Dedicated to the Apostles. By the Bee Poet.

The leaders in the pennant race came down here from St. Paul Just to show the Omahans how the leader could play ball.

First they faced the brainy Lovett, his curves they couldn't find,

Then they tackled southern Shafer-did they win it? In their mind! "Well, look at that!" said Crooks, "Daddy, you must do as well." How well Daddy did it the score below will tell. The leaders are going downward, the Omahas upward run, "What's the record?" 9 to 5, 1 to 0, 7 to 1.

Omaha 7, St. Paul 1. It was a great day yesterday for Omaha, and why! Because they again cleaned up the earth with the Apostles, who met with a Waterloo. Three straight; think of it, and from the champions at that, Let's cachinate. It happened in this manner:

After the 2,000 spectators arranged themselves in rows all ready to enthuse the game

Anderson, the youth who attempted to umpire the game on Thursday, was in the box for the Ice Cutters, while "Daddy" Clarke fired the ball at the fimid St. Paulites, who went down before him like grain before a

Burns stepped up to the plate with a deter mined look in his eye and a burning desire for revenge in his heart, and the manner in which he swung his bat made such an im pression on the amateur pitcher for the Apostles that, fearing the Scotchman would make a home run he gave him his base on balls, and all the people said ah! Burns then got to third on a wild throw of Earle, who went through the same motions as does a woman who is trying to kill a cat with a brick. Here he rested and Father Annis wandered over to the plate and carved out a single, which brought the Poet home. The audience then enthused in a very enthusiastic fashion. But their jubilation was of short duration, for Annis was caught be tween first and second by Patton's throw. Crooks went to first on five balls by Ander-hits-Kreig, Sneed. Bases on balls-By Sowders 3, by Fudger 1. Struck out-By Sowders 5, by Fudger 4. Wild pitches-By Sowders 1, by Fudger 1. Passed balls-Broughton 2. Nicholas 1. Left on bases— Sinty City 8. Mignagardia 2. Time 1.50 son, who could not throw within twenty feet of the plate, but was put out on a double, which retired O'Connell at first But that was one run and everybody felt onds without intermission.

Then Carroll, the young man with a voice like a hen, hit a great big two-bagger out to left. Murphy knocked a large hole in the air, and the democratic hemisphere of the team came up, and after getting around to Uncle Joe Miller's corner on a hit by Pickett, which sent Carrol across the plate, was put out. Patten then hit one at Crooks, who pressed it to his manly breast for a second, threw it to O'Connell and retired the side. At this point the score was tied and the people did not enthuse quite as much as they were in the habit of doing.

In the second, after Cooney had been thrown out at first, a young man named Mc-Garr, who, by the way, was rated as no good when he came here, picked out a small bat, and before the ex-umpire, who was pitching, could realize what had happened, had lammed a safe one to left. He then proceeded to steal second, and before Anderson was ready to nick the next ball suffered third. got ready to pitch the next ball pilfered third and came home on an error by the man who formerly kept the hotel. he sat down on the bench and heard Hogan call "one strike" on Wilson, who tore a slit in the atmosphere and sat down and rested while Miller duplicated his predecessor's action.

the next three innings both sides blanked, although in the fifth it looked as though the gentleman from the land where though the gentleman from the land where refrigerators are used for ovens might get a run. But right here is where Daddy Clarke came in. Reilly and Ringo were retired after three attempts each to find the ball, and then Anderson hit to Miller, who threw to O'Connell, but the latter failed to get it. Every man in the St. Paul team got onto the coached latter and cracked. But no Daddy struck ing lines and coached. But, no, Daddy struck

dr. Carroll out, completely out. But didn't the audience cheer. The air was full of hats, canes, parasols and other bric-a-brac, and one man even bought a sack of peanuts and told Daddy to "take 'em, he eserved 'em." In the sixth Omaha had some more fun Creoks got another base on balls and was about to steal second when O'Connell made a hit which sent him around to third. Then Cooney went out on a fly to Carroll, and "Chippey" McGarr again appeared upon the scene. He lined out a hit that brought Crooks and O'Connell home, and after stealing second was caught at third by a throw from Earle. Then Wilson again struck out.

