Johnson's Denial.

A Johnson, a brakeman on the B. & M., who recently figured in a watch transaction which caused his arrest, writes that he did not, as stated, steal the time piece, but that he bought it from a party who had stolen it and as soon as he discovered the fact, he turned the watch over to a policeman.

Put on Your Parades.

The chief of police has written letters to the superintendents of the street car and cable companies notifying them that he has been instructed by the mayor not to permit any cars to run into any procession that may hereafter be parading the streets of the city. A large procession will parade the streets next Saturday night. The superintendent is instructed to arrest immediately any street car driver or gripman who violates this order.

Houses on the Street.

An indignant citizen makes the following request:—Are "squatters" allowed to occupy the middle of the street? There has been a family living on a lot out front between Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh streets, for some time past. The owner of the lot has now moved the house, out-buildings and all into the street, where they have been standing for nearly three weeks, and the prospects are that they will stand there all winter. Where are our city authorities that such things are tolerated.

A Library For Soldiers.

A friend of the boys in blue addresses the wives and mothers of all the old veterans, ministers, editors, lawyers, business men, patriotic citizens and loyal people of Omaha as follows: Many influences that tend to drag a man downward, as saloons and their attendant evils, surround our soldier boys at Fort Omaha. Will not every true woman, who reads these lines, help to uplift them and brighten the coming winter by looking over her husband's library? And selecting some good book or books that will prove instructive, helpful and interesting, such as books of poems, history, travels, temperance, biographies, interesting lectures and sermons, and send to Bliss & Isaacs' grocery store, north side of Farnam near Fifteenth street, before the 24th of November, so that Thanksgiving day a nice library may be presented to the soldiers of Fort Omaha in behalf of the loyal citizens of Omaha. Please write your name in the book or on a slip of paper so that those contributing may be published. If it is convenient, for each one contributing books to also send a nickel, a beautiful scripture or temperance calendar with its helpful thoughts for each day in the year, may be procured and hung in each of the soldier's quarters or barracks.

While your hearts are glad over one good deed, add to the gladness by sending a nice package of magazines and good papers, the bigger the bundle the better, to aid the various departments of our work in the city. People are hungering for good, interesting stories all around us, and who can estimate the value and healthful influence of good reading.

LOVES THE WEST.

Dr. Duryea Wants to Come to Omaha to Work.

Rev. J. T. Duryea, of the Second Congregational church of Boston, has acknowledged the receipt of a call of the Congregational church in this city. Dr. Duryea is regarded as one of the most scholarly pastors in Boston, and has been prominent in public and charitable movements. He has been a lecturer at Wellesley college and at the New England Conservatory of Music, in addition to his ministerial work. Relative to the call Dr. Duryea recently said:

I have consulted with the church and have referred the matter to the council which governs such matters in our denomination. They will probably grant my request for a change of pastoral station, and was much impressed with the necessity for good workers there. In Yankton I was present at a meeting of fifty missionaries to Dakota who live there on an average of $100 a year. There was a call for money to build an addition to the Yankton college, and when those missionaries began subscribing out of their slender salaries towards it I was thrilled, and resolved to do what I could to help the growing western cities. I have had three positions offered me of importance, including the presidency of a college and the office of head of the theological department of Yankton college. Any one of these three would have given an increase of $2,000 over my present salary. The Omaha call is at a considerable reduction from what I receive here. But I do not think it right that so many ministers be gathered in the coast cities while the west is crying for men. My services to the Conservatory, to Wellesley and other colleges near here, have been entirely without pay, as that was the way I could best help them. Others could give money, while I gave my Monday, a time ordinarily devoted to recreation to this mission. Dr. Duryea is a member of the Boston school committee, and aroused the protests of many of his Protestant brothers by urging the removal of sectarian history from the public schools at the request of the Catholics and acquiescing in the censuring of Master Travis.

THE COURTS.

An Interesting Case Involving an Agent's Commission.

Eight prisoners were arraigned before Judge Groff in the district court yesterday on criminal charges. Following are the names, the substance of the complaints and the pleas:

Al. Petty, charged with stealing a double harness from the barn of John O'Brien, not guilty.

Robert Ferguson, charged with forging Mae & Ettinger's name to a check on the Union National bank for $47.85, guilty. Ferguson's second boy was in the hands of Mae & Ettinger as a driver. The court sentenced him to a year in the penitentiary, and dismissed him with a little fatherly advice.

John Willis and George Witting, charged with receiving flour stolen from B. Weissmann, not guilty.

Albert Smith, charged with stealing from Doney & Stone a bedstead, lounge, mattress, bed springs, cot, rocker and a dozen chairs, not guilty.

John Davis, charged with assaulting Lewis Hill and robbing him of $23, not guilty.

James Bond, charged with assaulting Sanford O. Wilson, robbing him of a silver watch and $25, not guilty.

