Run Them In.

The respectable residents in the vicinity of Thirtieth street and Capitol avenue are much annoyed by a gang of unruly boys and grown men, who are in the habit of going in swimming in a deep pond at this point.

A Much Needed Improvement.

The Paxton flue which for so long a time has caused much complaint by the general dispensation of smoke and soot is to be extended heavenward a distance of twenty-five feet, which will no doubt obviate much of the inconvenience heretofore experienced.

Escaped Jail Birds.

Chief of Police Seavey received a communication from Superintendent Sampson, of the Colorado state industrial school, yesterday, requesting him to be on the lookout for two runaway boys, Abe Goodwin and Peter Georgeault. Both are said to be expert thieves and hardened criminals, and they were headed for Omaha with a party of tramps.

A Runaway Grip.

The grip on car 57 of the Harney street line caught a strand of the cable yesterday and ran away, carrying a Dodge street train ahead of it, despite the efforts of the gripman to get loose. The coach just ahead kept the track until it reached Twelfth street, when it left the track and nearly turned crosswise of the street, and was pushed to Thirteenth, where the strand became loosened and the cars stopped. The speed of the cable was slackened and the break repaired.

Public Fountains.

The water works company are working away laying their main from Florence to this city. A thirty-six inch main is being put down, and the work is now going on along Twenty-fourth street. The public drinking fountains to be put up by the company will be as ornamental as useful. There are to be five of them erected at convenient and conspicuous points within the city's center. They will be built of granite boulders, with an artistically chiselled base, around which cut in the stone will be troughs for animals. The fountains themselves will be novel in design, and will be completed by October 1.

Opens Next Sunday.

On next Sunday, the new congregational church on the corner of Davenport and Nineteenth street will be open for public worship. The seats, carpets and decorations and everything will be complete, including the new organ which is said to be a very fine instrument. The sermon will be preached by Rev. Warren P. Day, of Ottawa, Ill., who will occupy the pulpit during the month of August. The old choir will be reinforced for the occasion. The dedication of the church will not take place until September 1.

Rev. Mr. Sherrill will preach in St. Louis during the month of August.

Wyoming Oil Fields.

Mr. Henry Fuhrman, of Fremont is in the city on business connected with the Wyoming Central Oil and Pipe Line company, of which he is president. This company was organized last year by a number of enterprising Fremont capitalists who are taking an active interest in the development of the oil fields of Wyoming. The company have recently completed arrangements for sinking a well in the Rattle Snake district in conjunction with the Northwestern Oil company, of which Superintendent Fitch, of the Elkhorn Valley line, is president. The estimated cost of sinking the well is about $15,000. The machinery and material for doing this work have been purchased and are now on the way, and it is expected that the well will be sunk to a sufficient depth for a steady supply of lubricator before the season closes.

A DIFFERENCE OF OPINION.

An Expert Examiner Criticises Register of Deeds Megeath.

Mr. J. J. Points, who examined the register of deeds' first quarterly report for 1888, finds that it was in good order with vouchers for all expenditures, but he raises a question as to the legality of some of the latter. He says the county commissioners on January 28, 1888, fixed the following salaries for the register's assistants: Deputy, $1,200; numerical index clerk, $900; general index clerk, $720; two comparers, each $660; office boy, $480. In February the schedule was changed and only $720 and $660 allowed for the comparers. Mr. Points found in the register's report the following salaries paid in addition to those of the assistants allowed by the commissioners:

January, 1888—
S. S. Auch Moody	$ 88.50
S. Wiggins	22.50
William Alstadt	53.10
Lincoln Brown	53.10
N. B. White	53.10
February, 1888—
William Alstadt	6.90
S. S. Auch Moody	100.00
Lincoln Brown	60.00
N. B. White	60.00
March, 1888—
N. B. White	25.10
Lincoln Brown	60.00
Total	$591.30

Mr. Auch Moody was employed as deputy register while Mr. W. R. English was also acting. Wiggins and Wood were paid as office boys. Messrs. Alstadt, Brown and White did a variety of clerical work,

Mr. Points advises that those employes receive fair treatment, as they rendered the service for which charge is made. The register hold that the law empowering the county commissioners to fix the number of employes in county offices does not apply to him, as his office was created after the law in question was enacted. Attention is called to the fact that the register has outside parties to make copies of records, and he submits no returns thereof. There is no evidence that the register receives any part of the sums paid for such work, but Mr. Points insists that it should be done in his office and reported.

THROWN UPON THE WORLD.

A Woman Ruined and Deserted by a Denver Banker.