Then there was some more enthusiasm, and don't fail to make a note of it. The seventh was another blank, but in the eighth the home team had a little more sport.

Crooks turned himself toward the northt corner of the park and actually lifted ball away over into an adjacent cabbage patch for a home run, which caused about a ton of good first-class enjoyment to break loose among the on-lookers and filled Mr. Anderson's heart with grave apprehension. O'Connell followed him with a safe one to right and got second Cooney's out at first, but was caught at rd. And then came again Mr. McGarr, carved out another single and again second. While wondering whether he had better steal third or not Wilson made The St. Pauls were blanked for the eighth consecutive time in the ninth, but Omaha game was a very pretty contest, but emonstrated the fact asserted in yesonly demonstrated the fact asserted in ves-terday's report that St. Paul is no match for Omaha at any time. In fact the home team are playing ball at this writing and playing good ball at that. They made errors yester-day, of course, but they were all excusable ones and can be forgiven. Wilson caught a good game and Clarke pitched for keeps, Burns in left garden took everything that tame in his way and some that didn't. In one instance he ran away over to the west In one instance he ran away over to the west bleaching boards and pulled in a fly that a small boy was getting ready to climb the fence with. The rest of the team did good piaying, Cooney especially. In the last three games he has had twenty-five chances ofgames he has had twenty-five chances of-fered, has taken twenty-four and tried to get the other one. That record is good enough to put on exhibition. Hagan's umpiring to-day gave splendid satisfaction and not a murmur of disapprobation was heard. At this point it may be well to curtail this tale and point with pride for a few moments at the official score:

DOUBLE SCULL CHAMPIONS. Gaudaur and McKay Win After

Stubborn Contest. SARATOGA, August 3 .- The double scull championship race of three miles between Teemer and Hall and Gaudaur and McKay, for $2,500, was won by Gaudaur and McKay in 12.25. The race was to have taken place yesterday, but was postponed on account of a fog. This morning the conditions were all favorable. There was but little wind and the water was as smooth as a mirror. Boti pairs at a signal struck the water simultane ously and the race was stubbornly contested throughout. It was nip and tuck over the greater part of the course, but McKay and Gaudaur exhibited greater staying powers and finished from four to five lengths in advance of their opponents.

That Tired Feeling

The warm weather has a debilitating effect, especially upon those who are within doors most of the time. The peculiar, yet common complaint known as "that tired feeling." is the result. This feeling can be entirely overcome by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which gives new life and strength to all the functions of the body.

"I could not sleep; had no appetite. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling; and my appetite improved." R. A. SANFORD, Kent, Ohio.

Strengthen the System

Hood's Sarsaparilla is characterized by three peculiarities: 1st, the combination of remedial agents; 2d, the proportion; 3d, the qualities. The result is a medicine of unusual strength, effecting cures hitherto unknown. Send for book containing additional evidence.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla tones up my system, purifies my blood, sharpens my appetite, and seems to make me over." J. P. Thompson, Register of Deeds, Lowell, Mass.

CULLOM ASKS INVESTIGATION

Senator Gorman Supports the Resolution, but Drags in the Names of Levi P. Morton and Congressman W. L. Scott.

Doings In the Senate. WASHINGTON, August 3 .- In the senate this morning the house bill to grant to the Gulf & Chicago Air Line railway company the right to construct bridges over navigable water courses was reported and placed on the calendar.

Mr. Vest offered a concurrent resolution. which was agreed to, requesting the president to return to the senate the enrolled bill amendatory of the statutes to punish postal crimes.

