

THE DAILY BEE. COUNCIL BLUFFS. OFFICE NO 12 PEARL STREET. Delivered by carrier in Any Part of the City at Twenty Cents Per Week.

DEATH OF SWITCHMAN ROSE. The Court Holds That His Culp Carelessness Caused It. A HUNTER ACCIDENTALLY SHOT in the employ of the railroad company. The claim was for $2000 damages. The court ruled that as the deceased was warned of his danger in stepping before the approaching train, his death was occasioned by his own carelessness, and the jury was charged accordingly.

MINOR MENTION. N. Y. Plumbing company. A permit for an $800 residence was issued yesterday to W. W. Pike.

New fall goods just received at Reiter's, merchant tailor, 310 Broadway. The McKenless concert company is billed for a two days' stop in this city next week.

A marriage license was issued yesterday to Peter Madison and Margaret M. Hanson, both of this city.

The shippers of this city will hold a meeting at the board of trade rooms at 10 o'clock this morning to decide on what steps to take to do away with some discriminations in freight rates.

The case of Solomon Gross, charged with receiving stolen property, was not completed yesterday. The testimony of the prisoner, Leventhal, was very damaging, and was not shaken in the least on cross-examination.

There were but two subjects whose cases came up for consideration in police court yesterday morning. R. F. Tubbs paid $7.00 for a little tussle with "Oh-he-jay-fal," and H. Campbell forfeited his appearance money.

The Northwestern will run a special train to Sioux City to-morrow for the benefit of the working people who desire to visit the corn palace, which will be open on Sunday. The train will leave this city at 7:15 o'clock this morning, returning in the evening.

Three boys, Louis Gillinsky, Henry and Morie Harwich, were arrested yesterday on complaint of Robert Willey, on the charge of stealing 25 cents worth of grapes. The youngsters were given a hearing before Squire Schurz, who gave them a fatherly warning and sent them home.

The county clerk has about completed his annual report for the year ending October 1, 1888, giving the number of marriages and reported births and deaths in the county for the year. They are as follows: Marriages, 400; births, 257; deaths, 71. Many births and deaths were not reported.

The democratic flambeau club has perfected an organization and elected the following officers: Captain, W. E. Aitchison; first lieutenant, James Barrett; second lieutenant, Ernest Tinley; orderly sergeant, R. N. Whittlesey. The company will appear in the parade this evening for the first time.

The case of B. Kuppenheimer & Co. vs H. Eisenman was on trial in the United States court yesterday. M. M. Bartlett, one of the attorneys, testified with palpitation of the heart, induced by sitting too long in a warm room, after having eaten a hearty dinner. He fainted. Dr. Bollinger attended him, and he soon recovered.

Yesterday A. A. Clark & Co. consummated a real estate deal of considerable magnitude. They sold to William T. Officer an undivided eighth interest in the Babbitt tract. The demand for Council Bluffs property is as great among actual residents of the city as among transient speculators. In fact, all realize that the inevitable future of the city is sure to make money for all who hold its realty.

The Flambeau club was out last evening for its initial drill, and caused considerable merriment among the spectators by the lonesome movements of its members at the start, but they worked in very rapidly under the efficient captaincy of W. E. Aitchison. With a little more drill the boys present a very creditable appearance and will prove quite an attractive feature in the democratic demonstration during the remainder of the campaign.

The line of march for this evening's parade will be as follows: The line will form at headquarters, resting on North and South Main, Pearl and Broadway. The line of parade will be west on Broadway to Scott street, north on Scott to Mynter, west on Mynter to Eighth, south on Eighth to Fifth avenue, east on Fifth avenue to Pearl street, south on Pearl to junction of Main street, north on Main street to Washington avenue, east on Washington avenue to First street, north on First to Broadway, east on Broadway to Frank street, and counter march on Broadway to headquarters of the Young Men's democratic club, where the speaking will take place.

Travelers! Stop at the Bechtels. The finish on our collars, cuffs and shirts cannot be equalled. Cascade Laundry Co.

Waiting for Sentences. Sentences will be imposed this morning on several criminals who have either pleaded or been found guilty by a jury during the present term of court. The lot consists of Frank Hillerman, larceny; William Hoffman, larceny; Frank Murray, burglary; Frank White, larceny; Herman Berch, assault and battery; George Butler, larceny; Fred Smith, burglary; Thomas Barrett, assault with intent to commit rape. Thomas Kelley, inventory, will be sentenced Tuesday, and Frank Winston, larceny, will be sentenced next Thursday.

For rent—Furnished rooms, 716 Willow ave. The school board held a meeting last evening and took up the matter of issuing the $40,000 school bonds for the new building. The bonds were turned over to the board by the secretary, but were ordered destroyed owing to an error in the printing, and were burned in the presence of the board. The matter of electing a secretary and treasurer was not taken up, as it was thought best to defer it until after the bonds were taken off the hands of the treasurer. Two new applications for the appointment as secretary were received from Mr. Hill and Mr. Snow. The board adjourned until October 11.

