

THE CITY.

The internal revenue collections yesterday amounted to $2,001.69. The Robinson Notion company are negotiating for a lease of the Smith building, north west corner Twelfth and Harney streets. Captain Humphrey Moynihan has returned to Chicago and will reside there in future as manager of an elegant saloon recently fitted up. Omaha is remarkably free from fires. Number 2 hose company has not been called out in sixteen days, and number 3 has also had a long rest. A lease was filed yesterday with the county clerk by Mrs. Miles Standish, but it is presumed she is not the relic of the doughty colonial warrior. The garbage master says that all garbage, manure and other filth south of Farnam street, when removed, should be taken to the dump at Division street. A marriage license was granted yesterday to Mr. Charles Brown, aged twenty-eight, and Miss Annie C. Brown, aged twenty-seven, and both of this city. Samuel Dutton, whose little son was drowned in the river last week, thus publicly thanks the friends of the family for aid and sympathy extended in the hour of affliction. Last Sunday a couple of ladies, who live in Council Bluffs, were trying to get on a moving street car. One of them was thrown and badly bruised on the face. Their names could not be learned. Justice Anderson united in matrimony yesterday John Shollstaff, of this city, to Miss Anna Johanning of Cedar county, Iowa. Also Andrew Grant to Miss Christina Erlmeier, both residents of Omaha.

Personal Paragraphs. Mr. M. L. Welch, of Lincoln, is in the city. Mr. H. P. Simmonds, of Chadron, is at the Paxton. Mr. T. A. Fisher, of Lincoln, is at the Millard. Mr. Frank Sharpe, of Atkinson, is at the Millard. Mr. W. H. Barstow, of Crete, is a guest at the Paxton. Mr. W. H. Harrison, of Grand Island, is a Paxton guest. Mrs. B. F. Lock, of Norfolk, was in the city yesterday. J. A. Goslin and C. R. Tyler, U. S. A., are at the Paxton. Mr. F. F. Mead, of York, was an Omaha visitor yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Foub, of Sutton, were in the city yesterday. Mr. Charles T. Dickinson, of Tekamah, was in the city yesterday. Mr. C. S. Clark, of Nebraska City, was an Omaha visitor yesterday. Messrs J. W. Devoese and E. M. Westervelt, of Lincoln, were in Omaha yesterday. Dr. McParlin, United States army, and daughters, have returned from their eastern trip.

Has She Been Kidnapped? Mabel Reedy, the eight-year-old granddaughter of Mrs. Osborne, 315 South Twelfth street, mysteriously disappeared a week ago last Saturday and her whereabouts is still unknown. Her mother who was away at the time has since returned and is distressed with grief over the loss of her child. Mabel is a very bright looking girl, has straight hazel hair, blue eyes and is of slight build. At the time of her disappearance she was wearing a light seersucker dress. No cause for the disappearance is known and it is feared that she has been kidnapped. Her father and mother are divorced, the former living in Minneapolis, but he has never bothered his wife in any way since their separation, and it is not probable that he has taken the child. The entire family are greatly concerned over the loss of the household pet.

The UNION PACIFIC is the only road running through Pullman Cars between the Missouri River and Portland, Oregon.

Army News. The right wing of the Second Infantry executed a drill on the range this year, the latter quarter of the year, the right wing making a total of 72. The captains of the successful companies, A, B, C, E and G are respectively William Miles, Charles A. Dempsey, Henry Catley, Luther S. Ames and Charles Reiler. The division commander, General Nixon, wife of private Edwood Nixon, company G, was buried Sunday afternoon at Forest Lawn cemetery. The child died at a clinic on Saturday. Mrs. Nixon is in a very critical condition, but the general doctors attending her now entertain hopes of recovery.

Drink Malt to his pleasant. Smoke Seidenberg's Figaro and get the best 6-cent cigar in the world. Max Meyer & Co., wholesale depot.

Burglars Boys. Joe Mills, John Freling, Tom O'Day and Fred Sessions, four boys ranging from twelve to fourteen years, are lying in the city prison, charged with burglary. They broke in the store of the corner of Twelfth and Harney streets and stole 2,500 cigars. They also stole a box of cigars at 10 cents a box. The huckster will likely be run in.