Mr. Cullom offered a resolution instructing the committee on inter-state commerce to make a full investigation into the relations of the Canadian railroads with transportation across the continent of commerce which naturally belongs to the United States, and made a long speech to show how, by aids and subsidies granted by the British and Canadian government to railroads and steamships, the Canadian lines were obtaining control of commerce and especially of the transportation of a large per cent of the tea business being now carried on through Canada. The discussion was joined in by Messrs. Gorman and Hour Senator in by Messrs, Gorman and Hoar. Senator Gorman supported the resolution, declaring it was time the senators joined, irre-spective of party, in wresting the trade of the United States from aliens, who, by means of subsidies to cor-porations, were absorbing it. He said that leading citizens of the United States, men of influence and power in shaping national affairs, some of whom were candidates for high office, are lending their of-forts, as they had a perfect legal right to do, to the promotion of this Canadian railroad scheme. He read a list of the officers and directors of one of the roads which, he said, is designed to receive part of the bounty paid by the British government, among the names being those of Levi P. Morton and W. L. Scott of Erie, Pa.

The discussion of Mr. Cullom's resolution took a somewhat political and somewhat personal turn, particularly in the remarks Senators Gorman and Edmunds. Fin Finally the discussion came to a close and the resolu tion was adopted without division.

The senate has voted to meet unily at 11 a.

m. and to adjourn from to-day until Monday The fishery treaty was taken up and Mr. Teller addressed the senate in opposition to its ratification. He said that in all the annals of history no nation had been so regardless of the rights of others as the English nation. England had never kept an engagement with any people that was not ready and willing to compel her to do so. Her conduct in diplomacy and everywhere else was against conceding to American fishermen that which they were entitled to unless she feared the power of the United States. He did not know that he quite agreed with the state-ment of the senator from Virginia (Riddleberger) that this would never be a free nation until she has whipped England a third time. The history of England justi-fied the declaration of Jefferson, that she would destroy the liberties of the world so that she might sell a bale of furs. She was to-day legislating for the purpose of putting same of her subjects on trial in a court unknown to law, and was sending her bright-est and best men-to jail for simply appearing at a public meeting to protest against the wrong suffered at the hands of the consolidated power of their great nation. The people of the United States would get their rights peaceably if they could, forcibly if they must. The foar of war or the fear that England could destroy $500,000,000 worth of property on the sea coast and lakes would not deter the American people from demanding whatever was theirs and what their fathers bought with their blood.

Mr. Vance obtained the floor and the senate resumed legislative business. Senators Allison, Plumb and Gorman were appointed conferees on the army appropriation bill.

The senate then adjourned till Monday.

House.

WASHINGTON, August 3 .- The speaker laid before the house a letter from Governor Green of New Jersey, presenting to congress in the name of the state of New Jersey the statues of Richard Stockton and Philip Kearney to be placed in statuary hall in the capitol. A resolution was adopted assigning Tuesday, August 21, for the consideration of the concurrent resolution accepting the statues and returning thanks to the state of New Jersey therefor.

Private business having been dispensed with, the house went into committee of the whole, Mr. Springer of Illinois in the chair, on the deficiency appropriation bill.

Mr. Rogers of Arkansas, argued that in the cases of the French spoilation claims de-cided by the court of claims there should be the right of appeal to the United States supreme court. RELIGION IN TENNESSEE.

A Mountain Revivalist Gets Hot Shot from His Old Neighbors. M. Quad in Detroit Free Press: I was well above Rogersville, Tenn., and could look down into some of the prettiest coves and valleys in all the state when I heard a voice singing on the trail ahead. As I came nearer I discovered a man seated on a rock with a book in his hand. He was a hardlooking customer, ragged, unshaved and unwashed, and he sung with such energy and in such harsh tones that I suspected he was crazy. However, as soon as he heard, and saw me he called

"Be not afraid, stranger; I am here to do the Lord's work. Two months ago I was the most shuckless critter in all Tennessee, and wicked to boot. Light has busted, in upon me, and I am tryin' to make my feller-critters see and mend the error of their ways. Let

He had a Moody and Sankey hymn-book, but he could only read with diffi-culty, and his enthusiasm was too great for him to stick to the text. He burst into song as follows: We shall meet beyond the river.

In the sweet by and by; Git all ready for the journey, 'Cause the Lord is gwine to call you. Chorus-H'ar me callin'-All you sinners! Go to prayin'. Fur the time is short.

