A warrant has been sworn out for the arrest of Ernest Myers for selling liquors without a license. It is said that he has been selling on the strength of the similarity of his name with that of Ernest Meyer. Rev. F. W. Foster opened a free night school Tuesday evening at 2413 Saunders street, in Immanuel Baptist church room and will hold it three evenings every week for the next six months from 7:30 to 8:20. A strand of the Harney street cable got caught Tuesday night in the machinery at the power house at 10:30 o'clock. The cars were stopped. At 3 o'clock yesterday morning the cable was spliced. The cars commenced to run at the usual time. Personal Paragraphs. F. M. Hall, of Lincoln, is at the Paxton. J. H. Ayer, of Lincoln, is at the Millard. T. C. Bivin, of Seward, is at the Millard. Connors & Co., late of Chicago. This is the third firm now engaged in the business here, McWhorter & Rollins and J. M. Stuebel being the other two. The new firm has come here with a belief in the future of Omaha as a grain center. They Want a Walk. Residents on Twenty-second street complain of the sidewalk, or rather the want of one, on the west side between Mason and Leavenworth. The owner of the property is said to be financially able to attend to it, but has other things to look after. Citizens passing along are compelled to take the center of the road when it rains, and are anxiously inquiring for the sidewalk inspector. Church Dedication. Trinity M. E. church, in Kountze Place, will be dedicated next Sunday. Bishop Newman will preach the sermon in the morning, which will be followed by dedicatory services. The sermon in the evening will be delivered by Rev. Dr. R. N. McKaig, of the Hennepin Avenue M. E. church of Minneapolis. The following Sunday morning, Chancellor Crockett of the Nebraska Wesleyan university, will preach. The "Mashoon" in Orchard Hill. The residents of Walnut Hill, Orchard Hill, Appleton Park, and surrounding vicinity met at Hertzmansky's hall last evening and organized a volunteer fire department, with W. A. L. Gibson as president, Paul E. Seward secretary, and Jerome K. Coulter treasurer. Committees were appointed to make the necessary arrangements to obtain hose from the city. A place has been obtained for the cart. The next meeting will be held at the same place Monday evening, October 30, at 8 o'clock. He Couldn't Read. Dr. Jeffries, who lives on the island, is the owner of three powerful bull dogs, which are very good specimens to be left severely alone. He was awakened Monday evening by the sounds of a terrific encounter of some kind, which led him to believe that he would find himself the proprietor of three dead dogs in the morning. He was mistaken, however, for with the exception of a few cuts there were all right, while in the mud was the carcass of a magnificent specimen of the prairie grey wolf, measuring over five feet from tip to tip. The doctor has a sign "beware the dog" and his wolfship failed to read it, to his sorrow. Geese and Turkeys. There was a party of hunters returned yesterday from a trip to Valley, where it is known they went in quest of ducks. One of the party was J. J. Donnelly, jr., of the A. D. T. company. Ducks were scarce, and to keep up appearances, the hunters turned their thoughts to some turkeys which attracted their attention in a neighboring field. What they did to the turkeys or what the farmers who owned the turkeys did to them can only be imagined, because but one of the party has as yet made his appearance on the street and he looks as if he had been crushed by a boulder, especially on the bridge of his nose. Indian Goods. The following officers have been detailed to witness the issue of annuity goods to the Indians and the agencies mentioned: First Lieutenant Levi F. The gang of safe-crackers who have lately come to Omaha made another raid Tuesday night, this time on the safe in Yates' saloon, at 514 South Tenth street. The first intimation the proprietor had of the burglary was in the morning when he opened his saloon and found the safe door open and a number of chains, hammers and screw drivers lying on the floor near by. The thieves managed to open the drawer in the safe and get 50, but before they got into the money box, where there was considerable booty, they were scared away. The burglars instruments are at the police station and Captain Green facetiously remarks that the owners can have them by calling and proving property. Cleveland & Harrison agree on one point, that the best out is Jarvis' old Brandy. Remember. C. E. Mayne is again ready to take your property for sale and give it his personal attention. Found Him in Blair. The Bee of yesterday contained a reference to the mysterious disappearance of C. H. Williams, a veterinary surgeon who had recently arrived from England and had been stopping at the residence of B. W. Riley. The paragraph found the missing man at Blair and impelled him to write immediately to his friends, with whom he had not communicated since his departure. The letter was received this morning. It stated that the writer was in good health and in hopes of securing employment. Although in great haste, said