St. Paul, August 17.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—The story of Omaha's third defeat is told by a glance at the number of men left on bases.

In most of the other innings a hit would have meant a run, but it was not forthcoming.

Corbett scored in the first inning on a base on balls. Morrissy's single and a wild pitch.

In the second Omaha went to pieces. Reilly was given a life on Wilson's failure to stop his third strike.

Corbett hit to Clarke, who threw to Crooks, who was playing between first and second.

Conroy, who was covering second, but he dropped the ball.

Broughton went to third, coming home on Dargatz's single.

St. Paul scored a run in the fourth on two singles and two strikes.

In the eighth one was added on two singles and a wild pitch.

Omaha's run was made on Crooks' single, a passed ball and Conroy's two-base drive.

Wilson had been released by Manager Seice proves to be untrue, although it was made on the authority of one of the officers of the St. Paul club.

CONVENTIONS OVER THE STATE.

The Vote on the Submission Question Found Dead in His Field—Old Settlers at Nemaha City—State News.

A Vicious Servant's Revenge.

ABLINGTON, Neb., August 17.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—Before Justice Cook today Henry Mahlinka, a young German, had his hearing on charges of assault with intent to kill.

The evidence that Henry was during the summer a farm hand at the farm of Peter Lopez, seven miles south of here.

The family consists of Peter, the head of the family, who is helpless from the effects of paralysis, his wife, six children from two to twelve years old, and Dora Lopez, a niece, who it seems Henry desired to marry.

A few weeks ago Henry was discharged for some reason and another hand hired, and he has been quite angry at the family ever since.

On Wednesday last he came to town and got loaded with booze at a drunk procured with staggering steps to the Lopez domicile.

He climbed to an upper window by the use of a ladder and entered the room, which he occupied the room.

She attempted to shut the window and keep him out, but he forced his way in and followed the screaming woman to the bed.

He then got into bed and proceeded to break all the windows of the lower story. He threatened to procure another revolver and kill the whole family.

A few hours later he returned to the house and begged forgiveness, but without avail.

The prosecution was conducted by W. H. Conroy, who has been in the county for some time.

The justice bound him over to the district court and remanded him to jail until the bonds are furnished.

United Workmen at Stella.

STELLA, Neb., August 17.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—The A. O. U. W. picnic held here today was a magnificent success in every particular.

The members of the order turned out from Humboldt, Verdon, Falls City, Stuart and other points, over two hundred strong.

The procession was fully one half mile in length. Speeches were delivered by Rev. J. G. Tate of Shelton, Neb., and W. H. Warring of Lincoln, in the forenoon, and in the afternoon fully two thousand people listened to an eloquent address by Hon. Charles Van Wyck of Nebraska City.

The depot and escorted to the grounds, where he was met by Prof. Thomas glee club and the Verdon and Stella bands.

The general committee in this section of the country by the thousands and the announcement that he is to speak always draws a large crowd.

The Order of Workmen is a strong one here, and the picnic was transported to mar the happiness of the day.

Saline County Republicans.

WILBER, Neb., August 17.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—At the republican convention today the republican party was organized.

For senator, and William Bohacsek and James Dunn for representatives. George Hastings was nominated for county attorney by acclamation.

The convention was the largest and most harmonious ever held in the county. All the precincts were represented.

The thirteen delegates to the float convention were instructed by J. B. H. to support the republican party in the coming election.

A resolution was passed demanding an unconditional pledge from the candidates for office to support the republican party in the coming election.

The question of submission stood 227 for and 246 against. The county ticket is generally regarded as a strong one.

Fell Through the Bridge.

JULIAN, Neb., August 17.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—The threshing machine engine of Higgins & Brumstetter broke through a fifty-foot combination bridge spanning Rock creek, two miles south of this place, today.

Engineer William E. Riley, of Nebraska City, narrowly escaped being killed. He held to the throttle till he reached the ground, falling with the engine probably twenty-five feet.