Judge Doane took up the case of C. A. Jacobson vs John A. Creighton, at the solicitation of the plaintiff. Creighton permitted him to solicit a buyer for 240 acres of land near Cut-Off lake. Creighton promised him a commission of $2,500 if he sold the tract for $300 an acre. Jacobson brought in a man named Benson, who after some negotiation, agreed to buy for $31,000, one-third down. Benson promised to return the next day, but when the papers were ready to be ready, Jacobson appeared in the morning and asked for his commission, but Benson has not shown up since. Jacobson is suing on theory that he was entitled to his commission as soon as he brought an acceptable purchaser. He alleges that Creighton was not in his office at the time he sold, and that he became discouraged. The jury returned a verdict for the defendant.

Judge Wakely stood another dose of Hoagland vs Van Ethen.

Charles White, charged with the Lark silver robbery, will have his new trial to-day. The trial of the prisoners arraigned yesterday will begin Monday.

Judge Hopewell took up the suit of Ellen McNamara against Louis Petersen and George Waddell, to recover a lot of household goods taken under an execution on a judgment against Mrs. Martha McNamara. The plaintiff made the plea that she owns the property, that she is the head of a family and exempt from the execution. A verdict was rendered for the plaintiff.

Judge Groff began the hearing of the suit of Rueckheim Bros. of Chicago, against Kopp, Dresibus & Co., for a balance of $72.30 on a bill of confectionery. The triviality of the case put the whole court room in a broad grin.

United States Court.

Argument in the street railway injunction case was postponed till Monday morning, when Judge Brewer will be on the bench. Judge Dundy put in the morning hearing motions.

County Court.

Judgments were entered for plaintiffs as follows: Alfred Gary & Co. against Peter Hanson, $473.30, for goods sold and delivered. William Gould & Co. against Walter Bennett, $96.45, on a note.

Henry J. Abraham filed a petition to be appointed administrator of the estate of Max Abraham.

Barbara Bros. have sued Mr. Christianson for $450 for rent of a store.

Not the Slightest Doubt.

The report gained circulation Wednesday in Omaha that a prominent democrat here had received a telegram from Chairman Brice, of the democratic national committee, to the effect that Cleveland would be safe when the canvass shall be completed in New York. It is practically what Mr. Brice gave out in New York Wednesday, when he said: "We concede nothing, and from the latest returns there is a fair indication that Cleveland has carried New York state."

The report spread in the city quickly, and it naturally would in order to put a quietus upon it, The Bee telegraphed the republican national committee in New York, and yesterday received the following dispatch:

"Brice is very much mistaken. New York is good for upwards of 14,000. Harrison's election is assured."

"J. S. FASSETT, Secretary."

Dr. George L. Miller, a prominent democrat here, is reported to have expressed himself as highly pleased with the result. He characterized the rebuke given the administration for surrendering everything to the solid south, and ignoring the great democrats of the north, as justly deserved. In his opinion the free-trade idea is dead.

MYSTERIOUS DEATH.

Suspicious Circumstances Surrounding a Woman's Decease.

There is a mystery about the death of Laura Black, a young woman of twenty, who died last Thursday at Twenty-second and Clark streets, which, it is claimed, calls for investigation. There are a number of people in the vicinity who believe that the unfortunate young woman died from the effects of an attempted abortion.

About seven weeks ago Miss Black, in company with one Charles W. Williams, came to the boarding house kept by Mrs. Ludlow, on the northwest corner of Twenty-second and Clark streets, in search of a room. They claimed to be married, and Mrs. Ludlow unsuspectingly believed that they were telling the truth, and rented one of her rooms to them. She had no idea of her purpose in coming until a week ago last Sunday. Williams and a well-known physician were seen going to Mrs. Black's room about midnight. Shortly afterward pouring cries were heard from the young woman and continued for some time. The other persons in the house were greatly disturbed, but as they knew a physician was with the young woman they supposed that everything was all right.

The next day Mrs. Ludlow on going to the young woman's room discovered unmistakable evidence of a child having been born. In corroboration of this were a number of appliances used in such emergencies. On being asked in regard to the matter the young woman denied it, and the day before she had been about and lively as ever, but on the day in question she was confined to her bed, looked pale and exhausted, and was suffering from the great pain of a typical fever. On a day or two Mrs. Ludlow, who has had considerable experience in fevers and is satisfied that was not the case, made Miss Black's mother, and the physician what was the matter with the girl, and this time was informed that it was inflammation of the bowels.

The doctor continued his visits until Thursday, when, although it was apparent the woman was dying, he talked encouragingly of her recovery. In addition two well-known medical men were called in, and it is much to Williams' displeasure, and they said nothing could be done to save her. They stayed in the house for forty-eight hours to alleviate her sufferings, but at the end of that time she died.

The two physicians were satisfied that something was wrong, and asked for a post mortem examination, but Williams most decidedly denied them this privilege. They said that this would be necessary before they could sign the death certificate, and that, by law, should be in the hands of the secretary of the board of health before the body was interred. Williams then said that he would get the physician who had attended his wife to sign the paper.

The woman died Thursday evening and the woman who prepared the body for the unmistakable evidence of childbirth. The body was then hurriedly taken to Taggart's undertaking shop, and early the next morning the body was buried in the cemetery.

