The city council meets this evening.
Elegant overcoats at A. Reiter's, merchant tailor, 312 Broadway.
Best hard and soft coal and Missouri wood. E. E. Mayne, 619 Broadway.

The Presbyterian church appears to much greater advantage now that the addition is nearing completion.
Ten lots have been sold near the river to a Cincinnati firm for a factory. The details will be made public soon.

Cheaper gas is promised so soon as the new retort is completed. It cannot be finished too soon to suit consumers.
At the Congregational church yesterday eight new members were received.
The church, under the pastorate of Rev. Mr. Crofts, seems to be prospering and growing in all ways.

Star chapter, No. 47, R. A. M., will meet in regular convocation this (Monday) evening at 7:30 o'clock. Installation of officers. Visiting R. A. M. cordially invited. By order R. A. M. E. H. P.
The trustees of the Chautauque Assembly are requested to meet at the board of trade rooms at 9 o'clock this morning. It is desired that all shall be present, as important business will be considered.

The republican township convention nominated Squire, one of the justices, but the Nonpareil declines to put his name among the nominees, probably because he has been so long time a democrat.

Some of the Bluffites who attended the democratic rally in Omaha Saturday night came home rather noisy.
The appearance of the line marching up Broadway at midnight was hardly in keeping with that made on the downward trip a few hours previously.

Two blocks yet remain to be paved on Pierce and Stetson streets. The work will be completed Wednesday night.
The paving of Sixth and Seventh streets will be commenced in a day or two, as soon as Wickham & Co. finish relaying the torn up paving for the Electric Motor company. The work on Willow avenue is already completed.

Notwithstanding the crowds upon the streets yesterday, there was not a single case of drunkenness or disturbing the peace during the day. The only arrests made since Friday evening were made Saturday night, and there were but two of them. The Bluffs was evidently on her good behavior, and the visitors were impressed accordingly.

The "Glen avenue girls" cling to each other with strong friendship. The recent marriage of one of them, Mrs.
Tostevin, and Mr. Wakefield, made another break in their ranks. Saturday evening the young ladies joined in a party in honor of the newly wedded ones, who had just returned from their trip. The gathering was at the residence of W. S. Keeline.

The bill for the fire department in October was over $1,100. It costs the city for water and for the fire department about $35,000, and the total losses by fire did not reach one-third of that amount. It seems that insurance rates in the Bluffs should be much lower than they are in view of the showing of the past few years. Rates are higher now in many cases than when the city had no paid fire department and no water protection.

Mr. R. S. Richardson, one of the proprietors of the Revere house, lost an overcoat at the Methodist church last evening. Mr. Richardson is a chair of the shers and left his coat on a chair near the door while he was waiting for a people. He was absent but a few moments, but when he returned the coat was gone. He obtained a description of the thieves from some boys sitting near and started in pursuit. Both were arrested late in the evening. It is decidedly tough to steal a man's clothes while he is in church, and no one understands this more thoroughly than "Bob."

One of the street car mules was disabled yesterday morning on the Pearl street line. Planking had been temporarily laid along the track at the switch near Broadway until the paving could be replaced, and in passing over the loose plank the animal caught his foot between the rails and he was thrown. It was thought at first that the leg was broken, but the obstruction was removed and the burro assisted to his feet. He was taken to the barn on three legs and another animal supplied.
The place is very dangerous, as the footing between the frogs is decidedly uncertain. The paving will be replaced to-day by Wickham & Co., who have nearly completed their work at the corner of Broadway and Thirteenth street, where they are doing a similar job.

The Wires to Be Higher.

It has been decided to make a change in the "trolley cars" now in use on the electric motor cars, but this will not delay the opening of the line. Those now on the cars were designed for a wire twenty feet high, but since the recent accident to the wires at the Northwest corner crossing the company has decided to raise the wires two feet. This neces-itates a longer arm. The wires are strung at present are high enough to clear the head of a brakeman on the top of a freight car, but not high enough to clear the company's steam shovel.
In raising them two feet they will be as high as a railroad bridge and will not interfere with anything that will pass through the railroad company's bridges.
It will probably require about two weeks to get the new arms, and in the meantime the company will "shoot" the crossings. Sufficient speed will be secured before reaching the crossing to take the cars across. The "traveler" will be pulled down until the opposite side is reached. The change will prevent the possibility of another such accident to the wires and a stoppage of the cars.