Mr. Riley, "Williams' letter does not in the least savor of any intention at suicide, and as he is a very steady and careful young man, I have little doubt that he yet earns a good living. The report that Williams' brother had died is erroneous." Council Bluffs Property. We are now ready to show intending purchasers the best property at the lowest prices. Yesterday morning the body of a man was found in the Missouri at Florence, and Coroner Drexel was summoned. An inquest was held, resulting in the discovery that the body was that of J. D. Burke, a farmer residing about eight miles from Florence. About one week ago, Burke was in the above town on a protracted spree. He was seen late last Saturday night in a drunken stupor, and it is thought while in this condition, he fell into the river and was drowned. The inquest resulted in a verdict accordingly. Burke leaves a widow and eight children in destitute circumstances. Advice to Mothers. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used for children teething. FAIRBANK SCALE CO. The Irish-Americans. The Irish-American club met at its rooms in the Barker hotel last evening, and it was unanimously agreed that the club as a body should attend the grand ratification at Papillion on Saturday next. Mr. Mullan, candidate for the legislature from Douglas county and a member of the club, addressed the meeting at length on the issues of the day. All doctors recommend Jarvis' Brandy. It is Reorganized. "Good morning, Mr. Mayne." "Good morning." "How is this—the doors of your old office open and a full force of help ready to wait on customers? I thought you had quit the real estate business." "Yes, I did, but everything looked so propitious for a move in real estate that I decided to again commence, and as two or three other parties were desirous of placing their abilities and money by the side of mine, I have reorganized the old C. E. Mayne Real Estate and Trust Co., and have now associated with me Mr. S. M. Crosby, a wealthy attorney from Pennsylvania, and Mr. John Riley, lately of Ohio, each of whom will take an active and personal part in the business, and we mean to push the business for all it is worth." "Are you going to look after the business personally?" "Why certainly I am. I expect to devote almost the whole of my time and my best energies to it, and if there is anything to be done in real estate, we will certainly do our share of it, and you know the share that fell to the old C. E. Mayne Real Estate & Trust Co., when they were in business before, was a large proportion of all that was done in the city." "Yes, you certainly did do an extensive business, and you have my best wishes for even a larger one now than you ever had before." "Good morning." To Hear Allison. The various republican clubs met at their respective quarters last night and made arrangements to attend the republican demonstration to be held in Council Bluffs this evening, at which time Wm. B. OH! MY HEAD. The pain from Neuralgia and its companion disease Rheumatism is excruciating. Thousands who could be quickly cured are needlessly suffering. Anti-phosphors will do for others what it did for the following parties: William Reed, Ind. Oct. 8, 1887. Having been afflicted with neuralgia for the past four years, and trying almost everything, but to no avail, I finally heard of Anti-phosphors. After taking one bottle I found it to be the only thing that cured me. I have since taken three more bottles and I feel as well as I ever did. I think the medicine is positively a sure cure. CHAS. H. BRENCKE, St. Charles, Ill., Dec. 28, 1887. WE ARE READY With our building, and now have a store such as we always wanted! This is the third time since we started here—two years ago—that we have enlarged our store. This last addition is the biggest. We have more room now for the crowds, and for a bigger business. As we have always tried hard, and succeeded in keeping our former smaller store crowded with customers, so will we make every effort in the larger place and expect the crowds of buyers to increase in the same proportion as we have increased the room for them. The opening of our mammoth establishment will be made memorable by a clothing sale which will make not only Omaha and Nebraska, but the whole country talk about us. We are now getting in a wholesale stock of fine overcoats and suits for which our eastern representative has been bargaining for weeks, and succeeded in getting at greatly less than manufacturer's cost. We have kept this stock purposely for our opening, and will sacrifice it for the sake of making a big advertisement for our big place. The goods are all of the better grades and well made, especially among the overcoats will be found some high class garments, as can only be approached in elegance, fit and quality by the very best merchant tailors. We are marking these goods at prices which will not be 50c on the dollar of their actual value, and the prices will hold good until every dollar of the stock is sold. We want to make our opening an event that will be remembered in years. This greatest of all clothing sales begins on SATURDAY MORNING. Plain Figures and One Price.
