Sr. PAUL, Oct. 4 .- (Special Telegram to THE BEE. - The countenances of the Omaha ball players were wreathed in smiles as they left Athletic park this afternoon, while those of the St. Paul players wore an abject and melancholy look. To lose three straight games was bad enough but to be shut out in the last game of the season was indeed humiliating. Lovett's great pitching was responsible for this. The day was raw and cold, and only about fifty people saw the game, but Lovett's great right arm was in fine shape. St. Paul got two hits in the first inning and another in the fourth, after which not a man reached first base. Tuckerman pitched a fine game. barring his wildness, but the patched up team behind him gave him rocky support Crooks scored in the first inning on his own single and Moyer's two bagger. Lovett made the circuit in the second on a safe hit, an out and two wild pitches. In the fourth Annis scored on a base on balls and errors by Earle and Reilly. In the eighth two errors by Carroll, one by Earle, an out, and a safe hit by Annis sent three more runs across the plate the last of the game. The total attendance at the three games has not been over 200 Umpire Fessenden did good work to-day. The score

William Visits Vienna.

VIENNA, Oct. 4.- Special Cablegram to THE BEE. |- Emperor William, on his arrival here yesterday, was met at the depot by Emperor Francis Joseph. The imperial carriage made a triumphal progress through the streets to the Hofburg. The windows and balconies of the houses along the route were gaily decorated, and were filled with ladies, who waved their handkerehiefs in welcome of the imperial visitor. Empress Elizabeth welcomed Emperor William in the Bellaria wing of the palace, which will be occupied by him. After a conversation with the emperar and Crown Princess Stephanie, Emperor William received visits from a number of distinguished persons.

The preparations for the reception of the German emperor were on the grandest scale. The Mariahilfer strasse to the Hofburg was splendidly decorated. On many houses the German, Austrian and Hungarian colors were flying. During the early morning a dense crowd gathered at the depot and along the route to the Hofburg. Every window along the line to Ring strasse was occupied.

The Western depot, to which none but nembers of the imperial party were admitted, was bedecked with flowers. The waiting room was gorgeously decorated. The Kaiser King of Prussia's infantry regiment furnished the guard of honor. Troops of all arms lined the route to the palace. The Tenth hussars are acting as a guard of honor at the Hofburg. Herr von Szechenyi, minister of agriculture and commerce, and the other members of the Austrian ministry, the governor, burgomaster, commander of the troops, and prominent German residents of the city were at the depot.

The members of the diplomatic corps and the officers of the reserve and landwehr were presented to Emperor William at the Hofburg.

After visiting the German embassy Emperor William took luncheon at the imperial palace and afterward visited the academy of education and arts. In the afternoon he received Prince Philip of Coburg, the bishop of Prague and Herr Tisza, the Hungarian promier. In the evening a banquet to Emperor William was given by the emperor and empress of Austria. Among the guests were the Austrian crown prince and princess, the Austrian archdukes and archduchesses Prince and Princess Philip of Coburg, and Prince Henry of Reuss, the German ambassader and his wife.

After the banquet a grand concert was given in the Rittersnale. Emperor William and Empress Elizabeth entered the hall arm in arm, Emperor Francis Joseph following with Crown Princess Stephanie. In the audience were many diplomats and military officers. In the intervals the two emperors walked around and spoke to many in the audience. Emperor William entered into an animated conversation with Count Andrassy. At the conclusion of the concert Emperor William personally thanked the artists and after the concert an imperial re-

Fox Blowing Hot and Cold on the Unknown.