A number of physicians who knew of the case call at Taggart's while the body was there but were refused permission to examine it.

Since then the attending physician has been approached in regard to the death of the girl. He says that she died of inflammation of the bowels, but that he is satisfied that the less said about the matter the better.

The stories told by Williams and the girl before she died are conflicting in every particular. She claimed that she was married to him three years ago and he said they had been wedded only six months. At first she claimed to be twenty-eight years old, but later admitted she was only nineteen. She has relatives in Ashland, in this state, and also in Indiana, but when dying refused to have them sent for.

Williams is about twenty-eight, and has been employed at the Lake street car barn.

AMUSEMENTS.

Mr. William Gillette has contributed several plays to the American stage, the best one of which is the military drama, "Held by the Enemy," produced at Boyd's opera house last evening. The playgoers of Omaha were made familiar with the character of the play last season, so that it is not necessary now to outline the story or describe the plot. It is a drama made out of original material, and it is constructed on sound dramatic principles. Its popularity is due to the fact that it possesses a human interest, and that it presents the most realistic and convincing picture of a man entirely within the limits of probability. The simple story is carried on with clearness and impressiveness, and the interest that is awakened at the outset is maintained to the end. As a reminder of the great conflict it must hold the earnest attention of all whose memory goes back to that period, while to those who have no such recollection it is a suggestive object lesson. As to its scenic and mechanical effects, some of which are exceedingly realistic, the drama was admirably produced last night, but generally the acting seemed wanting in the spirit necessary to the best effort. The playgoers of Omaha were notably tame, and the only one who showed himself to be heartily in spirit with his part, was Mr. Will Freese as Thomas Henry Bean, "special for Leslie's," though the General Stamburg of Mr. Stokes was partrayed with a proper military dignity and precision. The ladies, Miss Kate Wilson, Miss Esther Lyon and Miss Ethelyn Friend, presented their several roles acceptably, the latter especially being clever in the girlish part of Susan McCree. There was a fair audience, and the performance was received with some manifestations of favor. "Held by the Enemy" remains during the week.

The Chicago Girl's Shoe.

Chicago Times: "Somebody asked me the other day what sizes of shoes were mostly worn in Chicago by ladies," said a shoe dealer yesterday. "My answer rather surprised him. I said 3's and 4's, and more 4's than 3's. He got off the idiotic talk about Chicago women's feet, that you find in newspapers of rival cities. The same thing is true of every American city in this age of the world. In some sections of the country children used to go in their bare feet more than they do now. I should say that with ladies a No. 4 is the most generally worn—I won't say called for—shoe in the market. No. 2's ladies' sizes, you understand, are not much worn, although called for frequently. That is another thing that you hear a great deal about in a funny way. I never deceive a customer about his or her number if the question is asked. But when a lady comes in and says to one of the young men that she wants a No. 2, he looks at her foot, if he can do so without giving offense, and proceeds to fit her."

Disposed OF.

"By the way," he said, as he halted and turned back, can you dispose of any of my slippers?"

"Of course I can."

"I feel much obliged, and I assure you I shall not forget the good turn."

"That's all right, old fellow; give me 500."

They were handed over and the candidate walked on. The other walked around the corner and tossed the little books into a butchers' cart which stood backed up to the curbstone.

NO EVENT

Next to the presidential contest has created more excitement than our great Overcoat sale. It is the talk of the town, and every mail brings us scores of letters from outside ordering Overcoats. We have not said half enough about these garments in our last "Ad." Hundreds of customers praised the Overcoats more than we did, and acknowledged that what they saw outstripped their best expectations.

Of the three special lots advertised last week, two are nearly sold out and the only one we have a fair quantity of, and all sizes yet are the $7.75 SATIN LINED CHINCHILLAS. There isn't anything that will compare with them at double the price in Omaha, and you will say so if you see them.

We propose to keep up this grand Overcoat sale for a while, and to replace the broken lots will add to-day and offer for the coming week three more styles, which we can conscientiously recommend as bargains just as great and unparalleled.

Elegant wide wale woven back cassimere Overcoats in 2 shades, blue and brown, well trimmed and made at $6.00. This is an extraordinary bargain; $6.00 would not pay for the Cloth alone in the garment. We have sold the same Overcoats right here early in the season as a bargain for $10, and they can not be bought elsewhere for less than $12.50 to $15.

A large lot of strictly all wool Chinchilla Overcoats, the Chinchilla made by one of the best mills in the country and warranted Indigo wool dyed, with elegant serge lining and satin sleeve lining at $8. We challenge any reliable Clothing House to produce a like garment for $12. Our price this week is $8.

The third is the bargain of the season. A lot of rich and velvety Venetians and Elysiums, in beautiful mixtures, lined throughout and sleeves with finest silk; a garment which is not often found in ready-made stores, at $15. You would not have a coat made to order any more if you see these. They are perfect in every respect and a merchant tailor would charge for a similar coat, $50 to $60.

Next week we promise some extraordinary thing in suits and pants. Watch our "ad."

Close, economical and intelligent buyers who are judges of qualities and values are doubly welcomed to this great sale.
