

POSTED EGAN AS A BEBETOR.

A Ripple of Excitement in Lincoln Church Circles.

CAUSE OF ALL THE TROUBLE.

Bishop Bonanum and Others Served With a Temporary Injunction. Report of the State Industrial School.

LINCOLN BUREAU OF THE OMAHA BEE.

More than an ordinary ripple of excitement was created this morning when it was generally learned that Hon. Patrick Egan had sued out a temporary injunction against Bishop Bonanum, Rev. Lawrence and A. Dunphy, of Theresa church, of which he is a member, restraining them from publishing or posting his name as a defamer of the church building fund in the sum of $500, subscribed last March, but conditional that he should always be considered and treated as a member in good standing.

A GOOD MOVE.

A Convention of Boiler Inspectors Talked Of.

J. H. Standeven, city boiler inspector, is in receipt of a letter from William McClelland, inspector at St. Louis, and Peter J. Egan, inspector at Denver, as well as from several other inspectors, asking that they unite for the purpose of holding a convention of the inspectors of the United States, for the purpose of exchanging views as to the most feasible method of inspection for the better protection of life and property. Mr. Standeven is of the opinion that such a convention, and many accidents, containing a loss of life as well as property, occur from this very reason.

Onions and Their Kindred.

Youth's companion: A writer in one of our exchanges recommends boiled or roasted onions as a most excellent remedy for a cough, and for the clogging of the bronchial tubes which is usually the cause of the cough. He says that if you eat onions freely at the outset of a cold, they may break it up.

Another writer says: "During unhealthy seasons, when diphtheria and like contagious diseases prevail, onions ought to be eaten in the spring of the year at least once a week. Onions are invigorating and prophylactic beyond description."

Whether the virtues here ascribed to onions are exaggerated or not, it is certain that the onion contains an oil which acts strongly on the secretions of the bronchial tubes, and on the skin. This oil is a stimulant and a tonic, and thus promotes digestion. This onion is also nutritious, being rich in nitrogenous elements and in sugar. Roasted, it makes, with oil, a stimulating poultice for suppurating ulcers.

In warm countries its flavor is milder and delicate, and it is extensively used for food. In Spain and Portugal it is often eaten raw, and with a piece of bread, forms the dinner of the working people. As boiling largely dissipates the oil, the usual medicinal use should be roasted rather than boiled.

Belonging to the onion family, and the most self-asserting member of it, is garlic, from which, mainly, the oil is obtained, and is hence called oil of garlic. It is extensively used as a food in the southern European countries.

Another member of the class is the leek, the mildest of all. It has no proper bulb. It is used mainly for the lower part of the stem, which is blanched and enlarged by eating. It is a favorite vegetable of the Welsh and has become so with the Scotch.

Cives, or chives, constitute still another member of the family. They are very small and grow wild on the banks of rivers in some parts of Europe and Asia. They have pretty flowers, bluish red and sometimes flesh-colored, and are often cultivated as borders for plots. The young leaves are also used for flavoring soups and dishes, and they may be cut repeatedly in the season.

All these plants have the same general characteristics as the onion.

I cheerfully recommend Red Clover Tonic to those suffering from troubles of the stomach and liver. I can now on my second bottle, and it makes me feel like a new man. C. M. CONNOR, Nashua, Ia. For sale by C. F. Goodman.

A story used to be told many years ago of a merchant who was peculiarly subject to fits of absent-mindedness. Once he was writing a letter and thought, absent-mindedly, that he had forgotten his correspondent's first name. Turning to one of the clerks, he said: "What's John Jackson's first name?" The clerk, accustomed to his employer's peculiarity, replied: "John, sir." The merchant wrote the letter, put it in an envelope and was again at a loss. To the same clerk he said: "Excuse me, Charles. I've forgotten John Jackson's first name." A gentleman in this city was met by a friend one morning recently hurrying back from the station toward his home. "What's the matter?" the friend asked. "Oh, I've left my watch under my pillow, and I'm going home to get it." "You are kidding," the friend replied. "See, I've got four minutes yet," and he pulled out his watch to enforce the statement.—Dry Goods Chronicle.

The names of all persons finding diamonds, watches, etc., are added to this list daily. The Overland Tea company of San Francisco have suited the store, 22 S. 14th St., near Farnam, Omaha, and in order to give their goods, this company put for 90 days, souvenire in every can of tea and coffee solid gold, silver and nickel watches, also genuine diamonds, in solid gold settings also money, and many other articles of less value. Even the smallest mintsouvenir. The coffee, tea and contents weigh about three pounds; the tea, can and contents about one and a half pounds. This expensive and novel way of advertising will be discontinued after 90 days, and after that time the goods will be sold strictly on their merits but without the souvenire. Of course every purchaser must not expect to get a diamond or watch. BOOK TO MEN, FREE, My Reason for Writing a Book Upon Private, Special and Nervous Diseases.

I have for many years made a specialty of diseases of the urinary and sexual organs, have become a recognized authority upon the subject, consequently I receive an immense number of letters from physicians and afflicted persons, asking my opinion and advice upon individual cases. For the benefit of such persons, I have written a book, giving a general description of the most common diseases and conditions, my treatment, success, advice, etc. After reading it, persons will have a clearer idea of their condition and can write me more intelligently and to the point. It will be of greater or less service to a greater or less number of persons, but for the benefit of the many who are suffering from these various forms of disease or abuses, of the sexual or urinary organs. Not a day passes but we receive many calls or letters from persons suffering from this class of diseases, or their sequel. Many of them are ignorant of the cause of the difficulty that has wrecked their constitutions, thrown a cloud over their bright prospects and is shortening their days.