When the Pullman car Buena Vista left Denver on Sunday evening for Omaha, among the passengers was a young woman perhaps twenty-five years of age and a young man maybe three years her senior. Each had a ticket to Council Bluffs. The young man appeared very solicitous concerning the welfare of his female companion and insisted upon the porter spending most of his time in making matters comfortable for her. Repeatedly did he urge upon her the fact that she needed rest and many were the times he advised her to go to sleep. At about midnight she ordered the sable attendant to make up her berth and very soon afterward retired and was soon in the land of dreams. As soon as convinced that she was asleep her companion went into the smoking apartments and that was the last seen of him by the colored attendant. The lady slumbered on and not until Waterloo was reached did she leave the berth. Then when her dreams were broken by the porter, she, upon searching for her companion, found he was gone. Then was a sensation produced for the woman bursting into tears, bewailed her lot and announced that she had been deceived and deserted. As the train did not stop but for a few moments, she was prevailed upon to go across to Council Bluffs, hoping that the young man mentioned had merely dropped off to get a cigar and would join her on the other side of the river. But no, he did not, and the woman mingled with the crowd and has not since been heard of.

There is a history to this case, vague as the above may seem, and a conversation with the porter of the Pullman yesterday shed light on the mystery.

When the train left Denver at 9:15 Saturday night, two men, one an elderly man, perhaps fifty years of age, and known to be a prominent banker of Denver, accompanied by the woman mentioned boarded the train. The older man was very anxious regarding the woman's welfare and impressed upon the young man the importance of "taking good care of Jenny." As the train was about to start the old man left and the youth and his companion came on. At Schuyler the flyer and the train which leaves here at 9 a. m. for Denver pass, and at this point the young man mentioned, whose given name is Clarence, left and is supposed to have gone back to Denver. The porter relates that the woman when she found she had been deserted confided her story to an old lady on the train, the substance of which is as follows:

Her name is Jennie Wood, and for some time she has been in the employ of a wealthy banker and stock man in Denver as a domestic. In an evil hour she fell a victim to the temptations of her employer, and some months ago discovered herself to be in a delicate condition. She at once informed him of this fact, but he only laughed at the idea and said she must be mistaken, but when she began to show undisputable evidence of her misfortune the old man, who, by the way, has a wife of his own, realized that something must be done and concluded to send her to Omaha, ostensibly to visit her sister, until her child was born. He accordingly selected his bookkeeper, a young man whose surname the girl does not know, as a companion with the result as above stated.

The woman rode to Council Bluffs on bridge ticket 57,285, but where she went the porter did not know. She asserted that she had not a friend in this section and had only 90 cents in currency with her. When she left Denver she expected to be placed in the hands of a competent nurse and a physician until her trouble was over. Where the unfortunate woman is at present is unknown, but it is supposed she is drifting around the city across the river.

The UNION PACIFIC is the only road running through Pullman Cars between the Missouri River and Portland, Oregon.

ALONE AND FORGOTTEN.

Death Ends the Career of an Old Omaha Character.

Thomas McCormick, a well-known character in Omaha in its pioneer days, died Tuesday at the poor farm at the ripe age of ninety years. A quarter of a century ago McCormick was the center of attraction at all social gatherings in Omaha, and was distinguished on account of his genius for entertaining. He had an inexhaustible fund of stories, and is said to have known the Arabian Nights by heart. His trade was that of a stone mason, and at one time he had accumulated quite a competence, but through some reverses this was swept away, and in his old age he was left destitute. None of those who had enjoyed his hospitality offered a helping hand, and he went to the poor house, and dropped into oblivion. For about twenty years he has lived on the county. The last few years he has been blind, and as helpless almost as an infant.

DEVILISH SIRENS.

A Trio of Sisters "Bleeding" and Robbing Simpletons and Suckers.

The attention of THE BEE has been called to a trio of blackmailers and lewd women plying their nefarious game in our city. Their names are Minnie, Frankie and Nellie Stark, three sisters formerly of Cedar Rapids and later of Kansas City and Des Moines, at all of which places they have gained very unsavory reputations. In Omaha, they were first employed at the Arcade and later at the Canfield and Cozzens hotels as waiters, and were discharged from both places for "working" the guests and on account of their lewd and dishonest conduct. They can be seen on the streets at almost any hour of the night, and the Casino, Metz garden and other drinking places are their favorite resorts. They dress elegantly with the money they extort from their victims and are always busy plying their despicable business.

