LINCOLN NEWS AND GOSSIP.

Editor Emmons Fined and Appeals to the District Court.

A CASE WITH TWO BIG SIDES.

Another Promising Industry—A Reception to be Tendered Governor Thayer by the Knights of Pythias.

LINCOLN BUREAU OF THE OMAHA BEE.

Judge Houston fined Editor Emmons $15 and costs for resisting an officer and disorderly conduct while passing his advertising cards on the streets the other day. It is understood, however, that the fine will be made this heavy to give the district court jurisdiction in the case. Emmons promptly appealed his case and filed bond for all attending costs.

This case is exciting considerable interest. There are two big sides to it. The city council took the matter in hand and appointed a committee to inquire into the animus of it. Yesterday afternoon was spent in investigation. Able counsel represented both sides. The arguments were submitted last night. There seems to be a fixed purpose to ask Officer Mitchell to hand in his resignation. It almost seems that he has been prejudged. The action of the committee in refusing to grant subpoenas to bring out the testimony of disinterested witnesses is probably the reason this way. Mitchell has friends who will resist this act to the bitter end. The indignation that has been kindled by the action of the council committee, in some quarters of the city the feeling is manifest that the whole case has been prejudged, and it is probably true.

The evidence before the committee tended to show that Mitchell was attending to his duty in the most proper manner, and that Emmons' conduct was reprehensible. Mitchell is a man of high character and has been a member of the police force for many years. He is a man of high character and has been a member of the police force for many years. He is a man of high character and has been a member of the police force for many years.

The committee sought to make a point on Mitchell by asking him if he had not seen other parties distributing advertising slips on the streets in open violation of the ordinance law, and permitted it without making arrests. "I have," he replied, "but I asked them to stop it, and no one ever refused and gave back saucy talk. I arrested Mr. Emmons because he resisted authority and refused to obey the law."

This case will grind its way out through the courts, and it will be impossible to fix the blame on either side. As the case is now, it is regarded as a peaceful and law-abiding citizen. Mr. Le Gros is generally considered a fair and honest man. The public will now be the decision of the case in the district court. It will be heard during the term commencing next Monday morning.

A PROMISING INDUSTRY.

This morning the attention of The Bee representative was called to a piece of leather in the possession of Mr. Le Gros, the East 12 street chiroplast. It was soft, pliable and of very fine texture, technically known as kid-tanned calf, and equal to any of the imported leather of its class. It was tanned from Nebraska skins by a young Englishman who lives at Crest. He has been in this country but a few months, and comes directly from the largest tannery in London, where some of the finest leather in the world is produced. The young man, shortly after coming to this country, concluded to try what kind of work could be done with American hides, and the result of his labor he brought to Lincoln and showed as samples. By all who have seen it, it is pronounced to be superior to anything heretofore produced in this state. A sample of the leather was taken to the Lincoln tannery and an official test declared that such leather could not be produced in this country.

The cost, Mr. Le Gros says, is just half that of imported leather of an exactly similar grade. The Englishman has received liberal offers from Lincoln dealers. Lincoln is a fine field for the establishment of a leather industry that will produce a finer grade of goods than can be manufactured anywhere else. Mr. Le Gros has ordered several skins and the Lincoln Glove company has contracted for one thousand dozen. A strong effort will be made to secure the establishment of the industry here. It can be done, and if Lincoln does not get it, it is its own fault.

TENDERED A RECEPTION.

Monday evening, November 12th, the three Lincoln divisions of the uniform rank, Knights of Pythias, will tender Governor John M. Thayer and Lieutenant Griffith, of the Eighteenth United States regulars, a reception at their castle hall over the First National bank. The intention is to make the reception something more than a local affair. Visiting members of the order are invited to be present from any part of the state. It will almost be an ovation on the part of the brotherhood in honor of their special guests.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

The Lord reigneth. Let the people rejoice, and give thanks to the Supreme Ruler of the universe for his countless blessings.

