

OMAHA'S GROWTH.

It is Faster Than That of Nebraska. The Bradstreet agency having just closed its revision of Nebraska reports for the fall book, has compiled the following figures, which are furnished to its executive office in New York City.

Number of jobbing houses doing business in Omaha August 1, 1887, 277. Number of jobbing houses that commenced business during the year ending August 1, 1888, 475. Total number of jobbing houses doing business in Omaha August 1, 1888, 752. Number of jobbing houses that retired during same time, 111. Total number of wholesale houses now doing business in Omaha, 354. [This list of jobbing houses includes all concerns who are manufacturing, jobbing their own goods, and also such firms as are doing a retail and jobbing business combined.]

The above statement does not include South Omaha, that has seen its principal growth during the past year, and has 107 firms and individuals doing business, and the following lines are represented: Banks (one national, one state and one savings bank) 3. Packing houses, 3. Live stock commission, 35. Hides, etc., 2. Rendering, etc., 2. Brewers, 1. Retail stores, saloons, hotels, etc., 149. The growth of this place during the past year far outruns any other point in the state.

While it is pleasing to note the rapid increase in Omaha during the past year, it is also gratifying to know that the city is not growing faster than the state and territory demands. As will be seen by comparing the following statement with that of Omaha, the city has increased the past year about 6 per cent faster than the state, but that should be when one considers the large territory west of Nebraska that is tributary to this market: Total number of all firms and individuals doing business in Nebraska August 1, 1887, 15,623. Number added during past year, 5,117. Number that retired from business during same time, 2,888. Showing a net gain during the past year of an increase of 15 per cent. Total number of firms and individuals now doing business in Nebraska, 17,852.

MRS. J. BENSON. Great Moving Sale of the Season. We have too many goods to move and we must move the last of this week. So if you want goods at still greater reductions, come and see the bargains we will offer, as some lines of goods that we are not going to keep up must be closed out, and we will make prices that will sell them.

Special lots of hosiery, knit underwear, corsets, mitts, towels, shawls and other goods will have prices that will make them go. Mrs. J. BENSON. Strangers visit Hospe's art store.

REMEMBERED MR. COWIE. N. B. Falconer's Employees Present Their Comrade With a Watch. At half past 9 o'clock last night, when the store closed, the clerks in N. B. Falconer's store presented Mr. J. D. Cowie, managing and general buyer, who is leaving to go in business for himself at Grand Island, a handsome gold watch. Mr. Falconer made the presentation in the following speech: Ladies and Gentlemen: A pleasant duty devolved on me to-night, and that is to make presentation to one of our number, who has been associated with me for some time, and who is now about to commence an enterprise of his own. It is needless to say that I allude to Mr. John D. Cowie, a valuable member of the firm, and one who has been associated in Omaha, I am sure must be much enhanced in value in your eyes, Mr. Cowie, from the fact that it comes from your friends here with whom you have so long associated. It is given as an evidence of their good will, and accompanied with an earnest wish for your success in the new enterprise in Grand Island, in which you are about to embark.

As to your success I have not a shadow of doubt if you carry out the principles of the establishment in which you have been so long; that our customers are our friends and our duty to them is not now much profit we can get, but how cheaply we can sell them, and never to fold out or undesirable goods on them, but rather to make them feel that we are doing such goods only at what they are worth. If you follow out these principles, as I am sure you will, you are certain of success, and the best of all success is to be attained in the right way. And now, sir, in handing you this watch, I have only to add that it carries with it our esteem and respect and the best good wishes for your future happiness and prosperity.

Mr. Cowie's ready wit rarely fails him, and in this instance he responded to the emotion that he could do no more than utter his heartfelt thanks, at the conclusion of which tears glistened in the eyes of many of the associates. Mr. Cowie has been with Mr. Falconer nearly eight years, and during that time he has endeared himself to all with whom he has become associated. He is a devoted employer who is a firm believer in printers' ink judiciously used, and he will prove a good patron of the Grand Island papers. The couple of that city now returned to their home and family a valuable acquisition to both social and business circles. THE BEE wishes Mr. Cowie the most brilliant success.