When he had finished his song he announced that he was a revivalist on his tour to stir up the sinners of the mountains and that he was to hold ser-vices that afternoon at Wharton's valley about five miles away. As I was bound for the same place we went on in plug tobacco, but he seemed earnest in his mission and so I found many ex-cuses for him. He could chew more tobacco in a given time and spit further through his front teeth than any man I ever saw. I carried a few plugs in my knapsack for the benefit of the natives at large, and he soon discovered this, and now and then would observe:

"Yes, stranger, although you may hev and I'll take another bite o' that plug." By the time we had arrived at Wharton's he had wasted half my stock and spat upon every rock on the wayside. There were two cabins here, with three others within the mile, and about fifteen people had gathered to hear the revivalist talk. He introduced me as "a fellow-critter" he had picked up on the way, and evidently needed praying for the worst way. The people received him rather coldly, I thought, and I soon learned the reason. When we had a bite to eat the people arranged themselves about the open door of the cabin, and the revivalist began saying:

"Thar's sin and wickedness yereheaps of it. You'uns is nuthin' but a shuckless pack of sinners on yer way to a flery furnace fed with sulphur an' brimstun. The devil is clus behind the "Look-a-yere, Joe Williams!" rupted a tall and serious looking mountaineer as he rose up, "let's start this yere sarcumstance at the beginnin'. In the fust place, who was ye?' "Don't interrupt a sarvent of the Lord!" warned Joe.

"Yes, who was he?" inquired a woman as she laid aside her snuff-stick to stand up. "Ye was pore an' shuckless an' low down Joe Williams, only a few weeks ago. Yer hull family was b'ar-fut, and the best ye had to cat was b'armeat an' pones. Ye drank mo' whisky than all the men put together, an' ye never had a second shirt to yer back! This wasn't a corker for Joseph. heard the woman through with a smile and then said: "A sarven of the Lord must take the abuse of shuckless sinners an' turn the other cheek. I have cum up here to warn ye that the seventh signals has been sat in the heavens as a warnin'! Wo! Wo! Wo! Them as gin heed will pass down the trail clothed in silks an' satins an' pearls. Them as scoff an revile an' cuss around will be troden by the heels an' flung into the fiery furnace, which is 100 feet deep an' full of twistin' sarpints."

Two children were overcome and began to cry at this, but the father of one of them gave him a box on the ear and rose up and said:
"Who was you an' who is you? We all know you to be a shiff less, onery, shuckless varmint. You wasn't fit to wipe up skunk's ile fur ten long y'ars. Then you went over to Knoxville, jined the Salvashun army, an' hev cum back yere to call us pore an' wuthless sinners. "Let us sing," said the revivalist, as the other paused, but the people groaned him down, and the other continued: "We've been feedin' yer pore heartbroken wife an' children, an' you hey bin gallivantin' around an' purtendin' you had a call from the Lord to whoop 'er up. I kin tell ye to yer face, Joe Williams, that this settlement wants none o' your kind of religun, an' it wants a mighty sight less of you! Git right down an shet!" "Hain't I got religun?" demanded

"Has a b'ar got wings?" answered one of the women. "The Lord wouldn't hey ye, Joe, an' ye know it. You's too onery all through. You's too lazy to hold to religun if you got it." "He's jist got to shet!" shouted another woman.

"Hain't I got no call to spread the gospel?" asked Joe.
"Nary call," answered one of the men who had spoken before. jist got a call to be meaner'n pisen, and that's all thar is to it. "An I've mistook, hev I?" queried the alleged revivalist. "You hev. Now, then, you pint fur home! Mariar is than a-waitin', an' the three children are thar a-waitin an' you jist git up an' airn some pork an' corn an' let the Lord alone. If ye don't do it, thar's gwine to be some tar an' feathers around yere!"

