SHANE'S RESIGNATION.

What Commissioners and Contractors Say About It. Nearly a week ago, a Bee reporter heard that every thing was not as agreeable as it might be between the county commissioners, the hospital contractors, and Dan Shane, superintendent of construction of the hospital.

He called upon the gentlemen to ascertain what had occasioned the misunderstanding. Mr. Shane did not admit that there was a difference of very great moment, but requested that publication of the subject be deferred for a few days when he should be able to back up what he might see fit to tell and otherwise act as the emergency would require.

On last Saturday Mr. Shane tendered his resignation as superintendent of the erection of the county hospital and when, in the same evening, he was interviewed by an attaché of this paper, the only reason he assigned for his action was that the inspection interfered with his contracting business and he was forced to give the former up.

Commissioner O'Keefe said that if Shane's resignation had been tendered because of any quarrel with the contractors, he was disposed to vote against accepting it. Shane had been put in as superintendent because the commissioners wanted the work on the hospital done according to specifications. He was asked if Shane and the commissioners had not quarreled in Detroit over the hospital work, and he answered that as far as he knew, they had not.

He had understood, however, that Shane and Contractor Cunningham and Commissioner Anderson had had some differences of opinion. It was about the Myers roof. Shane was one of the first to make objections to some of the features of the Myers plan. But the commissioners had not quarreled in Detroit over the hospital done according to specifications.

Mr. O'Keefe stated that he thought there was something of a job in the Brown plan, but he did not think it could be worked. In it there was a great deal more iron than in the Myers plan and if the Brown plan had been accepted, many changes would have been made in the Myers plan. The present contractors could not have been compelled to put up either, the county being required to stand all extras.

Dennis Cunningham, who is one of the partners in the firm of Ryan & Walsh, contractors for the hospital, said that he had been at Detroit with the commissioners when they examined the Myers and Brown roofs. The commissioners had sustained Myers' plans, but Shane wanted Brown's "ride and ride" and he told Anderson, said Mr. Cunningham, "when we were coming here in the cars that as soon as he should reach Omaha he would tender his resignation as superintendent rather than build a roof which he said would fall down."

"Yes, Shane has given us some trouble. It couldn't be otherwise. He is a contractor the same as we are, and it is natural for him to want to do a job. No contractor would act as an inspector, because he must be either a favorite or an enemy, and in either case, he is not worth anything. If Brown's plan was accepted, as Shane wanted it to be, it would put the county to great expense."

Shane's resignation is now in the hands of the building committee. It will probably be reported on at their next meeting, and what that report will be only the committee themselves know. Mr. Mount, when asked why Mr. Shane had resigned, stated that he knew no reason for it whatever, and all he did know about it was what he had heard at last Saturday's meeting when the resignation was read. According to the statement of two or three of the commissioners everything was pleasant between Mr. Shane and the architect and contractors. When asked as to the report that Mr. Shane was returning from Detroit that he was going to resign as soon as he got home, they said they never heard of it. County Commissioner Mount, when asked what action would be taken in Superintendent Shane's resignation, said: "I don't tell you, I know what I shall do. My vote will be against accepting the resignation. I think I can guess what the other four commissioners will do. Their votes, I believe will be the same as mine."

The bank clearings for yesterday were $650,456.39.

LOST A CURIO.

Birth and Secret Burial of an Omaha Monstrosity. A most remarkable malformation or freak of nature has just died in Omaha.

About eight days ago a colored woman, the wife of a saloonman, who lives in the vicinity of Pacific street and Twenty-fifth avenue, gave birth to a boy baby with two faces on one head.

One face was situated naturally, with the exception that the left ear was nearer the eyes than the right. The second face was on the left side of the head, and commanded back of the left ear, extending partly across what should have been the back of the head.

The top of the head and the other portion of the head not occupied by the faces, was covered with an abundance of black kinky hair. This poor baby had four eyes, two of which, however, were useless.

