The Chauntauqua literary circle has arranged to have its weekly meetings this season in the board of trade rooms.

The circle will meet Monday evening next in these rooms. Every body will be made welcome, whether they can take the full course or not.

Yesterday's police court business was as follows: David Watson, 5707 Sarah Hill, $8.10; P. H. Dover, disturbing the peace, $5.00; James Covatt, W. H. Robb and A. Bowers, disturbing meeting in the Salvation Army hall, continued until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The McKanders concert company drew a fair house last evening. Sam Lucas was greeted with great applause by hundreds of old friends, and proved that time had detracted nothing from his old-time ability to amuse.

The company will show again this evening with an entire new program.

The annual meeting of the medical staff of St. Bernard's hospital will be held at the hospital this afternoon at 2 o'clock, to elect officers for the ensuing year and transact such other business as may properly come before the meeting.

By order of Dr. C. H. Pinney, president.

P. J. Day yesterday filed a plat of "Day's subdivision" with the county recorder. This new addition was originally lot 25, block 14, Ferry addition, but has been laid out in six lots fronting on Broadway, just west of Thirty-fourth street.

The land is owned by J. W. Tripp, and Mr. Day acts as his attorney-in-fact.

Work was commenced yesterday morning excavating for a new coal cellar at the court house. The new cellar will be put down to a level with the boiler room.

A few weeks ago the county supervisors had the grounds in front of the court house leveled to a depth of two or three feet, and now the work of hauling out this dirt keeps things lively in the vicinity of the court house.

Frank Jones, an employe of the Rock Island railway company, had his hand severely crushed between the bumpers while making a coupling Thursday afternoon.

He was taken to his home, 123 Eighth avenue, and Dr. Pinney found it necessary to amputate one finger. The unfortunate man is getting along nicely, but will be unable to resume work for some time.

Grant Palmer, a young man from Carson, was brought to this city yesterday morning to be examined by the board of insanity commissioners.

After his arrival here, he was deemed best to place him under the care of some of the city physicians, and he was removed to St. Bernard's hospital.

If his case continues to battle medical skill, he will be examined by the board and sent to Mount Pleasant.

On Sunday evening, October 7, Mrs. J. E. Harris, long a missionary to normal, will give an address at the Bethany Baptist church, corner of Bluff and Story streets, on the "People of Burma," their Customs and their Religions.

Her remarks will be illustrated by curios, as she will have with her the portable table which Adoniram Judson, the first American missionary to foreign lands, used in his evangelistic tour.

Last Wednesday afternoon Mr. S. H. Foster, of the firm of Foster Bros., well known druggists in this city, was united in marriage with Mrs. Minnie Conklin, of Waukesha, Wis., the home of the bride.

The groom was presented with a beautiful gold badge by the surviving members of the Twenty-eighth Wisconsin, to which regiment he belonged.

The newly wedded couple have the best wishes of hosts of friends in this city, where the groom has passed many of his years.

Squire Schurz's method of dealing out justice in police court is much relished by members of the police force. It very naturally goes somewhat "against the grain" to arrest parties day after day and see them turned loose by the court in the morning.

A look at the police court register shows that this is not now the case. Instead of getting off as lightly as possible, the delinquents are inclined to the extent of the law. It is a noticeable fact that the number of years is constantly decreasing, notwithstanding that the weather is getting colder.

The squire's heavy lines and the chief constable's fast cleaners are together producing good results.

Alderman Lacy, the Council Bluffs member of the committee on trades display in connection with the formal opening of a new bridge, is busy making arrangements for that event.

He is visiting all of the business houses in the city, to induce them to send out credit cards.

If any are overlooked they should understand that the oversight is unintentional, and should notify the committee of their intention to take part in the display.

The Omaha business houses will be limited to one wagon each, but there will be no restriction on this side of the river.

Agribusiness houses are preparing to make mammoth displays, and their lots will probably extend several blocks.

PLANS FOR ANOTHER BRIDGE

The Bridge Opening.

Preparations for the celebration of the opening of the new bridge are going on rapidly, and the indications are that the affair will be the grandest ever held in this part of the country.

The wedding of the twin cities will be made an inter-state affair, and distinguished guests from all parts of Iowa and Nebraska will be present on that day.

It is the intention of the management to make the occasion a memorable one, and no pains or expense will be spared to that end.

The committee, consisting of Alderman Alexander, of Omaha, and T. J. Evans, of this city, have arranged for a line of parade to be composed as follows:

Marshals and Mounted Police.

Band.

Governors of Iowa and Nebraska.

Iowa and Nebraska United States Senators.

Nebraska and Iowa Congressmen.

Government and Bridge Engineers, Bridge Contractors, Directors, Stockholders of Bridge Company.

Mayors and City Councils of Council Bluffs and Omaha.

Other City and County Officials.

Bishop Newman and other Local Clergymen.

United States troops from Fort Omaha.

Omaha Guards with Band.

The Council Bluffs division will start from the center of the city at 1 o'clock and the Omaha division at 1:30 o'clock.