"Nayburs." said Joe, after a painful pause, "if I've mistook, then I've mistook. I reckon you know better'n me, an' I'm willin' to take advice. Beats all creation how I mistook, but I shan't go agin yer words.' With that he stepped down and out and ceased to be a revivalist, and soon disappeared. Then the big man with the serious face got up, turned his eyes to heaven and said: "O, Lord, we is onery an' mean an' low-down. We is shuckless an' shif'less. We hev made whisky agin the law, an' we hev been liars an' profaners. Thar's nothin' pisen mean that we hev'nt done at some time or other, but we reckons on Thy goodness to forgive. We is pore an ignorant. Some of us can't read nor write, an' we is allos ailin' with bodily pains. Figger on these things, O Lord, an'let the notches on the stick show up in our favor. With that the meeting ended and the big man took me by the hand and said hoped he hadn't offended my reigion, and that I must stay all night at his cabin.

"Yer see," he felt to explain, "when religion is religion, an'it's the pure quill an' no water in it, there's never one of us but kin take it in large doses an' be thankful to the Lord fur sendin the messenger, but when an onery, wuthless cuss like Joe Williams sots up to have got a call to spread the gospel, an' he cums vere among us as know him to spread it, why, we feel to make

New York Special Chicago Herald: A short, thick-set and comfortably dressed colored man of middle age and a tall, showily dressed young white woman presented themselves at the mayor's office to-day and asked to be married. The mayor looked rather doubtful. He said he would perform he ceremony if the law made it his uty to do so. But on looking up the question he found that it was optional with him, and he refused to join the couple. The man was very much crest-fallen at the decision, and the woman seemed even more chagrined. When they found that it would not be necessary for the record they refused to man was rough, ignorant, and given to or where they came from.

One of the Greatest Rascals Unhung Run Down by Detectives.

A MAN OF INFINITE RESOURCES.

Some of the Daring Exploits of Smooth William Rains Colby, Spiritualist, Minister, Gambler and Thief.

Colby Spotted by Detectives. CHICAGO, August 3.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—Several of "Uncle Sam's" officers will probably take into custody at San Francisco to-day one of the slickest swindlers and train robbers who ever worked his calling in this country. His name is William Rains Colby, and he has successfully posed as a spiritualist, Baptist minis ter, gambler and train robber. The officers have been on his trail since 1877, and have just located him at No. 45 Sixth street, San best slate-writing mediums in the country, The crime for which Colby is wanted is the robbery, near Austin, Tex., in 1872, of a United States postal car. It was a stormy night in March when two men boarded the car as it was leaving a station just outside of Austin, and, binding and gagging the messenger, threw the sacks of mail from the car. The robbery was not discovered for nearly an hour, when the messenger, bound and gagged, was found in a corner of his car. The robbers had leaped from the train, and no trace was found of them except a quantity of letters rifled of their contents-some $3,000.

alistic medium, and is said to be one of the

In 1875 a Baptist minister named William Rains created quite a sensation in Hearne, Tex., where he held a series of most successful revival meetings. Hundreds of people were converted by the pious preacher, and for a long time his name was held up to the youth of that section as representing all that was good. One night while the revival meeting was in progress the Rev. Mr. Rains was ill and unable to attend. The train was detained at the depot that night by an acci-dent a mile down the road, and the mail agent, John H. Lipphard, went over to attend the meeting in order to while away an hour or so. When he returned the mail car had been robbed. Empty mail sack overed the floor and hundreds of registered etters were torn open and strewn about the loss was estimated at $4,000. The United states officers were put on the case, and after nearly a year's hard work collected positive proof that the Rev. Mr. the author and perpetrator of the robbery It transpired that Rains had previously scraped acquaintance with the mail clerk John F. Lipphard, now editor of The Ameri can Flag, New York City, and induce him, as a precautionary measure, to use a lock on his car door which he (Rains) furnished him. Rains was sen-tenced to five years in the Huntsville penitentiary. He only served two years, a President Grant was deceived into pardon ing him on the plea that Rains was in the last stages of consumption. A year later Rains made his appearance in New York as a most uccessful megium, but after a short stay be ed, leaving many creditors to mourn his absence. Three years ago he turned up in Chicago, where he repeated his York success as a slate writer. lisappearance from Chicago was as sudden is in New York, and from the iere nothing was known of his whereabouts. In the meantime the secret service of discovered that the medium and the train robber were one and the same person Last week they located him in San Fran-cisco, and Sunday last they started for that city to arrest him.