The Sulphurous Gentleman notionally described as "Old Nick" seems to be at the elbow of the people, who day in and day out damage their teeth with harmful tooth pastes, powders and washes. The recorded experience of thirty years designates SOZODONT as the only real desideratum.

A Drummer Paralyzed. Frank Hieby, a traveling man from New York City, came in on Union Pacific train No. 4 Sunday afternoon, suffering from the effects of a grand success this year. St. Joseph's hospital where medical aid was tendered him. Yesterday he was somewhat improved and bids fair to get well.

THE STALLION PRIZE. The preparations for the Omaha fair are advancing most encouragingly and the indications both from the applications for space, and outside queries are that this will be the most successful fair ever held in Omaha. Speaking of the speed features, Dutton's Spirit the Turf says: The Omaha Fair and Exhibition association is as determined as men ever are, to make its meeting a grand success this year, even more successful than it has been before. The reader will take notice that the program has been changed so that the program as it now stands is about the best that could be devised. The citizens of Omaha have been decidedly liberal with the Omaha Fair association, and to show you a specimen of their liberality, the stockyards association, stockmen and commission men of South Omaha subscribed $1,200 for the grand South Omaha stockyards stakes in less than two hours. There is, therefore, no lack of enterprise in that second addition of Chicago, and this history is likely to be heard from in the future history of the turf.

There is, moreover, a month's continuous turf business that immediately precedes, namely: Norfolk, Neb., August 27 to 31, $5,000; Omaha, Neb., September 3 to 7, $5,000; Omaha, Neb., September 10 to 15, $5,000; Topeka, Kan., September 17 to 20, $5,000; Kansas City, September 24 to 27, $5,000. So you can see how it is, you pay your money you take your choice.

Drink Malt to his pleasant. Starch grows sticky—common powders have a vulgar glare. Pozzoni's is the only Complexion Powder fit to use. Drink Malt to his pleasant.

HE WAIVED EXAMINATION.

Samuel Love Asks That His Case Go to the District Court. Samuel Love was arraigned in Justice Morrison's court yesterday on the charge of performing an abortion on Miss Nin Darrah. He waived an examination and gave bond in the sum of $2,000 to appear in the district court next September to answer to the charge. E. J. Darst was accepted as his bondsman. Miss Darrah is rather a good looking brunette of about eighteen years. The story leading up to Love's arrest is told by her and other parties who have been in the case is about as follows: Love is in the saloon business in Tekamah in partnership with George Raver. He is the intimate friend of Mrs. Lowe, and finally went to work in the family of Raver, Lowe's partner. Some time last summer Mrs. Lowe and her husband had some trouble and divorce proceedings were begun by the former. It was agreed by the firm that they would start a branch saloon at Leavenworth, which would be managed by Raver. When he moved there he took Miss Darrah along as a domestic. During her stay at the Leavenworth saloon she became friendly with Love, and her attentions were sufficient to win her affection, and last September he accomplished his ruin. She stated that he said he would marry her as soon as he was given a divorce from his present wife. From that time until early in the spring they kept up their intimacy, and Love made several trips to Leavenworth about four months ago the girl discovered her condition and told Love of it. He has been arrested for administering drugs to her. When the attempt failed the girl was sent to Florence to the home of her sister, Flory Malloy. Two letters were received by Miss Darrah while she was there instructing her how to treat herself and to remain firm and true and not give anything away and all would be right. The letters were not signed by any name, but the writer in each case said, "you know who I am." A note in the same handwriting and in regard to the same matter is signed "Sam." When the girl became so sick that a physician had to be called to her she gave up the entire history of the case, and will be the prosecuting witness against Love. Although she looks perfectly strong and healthy, the doctor who was called to attend her says she will not recover for at least two years. When asked how she came to give Love up after his promises in the letters to her, she said she did not believe he would remain true to her, and that she found out she did not care as much for him as she used to. Miss Darrah's father and mother live in Tekamah. Her father is a day laborer. Love has been married three times and has three children, two by his first wife and one by his second.