The people of Nebraska have the most abundant reasons for heartfelt gratitude to Him for his guardian care and keeping. The people of Nebraska have the most abundant reasons for heartfelt gratitude to Him for his guardian care and keeping. The people of Nebraska have the most abundant reasons for heartfelt gratitude to Him for his guardian care and keeping.

Therefore, in acknowledgment of all these mercies and in accordance with a most appropriate custom, I, John M. Thayer, governor of the state of Nebraska, do hereby designate Thursday, the 29th day of the present month, as a day of thanksgiving and praise to our Heavenly Father.

I respectfully urge that all the people of the state abstain from their usual avocations on that day, and assemble in their accustomed places of christian worship, and give thanks to Him who has so beautifully blessed us with evidences of his goodness, and let not the poor be forgotten on this day of thanksgiving.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the great seal of the state of Nebraska, this 10th day of November, in the year of our Lord 1888, of this State the One Hundred and Twenty-second and of the independence of the United States the One Hundred and Thirtieth.

By the Governor, JOHN M. THAYER.

G. L. LAWS, Secretary of State.

Late cases as follows have been filed for hearing before the supreme court:

William G. Sloan et al vs William Coburn; error from Douglas county.

William S. Wise vs Joseph Newberry; error from Douglas county.

Kate A. Griffith vs Albert C. Smith; error from Douglas county.

CITY NEWS AND NOTES.

The case came after the storm. It is long-some on the streets of Lincoln today. Republican politicians will spend Sunday at home serenely happy.

Howey, editor of the Herald, went to Seward today to shake off dependency. He ramblined thusly: "Landslides can't come but once in four years."

Rev. Father St. Lawrence, late of St. Theresa's Catholic church, has resigned his position and will probably go to Denver. He was a large circle of friends in this city. Hon. N. V. Harlan, of York, was conspicuous among the prominent republicans in Nebraska county throughout the year of 1887.

Mr. George Smith, late of Philadelphia, has located in Lincoln, and will take charge of the Commercial Agency at this place. He is a son of Hon. W. Henry Smith.

Col. John A. C. Fairbrother, editor of the Call, returned last night from his trip to New York and Boston.

AMUSEMENTS.

For a number of years the Hansons, astonished both Europe and America by their wonderful acrobatic feats and clever stage tricks, and now they come in an entirely remodeled play, in which new features, new tricks and new songs are introduced, which eclipse anything they have ever done before. The Hansons have been before the public so long and are so universally admired that whenever they appear the public knows that the performance will be first class. The mechanical appliances this year are the most extensive they have ever carried, requiring the full capacity of a car to transport it. The company still includes many of the favorites who have aided the Hansons in making their great reputation. "Le Voyage en Suisse" will be produced at Boyd's opera house on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of this week.

Murray and Murphy will occupy Boyd's opera house the last three nights of this week with a delightful medley of melian fun, entitled, "Our Irish Visitors." Patrons of the entertainment must understand that dramatic effect is neither offered, nor attempted, but that great big successful efforts reach after the laughter of the audience, and legitimate methods are employed to this end. It is appropriate to say that Messrs. Murray and Murphy are noted vaudeville specialists, and that in melody and suppleness of limb they discount all competition.

The election is over and the management of the Eden Musee have prepared an admirable entertainment for the coming week. Prominent in this will be J. W. Coffey, the famous dode skeleton who has interested thousands by his remarkable person. Kaolin, the Queen of Clay, and W. E. Glenn, the great Spenserian machine, both remain another week. In the theater will be Harrigan, the famous juggler, and Nestor in the role of a clown and a woman. She, with her daughter Gretchen, reside on the north side.

The Central Labor union a few days ago promulgated the following address, printed in German. It was mainly that which caused the police to refuse the anarchists permission to parade the city to-morrow.