IN NO MAN'S LAND. Fears That Hostilities Are About to Be Recommenced.

St. Louis, August 3.-A special dispatch says that ten companies of the Second regiment of the state militia left Hutchinson. Kan., for Stevens county this morning, destined to Hugoton. Reports to-day from Stevens county are to the effect that the situation is serious, and an open conflict is feared t any moment. Both towns are preparing for war. On Wednesday evening a Woodsdale man named Harler and a Hugoton man named Watson met about midway between the two towns and had a duel. Several shots were fired at long and short range, and Harler was of the State Association. Yesterday at 2 o'clock there was meeting at the Paxton of the executive committee of the State Democratic league. The meeting was called by means of private etter. The committee consists of letter. The committee consists of John Shervin, of Fremont, president; Frank Morrissey, Omaha, secretary; Wm. Canada, Nebraska City; R. P. R. Miller, of Lincoln; J. A. Goss, of Sarpy county, and Mr. Cochran, editor of the York Democrat, and another gentleman from Beatrice. All of these except the last mentioned were present. The object of the meeting is to make arrangements for the more thorough canvass of the state and the formation of democratic clubs which will affiliate with the National Democratic league of the United States. The meeting was held with closed doors. Swindled a Wholesale Company. The case of L. B. McCargar, of Sartoria, who is charged with obtaining goods under false pretenses, was tried yesterday in the police court. The complainant was the firm Parlin, Orendorff & Martin, of Canton I. By representing himself as being worth $6,200, he secured $1,560 worth of goods from them, when in fact he was worth nothing. He was found guilty and bound over to appear before the higher court. This case is a importance to the company as a test case, for they have a number of other customers who have victimized them in a similar manner

Second Ward Caucus The republicans of the Second ward mee in caucus on next Wednesday night to select delegates to the county convention. It is desired that a full meeting be had, so that a fair expression of the sentiment of the republicans of the ward may be given, and delegates chosen who will so act in the convention as to command the united support of the party.

Fourth Ward Republicans The Fourth Ward Republican club held brief meeting at Justice Anderson's office last evening with the president, D. H. Wheeler, in the chair. The only business of any note transacted was the acceptance of the invitation from the Eighth ward club to join with them in their great demonstration Second Ward Club. All republicans of the Second ward, includng the flambeau club, are requested to assemble at 7 o'clock this evening at Kaspar's hall, to march in a body to the Eighth ward ratification, to which an invitation has been extended.

Inherited Diseases. In the realm of disease the facts of inberitance are most numerous and are daily accumulating. Here, alas, they become ter-rible, fateful and overwhelming. No fact of nature is more pregnant with awful mean-ing than the fact of the inheritance of disease. It meets the physician on his daily rounds, paralyzing his art and filling him with dismay. The legend of the ancient Greeks pictures the Furies as pursuing families from generation to generation, rendering them desolate. The Furies still ply their work of terror and death, but they are not now clothed in the garb of superstition, but appear in the more intelligible but no less awful form of hereditary disease.

Modern science, which has illuminated se many dark corners of nature, has shed a new light on the ominous words of the Scriptures, "The sins of the fathers shall be visited upon the children unto the third and fourth generation." Instances of hereditary disease abound. Fifty per cent. of cases of consumption, that fearful destroyer of fami-Hes, of cancer and scrofula, run in families through inheritance. Insanity is hereditary in a marked degree, but, fortunately, like many other hereditary diseases, tends to wear itself out, the stock becoming extinct, A distinguished scientist truly says: "No organ or texture of the body is exempt from the chance of being the subject of bereditary disease." Probably more chronic diseases, which permanently modify the structure and functions of the body, are more or less far-reaching practical deductions from such facts—affecting so powerfully the happiness of individuals and families and the collective weifure of the nation—are obvious to reflec-ting minds, and the best means for prevent-ing or curing these diseases is a subject of intense interest to all. Fortunately nature has provided a remedy, which experience has attested as infallible, and the remedy is the world-famous Swift's Specific, a stable compound-nature's antidote for blood poisons. To the afflicted it is a blessing of inestimable value. An interest