500 Pictures. In beautiful frames will be sold at half price. We have on hand on our walls in a separate art room a large collection of engravings, oleographs, paintings and art objects, specially framed for customers who have failed to get them, and we will sell them for the price of the glass and frames thereon. Come early and get first choice. A. HOSPE, 1513 Douglas St.

that the Chicago, St. Paul & Minneapolis railway had returned to the state board only 11,000 miles of track in Douglas county for 1888, while it is apparent from the map of the county that by including the two lines of track of equal length, the length must be much greater. The finance committee were directed to investigate.

Ryan & Walsh, contractors on the county hospital, reported that they were greatly troubled in protecting the walls during storms. They had dug trenches, but dirt washed into them. They asked the board to order them to grade the ground so as to carry off the water. Referred.

Deputy Sheriff George B. Stricker and D. H. Bond have been given their salaries of $1,000 per year, instead of $900, for April 1, 1888. The petition was granted, the extra compensation to come out of the fees of the sheriff's office.

A resolution was passed that the county pay the city's bill of grading Thirty-sixth street from Leavenworth to Park, also Poppleton avenue from Thirty-sixth street to the Belt line railway.

The claim of David Reid for $175 damages for trees removed to make way for a road, was rejected.

A. F. Allen was appointed justice of the peace for Chicago precinct.

A protest was received from citizens of Florence against the appointment of Henry B. Freeland as justice of the peace. The reasons are: "Because said Freeland has proven himself widely unfit and incapable for such office or any other office by his actions during his term as marshal of the city of Florence, because of a thorough investigation by the prosecuting authorities he was proven guilty of serious charges and discharged from his said office, because we believe that his record and standing in said city, such as a magistrate should have and be able to preserve the dignity and efficiency of his office; that his citizenship in our city does not entitle him to such an appointment, as he is not a taxpayer."

The protest is headed by Lewis Plant, W. C. Thomas, James Larsen, S. A. Goodell and Samuel D. Peters. It was referred to the judicial committee.

Solid Vestibuled Trains now run over the Michigan Central, "the Niagara Falls Route," and the New York Central and Boston & Albany railroads from Chicago to New York and Boston. These trains are not only equipped with the finest Wagner palace sleeping cars, but they are made thoroughly complete by having vestibuled dining, smoking, first-class and baggage cars, and although constituting the famous "limited" of the Michigan Central, carry all classes of passengers without extra charge. An attached to this train is a Canadian sleeper, Chicago to Toronto (via Canadian Pacific), where connection is made with parlor car for Montreal. Accommodations secured at the Michigan Central ticket offices, No. 47 Clark street, corner Randolph, and depot, foot of Lake street, Chicago.

Strangers visit Hospe's art store. C. M. B. A. The Organization's First Social Under Auspicious Circumstances. On last Thursday night branch No. 1, Catholic Mutual Benevolent association, made its initial appearance in public. Under its auspices was held one of the most enjoyable and profitable socials known in the city. The party consisted of about ninety ladies and gentlemen. They belonged to the leading ranks in catholic professional, mercantile and social life. The scene was the beautiful and secluded lawn surrounding the residence of Bishop O'Connor. The grounds, embowered as they were in green, lighted by a hundred brilliant lamps and a still more brilliant moon, presented an appearance of romantic interest and beauty. At the head of the table presided Major B. F. Furry. The occasion, the surroundings, the guests, the viands and flower-laden table inspired an experience second to interest. The introductory was a gem and conducted to the conviviality which characterized the evening.

Dr. Kusler, who presided at the association in Omaha, spoke of his objects, its achievements in the past and the duty it proposed to itself in the future, of improving the moral, social and physical condition of the people, and assisting the families in case of the death of brothers of the association. W. A. L. Gibson soared into the realm of poetry and eloquence in his address. He addressed the sentiment, "Our Own Nebraska, a declaration of independence," which was adopted. An outline of the objects of the Catholic Mutual Benevolent association will appear in THE BEE to-morrow.