(Congright 1888 by James Gordon Bennett.) PARIS, Oct. 4 .- (New York Herald Cable-Special to THE BEE. |-Mr. Richard K. Fox has addressed the following letter to the Herald:

Loxnox, Oct. 3.-My original offer, in a letter to the Herald, August 3, 1888, was to match Kilrain for $10,000 or more, and the first $5,000 deposit was duly made with the Herald on that date. The second of $2,500 was to be deposited with the Sporting Life of London, and the third of $2,500 with the Clipper of New York. On behalf of some vaguely described unknown the first deposit of $5,000 has been covered. The fact that the unknown's first deposit was made for the full $5,000 was an acceptance of the challenge and an admission that the match was to be for at least $10,000. Now the backers of this shadow unknown are crying out that $5,000 is enough. I don't like this crawling on the amount. It looks as though they would crawl on other points later on, therefore I insist on all the money being staked at once. I have posted $5,000 with the Herald. Yesterday I lodged $2,500 with the Clipper and to-day I have staked $1,500 with the Sporting Life, My money, therefore, is all up and my man is named. I must insist on the whole of the stakes going up from the other side with like promptitude. Not wishing to seem unsportmanlike, however, I will not press them, but I insist that the full deposits be made on signing the articles as evidence of good faith on the part of the unknown backers, in which, I may say, from present appearances, I have small confidence. As to the date of signing the articles and the naming of the unknown, the unknown's backers say in their letter that Kilrain's backer has no right to domand this before the match is made, and in an interview with the Herald they say that it is not necessary to name the man until the meeting of the backers. In their later letter to the Herald they say the articles should be signed in ten days. I will not allow them a loop hole through which to industriously crawl. They have accented my first proposition for a match for $10,000 a side. So be it, though I would rather make it $20,000. They have insisted on an unknown instead of a named man until the backers meet and the articles are signed. So be it, I will start for New York at once, and the day after my arrival, if they name their man and their money is up, Kilrain will sign, no matter who it may be, for a fight in accordance with my challenge for $10,000 a side, to come off in six months from signing, for the onship of the world and the Police Gazette diamond belt. If this is not accepted propose positively to bring to an end this aseless correspondence. I will leave my $10,000 where it is now deposited until January, 1889. If any one feels like contesting the championship with Kilrain, and not simply talking about it, they have only to name their man and post their money. Mine is already in full view, and may be had on application. I wish to add that I sincerely regret John L. Sullivan's illness. I had hoped that Sullivan would have been able to get in condition, and that he and my champion. Kill rain, would have a meet to decide once for

AMUSEMENTS. THE MORMONS WON'T MOVE. 'Harbor Lights" at Boyd's Opera House.

Not for a long time has there been presented on the stage of Boyd's opera house a more interesting and realistic melodrama than "Harbor Lights," which was there given its first production in this city last night, and received with hearty manifestations of interest and pleasure by a numerous audience. The drama is not new, having achieved a marked success in London and in the castern cities of this country; neither are the principal features of its story especially novel, but the skillful hands that constructed it wrought ingeniously to create and sustain an interest, to touch the sympa thics, to amuse, and to please the eye. Noth-ing like a detailed description of the play can be attempted, and it must be sufficient to say that there is hardly a character in the ordi-nary range of human experience that is not portrayed. Love is the central motive, as in all such dramas, and its course is through many vicissitudes to final triumph. The many vielesitudes to final trutheps. The genteel villain, the unfortunate outcast, the avenger, the timely friend, all play a part in the development of the story. There is a shrewd blending of the lights and shades that go to make a drama of this kind, there is no lack of incident, and most of the situations are exceptionally strong. The scenic features are particularly attractive, illustrating the highest proficiency in the painter's and me-chanician's arts. In a word, in interest of chantena's arts. In a word, in interest of plot, dramatic construction and spectacular effects, "Harbor Lights" is a thoroughly en-tertaining and pleasing drama, deservedly ranking among the very best of its class. The company is capable and well-balanced. The lovers are lightly a sound to be a sound

Lieutenant David Kingsley, of the royal navy, and Dora Vane, impersonated respec-tively by Charles B. Weils and Miss Julia Stuart, and both can be commended for very creditable work. Nicholas Moreland, the villain of the play, is made rather more boisterous at times than is necessary, but on the while in more more than the state of the the whole is very well done. The Tom Dossiter of Mr. George Conway and the Mrs. Chudleigh of Mrs. Georgie Dickson, who furnish most of the comedy features, are excellently rendered, and a word of commendation is also due the Bridget Mahonev of Mrs. Lizzie Con-way. "Harbor Lights" should receive the attention of all Omaha playgoers who admire melodrams of the approved type and of sterling quality.