The side face was well defined, but was not so perfect as the front, or actual face. The mouth and lips were well developed, but there was no connection with the throat.

The child when born was apparently as healthy as the average baby born to healthy working parents, but like many children this summer it succumbed to the hot weather and passed away on Friday last.

Dr. Reeves, who attended this case, informed The Bee reporter that the parents felt very sensitive about the malformation of their child, and for that reason the name is withheld.

This is one of the most curious cases of its kind on record, and had the child lived, it would have been a most interesting freak of nature. In this connection it may be well to say that this death has not been reported to the city physician. Dr. Reeves said he has never in the habit of reporting births and deaths, and that, although he knows the law to be well defined on this point, it has not been strictly enforced in this city. He said he thought many physicians in this city were in the habit of neglecting this duty.

Free to All. The beautiful picture, "Will They Consent?" is a large magnificent engraving, printed upon a sheet 19 inches wide by 24 inches long. It is an exact copy of an original painting by Kwall, which was sold for $5,000.

This elegant picture represents a young lady standing in a beautiful room, surrounded by all that is luxurious, near a half-open door, while the young man, her lover, is seen in an adjoining room asking the consent of her parents for their daughter in marriage. The interior decorations, together with the graceful position of the beautiful girl in keeping with the sentiment of the picture. It must be seen to be appreciated.

This valuable picture is fitting to adorn the wall of any ladies' parlor, and in order to offer an extraordinary inducement to introduce our Wax Starch, this copy will be given away, free to every person purchasing a small box of Wax Starch.

This starch is something entirely new, and is without a doubt the greatest starch invention of the nineteenth century. It is superior to everything heretofore used or known to science in the laundry art. Unlike any other starch, it is coated with pure white wax and chemically prepared upon scientific principles by an expert in the laundry profession who has had years of practical experience in fancy laundrying. It is the first and only starch in the world that makes ironing easy and restores old summer dresses to their natural whiteness, and imparts to linen a beautiful and lasting finish.

Please remember that the present you receive with each box of Wax Starch, has never been sold at retail for less than one dollar. This great offer is only good for six weeks, after which the present will be omitted and the starch sold at the usual price. Try it and be convinced of the whole truth. Ask your grocer for Wax Starch and obtain this beautiful and costly picture free.

Mulvehill's Lament. Thomas Mulvehill, the general gentleman who runs the tartaric acid fountain at the base ball park, during Sunday's game cashed a $7.75 check for a gentleman (calling himself James O'Brien. The name of E. D. Robinson was shown to the paper, and Mr. Mulvehill, says on the slip vice to make an extra dollar, advanced the quasi O'Brien $3.75 upon the spot. The smooth gentleman said he only desired to hypothesize the paper until evening when he would call on Mr. Mulvehill and redeem it by paying him $1.75. The police are now looking for Mr. O'Brien.

Marriage Licenses. The following marriage licenses were issued yesterday by Judge Shields: Nanna, Reuel, the bride and groom, Lawrence R. Rossiter, Omaha, 29; Julia A. Madden, Omaha, 31; Pat Crowe, South Omaha, 23; Hattie Murphy, South Omaha, 20.

Will be Shipped to Alabama. The remains of Henry Mall, the Pullman porter who was shot at Lookout, Wyo., a few days ago, will be brought to this city tomorrow and shipped to Alabama by home. It was Mall's first trip on the road, and his acquaintance was very limited, consequently but few of his fellow porters knew him. His mother lives in Birmingham.

Twenty-six Grandchildren. Tom Casey, the veteran flagman at the Union Pacific crossing on Tenth Street, for a long time has had many grand children than any man in Omaha. Last week the number was twenty-five. Sunday night Mrs. Peter Casey, his son's wife, presented her fifth child, a handsome boy, and for the twenty-sixth time Tom is a pa. The old gentleman is very much elated over the latest addition.
