CREATEST SHOW ON EARTH.

Formal Opening of the Nebraska State Fair.

VISITORS CROWD THE GROUNDS.

The Exhibition Promises to Be the Most Successful of the Kind Ever Held-The Speed Events.

LINCOLN BUREAU OF THE OMARA BEE, 1029 P. STREET, LINCOLN, Sept. 10.

Whew! Wind and dust! The gathering multitude sputter as they eaten it fore and aft. But still they come and notwithstanding the unfriendly weather the great annual exposition promises to be all that has been claimed for it. As por announcement, the doors were formally thrown open at 8 o'clock this morning, and the management was practically ready for the event. Most of the exhibits were in their places. This work was pronounced finished at high noon. First day visitors do not have to stand around waiting to see what is to be seen. In this respect a victory is scored over last year.

The ceaseless roll of backs, carryalls, bug-gies and carriages commenced this morning at the earliest possible hour. The transit to and from the ground is rapid. It would be hard to improve the transportation facilities. The street car lines have provided an excel-lent service. Every twelve minutes street cars unload their burden of human freight within 400 feet of the grounds, and in addition to this the Burlington runs a special train every fifteen minutes.

The band of the state industrial achoel arrived on the grounds at noon. It discoursed good music during its entire line of march, and will be quartered on the grounds during the entire week. New and interesting attractions meets the visitor from the moment he enters the grounds, to right and left, and the decomes lost in admiration as he makes the circle to see and admire the collected attractions. On entering the grounds a city of tents is beheld. Seemingly nothing has been forgotten. The wants of the temporar man can be supplied anywhere. One is re-minded of the land of milk and honey. In making the circle of the stalls in which are quartered the finest collection of horses ever seen in the state, the next one is always the best and settled judgment finally winds up in confusion. This, however, can be said of almost every class on exhibition. The best of everything has been gathered from the four parts of the state. And, too, the cluster of sister states have added much to the features of general interest. The best exhibition the state has ever given," is heard on hand.

Two classes were entered for the races this afternoon, and they were called at 1:50

From the art to the agricultural hall, one is impressed with the yast amount of work the management has had in hand to insure the phenomenal success promised. The agricultural products of the state on exhibition have been arranged with artistic skill. But it goes without telling that the hall is the storehouse of over forty that the hall is the storehouse of ever forty counties of the state, and the wonder is how it was done. Everything provokes admira-tion. From the tiny seeds to the mammoth pumpkin every product of the farm and gar-den is to be seen. Floral hall is a tribute to the genius and skill of the ladies who have it in charge. It is a complete work of beauty and art.

But a description of all the things to be seen would be an endless task. It would be hard to tell where to commence and end. But the exhibit of the state fisheries can not be passed. Superintendent O'Brica is on be passed. Superintendent O'Brica is on the ground with a display of speckled and mountain trout, one, two and three years old; German carp of the same age; black bass and wall-eyed pike one and two years old, and added to these can be seen pickerel, hickory and gizard shad, channel and speckel cat fish, buffalos, quillbacks, long and short nosed gar, bull heads, sun fish, red horse, black suckers and chubs; also, snapping, mud and soft shelled turtles. The superintendent's jars of speci-mens are also fine. He has sixty jars of al-coholic specimens, representing 300 varieties coholic specimens, representing 300 varieties of the deep sea fishes. Twenty hardsome fish pictures adorn the wall of the hall, done in water colors by Kilbourne, the artist, and they represent the game fishes of America. Thirty frames contain 250 fish plates. Two jars of alcoholic specimens contain specimens of the speckled trout. When planted they were one and one-half inches in length and when prepared for exhibition they were sixteen inches in length. But the live fish form the great attraction of this class. The exhibitors in every department vie with each other in making it cheerful and with each other in making it cheerful and pleasant for the comers and goers. But will they all be thus cheerful when the awards have all been made! The piacing of the premiums will be a hard task this year. Points of excelience will have to be determined. And after all, in a measure it will be a hit and miss deal. It will be absolutely impossible to successfully eigenimate. The live stock to successfully eigeriminate. The live stock on exhibition bars the possibility of experts making immaculate decisions. Awards will be made at the expense of superiority in many instances.

But the great state show is now on. After to day it will be possible to give the reading public a fair idea of what Nebraska has done in the way of her animal exhibition. The crowd increases. To morrow the grounds will be alive with people. The attendance of to-day gives ample assurance that the interest will grow until the closing scenes are announced. The attractions are on the grounds, and the multitude alone is necessary to make the fair of 1888 the grandest ever held in the state.

