

THE DAILY BEE. COUNCIL BLUFFS.

OFFICE NO 12 PEARL STREET. DELIVERED BY CARRIER IN ANY PART OF THE CITY AT THE RATE OF TWO CENTS PER COPY. TELEPHONE NO. 41. NIGHT EDITOR, NO. 41.

MINOR MENTION.

N. Y. Plumbing company. Start the new year with a clean, neat set of books, made by Morehouse & Co. Elegant overcoats at A. Reiter's, merchant tailor, 312 Broadway. Best hard and soft coal and Missouri wood. E. E. Mayne, 619 Broadway. A building permit for a $500 residence was issued yesterday to Mrs. George L. Smith.

Contractor Murphy says the new school building on Washington avenue will be ready for occupancy by the 20th of December. The plank for the foundation of the Sixth street pavement has been delivered on the ground, and blocklaying will be commenced the early part of the week.

The electric light wires on Broadway are being raised six feet, new poles being set for the purpose. The old ones were getting decidedly shabby and the change was necessary. George Shipley, of Hazel Dell, who was brought to this city charged with assault with intent to kill, was held in the sum of $400 for appearance November 14. He furnished the required sum and was released.

The first marriage licenses in three days were issued yesterday to two Omaha couples, De Witt C. Stokes and Katie Fischer, Frank Pennell and Linda Lewis. Spouse Biggs tied the knot for the last named couple. Ground wires are being put in along the line of the electric motor railway. The wires are attached to the circuit wires running along the rails and are grounded on the fire hydrants, thus making a ground wire in every block.

Boozers comprised the principal gist in police court yesterday morning. D. A. Aayes was assessed $8.10, and J. D. Williams, W. Goodwin and A. Becker $7.00 each. A. T. Wilson was arraigned for the larceny of a coat from the Turf, but his case was continued. A roadway is being tunneled under the Union Pacific "dumpr" at Thirty-fourth street near the river. The railroad company agreed to put in a road bridge at this point whenever ordered by the council. It is at this time that this city gave them a right of way. The rapid settling up of the bottoms warranted the opening of the street, and orders to that effect were issued by the council.

"Little Puck" drew a large house at Dolan's, last evening. The utterly ridiculous situations could not fail to excite the risibilities of the audience, and the house was in a continual roar. Mr. Dolan took them by storm, as on the occasion of former visits, and clearly showed his hold on the theater-going people of this city. For genuine fun-makers his company stands remarkably well, and Council Bluffs will always greet them, as on last evening, with a packed house. A novel election bet was made between Dell G. Morgan, the Broadway druggist, and Alderman Knaphan. The two wagered on the result of the general election, the latter on the losing side. The Alderman is on the losing side of the bet, but has not yet paid the bet, as his upper lip still supports its shade. After the session of the electoral college the Alderman's appendage, neatly tied with a blue ribbon, will probably be exhibited among the trophies in one of Dell's showcases.

See W. C. Stacy's ad. See Forrest Smith's special column. Loans made on city business and residence property. No. 412 Broadway. Kimball-Champ Investment company. Personal Paragraphs. F. H. La Fette, Logan's enterprising news dealer, was in the city yesterday and favored THE BEE with a call. Mr. W. J. Agnew, of Plattsmouth, Neb., is in the city spending Sunday with his sister, Mrs. S. J. Swanson. D. M. Owen, of the grading firm of Owen Bros., has sufficiently recovered from his recent illness to be able to work on the street again. He could not give up at the first call, and will try this world for another whirl. Mr. McAdam, the well-known paving contractor, is closing up his business as quickly as possible, and will leave for Chicago Tuesday evening. He has just completed a three month's job in this city, and returns home as the season is over. The company's outfit will be left here, as they expect to do more work next year in this city. He will take away, however, the best wishes of hosts of friends, for he is a genial, whole-souled gentleman, and none wish him more success than his friends in the Bluffs.