The Wheels Go 'Round.

Another perfect Sunday brought crowds of Omaha visitors to the Bluffs.
During the entire day an endless stream of carriages and foot passengers passed over the new bridge. The streets of this city were literally alive with the carriages and the parks were filled with those who had walked over the river.
Fairmount Park seemed to be the destination of the majority of the pleasure seekers, and its winding drives presented a lively scene. The visitors were intent on taking in all of the beauties of the Bluffs, and drove up one street and down another until nightfall.
Lower Broadway was completely filled with elegant turnouts. The appearance of the city was truly metropolitan, the appearance of the streets being more bustling and lively than on an average week day. Many of the visitors were unable to find their way to Fairmount Park and went home disappointed. The distance is so short, however, now that the bridge is opened, that the Bluffs will soon see them again. For the benefit of those who desire to visit the park, THE BEE gives these simple directions: Drive up Broadway to the Methodist church, and then keep to the right to the end of the paving. If next Sunday is pleasant Fairmount Park will be even more crowded than yesterday.

The Death of Darling.

Coroner Waterman empaneled a jury yesterday morning for the purpose of holding an inquest over the remains of William R. Darling, who was killed by the Union Pacific dummy train at the Tenth street crossing Saturday evening.
Several witnesses were examined, but the only ones who could throw any light on the matter were the man who was riding with Mr. Darling and a little boy who stood near by and witnessed the accident. The witness testified that they did not see the train until it was almost upon them, when the front feet of the horses were on the track. He jumped and Mr. Darling followed him. The horses started to run and he followed them to Pearl street, thinking that Mr. Darling had escaped. He found the team tied in the business part of the city, and supposed that the driver had caught them and was in a store. He went home to supper, and knew nothing of the accident until quite late in the evening.
From him it was learned that the dead man knew nothing of the approach of the train until they were on the crossing. The boy stated that Mr. Darling fell when he jumped, but that he had arisen and was nearly erect when his foot caught and he fell again, and the engine struck him before he could get out of the way.

The boy saw the brake-beam strike the unfortunate man, and then became frightened and ran home. The engine drawing the train was running backward, as is usually the case in approaching the Broadway depot. It was the brake-beam on the rear end of the tender that struck the man and crushed him.
The evidence of the train men proved that the train was running at the rate of six or seven miles an hour, and it was stopped almost instantly.
The engineer applied the air-brakes, reversed the engine and turned on a full head of steam. The bell was ringing from the time the train left the transfer depot, as is always the case, and the whistle was sounded as usual at crossings.

After hearing the testimony the jury viewed the scene of the accident, after which they returned a verdict to the effect that the deceased came to his death by being struck by a Union Pacific engine, and the engineer was to blame for not sounding his whistle and for running at too high a rate of speed.
No arrangements have yet been made for the funeral.

A New Church.

The Bethany Baptist church is destined to be a potent factor in the religious work of the city. Young as an organized body, it possesses elements which will make its possessors felt in this community. Numerically few, but in power a host. It has a beautiful brick chapel situated at the corner of Broad and Worth streets, a good organ, choir and the various internal organizations of the department work of all churches. It has in the Rev. E. N.
Harris an able exponent of the doctrines of that church and a gentleman whose geniality will make friends for any organization with which he is associated.
He is a young man of perhaps thirty years, personally magnetic and compasionable, a clear, logical thinker, a good singer, and a speaker of more than usually good address.

