The Arrangements About Complete For the Fetes On Fair Day.

WHAT THE TRAVELLERS WILL DO.

Parade, Races and a Reception, the Programme-The Uniform-To Congress From the Ball Field-Omaha Boys.

The Fair Day Arrangements.

"This is the largest drummers' meeting to arrange for an entertaiument of any kind I ever saw in Omaha or any other town," said C. O. Lobeck at the meeting at the Arcade Saturday night to arrange for "Drummers Day" during fair week. The men to whom he addressed these remarks were mostly men who have not been present at any of the other meetings.

The attendance simply shows the great Interest that is being taken in the coming event and the representatives who were present from every section of the state and the letters which were read from Hastings, Grand Island and the western towns go to show that all previous drummers' celebrations in this state will sink into insignificance when compared with what the 6th of September will be.

The meeting was called to order at 8 o'clock by President Lanius, and the minutes of the last meeting were read by Secretary East-man. Reports of committees were then called for and the following gontlemen were heard from : Robert Easson, reception, reported that the arrangements were almost all completed for the use and accoration of the board of trade

the use and decoration of the board of trade tooms for that day and evening. W. F. Manning and Mr. Wilcox reported on parade that a response had been received from Chief of Police Seavey in regard to furnishing a sound of men to march at the head of the procession, in which he said that a platoon of men would be at the service of a platoon of men would be at the service of the traveling men for the parade. The subject of the hour of starting the parade was again discussed and owing to the fact that the trains would not arrive in time for the boys to be in line at 9:30, the hour was changed until 10:30. The boys will march four abreast with the tall, and according to the suggestion of Mr. Easson, "handsome" men in the front. in the front.

A traveling man for a Bluffs house was present to day and asked that the Bluffs boys be allowed to join in the parade. He was informed that every traveling man who could be in Omaha that day was invited to uniform and enter the narade. C. O. Lobeck, on behalf of the committee on inance, reported that the money for the day was coming in in clegant shape and that all the houses in the city were advancing the assessment for their men on the condition that if any objections were raised by the men the money would be refunded. About $300 has money would be refunded. About $260 has already been paid into the treasury. The committee on fair grounds arrange-ments reported that the space of ground 40x100 feet just east of the amphitheater would be enclosed that day for drummers' headquarters, and that the fair people had done everthing in their power to help the event along. They have issued compli-mentary tickets to all the boys and their ladies. ladies.

Jay Helfrey, in behalf of the traveling men of the Elkhorn valley, presented a protest from the men in that part of the state against the uniform adopted for the day which brought about a very lengthy discussion Mr. Helfrey talked long and loud and ofte in favor of his constituents, who number about one hundred men, but the majority were against him and a vote was taken and carried to stand by the uniform adopted. A motion was then passed to extend a cordial invitation to the boys in the Elkhorn valley or any other part of the state to roll in with the ranks and wear the uniform adopted by the majority at the second meeting held to arrange for the day. The motion carried unanimously. Mr. Eastman then informed the boys to give it out at large that the silk hats must be ordered not later than the 25th. O. H. Gordon, of the committee on music reported that the Omaha guards band of twenty pieces had been engaged to play dur-ing the day and to furnish an orchestra of Her son, aged seven, was sent to relatives in the country, and a bill of sale was made out for the pretended considera-tion of $700 to another woman. Mrs. Lamor started west. An Omaha traveling man had previously checked her baggage to Omaha, to which place she journeyed yesterday. A brother of the husband arrived upon the scene and obtained possession of the goods. They Want Mail Boxes. The members of the Kentucky T. P. A., at a recent meeting, discussed the question which was before the postmaster general in regard to the placing of mail boxes at stations all along the railroads. They finally concluded to send the following resolution and letter to his honor: Resolved, That, as a body, we, the Ken-tucky division of the Travelers' Protective association, wholly endorse the efforts of our representative in congress in urging upon the department at Washington the convenience and necessity of placing mail boxes at the railway stations. To the United States Postmaster General:

Viewing the matter now under considera-tion by the postofice department at Wash-ington of placing mail boxes at all railway stations where towns or postofilees are dis-tant from the station, as thoroughly practicatant from the station, as thoroughly practica-ble and of very great convenience to the traveling public, and that it will prove a great saving of time and expedite the busi-ness of the country, and to be obtained at so small an outlay to the government, we would respectfully ask and urge its prompt adop They also asked all the other T. P. A. state associations to take similar action in regard to the matter.