Fellow Workmen and Sympathizers: Only a short space of time separates us from the 11th day of November, the anniversary of the murder of five of the truest friends of labor—the legal strangulation of Spies, Parsons, Engel, Fischer and Lingg. This day, which always will be a dark spot in the history of our United States, because on that day the capitalist class of this country for the first time pronounced its protest against the rights of the proletarians for emancipation, and by brute force to supplant the tree of liberty by the gallows, must and shall burn in the memory of all men and women workers.

Mr. George Smith, late of Philadelphia,

A "FESTIVAL OF SORROW."

Chicago Anarchists to Celebrate the Execution of Their Leaders.

STREET PARADES PROHIBITED.

And Nothing More Than Simple Observances at the Cemetery Will Be Attempted—An Address to the Sympathizers.

The Chicago Anarchists.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—The anarchists "festival of sorrow" to-morrow in commemoration of the execution of the anarchists a year ago will in all probability be a quiet affair. The mayor has forbidden any street parades, and nothing more than simple observances at Waldheim cemetery will be attempted. The central labor union will be largely represented at the cemetery, and also 5,000 others, attracted by curiosity mainly, are expected to go out. Several speakers will address the gathering, both in English and German. Nina Van Zandt will doubtless be there. With the exception of a few months' visit to Ottawa, this state she has remained quietly at home since the hanging. She has very few callers but her grief has spent itself, and her face looks as bright as on the day she and Spies first chatted gaily through the bars at the county jail.

Mrs. Parsons will not be at the grave of her husband to-morrow. She is in England. Mrs. Fielden is on the west side with her family. She is a quiet, frail little Englishwoman, but she is a great sympathizer with the cause. The funds raised by the friends of her husband for her assistance her greatly. Her husband resided on the north side of Hudson avenue. She visits her husband at Joliet as regularly as the month comes around. She determined to go home to Germany some time ago, but she is still here and hopes to see her husband pardoned in a few years. August Spies' mother grieved sorely for the loss of her son, but she is a respectable woman. She, with her daughter Gretchen, reside on the north side.

The Central Labor union a few days ago promulgated the following address, printed in German. It was mainly that which caused the police to refuse the anarchists permission to parade the city to-morrow.

Fellow Workmen and Sympathizers: Only a short space of time separates us from the 11th day of November, the anniversary of the murder of five of the truest friends of labor—the legal strangulation of Spies, Parsons, Engel, Fischer and Lingg. This day, which always will be a dark spot in the history of our United States, because on that day the capitalist class of this country for the first time pronounced its protest against the rights of the proletarians for emancipation, and by brute force to supplant the tree of liberty by the gallows, must and shall burn in the memory of all men and women workers.

Rev. Father St. Lawrence, late of St. Theresa's Catholic church, has resigned his position and will probably go to Denver. He was a large circle of friends in this city. Hon. N. V. Harlan, of York, was conspicuous among the prominent republicans in Nebraska county throughout the year of 1887.

Mr. George Smith, late of Philadelphia, brothers, who are held prisoners in Joliet. Trace with iron pencil on the states of history your judgment of condemnation of the policy of the gallows, pursued by the heartless money bags and their tools, and you will find it is a crime against the partial judge of the future and make tremble all those to whose hands the blood of our brothers sticks, and who imagine that with the bodies of "our men" they could also strangle the ever young and vigorous spirit of rebellious workmen, in the name of Chicago. Speaking on the subject, Mr. J. Kopp, of Kopp, Driebus & Co., the wholesale confectioners, said:

"I have not attended an anarchistic meeting in two years. I do not know what is to be done to to-morrow's gathering except in a general way that it is to be a memorial service for the anarchists who were executed in Chicago a year ago."

"How many anarchists are there in Omaha, Mo.?"

