The P. E. O. society will hold a very important business meeting at Miss Badollet's, on Seventh street, at 4:30 o'clock, Tuesday, and a full attendance

The Kane's trial, for assault, was before Justice Shurz yesterday afternoon. After hearing the testimony the court said he thought the fun ought to be made somewhat expensive, and he assessed the assailants $5 and costs. The searcity of rain has put the sewer system in such a condition that a systematic course of flushing has become necessary to cleanse them. This work was commenced yesterday and will be continued until the system is in good condition.

The Lee embezzlement case is set for Friday morning in the district court. There is no little curiosity to see the the case developed publicly in detail, but predictions are made that it will in some way be settled or worn out by continuances.

Yesterday the city engineer assumed supervision of the work of relaying the pavement on Broadway. The work needed his attention, and hereafter there will be no occasion for kicking on the part of property owners, for the work will be properly done.

The brick paving on Willow avenue was completed yesterday as far as Sixth street. From there the work will be continued with cedar or cypress block unless the property owners shall withdraw their protest against brick, which has been formerly made to the city

None of the piers of the new bridge have swung three inches out of place and had to be put back; nor has any wheeled vehicle yet crossed that struc-ture, as has been reported by one of the city papers. Facts are so easy to get at that it seems strange that so few of them are secured by would-be news

Work on the Chautauqua grounds is to commence soon. The calling in of the assessments on stock subscribed will be first in order, and these calls should be promptly met. This great enterprise should not be allowed to drag, as next season should see a grand opening, drawing thousands of people

The committees appointed by the city council and board of trade visited Omaha yesterday to confer with similar committees of the latter city respecting the formal opening of the new bridge. Mayor Rohrer and Aldermen Lacy, Weaver and Waterman represented the city and Messrs. George Wright and T. J. Evans the business men.

The city council meets this eveningthat is, if a quorum can be had. There are some matters of importance that need the immediate consideration of the city fathers, and it is hoped they will spare sufficient time to attend to them. Alderman Lacy says: "If they are not on hand at 7:30 o'clock I shall yote for an adjournment until January 1, 1889."

Judge James has sold his newly erected residence to Mrs. Fannie M. Campbell, who purchased it for her own occupancy. $8,000 is the price paid. The judge will immediately proceed with the erection of another home, preferring to keep his money moving rather than to salt it down after the manner of many of the so-called business men of the city.

Council Bluffs Dis sadly in need of a new city directory. There have been so many changes, so many additions, that even if a real directory had been issued six months ago it would be of little good now. But the last one was only a misdirectory, and it literally lies about all the time, worse than useless. This city has had such unpleasant experiences with directory men in the past few years that anyone trying to meet the present want will have a hard field to work. The only way to restore confidence will be not to ask for subscriptions in advance, but let the book sell on its merits. A really first class directory would be jumped at.

were called by the illness and death of their mother, Mrs. L. H. Josslyn. W. S. Alger, a prominent banker of Villisca, Ia., and wife, were visitors in the city yesterday. This is the first trip to Council Bluffs Mr. Alger has made in several years, and he was greatly surprised at the activity and growth of the city.

Rather a Hard Crowd.

On Tuesday a party of Council Bluffs toughs went to Omaha to take in the town. There were two hack drivers, two or three denizens of the "Row," one Hughes, an ex-Salvation army follow, and a woman who sails under the name of Burke. Yestesday all the party except Hughes returned to this side. During the afternoon two officers from Omaha appeared here and took in the whole party, except the Burke woman, who had skipped to Nebraska City. The crowd are charged with drugging and robbing Hughes. Further developments will appear in the Omaha police news.

The Republican Convention. The republican county convention met in the south room of the county court house yesterday afternoon. It was called to order at 2 o'clock by T. P. Treynor, chairman of the county central committee, who named Hon. B. F.

Clayton, of Macedonia, as temporary chairman. R. C. Hubbard, of Council

Bluffs, was made temporary secretary. The call was read, after which a committee of five was appointed on credentials, as follows: E. L. Shugart, J. H. Jenks, Judge Fisk, S. H. Ferguson and J. K. Ossler. A committee of the same number was appointed on permanent organization, as follows: William

Sears, J. G. Stadter, J. A. Lindt, E. Myers and J. B. Boulden. While waiting for the committees to report, Hon. D. C. Bloomer, William Sears, D. B. Clark, W. J. Trotter and Walter I. Smith were called out and made brief addresses. The committee on credentials reported, which report was adopted. All ownships were represented. The report of the committee on pernament organization favored making the temporary organization permanent.