On Tuesday, November 20, at 10 o'clock a. m., I will sell at public auction the machinery and fixtures taken from the "General Terry." Place of sale, river bank, just below west end of Union Pacific bridge in Omaha. A. OVERTON, Wrecker. For Sale Cheap—Lots near the bridge to parties who will build at once. Address or call on J. R. Rice, No. 110 Main street, Council Bluffs. Call soon and see J. G. Tipton for some rare bargains in Broadway property. Rock Spring coal, Gleason, 26 Pearl street. The Republican Jubilee. The Republicans had a grand jubilee and ratification last evening. Such short notice of the affair was given that but little preparation was made, but everything was on hand and ratified to his heart's content. The line formed on Fourth street, in front of the masonic temple. Dalbey's band had a place at the head of the line, followed by the flambeau club and a line of 200 torches. Then came the transparencies and a long line of paraders, young and old, blowing horns, beating the pans and creating a hideous racket generally. A shotgun club of sixty members added to the din by the incessant discharge of firearms. The huge canoe, built for campaign purposes, occupied a prominent place in the procession. A figure representing Cleveland on his way up Salt river attracted much attention, as did another of Cleveland in bed with his head banded and other indications of having sustained a complete knock-out. An immense crowd turned out to witness the demonstration. Many houses were brilliantly illuminated. The affair was a big one and everybody enjoyed it. Illinois and Iowa best soft coal, Gleason, 26 Pearl street. The Council Bluffs Lumber Co. want you to try some of their coal.

OF INTEREST IN THE BLUFFS.

Local Democratic Statesmen Express Their Views of the Defeat. MOTORS GO OVER THE BRIDGE. Two Branches Make a Wild Run on Broadway—City Warrants Rising—Trace of Neola's Safe Brought To-Day's Services.

How Do You Like It? How do the leading democrats in the Bluffs take it? Rather good naturedly—remarkably so in fact, in view of all the circumstances. There is no doubt a little soreness, but they come to the front smiling—some of the grins being a little forced, to be sure. Among them: Joe Shea—Harrison is good enough for me. I am more of an American citizen than I am a partisan. Judge Robinson—Go to —, don't talk to me. Money buys votes. That's certain. Tom Bowman—There hasn't been any election. It was a cyclone. Billy Thomas—It suits me, only I didn't like to see Cleveland beaten. Alderman Bellinger—It was a surprise party. Even the republicans didn't expect it. It has knocked me out of—well, never mind. Let me sleep for a week until I get over it. J. J. Stewart, Esq.—If you like it, the rest of us can stand it. A. C. Graham—I am satisfied to abide by the will of the majority. But it hurts just the same. Henry Eisenman—It don't suit me very well, but I suppose I have to be satisfied. Mayor Rohrer—I shan't give it up until I get the official returns from Kansas township. Justice Biggs—It is all for the best. J. A. Murphy—It was a perfect cyclone, and the railroads are responsible for it. G. A. Holmes—It's all right. Now, I want you to have a majority in the senate and house of representatives; then you will admit Dakota, Montana and Idaho. We will then see how long the west will support the high tariff on covering the cost of the tariff.

Alderman Waterman—You have it all your own way now, but we are not dead yet. Alderman Weaver—Good; it's all right. You have everything, and I suppose you are satisfied. C. A. Hammer—I am as happy as a—a bird in a cage. John Plumer—Don't bother me; let me forget my misery. Alderman Bellinger—Like it first rate. Now I can get even with some of you fellows. Steadman has promised me that Walter Smith and Milt Sears can have mail routes. E. H. Sheafe wants the postoffice, but he can't have it. Perhaps I can get him in for janitor. That's the best I can do for him. I'll see that all you fellows get something. I understand Phil Arnour has been looking at the building, but it's too big for him. S. B. Wadsworth—But it's a cold, cold day. Ben Marks—The people were not educated in the questions at issue. That's what's the matter with the whole business.

N. I. Tibbitts—The sorehead democrats couldn't steal enough under Cleveland's administration, so they knifed him. Judge James—It's all right, only I wish you had completely knocked out the bolshers of the city. Auditor Hendricks—It is no longer a "public trust." It is a private snap. Colonel Pusey—It is one of those political revolutions of which all republicans form a part. They are subject to the house of representatives had adjourned and let its members work their districts we could have held the house. Cleveland is more of a statesman than a politician. Dan Farrell—I ain't kicking. It's all right. But it isn't true that I stood in on my bet with both sides. I lost a heap of money, so they say, but you bet, I didn't lose much of my own.