Some parts of the engine fell upon his head, and he was injured considerably. The bridge was one of the heaviest on the stream, but the corner stringer was rotten and gave way, letting the engine and coal bin fall.

ALD. VAN CAMP WAS ABSENT.

His Conferees Mr. Lee Says He Was Silently Stolen Away.

COUNCIL QUIETLY ADJOURNED.

And a Select Coterie of North Omaha Orators Gather Around Jim Creighton and Hold a Jollification Meeting.

The Meeting Last Night.

When the city council was called to order last night the following members were present: Alexander, Bechel, Boyd, Bedford, Conman, Cheney, Kitchen, Kaspar, Kierstead, Lowry, Lee, Manville and Snyder—13. Mr. Ford joined them later.

Mr. Lee arose and announced that one of the councilmen (Van Camp) had been stolen away by the enemies of the city.

Section 1 authorizes the erection of a city hall to be located on lots 5 and 6 in block 110, which is on Farmington street between Seventh and Eleventh streets.

The plans and specifications are to be determined by the mayor and council, and the work is to be prosecuted as speedily as possible.

A proviso requires that the building to be erected shall take the place of the city hall named in ordinance 950.

The council also passed the issue of $300,000 worth of bonds for the construction of the city hall. They are to run twenty years at 5 per cent interest, and payable at the building house, Knouton Block, in New York.

It is provided that if these bonds are voted no more bonds shall be issued under ordinance 950.

A proviso requires that the proposition for issuing bonds shall be submitted to a vote at a special election on September 17, which election the mayor shall declare.

Then follow details as to the election and the kind of ballots.

Afterward they gathered in a little knot on the sidewalk to air their grievances and congratulate themselves. Their excited talk drew a crowd of twenty or thirty boys and other idlers.

Creighton's feelings boiled over, and he said: "I have a meeting." He called to his own suggestion and asked Thomas Hall to mount the steps of the alleged city hall and preside.

Councilman Van Camp, and the accommodating crowd acquiesced.

Thomas Swift moved a vote of censure on the council for their constituents two months ago—Jeff Bedford.

Creighton followed with an incoherent tirade, the substance of which was that Councilman Bedford had said at a meeting in North Omaha that he would favor a proposition that would give Jefferson Square a claim to secure the new city hall.

But Creighton asked for fair play for Bedford. There are 10,000 voters in Omaha, and it is not right or fair, he argued, for a few persons to censure a man without giving him a chance to be heard.

He was interrupted with shouts of "What do you know about it?" "Shut him off!" and "Question!" from Joe J. Redman, Creighton, Swift and a number of young hoodlums.

Redman wanted Haves to understand that "we represent the property in North Omaha and we don't want to hear from you."

The answer was passed, and Creighton got in a vote of thanks to councilmen and everybody else who were not traitors.

Creighton—it was pretty much all Creighton—wanted the crowd to put themselves on record as in favor of a $300,000 or $500,000 city hall, the location to be decided by a vote of the council.

The good natured crowd laughed at the old man with a whoop.

Before adjourning, said Mr. Creighton again, let us judge ourselves with one another to oppose the issue of bonds to the bitter end unless we have a chance to place the question before the voters.

Messrs. Redman, Ford and Swift "pledged" themselves, and the kids sent up a derisive howl in unison.

Creighton adjourned with a proposition to go and take a drink with Van Camp.

THE FLAMBEAU'S OUTING.

All Arrangements Made for the Picnic To-morrow.

The Flambeau club has perfected the arrangements for their excursion and picnic to Lake Manawa on Sunday.

The club has chartered the boat M. F. Rohrer to be at the disposal of its patrons during the day.

Two excursion trains will run from Omaha, one at 9:30 a. m., and the other at 2:30 p. m. The lake is deeper by two feet than at any other period of the season.

There will be good music, including a band and return. The lake is deeper by two feet than at any other period of the season.
