Light Sales of Oats—Not Much Done in Provisions—Cattle Still Unusually Slow—Too Much Political Talk.

CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—The panic was not out of wheat to-day and the tendency of values was down most of the time, though there were, of course, sharp rallies during the course of the session. Yesterday there were some very large buying orders in the hands of commission merchants a little way under the market at the inside range. To-day these orders seem to have been withdrawn or else the limits reduced. The bears operated with greater confidence than they have displayed for a month, and to their astonishment they met with less resistance than they have been accustomed to encountering of late. The selling seemed to be led by Linn, whose views are very pronounced, and who operates courageously when he engages in a campaign. The bull leaders, on the other hand, seemed indisposed at present to contest the tendency to a decline, though the strongest of them are said to be buying on a large scale. The short interest has certainly been largely increased by the dealings of the past few days. Whether that is an element of weakness is exceedingly questionable in view of the lightness of stocks and the limited forward movement. The receipts at primary markets are small, and although the northwest is flooding speculative centers with dispatches telling of a largely augmented movement the receipts at the principal points do not yet show it. The sudden revolution in the character of news from that quarter, the change from famine to a troublesome plenty in a day, is viewed with natural suspicion, especially in view of the fact that a quiet canvass shows that some of the big men up there have sold out and are presumably anxious for a break to get in again. It may be mentioned in this connection, however, that if they had not first felt warranted from a review of the situation to anticipate a reaction, they would not have sold out, probably. The bulls and bears alike may extract comfort from the operations of the northwesterners. Cables were rather better in tone and New York reported buying for foreign account in that market. Heretofore New York has led every other market on downturns, but to-day it actually pulled back. Minneapolis reported the execution of good sized orders for flour export. These reports could not be verified, however. Opening trades were around $1.17⅞ for May, though $1.17¼@1.16⅞ would probably more correctly represent the initial range. The market then sold down to $1.16¾, up to $1.17⅜, off to $1.16¾, up to $1.17⅛, back to $1.16¾, up again to $1.17@1.17¼, down to $1.16, up to $1.16⅛@1.16⅜, off to $1.15, up to $1.15¼ and sharply down to $1.14. The net decline on the day was about 3c and the weakness became emphasized as the session advanced. It was very sick right at the close. Hutchinson was a liberal seller all day. It was reported early in the day that he went home last night long on a larger line of wheat than any day yet, but if this be true he seems at the present moment to be perfectly willing to see a further decline. Lyon and one or two parties were free sellers of December, carly getting rid of considerable lines. December averaged ¾c under May when the market was settled, but on the slump December was lost sight of, quotations being nominal. Closing prices were $1.13⅜ for December and $1.14 for May. This is the low point of the day and week and makes a decline of 8c from the outside quotations made on the late advance. During the last hour the crowd was suffered to trade without assistance or opposition from Hutchinson, who sat complacently through the "razzle dazzle" as though he hadn't a cent's worth on the market.

The receipts of corn were 38 cars over the timates, but inspection out of store was unusually heavy, and experts continue to show up respectable quantities going forward from Atlantic ports. There were also fresh orders for export on the New York market to-day, resulting in the taking of eight boats early with probably more being worked later in the day. The opening of the market was characterized by a fair amount of activity at about the closing prices of yesterday. There was a moderate amount of buying for account of an influential operator, and he took a fair quantity of the December, January and May deliveries. Fluctuations were held within narrow bounds and the total amount of transactions were light, and principally on local account. The market was quiet and steady during the greater part of the day, an excellent demand for shipment doing much to sustain it. Closing quotations show a slight gain on all futures. November, which closed at 38⅝c is ⅜c higher; December at 38¾c, or 1 1-4c higher; January at 37⅝c, ½c higher, and May at 39c, ¼c higher than the respective closing prices on Friday.

Oats were sold rather sparingly within a narrow and uninteresting range, not differing materially from yesterday, and receipts were fairly liberal, the inspection sheet showing 51 cars of contract grade out of a total of 237 cars. Near futures were neglected, with this and the next months saleable at yesterday's prices and decreased trading in May at 28¾@29c, one trade touching 29@29¼c. Cash oats sold sparingly at 24½c for No. 2 in store, or ½c improvement, with trading chiefly in samples.

In provisions the day's business was somewhat contracted. Sales for immediate delivery were spasmodic, slow and without special feature. There were no individual movements to mention and with the general run of traders an undecided feeling held control. In the market, however, a strong undertone was manifested, though lard, January short ribs and the different deliveries of pork, except January, closed the same as yesterday. January pork was advanced 5c, and for November short ribs the quotations reported showed a nominal improvement of 10c.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—CATTLE—Business was unusually slow, even for Saturday. The bulk of stock on sale was made up of Texans and rangers. There were scarcely half a dozen heads of decent natives on sale. Neither shippers or beef packers seemed to want that class of stock, and the chances were that more than half of the arrivals would have to be carried over for Monday's market. Buyers were satisfied with the prices asked, but they did not want cattle and eastern and European markets were reported full of dressed beef and prices there on the decline. General trade closes for the week demoralized. Receipts for the past three weeks will aggregate nearly 190,000. Cow stock and the common grades of natives are down to the lowest prices ever known and are liable to remain there till the run of rangers and Texans gets up to fair proportions. The stocker and feeder trade has been dull from the opening to the close. No one seems to want to buy either with the prospects ahead just now; natives, $2.30@4.75; Texans, $1.40@3.35; cows, bulls and mixed, $1.50@3.35.

HOGS—Business opened slow with a down turn of 5@10c on some easy sales, showing a reduction of 15c, but at the decline there was an active demand and about everything on the market was sold out, late arrivals only remaining unsold. Common mixed sold down to $5.40@5.45 and best mixed largely at $5.50, with best heavy marking $5.60@5.65; light sorts, $5.40@5.50. There was more politics than business in the yards this morning.

FINANCIAL

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—STOCKS—The week closed with a quiet and inconsequential stock market. The opening was at or near the final prices of yesterday and values did not get far away from these figures during the short session. Missouri Pacific and one or two other securities figured up a little on stories about Gould fixing up an agreement with Atchison.

OMAHA LIVE STOCK.

Cattle.

Saturday, Nov. 3, 1888.

As a rule Saturday is a very dull day on the cattle market; no one cares to buy cattle to hold over until Monday and the actual requirements of the day are very small. Today, however, the market was unusually quiet and the sales were small and far between. In addition to being dull the market was easier in sympathy with eastern markets. Just as the market closed a few bunches were rushed over the scales which helped to make a better showing of the day's sales.

Hogs.

The receipts were light and the demand good and everything was sold out early at steady prices. One very choice load reached $5.45.

Sheep.

The offerings were liberal and quite a good many changed hands.