John Churchill—It was the combination of New York that killed us. I don't think I shall spend the winter in California. The election returns don't prove that there are no large voters in John Ahles—The defeat is the result of lack of organization and proper education in the principles at issue. The people are learning. They are learning fast, and you will see it after awhile. If you want to borrow money, buy a lot, house and lot, farm, or trade any thing, see A. A. Clark & Co., Broadway and Main.

For bargains in real estate in any part of the city see P. J. Day, the leading real estate dealer. See Forrest Smith's special column. We have listed with us some cash and a few good farms to exchange for Council Bluffs property. A. A. Clark & Co., Broadway and Main. E. H. Sheafe loans money on chattel security of every description. Private consulting rooms. All business strictly confidential. Office 500 Broadway, corner Main street, up stairs. First Motor Into Omaha. Yesterday afternoon a motor train ran over the new bridge—the first one to cross. The party consisted of members of the bridge company, headed by Manager Evans and accompanied by a number of prominent citizens and representatives of the press. There are many little details of construction which are not complete and perfectly adjusted, but the motor worked like a charm. Its speed was regulated easily, the starts and stops were quick and smooth, and all seemed delighted. It is apparent that when everything is complete and in working order the motor will win a popularity bordering on enthusiasm.

The stop in Omaha was brief. The party were then joined by Mr. Charles Pullman, the manufacturer of the elegant cars used on the line. Mr. Theodore P. Bailey, of Chicago, the general agent of the Thomson-Houston Electric company, whose system is used on the motor line, and Mr. Smith, W. C. Morse, Frank Murphy, J. H. Millard and other well-known Omaha gentlemen. The return trip was made at a rapid speed, especially along Avenue A. A little curiosity to see how the horses crossing the bridge would take to the new cars, with their "no pusher" and only one "puller." They seemed to take it rather more kindly than many predicted. A few shied and looked as if they wanted to see some excuse for running, but most of the steeds paid as little attention to the cars as to an ordinary street car. The date has not been decided upon for the adoption of a schedule with regular trips. Mr. Pullman and Mr. Bailey had a long consultation with the officers of the company yesterday. The assurances are given that the finishing touches will be put on as rapidly as possible. The public will not have many days to wait before they can have the regular service. Headquarters for stoves, ODELL & BRYANT, 613 Main st. Dresses made—Wool dresses $5 to $8, silks and plushes $8 to $10. Miss Simmons, over Eisenman's. Have our wagon call for your soiled clothes. Cascade Laundry Co. Saint Bernard Place. I have a number of fine lots for sale in the above addition, located only two blocks away from the street cars on Broadway. These lots are 50x250 feet, and are choice residence property. They are high and dry and present a commanding view of the city. For all information regarding prices and terms apply to J. G. Tipton, sole agent, 527 Broadway.

Two Lively Runaways. A lively runaway took place on Broadway yesterday between 12 and 1 o'clock, which came near resulting fatally. Two boys by the name of Weatherbee had a pair of bronches attached to an old pair of wheels and were attempting to drive them. The animals became excited, and finally ran away. They dashed up Broadway at a terrible pace, narrowly missing several buggies standing near the curbstone. Mrs. J. E. Metcalf was sitting in her buggy in front of Lentzinger's bakery as the frightened animals dashed on. The runaway team collided with her vehicle, one wheel running over the buggy seat and the axle caught the astonished woman across the throat with a force nearly sufficient to injure her neck. The obstruction proved too much for the harness, and the wagon stopped while the bronches continued their flight. Mrs. Metcalf was left in a very awkward as well as painful predicament. The axle was lying across her throat and she was perfectly helpless. Several men who witnessed the accident hastened to remove the weight, but the woman was insensible. She was taken into De Haven's drug store, and medical assistance summoned. It was over an hour before she could be taken home.