ALL ABOARD For the Corn Palace at Sioux City. Sunday, Sept. 30, a special train will leave the Chicago & Northwestern local depot at 7:12 a. m. Returning will leave Sioux City at 5:40 p. m. The corn palace will be opened on that day.

Adjudged Guilty. The jury in the case of Solomon Gross returned a verdict of guilty. Solomon is one of the two brothers who were arrested for having received stolen property, the articles consisting of the jewelry taken from the home of Joseph Garneau in Omaha last spring.

Loans made on city business and residence property. Money bought. Kimball-Champ Investment company. New catsup just received at Fearon's.

Democratic Convention To-Day—Changes to be Made in the Water Works—Crooks Waiting Their Fate.

Busy on Broadway. The work of tearing up the Broadway paving for the laying of the iron for the electric motor track will not be continued beyond the corner of Scott street to-day, in order to leave this thoroughfare in as good condition as possible for the democratic parade this evening.

The tracklayers are following the advance force very closely, and the old iron is scarcely torn up until the new is in its place. The new iron is very heavy, and would answer for much heavier rolling stock than will be placed upon it. The men are laying it at the rate of a block a day, at the same time fitting the under side of the rails with a heavy copper wire for the return current. The rails are connected every fifty feet by copper cross wires which collect all of the current so that none of it is wasted. The paving force follows the tracklayers, replacing the torn up paving. The street will be in much better condition after the track is laid than before, as the original rounding up of the street will be restored. The intersections will all be put in to-day, to prevent any interference with travel this evening or to-morrow.

Better Water Promised. The waterworks company's force will to-day complete the laying of the new mains ordered some time ago by the council. On Monday morning the force will be put to work digging a new conduit from the river to the settling basin at the foot of Broadway. Several changes are to be made which, when completed, will insure the citizens cleaner and purer water than they would get if the present system were allowed to remain as at present. Some of these changes are rendered necessary by the construction of the new bridge and electric motor line.

The bridge company has built two spans of prestressed piling across the settling basin, one for the motor line and the other for a wagon bridge. In order to prevent the contamination of the water by foreign matter dropping from either of these structures, or the constant jarring of the bed by the frequent passing of wagons and motor cars, Chief Engineer Birkenbine, of the waterworks company, has decided to move the dam of the settling basin to a point just above the bridges. It was thought best to do all of this work at the same time, and it will be done in connection with the annual cleaning out of the basin and conduit.

There is quite a heavy deposit of sediment in the conduit and settling basin. As it would require some time to clean out both of them, and would prevent the company for a time from furnishing pure water, a new conduit will be dug parallel with the old one, and as soon as the dam is moved and basin cleaned, water will be turned through the new conduit, leaving the old one to be cleaned at a later date. Hereafter water will be turned from one conduit to the other whenever the one in use needs cleaning. The two subsidiary reservoirs are also to undergo the cleaning process, and quite extensive repairs are to be made. It will require nearly a month to complete the work of proposed changes and repairs. This work would have been done in the summer, but the consumption of water was then so great that it was impossible to shut off any of the reservoirs.

Accidentally Shot. Ed Brown, an express driver in the employ of William Martin, met with an accident Thursday afternoon that will high prove fatal. Brown was hunting at Big Lake with a companion named Wallace. In crossing the lake they ran across a few ducks, and as Wallace was about to shoot, their dog jumped up from the bottom of the boat, and in getting out of his way the gun was accidentally discharged, the shot taking effect in Brown's head. The pair managed to get to Crescent station and came to this city on the Sioux City train. Dr. Bollinger dressed the wound, which is not fatal. Brown's escape is about as miraculous as that of Ben Long, who suffered a similar accident at the same place a few weeks ago.

Eager For Honors. To-day will tell the story, and when the sun goes down this evening somebody will not feel quite so "lousy" as they do this morning.

The democratic county convention meets to-day at the court house, and 123 delegates from various parts of the county will meet to nominate parties for the offices of county clerk, attorney, recorder and a member of the board of supervisors. All interest centers on the first two, and the situation is unquestionably quite complicated.

The three leading candidates for county clerk, Diederich, Shea and Gleason, are doing a great deal of hard work. Shea's friends claim that he will be nominated on the first ballot by over one hundred votes.

It is positively affirmed that unless Shea is nominated on the first ballot he will not stand a ghost of a show, and much doubt is expressed as to his ability to control over thirty votes in the convention. Gleason's friends are expressing more confidence than they did earlier in the campaign, and hope to secure his nomination. Shea secured the election of delegates of his own choosing in two of the wards, but it is claimed that some of them are pledged to other candidates. There is evidently a surprise party in store.

