Colonel Baker, of Bongham, Iowa, has bought al ot at Manawa, and prosposes putting up a cottage there by another season, and use it for his own summer recreation.

The case of Reese, for securing money on a worthless check, was again continued in Judge Aylesworth's court yesterday at the request of County Attorney Dailey, on account of the bsence of the prosecuting witness.

Money loaned on furniture, pianos. diamonds, horses, buggies or anything of value, at low rate of interest. No publicity; fair and honorable dealing. A. A. Clark & Co., office cor. Broadway and Main, over American Express.

Dan Carrigg yesterday generously remembered the Cottage hospital with a goodly cash contribution. The ladies in charge of the worthy enterprise expressed their appreciation of his generosity, but Dan modestly declined to have his name made public.

A young man by the name of Griffith was lately taken ill here, and being a stranger some kindly hearted citizens took him to the Cottage hospital. His father arrived yesterday from Moberly, Mo., to care for him. He is having a hard run of malarial fever.

On lower Broadway there is a rather loud smell from an expensive pig pen, and also from a cow yard. So long as these lots were out in the country it mattered little, but with the opening up of the paved thoroughfare, and the putting on of metropolitan airs the pig pens and cow yards should go. The smell is rather strong for those who take pleasure drives along the new Broadway.

Mrs. Eliza E. Franks died of strangulation at 10 o'clock Sunday evening at her home, 343 Lincoln avenue. About 9:30 o'clock she complained to her husband that she could scarcely get her breath, and he hastened to secure the services of Dr. Allison. She was in terrible agony when they returned, and died before anything could be done to relieve her. The funeral will take place to-day.

A large attendance is desired at the board of trade meeting this evening. The secretary and other desponding members are much encouraged at the interest manifested at the last meeting and hope that it will be doubled tonight. The change of the Red Oak Cart and Buggy company to this city will be discussed at length. Three important propositions are to come before e meeting. The weather is now considerably cooler, and there is no reason for the absence of members on that score. The board is thoroughly organized and in shape to do effective work in securing business enterprises to lo-cate here, and its efforts should not be hampered by repeated failures to secure a quorum at regular meetings.

MATTERS AT LAKE MANAWA.

More Water and Better Water Service -Enthusiastic Colored Republicans-Two Fast Young Men - Building Notes.

A Shooting Nearer Home. A farmer named Finten, living ten miles southeast of the city, has been in the habit of selling butter and produce to parties living here. Among those whom he has been furnishing butter is Mr. A. Waugh, living at No. 1715 Eighth street. Saturday Mr. Finten was in the city, and while at Waugh's house arranged to have the little boy, Roy Waugh, aged about eight years, go out to the farm with him and spend Sunday. It was about dark Saturday evening when they neared Finten's home. About a mile and a half this side of the farm lives a man named Cramer, who, it appears, has had an old grudge against Finten. It is said that on one occasion he attacked Finten with a hatchet, and at other times there has been trouble between them. Saturday night as they were driving past Cramer's place Cramer come out to the road with a pitchfork, and an angry talk commenced. Cramer asked what Finton was doing with that boy. Finton re-plied that he did not know as it was any of his business, and this led to hotter words. Cramer dropped the pitch-fork, and picking up a shotgun, which was lying in the grass, approached cioser in a threatening manner, and as Finton drove off, fired both bar-rels, one after the other in quick succession. Luckily neither Finton nor the boy was seriously hurt. Four buckshot went through the seat of the wagon, and one shot went through the little boy's leg. The second barrel emptied itself in dangerous proximity to them, and some of the shot hit the horses. Finton came back to the city yesterday, bringing the boy home. He will proba oly prosecute Cramer, and Mr. Waugh will also take a very natural interest in having the reckless shooter put where he can do less harm. Such is the outline of the affair as given by Mr. Finten, and as corroborated by the boy. Cramer's side of the affair is not known, but it seems that he will have a difficult task to present any extenuating circumstances for such a murderous attack. The boy's wound is not a very serious one, but it was wonderfully fortunate that the marksmanship was so bad.

Legion, encampment No. 8, was appointed, consisting of Colonel R. C. Hubbard, Judge George C. Carson and J. B. Heft, to draft appropriate resolutions on the death of General Sheridan. Their report as adopted is as follows:

Whereas, In accordance with the stern necessity established by the will of God, our comrade, Philip Henry Sheridan, a member of encampment No. 8, Union Veteran Legion, has passed from the shadow of time into the light of eternity; and

Whereas, We recognize in him the ideal soldier of the republic and a character in citizenship that is of lasting benefit to the nation; therefore be it Resolved, By Encampment No. 8, Union Veteran Legion, that it holds his memory as one of its richest legacies, while it regards the record of his life as a most glorious heritage of a liberty loving people.

