Anderson Has a Chill.

JOHNSTOWN, Neb., July 25.—[Special Telegram to THE BEAR.]—At 9 o'clock this evening John Anderson was still in the well. Last night he had a chill and complained of feeling cold, but by rubbing his limbs and getting circulation started he soon rallied. The new well is down fifty feet and the diggers are at work tunneling to the old well. They think they will strike in about three feet below the man. From this tunnel they aim to let the boards extend out nearly across the old well so as to form a platform. Anderson says if they do this he can come to them. The great danger will be that when they strike the old well it may give way and let sand in on the man and smother him instantly. They talk with him frequently and he gives them his views as to the best way to work. Today he asked about his stock and wanted to know who was attending to them. When asked if he would like for them to put a pipe to him in the old well and try to get food and water to him, his answer was "no." He said it was too risky and he was unwilling to take such chances for a few luxuries. The man seems to be in good spirits, and though the chances are against him, it may be possible to get him out alive.

He had complained of sickness on his way to market and acted strangely in town. The cause of the death is unknown. Some believe the acting coroner holds an honest inquest.

HEATHEN, Neb., July 25.—[Special Telegram to THE BEAR.]—The wife of a friend in Holmwood, Nebraska, died on the train. She had just started from home a few minutes before she got to the home of a friend in Holmwood. The cause of death is unknown. The body was brought here to-night on the evening train.

MADE A BIG MISTAKE.

Fears for the Safety of Troops Sent up the Skeena.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 25.—[Special Telegram to THE BEAR.]—There has been some serious thinking in forwarding troops to the Skeena river. The Indians are rising in British Columbia, which, according to reports received from the Pacific, may result in the complete annihilation of the expedition with the forces now on its way up the Skeena river. Too late the militia department here discovered that it had made a terrible blunder in the route of transporting troops up the Skeena river, which it had undertaken in earnest through a country reported to be wholly alive with hostile Indians, armed with rifles and shotguns, and that it was imprudent to send troops up the river on either side. The Skeena river route would have been a great mistake, had it not been for the fact that the Indians are actively preparing to resist an attack and are now on the march up the Skeena river, from which position twenty Indians could wipe out the whole detachment without fear of losing a man.

The Long Pine Chautauque.

ASSEMBLY GROUNDS, LONG PINE, Neb., July 24.—[Special to THE BEAR.]—The second session of the Long Pine Chautauque practically came to a close yesterday, but because of a great many of the lecturers and members still tenting on the grounds, reluctant to leave the wooded dell and the clear, wholesome water to go back to their homes. This session has reached beyond the wildest dreams of the most enthusiastic. So fine and intellectual were the lectures delivered this time that the whole assembly was captivated. Dr. Evans, of Chicago, the superintendent of this Chautauque did when he said last night that he hoped the day would never come when this assembly would ever want any of the "stars" from the east, but would always pick out western talent. There were well delivered lectures yesterday by Dr. McClish, of Chicago, Ill., Dr. Dunn, of Hillsdale, Mich., Dr. Eyer, of Chicago, Ill., and during the greater part of the day the different teachers were holding examinations of the respective subjects. The examinations of the best studied and best delivered lectures during the session was given by John Ashin, of Kearney, Neb. He took for his subject "The History of the Chautauque," and was well received by the audience. J. D. Stewart, the oldest and most prominent Chautauque worker in the state of Nebraska, has been invited to give a lecture on the history of his connection with this kind of work, beginning with the first in New York. He then presented Miss Lyon of Hay Springs, Neb., a very satisfactory examination in the literary and scientific department of the general Chautauque of New York. This course required four years' study at Miss Lyon's first to graduate in northwestern Nebraska. He then presented other diplomas of normal scholars for good standing in their classes. Resolutions were passed by the assembly thanking Dr. Evans, superintendent; George W. Miller, secretary; J. D. Stewart, conductor, and all the lecturers, teachers and musicians for the earnest work they have done this year and the good they have done for northwestern Nebraska. The next such a grand institution here. President Martin then, in a few well chosen words, thanked one and all for the amount of interest and enthusiasm manifested by the people of this section of the state and gave a short history of the inception and growth of this kind of work. The first Chautauque was held at Rev. J. G. Evans, of Chicago, superintendent for the ensuing year.