The fight for the attorneyship is between W. H. Ware and W. A. Mynter, and neither of the candidates is as well satisfied with the outlook as he would like to be.

John Orman, of Neola, has a small following in the outside country, but his chances are not regarded as particularly bright. There are so many conflicting interests, which it is impossible to harmonize, that even those who are most familiar with the situation are unwilling to hazard an opinion as to the result. The candidates do not hesitate to say that considerable is being spent to secure the nomination, and some of the best ward workers of the city are commanding very good pay for their services until the close of the convention.

Mackerel, $1.35 a bucket, at Fearon's.

Wedded Ten Years. Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Highsmith celebrated their tenth anniversary last evening. This worthy couple have long been residents of this city, he being master at the Union Pacific transfer yards. The years past have been happy, prosperous ones for them and it was eminently proper that their arrival at this milestone in the journey should be thus celebrated. The home at 1714 Second avenue was thrown open to their invited guests and the evening hours were made pleasant by the social devices and courtesies which the host and hostess so well know how to extend. The entertainment was of a liberal and elegant and the mementoes of the occasion given by the friends were appropriate and much appreciated by the recipients.

School for Dancing. Mrs. Magrane will open classes here at Beno's hall in connection with her Omaha classes, beginning Tuesday, October 2, and meet every Tuesday and Saturday evening thereafter, beginning at 8 o'clock, and Tuesday and Saturday afterwards for children at 4:30 p. m. on Tuesdays, and 2:30 Saturdays. She has taught with success and has had large classes in Omaha for the past three years. The prospect is she will have large classes here. Address 2,020 St. Mary's avenue, Omaha.

Wait and see what Chapman may say to you Sunday morning.

Republican Primaries. The republican primaries, to select delegates to the county convention on Wednesday, October 3, will be held at the following places, on Saturday, September 29, at 7:30 p. m. First ward, at John Hammer's office, to select six delegates. Second ward, at the city building, to select eight delegates. Third ward, at republican headquarters, to select five delegates. Fourth ward, in the Maxwell building, at the corner of Fifth avenue and Pearl street, to select nine delegates.

Artists prefer the Hallett & Davis piano, at C. B. Music Co., 224 Broadway.

Moving Toward the River. Monday morning Odell Bros. & Co. will begin the erection of their new brick real estate office on lower Broadway, nearly opposite the water works pumping station. This is a move which all of the real estate dealers are compelled to make in order to keep up with the procession, although some of them are opposed to it, and insist that it would have been better for all if the movement had not been made. F. J. Day has his office nearly completed. The deals in dirt in that part of the city are daily increasing in number and the real estate men prophesy that inside of two months property in this city will be changing hands faster than at any previous time in its history.

A Festival of the Season. The services at the First Baptist church to-morrow, morning and evening, will be a "Harvest Festival." Dr. Cooley will deliver a sermon appropriate to the time in the morning, and the evening the Sunday school, with the elder members of the church, will present a beautiful service. The church edifice is being beautifully decorated with grain and fruits, emblematic of the season and typical of the various parts of the exercises to be presented. These festival services are very beautiful

YELLOW FEVER IN OLDER DAYS. How the Disease Ravaged Philadelphia About a Century Ago. New York Sun: While yellow fever is familiar as a scourge of low latitudes, perhaps the most startling of its visitations ever known in this country was that which visited northern cities chiefly suffered in the year 1793. At that time, starting from the Antilles, it was brought to Philadelphia and spread to various parts of Pennsylvania, as well as to New York and even Massachusetts, in the latter part of the year.

The streets and roads leading from the city were crowded with families flying in every direction for safety to the country. Business began to languish. Water street, between Market and Race streets, became deserted. The poor were the first victims of the fever. Through the sudden interruption of business they suffered for a while from poverty as well as disease. A large and airy house at Bush Hill, about a mile from the city, was opened for their refuge. The contagion after the second week in September spared no rank of citizens. Whole families were confined by it. There was a deficiency of nurses for the sick, and many of those who were employed were unqualified for their business. There was likewise a great deficiency of physicians, from the desertion of some and the sickness and death of others. At one time there were only three physicians able to do anything, and Dr. Rush was one of these. More than half of the houses were shut up, although not more than 6,000 persons ill with the fever.

A pathetic part of the story records the effects of the calamity on the spirits of the people. When it first broke out Dr. Rush was accustomed to the weeping of the relatives of the sick, whether he went to their houses or they came to his; but at length "grief descended below weeping," and the gloom of despair, or of submission to the inevitable, was visible. The sight then of a child two years old that smiled as he entered one house strangely affected him. The day after that visit he himself was attacked by the fever, and upon his recovery made inquiries for the child that had smiled, and at this time that his father and mother had since died. The condition of Philadelphia became appalling.

The streets everywhere discovered marks of the distress that pervaded the city. More than half of the houses were shut up, although not more than 6,000 persons ill with the fever.