There are many things to be grateful for, if we would but think so, and among these is the introduction of Van Duzer's Flavoring Extracts somewhat less than a third of a century ago. If there is a cook in America, professional or otherwise, who has not tested and is not ready to avouch the excellence of these well-known preparations, she or he is woefully behind the age. No chemical or other impurity contaminates them. They are simply delicious.

DRAWING UP THE DECREE.

The Judges Have Little to do in the Courts. Judge Wakely and the attorneys in the Motor and Horse railways suit were occupied in the district court yesterday in drawing up a decree governing the use of Leavenworth street by the lines of the two companies. Storz & Her have asked the court to grant them a judgment against Richard and W. H. Nun for $500. Three hundred of the court is for goods and the other $200 is for the rent of a building on Sixteenth street where the defendants kept a saloon. The two defendants Richard, who is a doctor and W. H. Nun, the other, live in the city about two weeks ago leaving numerous creditors to divide up their abandoned stock. Stephen S. Folker has sued the Paul O. Burns Wine company for $3,000 damages for violating an agreement and replevying a stock of goods belonging to the plaintiffs in this damage suit.

In Justice Anderson's Court.

L. B. McCarger, a Minnesota merchant, was arraigned in Justice Anderson's court this afternoon for obtaining goods by false pretenses. He purchased $1,250 worth of farming implements from Parlin, Orndorff & Martin on a represented credit of $7,000. On examination they found he had nothing and had him arrested.

The UNION PACIFIC is the only line from the Missouri River running direct to Ogden, Utah, the Orchard City of the Watahatch Mountains.

WORTHY AND UNWORTHY.

Cases Now Pending Before the Bureau of Charities. Mrs. Pearson, of the bureau of charities, reports that there are two beggars in this city who are not worthy of assistance. One of these is Mrs. R. Nelson who lives at 1515 Third street. She claims to be ill and the claim is well founded but she has been offered treatment by the county at the hospital and her husband has promised relief for her and finally with his wife would be under treatment. Both offers have been declined. The other is the case of a woman who simply asks for money, declining all offers of food and clothes. She refuses to tell who she is or where she comes from.

The case of a woman of the same organization, asks for a deserving widow who is without such a necessary article and hopes some charitable firm may make a donation of one immediately. It would be the means of enabling a worthy person to support herself and family.

Wm. Black, Abundant, Iowa, was cured of cancer of the eye by Dr. Jones' Red Clover Tonic, which cures all blood disorders and diseases of the stomach, liver and kidneys. The best tonic and purifier known. 50 cents. Goodman Drug Co.

Must Not Grudge.

General Council has adopted his opinion in the question as to whether the county commissioners are allowed to use the money in the county road tax fund in grading the streets in the city. He holds that under the law they can not.

Drink Malt, 25 cents a bottle.

Stole a Horse.

Last Saturday night a horse belonging to Henry Thurman, a farmer living near Fifth and Dorcas, was stolen from the barn of H. H. Haven, and has not since been found. Thurman suspects a certain party of the robbery, but has no means of proving the charge, because the man has left town.

Bailey Was Going Home.

Rob Smack of Dubuque, in this state, writes that Bailey, who was recently found dead in a box car on Douglas street, lived with him two years, and on the 24th inst. left to go to his home near Storm Lake. He took it at the time that he was found. Two days later he was found dead. In the mean time the watch and nearly all the money had disappeared.

The UNION PACIFIC is the popular route to the Yellowstone National Park.

THE BELT LINE RATES.

A Citizen Objects to Them and Suggests a Remedy. OMAHA, July 28.—To the Editor of THE BEE: The belt line snarban trains are being run over the Missouri Pacific railway to Portal, where the population is sparse, and charging passenger rates entirely too high to ever become popular. For example: Walnut hill, in a direct line from the Webster street depot, is only two miles. The fare for single ride is 15 cents, or 8 cents a ride on computation tickets of fifty rides. The result of this policy will be to drive the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and they will shortly take the trains off on the plea that they do not pay; that the trains were only put on to satisfy the temporary necessities of the citizens living along the line. I hope that you will not be so easily misled by the reverse of our suggestion, which is to justify the claim now being made, that it has never been the intention of the company to permanently run the trains, and