Adopted On motion the delegates present were empowered to cast their full vote for their respective precincts.

The convention then proceeded to a ormal ballot for county clerk. Elihu Myers was made reading clerk. On call of townships the delegates could not get their votes in fast enough. Everything went for H. J. Chambers. No other candidate was presented, and at the conclusion of the ballot his nomination was made by acclamation. The nomince was called on for a speech. He briefly thanked the convention for the nomination.

For county recorder W. J. Beck presented the name of H. V. Battey, of Walnut. The nomination was made by acclamation.

For county attorney William Sears, Colonel Dailey and A. S. Hazleton were placed in nomination. The ballot resulted as follows: Sears 25, Hazelton 53, Dailey 11. Having received a majority of the votes east, Hazelton was declared the nominee. On motion of Mr. Sears the nomination of Mr. Hazelton was made unanimous.

The nomination of two candidates for the office of supervisor resulted in the selection of Alexander Ossler, of Grove township. For the east end of the county D. F. Perry of Hardin township and Peter Peterson of Boomer were named. The ballot resulted as follows: Perry 56, Peterson 32, Matlock 2; the former receiving the nomination, which was, on motion, made unanimous. Hon. D. C. Bloomer presented a resolution of fealty to the national, state and county tickets which was adopted, after which the convention adjourned.

The result of the convention is commented on with much satisfaction by republicans. It is a strong ticket. Chambers for county clerk is especially strong. He is an attorney and his thorough knowledge of the law will enable him to fully meet the needs of that important office. As county recorder he demonstrated how faithfully and accurately he can handle valuable records Energetic, honest, capable, he will make the best clerk this county ever had. He is strong, politically, and will draw a heavy vote outside the city as well as inside. The nomination of Mr. Hazelton as attorney is a strong one also. He is not perhaps as well known in the county as Mr. Chambers, but he stands very high with the bar. He is a clean-cut young man, finely educated, and possessing excellent ability, is fully fitted for this poposition.

The other nominees are spoken of very favorably, even by men not of their party. The republicans have shown en-thusiasm, unanimity and wisdom in their framing of a ticket.

Well Wedded.

Yesterday afternoon were celebrated the nuptials of Miss Ida A. Tostevin, and W. H. Wakefield. The ceremony occurred at the Broadway Methodist church. The young lady who thus took upon herself the most sacred obligations of life, is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tostevin and has lived here since childhood. During these years the graces of a noble woman have developed within her, and have won for her a deserved popularity and esteem. From many hearts comes the spontaneous wish that the hopes which crown this, the most important hour to the maiden's heart, may be abundantly realized in the years to come. The groom is a young business man of our sister city, Omaha, and well deserves the prize he has won.

At 4 o'clock precisely the words were said which made them man and wife. The father and mother of the bride accompanied the principals, and the entrance to the church was with the wedding march by Lohengin and Mendelssohn played by Mr. Marshall, organist at All Saint's church, Omaha. The dress of the bride was a combination of cream silk and chantilla lace, veil and orange blossoms, while the groom was clad in the conventional black. The ushers were Messrs. J. H. Weist and J. C. Calhoun of Omaha, Perry Badolett and John W. Pusey of Council Bluffs.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents, No. 209 Perk avenue, which con-tinued until 6 o'clock, at which the invited guests only were present. These embraced the members of the G. G. and Kensington clubs only. The supper was an elegant affair and the presents were appropriate and valuable.

At the conclusion of the reception the happy couple were driven to the Milwankee depot, where they embarked for Chicago. There they will remain for several days, when they will go to St. Paul and visit the parents of the groom. They will return home about November I and will take up their residence at No. 311 Third avenue in this city.

The Healthy Bluffs.

The sensational statement made in the Omaha World concerning the number of cases of typhoid fever in Council Bluffs has caused both merriment and indignation. Some laugh at it as being so ridiculous as to carry its own refutation. Others condemn it hotly as a needless thrust at the reputation of Council Bluffs, which is known as one of the healthiest centers in the land.

Dr. Seybert, who is city physician, in forms THE BEE that there are not half a dozen cases of typhoid fever in the city or vicinity. "The health of the city," says the doctor, "is far above the average. I do not know of a city of its size anywhere in the country where there is so little sickness, and our rate of mortality is remarkably low. The city is cleaner than any I know of. It is the sheerest nonsense to talk about typhoid fever. There are more cases ight along-more sickness, in factight out in the country than in the city

Dr. Pinney, one of the oldest and best known physicians, boldly declared that he did not believe there was one case of genuine typhoid fever in the city. There might be, but as for there being any such number as had been stated it was ridiculous. The health of the city was excellent and Council Bluffs could justly lay claim to being one of the healthiest cities in the land. Dr. Thomas enpressed himself of like mind. "Typhoid fever? I don't believe there have been more than a dozen cases in a whole year. Why at the way Council Bluffs is going on, and the low rate of mortality, we'll all live to be a hundred years old."