Resolved, That as comrades we sincerely mourn his death as a personal bereavement, and a natural loss, and as an expression thereof it is ordered that the hall and charter of the encampment be suitably draped, and that each member wear a badge of mourning for thirty

Resolved, That Encampment No 8 extends its sympathy to the family of the distinguished dead in this nour of their sorrow, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to them as a testimonial of its remembrance of their affliction in passing into the gloomier shadow of separation from their best and most beloved earthly friend.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the records of the encampment and be published in the daily

This is the first death among the members of this Council Bluffs encampment. Each year the members have a banquet, and by the rules of the occa-sion chairs are to be set for the absent as well as the living members. The next banquet will have its first vacant chair. There may be others before that date is reached again. The sad feature of this annual gathering will be realized more fully as the years go by. There is a peculiar interest in the fact that the first to be thus mustered out is their gallant leader, and that the first vacant chair to be placed at the banquet table will be his.

fast coming. But a short time ago there were no streets and few roads, and those laid out by chance. Now one finds streets opening up, houses springing up in all directions, and a wonderful transformation taking place on the bottoms. This new building is 44x100. Reaping Early Oats.

The assault case of state vs. John Maher and William Walters was tried before Judge Aylesworth yesterday, and revealed a disgusting state of affairs. Three witnesses were examined on each side, Bert Williams, Henry Forman and Frank Shoemaker for the prosecution, and the two defendants and the woman Georgia, for the defense. The trouble all originated on account of young Williams' attentions to the woman, who was shown to be a prostitute, and is known as Walter's "solid woman." That worthy took offense at the actions of Williams, and in company with Maher waylaid him at the corner of Seventh street and Broadway while going home with her. Williams was most brutally and cruelly pounded, and his assailants skipped out for Denver to avoid arrest. They did not return un-til a few days ago when they were arrested. The testimony of the woman was mostly in favor of the defendants, but as the judge stated in summing up the evidence, "she evidently wanted to keep square with both sides, and would continue to rake in their loose change. The court stated that it was the most disgusting case he had ever tried, and revealed a most deplorable state of morals in all parties concerned. He thought that every witness examined lied more or less, and that every one of the five young men examined was in the habit of continually visiting houses of prostitution. He classed them prostitution. He classed them all in the same bunch, and expressed the belief that the defendants were worse than the prosecuting witnesses only in that they carried their depravity to the point of making a premeditated assaults. He decided that it was a case for the consideration of seven men, and bound the defendants over to the grand jury in the sum of $200 each for assault with intent to do great bodily injury. Williams was fined $14.60 for contempt of court in failing to appear Saturday as ordered. His father paid the amount and he was released on furnishing the necessary security. The case revealed an astonishing state of affairs, in the ignorance and indifference of parents as to where their boys are spending their time when away home every evening until long after midnight. Judge Aylesworth after midnight. Judge Aylesworth talked very plainly, and warmly "roasted" those who deserved blame in the matter. He also lectured the boys, not yet out of their teens, who desire to pose as "bleeds," and referred to the case just completed, in which one young man got his head considerably distin-

Manager Reed, of the motor line, has come to the conclusion that the only way in which to run that road is the right way, and is now making strenuous efforts to please the public and should receive credit for it. The time card has been slightly changed, so that perfect connections with the Union Pacific dummy trains are now made, greatly to the accommodation of visitors from across the river. Not a connection has been missed for the past three days. The cars have been kept scrupulously clean and a gang of men have been placed at work on the track to put it in first class repair. Considerable complaint was made about the impudence of the conductor, and the management has severely sat down upon that young man, who was so vividly impressed with his own importance that he began to think that he owned the whole motor line and a large slice of the Union Pacific. His little "set-back" has done a great deal of good, for he now manages to treat passengers very courteously. The public is ready to appreciate any efforts that are made to increase their comfort or pleasure, and Mr. Reed will find that his new moves are in the right direction There is a sad need of new cars on the line and they cannot be put on any too quickly to suit the public. The old ones are looked upon with fear and trembling, especially when overloaded, as they frequently are. It is still re-membered that one car tumbled down in a dead faint while standing at the Manawa depot, being loaded with a crowd. Had this occurred while the train was spinning along at its usual reckless rate a terrible loss of life must have resulted. While Mr. Reed is considering improvements he should not be long in deciding that if he cannot get new cars now, he should take some means of preventing the old ones being overloaded. The rate of speed should be slowed, especially in the thickly settled portion of the city. There are several such changes for the better with which Mr. Reed can busy himself. It is gratifying to know that he has made a start for improvement. Enthusiastic Republicans.

Manawa Rising. The recent heavy rains have made a ery material change in Lake Manawa, and there is now ten inches more water than a few days ago. The steamers now experience no difficulty in visiting any part of the lake. Nothing has yet been done in the way of fixing up the outlet to retain this increased depth of water, and it is a settled fact that the work will not be begun until the return of Mr. McConnell from Arkansas. This gentleman is one of the committee having the matter in charge. Some of the in-terested parties have visited the outlet and claim that it is impossible to work to any advantage at the present high stage of the water and that the work will have to be done either late in the fall or early in the spring. Mr. Reed is willing to give liberally for the purpose of improving the lake and have the work prosecuted immediately, but there I seems to be a disposition on the part of [ome of those interested at the lake to are working the present for all it is to grade.