Each will halt at its respective end of the bridge while the initiatory services, consisting of the presentation of the ponton bridge, placing of the engagement ring, breaking of a bottle of wine, etc., requiring about fifteen minutes, are taking place.

The ceremonies will occur on the middle of the bridge promptly at 2 o'clock. The division will then cross the bridge, where the Council Bluffs division will receive the ponton bridge.

The Omaha division will then march to this city, corresponding sections marching side by side so far as possible.

The public reception on this side of the river will be held at Bayliss park, and will consist of a few short speeches by representatives from both cities, music and a general handshaking.

Orders of march will be reversed, the Omaha division marching in open order and escorting the Council Bluffs division in the center.

Arriving at the west end of the bridge the wedding ceremony will take place, Bishop Newman officiating.

After parading through the principal streets in Omaha the line will disband at 5 o'clock.

At 7 o'clock in the evening mass meetings will be held in the two opera houses of Omaha, at which addresses will be delivered by the governors, United States senators, congressmen and others.

Aside from the taking of the engagement ring, there will be several special features of the occasion, and it is estimated that there will be at least one hundred and twenty-five thousand people in the city on the 30th of this month, to witness the imposing ceremonies.

French and eastern patterns will be shown in endless variety by Mrs. T. B. Louis on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, October 9 and 11.

See Forrest Smith's special column.

Still Another Bridge.

Mr. Lyman Banks, representing Colonel S. U. Stewart, the ponton bridge builder, of Philadelphia, was in the city yesterday.

Colonel Stewart is the builder of the ponton bridge at Nebraska City, and Mr. Banks' business here was in relation to the erection of a similar structure between this city and Omaha.

The cost of the bridge at Nebraska City was $100,000, and Mr. Banks stated that one could be built here for the same money.

The bridges are built on boats ten feet wide and twenty-four feet long, giving a roadway sixteen feet wide.

They are drawn by cables, and the cables are fastened to the shore by a system of pulleys and rollers.

The center of the bridge is a V, with the point extending down stream. This is necessary in order to make the bridge straight into the water from each shore for quite a distance, the shorter length being upon the side nearest the current, and the huge V connects the ends.

The bridge to allow the passage of a boat, all that is necessary is to unhook the two parts uniting at the point of the V, and the force of the current swings them apart and directly down stream, leaving an opening as large as the open part of the V.

The swinging ends are connected by chain cable, which drops to the bottom, out of the way of passing vessels.

One end of the chain is attached to a capstan, and when it is desired to close the bridge, one man is able to wind up the chain, thus drawing the ends together.

The draw can be opened and closed in twenty minutes.

Mr. Banks will appear before the city council Tuesday evening to secure the necessary permission to operate a transfer steamer until the bridge can be built.

The idea of a ponton bridge between Omaha and Council Bluffs will call for much diversity of opinion.

It is claimed that permission cannot be obtained to locate such a bridge at any point between the Union Pacific bridge and the Broadway bridge.

Another claim is that the bridge would be of little use to locate it elsewhere.

Another claim is that the bridge would be so situated as to really make one, and in will supply the needs fully.

The prediction is made that the putting in of such a bridge would cause a war of rates that would knock the profits off all bridge sales.

Another intimation is that the scheme is largely for the purpose of selling it to one of the other bridge companies at a handsome profit.

These and numerous other ideas are advanced by those who have heard of the new bridge.

Citizens generally will hail with a hearty welcome any and all bridges that can be built.

There is a feeling in favor of having a bridge at every street, every capitalist wants to build them.

"The more the merrier," is the motto. Now that the two cities are being so united as to really make one, all objections to bridges seem largely to have disappeared.

Mrs. T. B. Louis will display a fine line of hats and bonnets at her opening on Wednesday and Thursday evenings of next week.

Notice the beautiful finish given collars, cuffs and shirts by Cascade Laundry company.

For Rapid Transit.

A company has been formed with William Beck at its head for the operation of a pony express in the city.

The demand of the business interests for a rapid and reliable service of this character has seemed so great that such an enterprise as this has seemed to the men forming this company, to be one in which there is at least a fair profit, and hence its organization.

The city council has granted their petition and the city solicitor will prepare the necessary ordinance. This document will contain such restrictions and grant such privileges as are necessary for the parties to the contract.

Certain streets will be designated upon which horses can be driven at a greater rate of speed than that now granted by the city.

Other features of metropolitan life will be added to the city from time to time, as the necessities of the people demand.

Better Thief Catchers Wanted.

Council Bluffs, Ia. Oct. 6, 1888. The Editor of THE BEE: In the name of a galled, long-suffering and patient public I beg to inquire why the mayor of Council Bluffs, the council or the police force do not take some steps toward ridding this city of the gang of burglars which infest it at present?

Robberies of dwelling houses in broad daylight are daily occurring, each bringing its quota of houses broken into and pillaged and each day that passes shows that the scoundrels who are at this work are growing bolder.

It is a list of the houses robbed during the month of September were published it would surprise and alarm the most careless citizen of Council Bluffs.

The worst feature of it is the criminally careless attitude maintained by our police force towards the offenses and offenders.