His escape from death was almost miraculous, and it will be some time before the recovery from her present experience. The boys escaped unharmed and the bronches will probably be all right—when they are found. Weather strips at Chapman's art store. We do not intend to endorse any except articles of merit, but we take pleasure in referring to the "Garland Stoves and Ranges," whose superiority is too well established to be called in question. They are believed to be unequalled by any in the world. Sold exclusively by P. C. DeVoi.

Mixed pickles in bulk at N. I. Tibbitts, 345 Broadway. We have some choice bargains in bottom property listed with us by parties who say they must have money. A. A. Clark & Co., Broadway and Main. City Warrants Rising. The city warrants issued this month are selling at 90 cents on the dollar. This is an increase of 5 cents over any price paid for several months. The price is due to the fact that all warrants will be called in January 1. In the meantime the warrants draw 7 per cent interest. It is hoped that the price will continue to go up. Much inquiry is made in eastern money markets as to why the city scrip, or warrants on the general fund are below par, while city bonds sell at par, and it requires a great deal of explanation. Last year the building of the new fire house on Upper Broadway and the purchase of the elephantine truck had a tendency to depress the value of the warrants, and it is quite probable that the building of the new police house and the projected purchase of 1,000 feet of new hose for the fire department will have a similar tendency. The reason is that these large warrants come in for payment in order, the same as smaller ones, and take out so much money from the treasury that a large number of smaller warrants, which would otherwise be paid, are not paid until several months later. As a result buyers will not pay as much when there are no large warrants outstanding, as they do not have to carry them as long in the latter case.

Notice the beautiful finish given collars, cuffs and shirts by Cascade Laundry company. E. H. Sheafe & Co. make long or short time loans on real estate, in sums to suit, at low rates of interest. Office Broadway and Main street, upstairs. Dr. C. C. Hazen, dentist, opera house block. It Was Loaded. About 6 o'clock last evening a terrific explosion and sound of shattered glass created quite an excitement at the corner of Broadway and Pearl street. An investigation revealed the fact that M. B. Brown, local manager of the Western Union telegraph company, had left his shot-gun containing one loaded shell on a table in the rear office. One of the messengers saw the gun lying there, and began to examine it, as he "didn't" know it was loaded. The first thing he knew the weapon jumped backward, nearly wrenching his arms from the sockets, and he was almost stunned by a tremendous explosion. The charge went through the window, scattering broken glass over several passers-by on the sidewalk, but luckily no one was injured. The shot lodged against the brick wall of the Everett block on the opposite side of Pearl street. Beyond a broken window and a badly scared youngster no damage was done. The boy will let guns alone in the future, and Mr. Brown will carefully extract all shells before leaving his duck exterminator on the shelf.

Money loaned at L. B. Crafts & Co's loan office, on furniture, pianos, horses, wagons, personal property of all kinds, and all other articles of value without removal. All business strictly confidential. The finish on our collars, cuffs and shirts cannot be equalled. Cascade Laundry Co. J. G. Tipton has bargains in real estate. We have no competitors in finishing collars, cuffs and shirts. Cascade Laundry Co. The Neola Burglars. The team stolen at Neola a few nights since was found yesterday morning in a ravine three miles southeast of the city. The thieves were evidently familiar with the country, as they came in over the Garner road, and then drove out Vaughn avenue, to hide their team. The buggy top was badly smashed, having come in contact with a tree in driving through the timber. Two men were arrested at Neola, on suspicion of being concerned in the robbery. Money loaned on furniture, pianos, diamonds, horses, buggies or anything of value at low rates of interest. No publicity; fair and honorable dealing. A. A. Clark & Co., office cor. All who desire to attend will be made welcome, especially young men. T. J. MACKAY, Rector. Stranger Than Fiction. Chattanooga Times: The following most remarkable story is furnished by H. H. Merrett by one of its reliable correspondents, and presents a case that will puzzle scientists no little: A strange occurrence took place near Lowrey, Ala., which I will not attempt to explain but give you the facts as they are.