Dr. A. P. Hanchett, who has as large practice as any homeopathic physician in this part of the west, said he knew of no epidemic. The health of the city was good, and Council Bluffs had reason to congratulate itself on its health-showing.

The Work of Woman.

No ladies in the city are more enterrising and self-sacrificing than those of St. Paul's Episcopal church. The beautiful church structure is due mainly to their efforts. But for them the location would not have been purchased. But for them the rectory would not have been built, and the start of a new church building and much help in its completion, came from the same plucky and progressive women. The latest indication that they are not weary in well doing is now noticeable in the rectory. When the rector and wife returned from their summering, they found that the ladies had had the interior completely regenerated. The walls and ceilings had been repapered and decorated. Fresh paint and calsomine had also been used, and every room in the house made as new. The home is thus made most attractive and enjoyable.

No Licenses for Omahans.

A young man employed in Omaha bought himself a little home here, furnished it, and arranged to be wedded in it, and settle down to a residence here. Everything in readiness he stepped into the county clerk's office for a marriage license. "From Omaha, eh? Well you'll have to go back to Omaha and get married. Can't let you have a license.

The young man protested and explained, but the clerk refused. "I've lived here long enough now to be a voter," said the young man yester-day. "Vote for Shea?" "Well, hardly. I had to go back to Omaha and get mar ried there, instead of getting married in my own little home here. If I'd had time to have made the fight, I'd have seen whether he wouldn't have had to issue à license, even if I was from Speed the Old. Welcome the New Last evening the Broadway Methodist church parlors were well filled, the occasion being a reception to the new pastor, Rev. C. D. Franklin, and a farewell visit with the outgoing pastor, the Rev. W. H. W. Rees. The member-ship was well represented, but there were many present who have been attendants upon Mr. Rees' ministry simply. The occasion was significant as bearing to him the esteem and earnest good will of the community, regardless of denominational lines. In contact with Mr. Franklin one is impressed with his strength socially, which is un-doubtedly as great as that demonstrated in his pulpit work. The expression that he is the right man in the right place is a very general one.

A Quiet Wedding.

There was a quiet wedding at St. Paul's church, at 6:45 o'clock last evening, the contracting parties being Mr. John S. Ryburn and Miss Cecilia H. Armour, both of La Salle, Ill. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. J. Mackay, in the presence of a few of the intimate friends of the bride and groom. Mr. W. M. Marshall, organist of Trinity church, Omaha, presided at the organ in the absence of Mr. Gratian, the regular organist. The bride was very tastefully and elegantly attired in white Those present were the mother and brother of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Tyler, the latter a sister of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Evans. At the conclusion of the marriage ceremong, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tyler was baptized, the newly wedded couple standing as sponsors. The ceremony throughout was a novel and very pleasing one. Mr. and Mrs. Ryburn left on the Kansas City train at 9:40 for Kansas City and St. Louis. Although the affair was very quiet It was none the less enjoyable, and the happy couple start in life with the brightest prospects. THE BEE joins with other friends in wishing them a happy voyage through life, with the greatest prosperity and success.

Where's the Postoffice?

Tom Cavin, of the corner book store, next to the postoffice, is running over with good nature. He don't have boils to try him, but an affliction about as bad. The big postoffice looms up right across the stseet. About twice a day some stranger tackles Tom with: "Can you tell me where the post-office is?"

"Yes sir; right next door." The stranger disappears only to re-turn in a minute with: "Where did you say the postoffice is?" Tom explains that it is the large imposing stone structure, and takes the pains to point it out. 'How can I get into it?" Tom good-naturedly calls attention to the great doors on each side of the building, and the stranger gets started aright. "It does beat all," says Tom, "what idea folks have of a postoffice. It seems that they are bound not to admit that anything can be a postoffice unless it has a grocery store in front and a barrel of mackerel and a soap box for signs.

The residence of Mr. A. W. Stanbro, on Third street, was entered Tuesday evening by some unknown parties. The family were absent and the nocturnal visitors had things their own way. They turned things topsy turvy in their vain efforts to find gold, silver or precious stones. They found a new overcoat, and as winter is coming on the coat was appropriated, and for fear of difficulty in getting away with it the thief took a five-shooter to defend himself with.