The following is a full text of Attorney General Leese's protest against the late action of the state board of transportation. It is a plain statement of an honest man's con victions, and is worth careful reading. General Leese does not mince matters, and he expresses himself so clearly that the public vill appreciate the situation as it is: The board has made an order after due deliberation, and served it upon the roads in this state, requiring them to so arrange their schedule of rates, that the rates in this state schedule of rates, that the rates in this state may be fixed in the same proportion as in the states of Minnosota, Illinois, Iowa, and Dakota, although our rates would be much higher than in those states.

This case has been adjourned a number of times: all the railroad companies have been before the board, and on two different occasions set for hearing have made long arguments each time, but have introduced no evidence, and now after the roads have refused to introduce any testimony to show cause dence, and now after the roads have refused to introduce any testimony to show cause why they do not obey the order of the state board, and have interposed every technicality known to the law; a majority of the state board presents a pocket resolution to again adjourn the case until November 12, 1838.

There is no request by the railroad companies for an adjournment. The majority of the board voting on the adjournment are not dissatisfied with the order made by the board, although two of them voted against it when it was introduced July 5, but the motion to adjourn is for the alleged purpose of finding out the cost of roads, and this is the only reason assigned on the part of the majority of our board. What have these members been doing for the past two years! Why have they not read the report of the railroad commensurements where the cost of all the roads is given under oath and have been printed and signed by these same memors!

have been printed and signed by these same members!

Why is it that our three secretaries have not gained this information during the last two years! What consideration has the state received for the $23,000 appropriated to the board if at this late day neither of the secretaries nor the majority of the board knows what it costs to build a railroad! The cost of the various roads has been given to the board and has been sworn to by the officers of the roads, and they will swear to the same facts and figures again. The resolution does not ask for any information relating to the operating expenses, which is very necessary if the design is to fix rates, and if every question contained in the resolution should be properly answered, the board would be in no better condition to make rates than they are to-day. And if for any reason the state-ments are not the identical language used in the report as in the resolution, it would only have been necessary to ask a few additional questions and they would have been cheerfully answered by every read in the state, but for the board itself to adjourn this case at this time until the 13th of November is beyond my compre-

If the majority of the board thought they If the majority of the beard thought they had made a mistake in making the original order, and desired to recede from the position they had taken, it would have been their duty to have stated that fact and dismissed the case and commenced anew; but to adjourn the case for the reasons assigned leads me to believe that it is a subterfuge and for some other clearly in that stated. some other object in view than that stated.

The fact is apparent that the pending case is one that is absorbing the minds of the people of the state, and they have the right to know whether the state has the authority to fix rates on these railroads, and especially as the Union Pacific railway claims exemption from the jurisdiction of our state laws because it has been incorporated by an act of congress.

To adjourn this case until November 12, without knowing how the state board will hold on this question, is in itself a gross violation of public duty, and I can only say that while I must submit to the vote of the majority, I do so protesting with my own voice and vote, in the name of justice to the people of this state.

I want it distinctly understood that I am not a policy member of the board, and in some other object in view than that stated.

I want it distinctly understood that I am not a policy member of the board, and in every case and on every question I have acted on my own judgment and as my conscionce dictated to be right.
I do not want to injure the railroads in this state, realizing the fact that we all need the roads as much as the roads need the people.

Our interests are mutual. But when I see gross violations of our constitution and laws gross violations of our constitution and laws by the railroad corporations, and an utter disregard of the rights of the people shown I raise my voice against the same. I am will-ing now, always have been and always will be, to allow every road such rates as will yield a fair per cent on the value of the prop-erty, under the same rules of economy as to operating exponses, as should be used in the private affairs of the individual stockholders. Every fair-minded man should be willing to concede this, and I do not believe that there is a man in this state that would object to such rates; I do now and always will object to such rates; I do now and always will object to such rates; I do now and always will object to such rates; I do now and always will object to such rates; I do now and always will object to such rates. to such rates as will yield a dividend on fle-tatious capital, or what is known as watered stock fand make this explanation to assure you that I only ask right and justice, and submission to our constitution and laws, by the railroad corporation of this state, and until this object is attained, you will find me in the ranks with my face to those who oppose it.

I consider it a misfortune at this time for the board to delay so vital a question. I can realize how two members of the board can so vote and act, as they have interposed their objections, and shown a disposition to delay and vote down the proceedings from the first; but to find a third member changing front, for the reason assigned is a mystery to me, and I must rest satisfied that whatever reason be has is locked in his own breast, and as one member of the board, I submit to the inevitable, but firmly believe that the wavering disposition shown by the majority on such an important question, will work a great injury to the people of this

It will therefore be seen that our object in writing these pages is not to furnish reading matter to a class of persons who read out of mere idle curiosity, but for the benefit of the many who are suffering to a greater or less degree from diseases, or their secund.