"He, She, Him and Her."

This comparatively new production, styled by the authors a "Speaking-Pantomime, cannot be easily described. It has hardly the thread of anything like a plot, though one is suggested, but is rather a series of droll situations, funny incidents, musical features and amus-ing effect, all combining to make a breezy, rollicking entertainment which the audience at the Grand opera house last night seemed to greatly enjoy. The sole object is to amuse, and this the oddly-named producto accomplishes. The burden of this falls on Mr. George H. Adams as Toby Perri-winkle, a country lad of the verdant sort, and on Miss Toma Hanlon as Tootsie Brant Mr. Adams long ago won celebrity as a clown, and his experience in that role serves him well in his present work, in which he is at times very funny. Miss Hanlon is piquant, sings quite well, and carries her share of the entertainment successfully. Several other members of the ex-tensive company, notably Mr. Thomas

O'Brien, are meritorious. As a unique pro-duction "He, She, Him and Her" merits popular attention.

The Richardson County Rally.

SALEM, Neb., Oct. 4 .- Special to THE BEE.]-The republicans of Richardson had a grand rally and pole-raising at Dawson Tuesday, nearly every republican bringing his wife along. John Rush, the rattling Irish orator of Omaha, made a telling speech for over one hour, showing up the condition of his people in Ireland, all on account of free trade. After the pole was raised and the old banner sent to the breeze the crowd was addressed by Mr. Connell, of Omaha. He spoke principally to young voters. He made no personal charges against the democrats, but showed up their failures all along, leaving the people to judge whether it was due to lack of ability or political trickery. If political trickery.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.-In the senate to-day Mr. Chandler offered a resolution which was laid over till to-morrow, directing the attorney general to inform the senate whether or not, during the present year, there has come to the knowledge of the department of justice any violations of the eleventh and fourteenth section of the civil service law of 1883, and, if so, whether any prosecution has een instituted to punish such violations.

Among the bills reported from the committees and placed on the calendar were: Senate bill, to authorize the sale of timber on certain lands reserved for the use of the Chippewa Indians in Wisconsin and Minne circular as to discharges from arsenals and armories, and Mr. Teller opened the discus-sion upon it. After considerable debate the resolution was agreed to.

The senate bill relating to the classification of postoffices, and amendatory of the act o March 3, 1883, "to adjust the samares of postmasters," was, on motion of Mr. Reagan, taken from the calendar and passed. Mr. Chandler's resolution for an inquiry into the recent Louisiana election was taken up. After some discussion the resolution went over until Monday, and the majority and minority reports on the tariff bill were presented and ordered printed.

A further conference was ordered on the deficiency bill. After an executive session the senate adjourned until Monday.

House.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 .- In the house the senate bill was passed, providing that the secretary of the treasury may permit the use of petroleum as fuel on steamers not carrying passengers without a certificate of the supervising inspector of the district where the vessels are to be used.

Mr. Burns, of Missouri, then called up the conference report on the general deficiency appropriation bill. The amendment appro-priating $50,000 for the Industrial Home asso ciation of Utah, gave rise to a long political discussion. The conference report was then rejected in order to enable the conference committee to change the language providing for an investigation of the Washington aque-duct matter so as to enlarge the scope of in-

THE ADJOURNMENT.

