The District Court.

The replevin case of J. M. Kilmer vs Perry Reel, sheriff, occupied the attention of the district court yesterday. Messrs. Sapp & Pusey appeared for the plaintiff and Messes, Benjamin & Askwith for the defendant. The grand jury reported early in the afternoon. The parties against whom indictments were returned are not yet arrested, so their names will not be made public. The jury considered the cases of four other parties but failed to find true bills against them and the charges were dismissed. The parties are John Roberts, who has been lying in jail since May 20 on the charge of stealing $3 from the pockets of John Jack while the latter was drunk; John Ford, who was brought back from Kansas City a few days ago for the larceny of a trunk from Rosie Fisher; Nick O'Brien, who blacked the eye of the Council Bluffs representative of the Omaha Republican several weeks since, and Charles Hanley, who was charged with larceny. Roberts and Ford were both immediately released from jail. O'Brien has been out on bail and Hanley was never William Hoffman, against whom an indictment was returned last week, was brought into court at his own request, and pleaded guilty to grand larceny. He was indicted on two charges-one stealing a horse from Conrad Lanzen-dorfer, and the other for stealing a saddle, bridle, etc., from Theodore man. He pleaded guilty to the former charge, and the latter was withdrawn.

He will be sentenced next Saturday. F. H. Hillerman desired to plead guilty to petit larceny but as the grand jury had not reported on his case, he was not allowed to do so. He is the fellow who got away with several articles belonging to his employer, John N. Baldwin, esq. The grand jury have several other cases yet to consider, and will be busy for the remainder of the week. They expect to get through by Saturday, and it is imperative that they shall, as County Attorney Dailey's presence is required at Avoca on the 18th inst, in attendance on the September term of court at that place.

Base Ball in the Bluffs.

After countless defeats at the hands of the various clubs of the City league, the Council Bluffs "professionday of sale. Other particulars on als" made up their minds that they could not play ball a little bit, an turned their attention to the nines of the smaller towns of this section, in the hope of winning an occasional game. The result shows that they still overestimated their abilities as ball players, for they continue to meet with defeat

> It was really pitiable to see how the common, every-day fellows from the little country towns literally wiped up the earth with the smart, scientific > players of the Bluffs club. The small number of spectators usu-ually in attendance divided their time between "roasting" the players and guying the manager, who could do nothing but dance up and down in front of the grand stand, and attempt to imitate the kicking of his own inimitable

Exhibitions of this kind grew to be every day occurrences, and the long suffering public finally decided their orbearance had ceased to be a virtue. The games had been patronized much better than their character warranted still the management made no attempt to improve anything but the receipts. Whenever the newspapers "scored" the players the manager fairly howled and told of his great outlay in purchasing grounds in Athletic park, and fencing the same.

Now there is no reason why the Bluffs citizens should not have an opportunity to witness a good game of ball occasion ally without going away from home. The only trouble this season has been the closefisted policy of the management. The story of the great outlay on the grounds and the consequent inability to expend more money was all a "bluff." The facts of the case are that the only expense was for the fence and grand stand, and these were more than two-thirds paid for by the parties who secured advertising space on them. Closefistedness is the only thing that is responsible for the death of base ball in this city. The players themselves are disgusted, and it is highly improbable that there will be any more games played by the club this season. It is hoped that some fit individual will be secured to manage a team next season, and there is no question as to its success. A movement is already on foot to organize a fine team, and to provide for its maintenance through the season. Home grown celery at Fearon's.

Sudden Death of J. M. Phillips. Shortly after 9 o'clock yesterday morning this entire community was shocked to hear that J. M. Phillips, a prominent resident of this city for nearly a third of a century. had fallen dead on the street. The deceased was enjoying almost perfect health up to the time of his death, notwithstanding his advanced age. He was still in ac-tive business life, and had called at the office of the mayor at the city building on business of a personal nature, just be-fore his sudden demise.

The mayor was not there, and after some time, during which he became considerably excited, Mr. Phillips left to go to the mayor's residence on Vine street. As he neared the corner of the street, opposite the police station, he staggered and fell. His fall was wit-nessed by several of the officers at the station, and he was quickly removed nett's court was received and placed on

Drs. Lacey and Macrae were sumbut the unfortunate breathed but twice after being taken inside the building, and the physicians pronounced him dead. Apoplexy is the supposed cause.