Their plan is to entice a person into one of the many wine-rooms of the city and then either rob him or, under threats of exposure and blackmail, compel him to give them "hush money." Three more soulless sirens were never known even in the lowest dens in the city, and they have numbered among their victims some of the leading citizens of Omaha. They are up to all manner of tricks, one of which is to take the change brought back to their victim, after he has paid for drinks, and then refuse to give it up. Thus at the Vienna restaurant lately Frankie and Minnie had on their string two prominent merchants of Omaha who would blush to see their names mentioned here. Drinks amounting to a dollar were ordered, and one of the merchants tendered a $10 bill in payment to the waiter. The $9 in change brought back was gobbled up by one of the girls, and, strange to say, the other merchant was served in a similar manner. Several repetitions of this on other persons are known of. One evening a couple of young fellows, who had been served this trick, insisted on having their money returned, when the girls sneeringly defied them to get it. They took the defiance, seized the shameless women, searched their pockets, and secured it.

At present none of the three girls are doing any legitimate work, but all are living in elegant style off the victims they decoy. Only a few months ago Nellie got about $3,000 out of a prominent sporting man of Des Moines on the claim that he was the father of her illegitimate child. Four weeks ago she was discharged from the Cozzens hotel for a most bold and indecent fraud practiced on a respectable gentleman. This was the last of a series of escapades that had come to the ears of the proprietor and he bade her quit the house.

A description of some of their modes are too vile for publication. One method is to make a fictitious date for a liaison with a victim and get expensive presents and money from him and then fail to appear at the appointed time.

An elderly gentleman pretty well known in this city has been lately terribly victimized by Frankie, the most attractive appearing of the trio. The old man fell into the toils of the siren and she promised to live with him as though she were his wife after July 1. On the strength of this promise she induced him to buy for her a couple of fine silk dresses, an elegant hat, a pair of diamond earrings, a gold watch, a gold-headed silk umbrella, and other costly articles that she now proudly sports. When July 1 came she told the old man that their plan would have to be abandoned as her sister Minnie had somehow discovered it, and was about to write home to her parents about it. To have her hush the matter up he would have to buy Minnie some presents also, and the poor old fool duplicated for Minnie the expensive gifts he had given to Frankie. He also rented and paid for the apartments they now occupy and paid for each a month's board in advance. To use Frankie's own expression,—"the old fellow is the rankest sucker yet."

A revolting category of other acts of depravity and theft are known and could be mentioned concerning them, but enough is given to warn the public against them.

They have been very fortunate in escaping arrest, but the reason for this is that their victims are of a highly respectable class who would much prefer being robbed than to have their names coupled with such low characters in the police court.

CARELESS DRIVING.

A General Smash-Up of Vehicles On North Sixteenth.

Tuesday night about half-past 8 a team of horses attached to a carriage containing a lady and gentleman, ran into a small cart, which also contained a lady and gentleman, near Dr. Chambers' residence, Sixteenth street, completely wrecking the latter. While an effort was being made to provide for the safety of the occupants and to secure control of the animals another buggy, from where no one knows, dashed into the wreck and before the driver could realize where he was, a fourth horse came running into the pile of debris and four wrecked buggies marked the scene. Peter Madsen was seriously injured and Mrs. Clem Hackney and her son were thrown to the pavement.

Later in the evening two teams were racing up the street near Grace, when one of them ran into a horse belonging to Thomas Gray, who lives at Twenty-ninth and Cuming. The pole of the wagon struck the horse in the neck, penetrating the jugular. The driver at once started for Dr. Chamber's residence, but before he reached there the horse dropped down and died.

SIX MONTHS

Accumulations of odds and ends in our men's and boys' suits stock, such as one or two suits of a kind, must be closed out during the next few days as our incoming fall goods are already crowding us for room. Among the men's suits are a few extra fine dress and business suits made of choicest fancy worsteds, and gotten up in a No 1 style. No custom garment can beat them, They are suits for which merchant tailors would charge from $40 to $50, and fine ready-made houses are asking $35 for them today. To make a quick and clean sweep with them, we have marked them at less than the material in them is worth.

Of the $4.75 all wool cheviot suits advertised last week, there are only a few left. We never had such a run on a suit as we had on this, and at this time of the year, when other stores have nothing to do. It is a better looking and better wearing suit than other houses are offering for double the money.

Enormous reductions form former prices on all Boys' and Children's Summer Suits we have left. We do not intend to carry one over if we can help it.

An endless accumulation of odd Knee Pants which will be sold at less than half their value.

Closing out of all our Summer Scarfs at ridiculously low prices.

Another lot of extra fine Four in hand and Tecks at 45c; such as are generally sold at 75c and $1.00.