A party of Birmingham capitalists, largely interested in the minerals of the region and some prominent railroad officials were here on a tour of inspection with the view of getting some beds of iron ore and selecting the most practicable route for the extension of the new railway that leads up this valley. This, indeed, seems to have been the true battle ground of the gods with the party of geologists, who cannot account for red iron ore in one side of a mountain, brown on the other, with veins of coal immediately underlying the top of both sides, so it was determined to leave them out of the party and carry along a practical man familiar with the formations peculiar to this valley for all geological information necessary in making an approximate estimate of the amount of iron ore and loose rock so encountered on the extension. Accordingly an old foreman, Mr. Merts, who had been in the valley on the new road since April, and had also had large experience in railroading in the west, was selected. He was an intelligent, sober and industrious man, who regularly once a month sent the greater part of his earnings to his wife and children in Kansas. He made his opinion only after the most careful examinations, and the gentlemen had implicit confidence as to their accuracy. The party reached a perpendicular bluff about fifteen feet high when Mr. Merts climbed down to a ledge about six feet from the top and with his hammer was investigating the character of stones and its probable thickness. The gentlemen above heard several blows from his hammer, then a rattling quantity of loose rocks falling and immediately a terrific explosion. The wreck all considerably shocked but not otherwise hurt, and at once went to the edge of the bluff to observe what had happened. The strong odor of dynamite, but to the consternation could see nothing of Mr. Merts. After a careful search some small pieces of his clothing were found hanging in a tree about thirty feet from the ground, but that was all. The attention for the scientists to settle is what caused the explosion. A number of people from Birmingham have visited the place, but I have heard only one man's opinion on the matter. It was given by Mr. Schultz, a scientist. It is known positively that Mr. Merts had no dynamite with him, and Mr. Schultz says the only possible way to account for the explosion is that he had constantly for a number of years been holding dynamite and nitro-glycerine, and that so much had been taken into his system by absorption that it was only necessary for him to receive a slight jar to set it off, which was done when he struck the ground on falling from the ledge.

Whether his story is true or not I can't say, but give the facts as they happened, and they can be substantiated by the scientific men in this vicinity and Birmingham, who will inform you if there is any more light on the subject. Very respectfully, POWELL JEDSON. Can the Students Vote? Forty-two students of the Union Theological seminary, New York City, against whom indictments were found for illegal registration, were at the district attorney's office, accompanied by President Hastings, of the seminary, and Lawyer Kingsley. They appeared in response to a request from the district attorney. The view of the district attorney's office as to the right to vote was explained to them and they were told that they would be challenged if they attempted to deposit their ballots, and that they must answer to the district attorney whether they were their votes, whether or not they are, in the legal sense, residents of the district. The legal presumption, they were informed, is against their right, and they must overcome this in some way. They appear to be registered from a "seminary of learning" as students, and this raises the presumption against them. They must show that they have acquired a domicile here independently of their being students. Corporation Counsel Beckman has advised the police commissioners that the intent governs the students' right to vote in New York City. He says there is nothing to prevent such students from adopting New York City as their residence, as well as their place of educating, if they opt it in good faith they are entitled to vote there.

A Day Ahead. Detroit Free Press: He was leaning up against the city hall fence, and a knot of men near him began to talk politics he roused up and inquired: "Shemlen, who's lectured?" "Nobody yet," replied one. "Huh! I've had leekshum yet?" "No, it is to-morrow." "Hooway! Didn't know but leekshum had got ahead of me!" "Whose your candidate?" "Shemlen's candidate?" "That's a solemn question—very solemn. Do I look like a man who'd vote to er pludge zis chentry into er burk-rap-ty?" "No." "Never! I'd die first! Do I er resemble a man who'd vote to enslave er people?" "No." "Never! Zhe dear people! Give me liberty or death! Shemlen, do I er resemble a man who wants er break up zhis glorious union?" "No." "Never! Give me er union or give me er death. Whose my candidate?" "Shemlen." "Have I been asked to er take a zhrink? Nol Never? Has er any one taken me by er arm and led me to er place of sin and asked me to shmoke or inhale? Nol Nol one! Has any one lent me a quarter? Nol Has er any one spoke kind words to me? Nol a shooll!