Yesterday morning's services were peculiarly interesting in the fact that the chapel had been lately finished to suit the requirements of the church organization. The lesson of the morning was on the writings of the Apostle Paul, and embodied this as the central thought: "Whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God." But the first thing to be noticed in relation to this text is the fact that we need not be alarmed by it.
Many times this passage has been quoted to mean that we should be careful and not lose the hope we have in Christ Jesus and that after being adopted into the family of God there is yet a possibility of failure to reach heaven. The idea that God will keep that which is committed to his care and when once saved the soul cannot fall of final salvation was developed at length. The thought in the text is not that we should have a care else we lose our souls, but that after having entered the way of life further progress in it is to be made by ourselves, "according to the purposes of God in Christ Jesus our Lord."

"For it is He that worketh through us to will and to do of His own good pleasure." Christ says: "No man shall be able to pluck thee out of my hand." Paul says: "Nothing shall be able to separate me from this love." If once we are sons of God there is no possibility of losing the relation of sonship.
The father may disinherit the son, but the fact of sonship is not changed. The Jews wandered away into idolatry but God saved them because they were "His chosen people." We are saved by grace, not only "have been," but are saved.
Salvation is more than rescue from something. It includes and gives as the principal idea that which follows to the soul as the legitimate heritage of the soul that is saved. Not only saved from death, but saved to life eternal. The thought, "Work out your own salvation," was beautifully illustrated by a diamond, which given one to keep, a "free gift." By our own work we may cut away the rough outside, smooth and polish the stone until all its beauties are revealed. In entering the promised land we are not to possess it all at once, but little by little. Each battle with the enemy outside or struggle with self brings us into a greater possession of the heritage of the saints. "It is worth all it costs," was the closing remark of the preacher, for whatsoever a man leaves in this life God gives him tenfold in the life to come.

The Number Registered.
Despite the united attempt of all the papers to get all voters to register, it is evident that many have neglected doing so. Still the number shows an increase as follows:

|                              | 1888. | 1887. |
|------------------------------|-------|-------|
| First ward                   | 691   | 604   |
| Second ward                  | 1,691 | 1,094 |
| Third ward                   | 739   | 660   |
| Fourth ward, First precinct  | 913   | 729   |
| Fourth ward, Second precinct | 455   | 362   |

Total

3,859 3,249

This is an increase of about one-sixth.

At this rate of increase, calling the population of Council Bluffs 10,000 a year ago, there has been added to the city 5,000 population in twelve months.

The showing of new names added to the letter carriers' list and the showing of the school census, both indicate that there has been a much larger increase in population than is shown by the registry.

It is evident that many have failed to register. Many others have not resided here long enough to secure a vote.

On election day there will be many additional registers, but only such as can make affidavit that they were absent from the city on the three days of registration, can secure this privilege.

Personal Paragraphs.

F. W. Reed, who has become associated with Benson & Shepherd, has returned to Elmwood, Ill., to close up his business there preparatory to making this city his permanent home.

Rev. S. R. Bonnell gave an interesting lecture in the Congregational church last evening, in which he vividly described the wonderful change wrought in Japan during the past few years. He was formerly in the governmental employ there, and is thoroughly conversant with his subject.

Few outside of those in musical circles realize what Council Bluffs has gained in having such a list as Prof. Buetens located permanently here. It is fortunate that so many are availing themselves of the opportunity to get instruction from him. With his pupils in Omaha and Council Bluffs he is kept busy, and it is hoped that his help will prove sufficiently profitable to retain him. When he concluded to leave Cincinnati, where he was so prominent in connection with the college of music, and where he was conceded such high rank as a musician, he went to New York and Boston laid claims to him. He decided in favor of the west, and it is hoped that the venture may result in his permanent retention here.

Dr. F. P. Bellinger, the physician who attended Henry Hilbert, who died at the W. C. A. hospital Friday evening, was very desirous of making a post-mortem examination, but the authorities refused to allow it. The man died of alcoholism, and the symptoms indicated that he had taken morphine. The physician desired to examine the stomach and brain of the deceased to ascertain, if possible, what was the cause of death. The remains still lie at the undertaking rooms of Morgan, Keller & Co., awaiting a reply from his relatives as to the disposition to make of them.
