidently had the best end of the bargain.

The Strikers Firm. The Engineers, Firemen and Switchmen Vote to Continue the Fight. Chairman Hoge, of the striking engineers' grievance committee, Chairman Murphy, of the Ironmen's committee, and Chairman Hall, of the Chicago switchmen's association, arrived in Omaha last evening, coming from Plattsmouth over the St. Joe line. A joint meeting of engineers, firemen and switchmen was held, and it is asserted that every strike in Omaha, about thirty-five in all, was present. Chairman Hoge outlined the situation to the men, and says he tried to present the worst possibilities in order that there might be no false hopes of easy settlement raised. A vote was taken whether to continue the strike or whether to accept the terms offered by General Manager Stone, and Mr. Hoge says the men were unanimous for continuing the fight. There are twenty-nine members of the grievance committee, and instead of calling them to Chicago for a conference Chairman Hoge is making a tour of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy system to get a personal expression of the feelings and wishes of the brotherhood men. He left Chicago Tuesday and has convened meetings at Aurora, Calasburg, Burlington, Ottumwa, Creston, Plattsmouth and Omaha. He goes to Lincoln this morning to hold a forenoon meeting. Thence he will go to McCook and Denver, returning to Chicago by way of Atchison, Hannibal & Quincy. The trip will occupy most of next week. Mr. Hoge says the notes thus far have been "politically unanimous for continuing the strike, and he professes to be surprised at the tenacity of the men. The largest number of dissenters were at Hannibal, where nine men out of two hundred voted to declare the strike off. At Creston more than two hundred men hardly waited for the motion before mounting chairs to shout for keeping up the fight. The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy is reported by the associated press to have made concessions, but Mr. Hoge says they are slight, and the terms offered are in effect an unconditional surrender. He declines to state at present what the alleged concessions are. When asked as to the prospect for the termination of the struggle, Mr. Hoge admitted that he could not see the end any clearer now than on the day the strike began.

HE FELL AMONG THIEVES. And of Course They Thoroughly Did Him Up. Hans Jacobson, who is an honest Swedish farmer, residing near Fullerton, came to Omaha Thursday for the purpose of purchasing some agricultural implements. On alighting at the Union Pacific depot he immediately fell into the clutches of one of the wolves that hang around Brandeis' place on South Tenth street, and after being pined with villainous whiskeys was of course robbed. The man who was arrested and convicted of doing the work was a sneaking looking individual named Peter Martin, alias Mike Comisky. He made a strenuous effort to convince the court of his respectability and honesty, but only made his case worse, and he was given thirty days on bread and water. Jacobson said he had $18 when he arrived in Omaha, and that he and Martin spent the night at the hotel on Tenth street. When arrested Jacobson had 20 cents, while Martin had $9.05.

Michael Grady began suit against the waterworks company for $1,050 for injuries sustained through the negligence of the foreman while working in a main excavation at Jackson and Leavenworth streets on the 20th of this month. He alleges that he has been made lame for life by the caving of the walls.

John Reeves filed his application for a divorce from his wife Flora Reeves, on the charge of adultery and desertion. They were married the 24th of March, 1877, and lived together until the 6th of September. Since that time she has not been heard from.

Allen E. Kirby and Marcus P. Mason began suit against Thomas H. Coppington for the foreclosure of a mortgage on five lots given to secure the payment of $10,000 in bonds of the city of Omaha. The notes came due in March and were the second payments on property described in the mortgage.

David Kaufman began suit against Millard F. Anderson asking $1,000 for his having been arrested and arraigned in court on the charge of larceny. Kaufman claims that his reputation and business was damaged in that amount on account of the prosecution.

Mary McDonald has sued the Chicago & Northwestern railway for $1,990 damages for ejecting her from a train. She bought a ticket in Chicago for Omaha and boarded a train July 4, 1888. She was put off the cars, was bruised, frightened, delayed in her business and made sick.

Thomas Brennan began foreclosure proceedings against Thomas F. Boyle for an overdue payment of $1,200 on lot 7, block 11, in Bedford place, sold to Boyle on contract.

Brennan has also begun a foreclosure suit against Martin L. Higgins on lot 17, block 11, in Bedford place. The unpaid payments on the lot aggregate $154.

Louis F. E. Olson has sued Frederic Krug, the brewer, for $2,500 damages. Olson was at work for Krug and on March 18 was run away with by one of Krug's teams. The plaintiff was thrown and severely injured and had an arm broken and was sick three months. He alleges that the horses were known to be vicious and charges the driver with negligence.

Peter E. Reed sued M. Oberg for $300 loaned the defendant in April and raised on a note.

John A. Wakefield began suit against Henry Finger for $569.01, a balance on bills for lumber aggregating $78,221.55.

Drink Malto it is pleasant. Puglist Versus Actor. Lindsay, the puglist and bar room loafer, endeavored to keep himself in professional practice last evening by sparring in earnest with a burnt cork artist of the People's theater named Charley Gates. The actor's blood was up and he displayed considerable pluck and heroism in parrying and getting in square licks. What the outcome might have been is unknown, for a blue-coated gentleman wearing a star put in an appearance that suddenly put a check on the fight. Lindsay took to his heels and added fame to his name as a sprinter, as he was too nimble for the police and escaped. The bona-fide puglist and actor put a check on the fight and passed the night at the central station.