He formerly lived in Omaha, and about fifteen years ago held the office of city treasurer here. Later he moved to Fremont, and nine years ago came to Waldo, where he has since resided. He served several years as postmaster here, and has been appointed postmaster in the position which he held for several years. The Corner Stone Laid.

HASTINGS, Neb., July 25.—[Special Telegram to THE BEAR.]—The corner stone of the Nebraska asylum for the incurably insane was laid this afternoon by the grand lodge A. F. and A. M. of the state. The Masonic fraternity, headed by a band of music, marched in procession and the impressive ceremonies of the order were conducted by John J. Wemple, past grand master, in the presence of many people who went to the grounds on a special train and in carriages. The ceremony was held in the presence of the public lands and buildings committee, were present. A. V. Cole, of Juniata, delivered a laudatory address. The south and middle wings of the building are now one story high and the walls of the two additional stories are to be put up in the next few weeks. The building is being built to make a fine appearance and people here are proud of this state institution.

SETTLERS AT CAMP SHERIDAN

Provisions of Congressman Dorsey's Bill For Their Relief.

THE PLATTSBURGH BRIDGE BILL.

It Will Soon Be Ready For the President's Signature—Status of Other Nebraska Measures—The Land Fight Again.

Camp Sheridan Settlers.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 25.—[Special Telegram to THE BEAR.]—The house has passed Mr. Dorsey's bill for the relief of settlers upon the old Camp Sheridan military reservation in Nebraska. The bill will confirm the title to several hundred acres of the reservation and will put at rest disputes which have caused much vexation and trouble. It has been customary for congress to order the sale of unnecessary military reservations. This action of the house is a departure from the regular order which will set an important precedent for future congressional action. There is little doubt that it will pass the senate. The bill was slightly amended by the committee of public lands and, as it finally passed the house, provides that all entries or filings under the homestead or pre-emption laws allowed by the district land offices at Valentine of lands within the limits of the former Camp Sheridan military reservation, situated in township 33, north of range 45, west of the 100th meridian, and in compliance with the instructions from the commissioner of the general land office, dated July 2, 1884, are null and void, provided that the persons making such filings or entries possessed the necessary qualifications and have since the filing or entry, as the case may be, fully complied with the law governing entries of like character upon public lands in cases of this kind and the same shall be deemed valid in this abandoned reservation. The limitation of thirty months prescribed by section 2,257, revised statutes, shall not be enforced but proof and payment must be made within six months from the passage of this act.

THE PLATTSBURGH BRIDGE BILL.

The conference committee on the Plattsburgh bridge bill has reached an agreement. The house recedes from its position and acquiesces in the senate amendments. The bill will receive final action in a day or two, and then will go to the president for his signature.

The members of the conference are Mr. Henderson of Nebraska, and Mr. Fuller of Iowa, conferees on the part of the house. The only amendments reported by the senate are that the bill be amended so that the Nebraska delegation will do everything possible to induce the withdrawal of the Nebraska bill from the senate. ST. None of the high officials of the brotherhoods were present, and the general supposition is that the action taken will meet with their disapproval. In short, it was decided by a majority vote this afternoon that all offers of compromise on the part of the Burlington should be rejected, and that nothing but an unconditional surrender would be considered. As was surmised in the morning dispatches, there was a pressure brought to bear by which the four great railroad brotherhoods were to be amalgamated. How and where the confederation will take place will be left to the brotherhoods in convention—the brakemen's and switchmen's brotherhoods to meet in September, and the firemen's and engineers' in October, with an advisory board selected from delegates in each order.