No Definite Action Liable to Be Taken For Some Time.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 .- While there has been no formal conference among the democratic members of the house touching the advisability of adopting an adjournment resolution, there has been an exchange of private opinions upon the subject, a majority of the members holding the view that the tariff bill naving been reported to the senate there is no longer any reason why the house should not adopt a resolution and allow the senate to act upon it one way or another. Representative For nev, who is acting chairman of the appropriation committee, freely cxpressed the opinion that con will adjourn on Tuesday, ber 16, which date will a disposition of the deficiency bill and a proposition of the deficiency bill and a that congress lesday, Octoallow opening of the debate on the tariff bill in the senate. Soon after the assembling of the senate ways and means committee came over from the house and entered into consultation with several democratic senators, presumably on the subject of adjournment. The movement for adjournment met with an unexpected check this afternoon, when Mr. Breckinridge, of Arkansas, reached the capitol. He is now a ranking member of the ways and means committee, and at once set himself to work to oppose the adjournment. The prospects are now that it will be indefi-nitely delayed.

The Falthful Will Remain in the Land of the Saints. VERY FEW OF THEM IN MEXICO.

The Stories of the Exodus Magnified by Enterprising Space Writers Out of a Few Reliable Facts.

They Are With Us to Stay.

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 2 - Special to THE BEE. |--- The eastern press seems determined that the Mormons shall move to Mexico and enterprising reporters out of a few facts have woven fabrications that are really very ludicrous to the inhabitants of Utah. A New York reporter has learned that "a definite plan of immigration has been organized" here and that the faithful saints, "whether they prefer to go or not, are being removed to their new homes by a system of decimation." This is the method, as he describes it, and as copied into quite a number of newspapers: "The names of all the male members of the church are thrown together in a box and then drawn out. Every tenth name is marked for departure to Mexico, and after the drawing has taken place every tenth man gets a notice and a certain length of time in which to dispose of his worldly his worldly possessions and take his departure is allowed him. Many of them object to the migration, even after they are drawn, but the order of the church is imperative, and they are threatened with eternal domination unless they aboy instructions '

All this is sheer invention. There is no extended movement on foot for the exodus of Mormons to Mexico or elsewhere. The saints have never contemplated an abandon-The ment of this territory, where their material nterests are centered, and where they have settled to stay. About three years ago when the prosecution of polygamists began in earnest, many of the Mormons who were violating the Edmunds law, began to seek violating the Edmunds law, began to seek more congenial climes. They took to the "underground" to avoid the dep-uty inarshals, and many went abroad on missions. The leaders of the church in planning a scheme for polyga mists to evade prosecution, struck upon the idea of colonizing a part of Old Mexico with that portion of the Mormon church that had become enmeshed in polygamic practices. Dan Jones, a Mormon, who had been among the greasers, and who spoke Spanish rather fluently, first suggested the idea to the church authorities. He had bonded a large tract of land in Chihuabua and at-tempted to dispose of it to the Mormon

WHEAT KEEPS MOVING. Another Lively Day on 'Change in Chicago. CHICAGO, Oct. 4 .- There was plenty of action on 'change at the opening this morning, but it was not characterized by the wild frenzy and wicked jumps of a cent or more at a time, which were the features of yesterday's trading. There was enough uncertainty and movement to keep traders guessing at a lively rate, but not enough to turn

The Sioux Reservation.

RAPID CITY, Dak., Oct. 4 .- [Special Tele gram to Tug Bgg. |-Right Rev. Bishop Hare, of the South Dakota Episcopal mission, and one of the best posted men in the country on Indian affairs, was seen here this morning, having just returned from a three weeks' trip among the Sioux on the great reservation. He expressed regret at the unsuccess ful efforts of the treaty commission to date, and attributes the partial failure to the fact that the suspicions of the Indians were aroused last winter when they were refused permission to visit Washington and consult with congress. This suspicion was fanned by interested parties into stabborn oppo-sition of the measure. Bishop Hare was present at the great council recently held, at present at the great council recently beid, as which it was resolved to sen i a delegation of chiefs and agents to Washington to inter-view the great father concerning the treaty. He thinks the step a good one, and that the effect will be to siley all fears now held by the red men. When the commissioners re-turn, they will find the Indians ready and willing to sign the treaty. Bishop Hare says wiling to sign the treaty. Bishop Hare says he is sanguine of the ultimate success of the
