A Collision on the Elkhorn.

As freight train No. 24, on the Fremont Elkhorn & Missouri Valley railroad, was going out yesterday an open switch near the round house caused a slight collision. Pas-senger train No. 31, going to Hastings on the Fremont, Elithorn & Missouri Valley rail-road was made up and ready to be backed down to the depot to go out at 7:15 o'clock The freight engine struck the rear passenger car, tearing off a corner and doing considerable damage. The freight engine was also injured badly. No one was hurt. The passenger train was delayed two or three hours.

He Refused to Refund.

J. S. Patterson is the inventor of what he calls an oil burner. He gave the county right to sell his burner to Julius S. Dunn, and gave him a half dozen of the arrangements to sell. The bargain was that Dunn should put up $90 as security for their return in case he did not sell them, and if he returned them he was to have his $90 refunded. He found them unsaleable and handed them back to Patterson, who, however, failed to return the money. The case will come before Justice Wade on the 30th instant.

Walked Into the Enemy's Arms.

W. N. King, who was formerly connected with an Omaha newspaper, as advertising man, was arrested yesterday afternoon for passing a worthless check on the B. & M. uptown ticket agent some time ago. He says that the day he gave the agent the check he was called away to Ohio by telegraph owing to a death in his family, and did not return as seen as he expected. He landed in town yesterday and the first call he made was upon the ticket agent to ex-plain matters. He promised to pay to-day, but was detained until an officer could be summoned and he was arrested.

Order of Deaconesses.

Rev. E. A. Fogelstrom, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church of this city, left Wednesday afternoon for Minneapolis, where he lectures Saturday evening before the general council of the Lutheran church, the highest church court of that body in the United States. The theme will be "The Deaconess' Work," and his address will set forth the merits of the plan of organizing a Protestant order of women, to be called dea-conesses, who are to engage in charitable work, and are to resemble in many respects the Catholic sisters of charity. This order of deaconesses is to be introduced in the new Emanuel hospital, the erection of which has been just begun in Monmouth park, this city.

THOSE STREAKS OF RUST.

Mercer Will Not Fight for Them in South Omaha. Dr. Mercer, when asked by a BEE reporter what action would be taken by the Motor Railway company in regard to the application of the South Omaha board of trade committee to the city council to have its franchise at that piace annulled, said: "We are not going to fight this affair a particle, and if the people of South Omaha want us to take our track off of Twenty-fourth street we will do so at once, and I don't think we will be hurt by so doing."

"Did your company expect to have the line completed within the specified time!" quer ied the reporter.

"We did and would have had it completed if we had been allowed to go on with the work. In the first place the people of South Omaha refused to give us an election charter to build the road. The people voted that we could build the road, but the council refused to give us the papers authorizing us to do the work until the road was completed. Now, do you think we would go on and spend thousands of dollars then until we had a clear right-of-way! I went to them twice myself and sent my attorney once, but we could never get the papers from them.

"Another reason we have for not being able to complete the work is that we have been under injunctions, I might say, all the en under injunctions, I might say, all the time for the past year.

"The only way by which we can reach South Omaha is by using the cable's lines on Twentieth street and Poppleton avenue after they are down or going out Leavenworth street. Now, the cable line won't be built this fall and Leavenworth street will not be graded. So you see we cannot reach there, and the failure is not with us,

"You can put it down that we will go to the limits of South Omaha by way of Leavenworth street within a year, and then if the worth street within a year, and then if the people there don't want us to go on, why we will stop right there. We will very gladly take up our tracks at once if they want us to, and will not fight the case at all."

It was learned from another source that the energy which the board of trade committee from South Omaha have displayed in having the motor company's charter annulled is due to the fact that the local company who were refused the charter to build a street railway in South Omaha at the same time the motor company was given its charting the motor company was given its time the motor company was given its char-ter are taking this course to be allowed the charter which the motor company had.

BAPTIZED WITH SLOP. A Lovers' Quarrel and the Sequel

Thereto. John Hospe, who resides on South Thirteenth street near Williams, was before the police court charged with disturbing the beace. John is ignorant and thick skulled, and he has a sweetheart named Zelia Holstoche. Wednesday night they quarreled. John got up to leave, swearing he was going away forever. At this Zella snatched up a away forever. At this Zella snatched up a bucket of slop which was standing near their trysting place and dashed it all over John. He shook off the fragments of spaked bread crists, decayed tomatoes, potato peclings, coffee grounds, egg shells, etc., and ran up Thirteenth street Zella, pumping her bucket full of water, took after him. She was fleet of foot and was about to overhaul him, when he took refuge in a horse car. Nothing dannted Zella, jumpel upon the platform he took refuge in a horse car. Nothing daunted, Zelia jumped upon the platform after him. John closed the door and held it after him. John closed the door and held it against her. Then she dashed the water through the window at him, and leaped off the car, into the arms of an officer. Both were arrested. After listening to and encujoying the man's ludicrous recountal of his adventures, the court told them to "Get out, go home, and quarrel no more!"

A FARCE AND A BURLESQUE.

The Order Requiring Vags to Work on the Streets.

Judge Berka informed a reporter of Tits Bee yesterday that it was a farce and a burlesque to sentence city prisoners to work upon the streets, as no attention was paid to his order and that they were not worked, but sent to jail and allowed to remain there in idleness until their time was out.

"Whose fault is this?" asked the scribe.
"The city council's," he replied premptly, and with much ascerbity. "They passed a and with much ascerbity. "They passed a law, paid for its publication and then buried it in some conwebby pigeon-hole for ever more. What they want to do is to employ more policemen. Two or three in fact for no other purpose than to take charge of the men sentenced to work upon the street. It would be revenue in the city's pocket. Now they can't put a policeman in charge of these men unless they take him from a regular best. can't put a policeman in charge of these men unless they take him from a regular beat, which neither the chief nor the people would stand, and which, of course, would be eminently improper. They must either appoint enough policemen to net under this ordinance or repeal it, I don't care which. It is a dead-letter as it exists and I shall discontinue sentencing men to work."

WHO GETS THE BOODLE?

Status of the Bennett-Rotholz Bail Money Case.

Judge Felker argued the case before Judge Berka yesterday as to the proper disposi tion of the bail money, $475, declared forfeited in the case of Frank Rotholz, the supposed criminal. It will be remembered that Walter Bennett, Rotholz's attorney, pleaded guilty for his client to the charge of vagrancy and carrying concealed weapons, upon which he was arrested, but the defendant not appearing himself at the time set for his hear-ing, the judge declared his security forfeited. Bennett claimed the money minus the fines, on the authority of an alleged order from the defendant, but he failed to fasten his fingers on the money, and Judge Felker had been brought into the case to try his bowers of ratiocination upon the obdurate court. How many more there are looking for a "whack" out of this $475 has not yet been developed.

Notwithstanding that the police and the "fly detail" have been arduously at work endeavoring to turn up Rotholz, nothing has been seen or heard of him since his disappearance from the court room Monday. This has only fortified the suspicion entertained by the authorities that he is the perpetrator of some grave crime, and was either frightened out of the city, or left because he is a believer in the old adage transformed, that the who commits a crime and runs away, lives to do further devilment some other day."

day."

Judge Felker was previded with a writ of replevin which was served upon Judge Berka with a view to have him surrender the money in question. The latter, however, refused to relinquish it, claiming that it had passed from him into the possession of the city. He did not deny that he was the agent of the city but refused to part with the money.

the money.

Felker and Bennett then took a change of venue and the case will next come up before Justice Wade,