To Congress From the Ball Field. A Texas merchant, in conversation with a traveling man, is responsible for the very satisfactory explanation of how Colonel Ecks, of Texas, became a member of congress. He said:

"We'd been having some pretty lively games of base ball between two cowboy nines, and we had run clean out of umpires. Colonel Ecks was asked to umpire a game that was about to come off and accepted right there. He got up behind the catcher and the first ball was delivered. The man at the bat smashed it and sent it straight for the first baseman's hands. He dropped it, but picked it up just in time to put it against his man, who was trying to slide in. Excitement was high and every man had his eye

"Well, what did the colonel do?"

"He simply said 'out,' and quick as a flash whipped out a six shooter about eighteen inches long. He whirled in a circle and swept the crowds with the muzzle as he in-quired: 'Gentlemen, is anybody kicking i' We all saw then that the colonel was the right kind of a man to tie to, and he can go to congress from this district just as often as he feels like it."

City Headquarters.

The subject of city headquarters or club rooms for the Nebraska drummers in some of the large buildings of this city has been talked of among the men throughout the state as they meet on the road, but up to this time no action has been taken in the matter. The question will be formally taken up and discussed at a meeting to be held on the evening of the reception on the 6th of next month

There is no doubt but what the club will be There is no doubt but what the club will be organized and rooms fitted out. As can be seen by the following figures, from $3 to $5 from each drummer in the state would fit up as fine headquarters as any city in the country. The following are the costs of some of the headquarters: Denver, Colo., has quarters which cost $5,000 to fit up; the country of the Longuarter eact $5 000. nuarters of the Louisville post cost $3,000; the quarters at Atlanta, $2,000; Philadelphia, $5,000; New York, $5,000.

Do the Boys Drink?

At the meeting of the T. P. A., he ld at Minneapolis, Mr. S. A. Haines, of the Commercial National league, delivered a lengthy address on the subject of temperance among the men. During the course of his remarks he said that of the 250,000 commercial travelers it could not be proven that 40 per cent of them ever drank liquor. Some people thought drummers a hard lot, but there was no class of men in the country that stood higher than commercial travelers.

Colonel Hogeland Makes a Donation to the State-How a Young Man Went Wrong-Brevities and Personals.

LINCOLN BUREAU OF THE OMAHA BER, 1029 P STREET, LINCOLN, August 19.

Strong evidence has been adduced that coal has been found in paying quantities on Joseph L. Rvon's farm, fifteen miles east of this city. Some years ago, while putting down a well on his farm, the auger passed through a thin layer of coal, and yesterday, while putting down another well and going leeper, the auger passed through the same vein, and, at a depth of 115 feet, struck a vein that is believed to be three feet thick. Mr. Ryon's statement is supported by the word of the gentlemen who are putting down the well and they seem to be very confident that a coal find has been made that will prove a bonanza for Lincoln and this part of Nebraska. Samples were brought to the city and appear to be a superior quality of soft coal, equal, at least, to the Iowa and Kansas soft coal. It is said that the board of trade of this city will investigate the report.

DONATES IT TO THE PUBLIC. The following correspondence

tween Alexander Hogeland and Dr. Garten, of this city, is not without in-terest, especially in view of the frequency of hydrophobia throughout the country. Colonel Hogeland is the news-boy's friend and president of the Boys and Girls' National Home and Employment association, and Dr. Garten is one of the best known physicians of Lin-coln. The stone is a contribution to the city and state:

city and state: LINCOLN, Neb., August 17, 1885.—Dr. M. H. Garten, M. D., Lincoln, Neb.—My Dear Sir: The attention of the public has been called of late, quite frequently, to the increas-ing number of persons bitten by mad dogs, and the distressing deaths of the victims. Hydrophobia seems to be one of the excep-tions in the long line of diseases to which mortals are heir for which there is no well defined cure. I desire to say that I have m my possession a mad stone, regarded by defined cure. I desire to may that I have in my possession a mad stone, regarded by many persons, and among them some of the leading medical professors, as possessing healing powers that render it proof against any fatal consequence in case of bites from rabid animals when applied to persons threatened with hydrophobia within ten days from the time the wounds are inflicted. While in the city of Checago a few weeks days from the time the wounds are inflicted. While in the city of Chicago a few weeks ago, and at a time when some deaths occurred from hydrophobia, I felt impressed that I ought to give to the public the benefits of any information that I might have in my pos-session on this subject, and in a letter ad-dressed to Mayor Roche, I proposed to place one of the madstones I have at the disposal of the board of health that it might be given a careful test. His honor acknowledged the receipt of my letter and replied that it would be referred to the health commissioners. I now propose, with the same object in view, to leave with you one of the stones, believ-ing, as I do, that the healing powers I claim ing, as I do, that the healing powers I claim for it are no longer shrouded in mystery. Trusting that you will be ready to give this somewhat mysterious cure for a fearful dis-case, now looked upon by some as incurable, a trial, I am sincerely yours, ALEXANDER HOGELAND.

To the Medical Profession-Colonel Hoge-land has left in my care the stone spoken of. Any physician having a case in hand can have the use of it by furnishing satisfactory evidence of responsibility upon promise that he or she will return it promptly to me un-injured after the treatment or experiment has been tried. Robert Easson reported on the trades display, and said that he never saw the Omaha merchants so enthusiastic over anything in his life, and that he was safe in saying that this would be the finest trades display ever seen in this city.

Been in this city. Mr. Lobeck reported on the races at the fair ground by saying that the committee would be ready to publish the prizes and ad-vertise for entries one week from to-day. The committee on banner reported that they had ordered a large silk banner for the day, on which would be painted a frontier town of two houses and a general store. A mixed train has just arrived at the station, which consists of a broken box car, from which projects a telegraph pole. A drummer has just alighted from the train and is run-ning with both grips in hand for the store. The motio on the banner is to be, "Always to the Front."

On motion a committee consisting of Messrs. Lanus, Eastman and Lobeck was appointed to arrange for the entertainment of Mr. M. J. Pickering, president of the Na-tional T. P. A. and ride with him in the pro-were appointed a committee to ask the offi-cers of Fort Omaha to furnish some troops for the parade.

After voting the thanks of the meeting to the proprietors of the hotel for the use of their room and a box of cigars furnished, the meeting adjourned until Saturday evening, September 1.

Wear the Uniform.

The protest from a large number of the Elkhorn Valley drummers presented at Saturday night's meeting again st the uniform adopted for drummers' day was discouraging, to say the least, to the men who have worked so hard in arranging for fair day.

When the subject of a uniform came up at the second meeting the cane, duster and grip uniform was suggested. It was voted down on the ground that it was old and had been worn in all kinds of parades and by all classes of men. The uniform adopted was adopted because it was not only comfortable but was something entirely new. After it was adopted and until Saturday night it was genorally regarded as the greatest hit in the arrangement. Had the Elkhorn Valley boys been at the meeting and seen the way the uniform was selected and heard the comments on the duster uniform they would be glad of the choice of that meeting of woolen shirts, silk hats and Jap-mese parasols. The uniform is cheap, odd, handsome, and, with the exception of the parasol, will be of service after the 6th day sptember.

At the meeting which adopted this uniform Mr. C. O. Lobeck spoke, worked and voted against it. He was beaten, but has since come to believe that it will be the hit of the He said, at Saturday night's meeting, he would wear it and all the drummers in Nebraska could not get him to wear any other duiform, and that he would be in that procession and all the boys could not keep him out. J. Wood Smith in his remarks to the boys at the meeting said he would wear what the majority wanted to wear, bo difference what it was Lot no difference what it was. Let the Elkhorn valley boys adopt the plan of these men and fall into line with the silk hat, flannel shirt and parasol. They will be glad when they see the procession that day to know that they are traveling men and will be sorry for all time if they are not in the ranks and into the spirit of the day with the rest of the boys.