The remains were taken to the undertaking rooms of Field & Estep, where they were prepared for burial, and then removed to his home. The news of his death was broken to his sons, Nathan C. and Granville, as easily as possible, but they were entirely overcome, the latter going into spasms, from which he suf-fered the greater part of the day. The doctor transferred his attention to him, and worked over him several hours. At one time his condition was considered quite serious. The third son, John, was at home at the time, and required the closest attention to counteract the effect of the news of his father's sudden death. The deceased was one of the oldest and most highly esteemed residents of the city. He came here and engaged in the boot and shoe business in 1856, which he has continued ever since, and at which he amassed quite a considerable fortune. Although not a soldier, he was greatly interested in the welfare of the boys in blue," and was one of the most patriotic citizens in the Bluffs, giving liberally of his means for the union cause. He was for the union cause. He was instrumental in organizing Abe Liucoln post, G. A. R., and was the only honorary member of the body. He was exceedingly popular among the old soldiers, and their grief at his removal from their midst is most sincere. The post will attend the funeral in a

Mr. Phillips occupied several re-sponsible positions in public life, being a member of the city council from 1863 to 1870, also a member of the board of supervisors.

His wife, a most worthy woman, died several years ago. He leaves six children, three sons and three daughters. The sons and two daughters make their homes in this city, and the third, Mrs. Voswinkle, lives in Fairbury, Neb. One daughter, Miss Maria Phillips, is now east on a visit. The eldest, Miss Mary Phillips, is the only one at home.

The arrangements for the funeral are not yet completed, and will be announced later. "Uncle John Phillips," as he was familiarly known, was a man of strong parts. He was more than an ordinary man intellectually, and in business matters was clear-headed, far-seeing, and most honorable. He was firm in his opinions, and frank in their expres-Clinging tenaciously to his ideas of right, he was courageous in every contest. His heart was as big as his brain. None will miss him more than the children of this city. For them he always had a smile and a kindly word. In all charitable movements he has ever been a willing, generous helper. The whole community shares in the sorrow caused by his sudden death. His wise counsels have been of inestimable value in public affairs. His patriotism has made every veteran a brother. His fatherly kindness and child-like simplicity has won the young. His sterling integrity has given him the honor and respect of all business circles. His philanthropy has demonstrated his practical religion. His praise is on the lips of all, mingled with words of tenderest sympathy for those about the darkened hearthstone.

A Kitchen Sociable.

Last evening there was a goodly sized gathering at the Congregational parsonage. There has lately been built an addition to the pastor's residence, in the form of a kitchen, with numerous culinary conveniences. The history of this enterprise is unique. It will be remembered that some time ago the "old destrik skule" entertainment was given with wonderful success. Over $300 was realized for the church. A little later, in response to the demands for a repetition, it was given again for the Women's Christian Association hospital, and

$300 more was cleared. Numerons inquiries coming in from other places, three gentlemen, J. E. Harkness, P. M. Pryor and H. W. Tilton, prepared a pamphlet, giving instructions as to how to arrange such an entertainment. These pamphlets were sold from Portland, Me., to Portland, Ore. As a result it is estimated that the entertainments thus started have been the means of raising

$25,000 for religious and charitable pur-The net proceeds of the sale of these pamphlets have been given to the Congregational church in the form of an addition to the parsonage. This being completed, ready for occupancy, a so-ciable was held last evening and an appropriate programme carried out. The kitchen was given a warming. It was shown up with all its supposed activities. A number of the young ladies acted as automotons, and went through the various motions of household work. There was a pleasing musical and literary programme, many of the selections being peculiarly appro-priate to the occasion. The key of the kitchen was formally presented to Mrs. Crofts as mistress of the house by Mr. J. E. Harkness, whose address was a rhythmical mingling of humor and tender sentiment. Refreshments were served and general social enjoyment had. The occasion had many novel features and was entirely out of the usual order of church socials.