"I don't know, and it's hard to guess. As I said before, I have not attended a meeting for two years, although the reporters periodically rally about a bugaboo about such a gathering, which is all uncalculated and a needless alarm. About a year ago had a meeting called and a reporter on one of the morning papers came to me for such facts as I could give. Afterward the meeting was declared off. It was just before the hanging of the anarchists. The meeting was running high and we didn't want to cause unnecessary excitement or fear. Evidently the reporter did not know of the postponement of the meeting, and he was half right of the supposed gathering," and Mr. Kopp chuckled loudly at the remembrance of the joke on the enterprising pencil painter.

"He even published pretended speeches," continued the speaker, "and the best joke of all (from the papers) used his account of reports of their own. "No," in answer to another query, "there is no organization of anarchists in Omaha. Otto Von den Steinen can probably tell you all you want to know."

Mr. Von den Steinen is a German and entitled to wear the word "Baron" as a handle by his name, but in coming to America, he probably told you all you want to know. He was found in his working clothes in the grinding room of Melcher Bros. barber supply house. He is an intelligent looking young man of a quiet demeanor, wholly different from the anarchist who he is usually pictured. When asked about to-day's meeting he said: "I don't know. I will be there at 2 o'clock, and may last two or three hours. There will be speeches in English and German. The exercises will be in memory of all the anarchists and socialists who were hung in Chicago a year ago. I was put on the committee to account for all money, and that a receiver be appointed."

The principal property thus involved in the trial of land located on July 1, 1886, the rate limits of South Omaha, and upon which the stock yards are established.

Files a Withdrawal.

The two cases of C. E. Mayne that have been on the files of the United States district court for some time were withdrawn by the plaintiff yesterday. One was Mayne against the Bank of Commerce, George E. Barker and Charles Corbett. In the former instance the case was dismissed at the cost of the plaintiff, and the orders of injunction and appointment of receivers, were vacated. In the latter instance the case of injunction was dismissed at the cost of the plaintiff.

HE ROBBED THE MAILS.

Wanted in Oregon Territory and Arrested in Omaha a Fugitive.

Yesterday evening as Officer Savage was patrolling his beat on South Tenth street, his eyes rested upon an individual who was walking slowly along seemingly on an endless journey. His every appearance, aside from a slight variation in his habits, tallied exactly with the description sent out about eight months ago, of Richard Jeneway, a telegraph operator who was wanted by the United States authorities at Spicer, Ore., for robbing the mail. This led the officer to scrutinize his man more closely, and the result of the ocular survey was the arrest of the individual on suspicion of being the man. He was completely dumfounded when placed under arrest, but when he was brought before the criminal dock at the central police station he claimed he had never planned to return the amount claimed to have been stolen by him back to the government, hoping thereby to escape imprisonment. He also stated that he was once short in his accounts with the telegraph company, but that he made it good before his crime was detected. The extent of his theft is unknown. He does not deny the charges of having planned the mails, and also states that he will go back without a requisition. He has evaded the authorities for nearly eight months. He arrived in Omaha but an hour before his arrest. From Plattsmouth, it is stated that a reward of $2,000 is offered by the postal department for his arrest and conviction. Jeneway is a young man of medium height, and about twenty-seven years of age. He is a native of Oregon, and his home is in the east. The postal authorities at Spicer, Ore., have been notified. He is charged with having a fugitive from justice on the police docket here.

FAILED TO RESPOND.

A Cab Driver's Narrow Escape From Being Shot.

Last night T. W. Scott, a telegraph operator, got into a dispute with a cab driver over some trivial matter, and in the height of his passion he drew a 45 calibre bull-dog revolver and aiming it directly at the cab driver's head, pulled the trigger. Fortunately, although every chamber contained a cartridge, the instrument failed to respond, and before Scott could make a second attempt he was overpowered and the weapon taken from him. An officer was summoned and Scott was locked up with the charge of carrying concealed weapons lodged against him. It is thought, however, that the charge will be remitted somewhat before it reaches the court docket Monday morning. The scene of the affair was opposite the entrance of the Millard hotel, on Douglas street. The name of the cab driver could not be ascertained.
