May Wheat Broke Badly, Closing Lower.

CORN WEAK AND LOWER.

Oats Opened Steady—A Strong Disposition to Realize in the Provision Market — Cattle Market Slow.

CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET.

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—Bullish news on wheat was plentiful in the wheat pit around the opening and in the office before the board hours. As a consequence the market opened firm and higher, but within an hour a 3c break in prices was experienced, followed by a ¾c recovery, and another break, which carried the market to the inside range of the day. The second break occurred at 12:30, and was accompanied by heavy trading. The first news to arrive was that the amount on passage had decreased about 1,500,000 bushels, and that imports for last week were 2,000,000 bushels less than the requirements of consuming countries. Then came information of a strong advance in lower grades of wheat at Minneapolis, light receipts at all primary points and an unpromising outlook for winter wheat over an extensive exposed district. To offset this came cables to the effect that foreign stocks on the last of the year were larger than on the corresponding date last year, and materially larger than on the 1st of December. The only point from which definite returns were received were Antwerp and Liverpool. At the first named point stocks were quoted as "double those of last year," and at the latter over a million and a half bushels less. Full reports of foreign stocks will not be in for several days. Dispatches from St. Louis that five of the leading mills had shut down, was a bearish factor, which was not offset by the fact that several mills at Minneapolis had not started. So far as could be ascertained, the break was the result of local causes. Several of the big commission houses and the most active brokers began slugging the market viciously from the very start, and the market was fairly deluged with offerings. May opened at $1.07¾, sold up to $1.07⅞, with considerable trading at $1.07⅝, then declined to $1.06¾. The market held steady around this figure for quite a time, and then broke sharply to $1.05⅝. It rallied to $1.05⅞, and broke again, this time going to $1.04¾. Heavy and very "gamy" buying sent the price to $1.05⅞, but another raid drove it back to $1.04½. The market was very nervous on the break, and it required strong support to prevent a suplemental slump around $1.04¾. There was a large trade, but results showed that offerings were in excess of the demand, for during the last few minutes of the session the price turned down, going for a second time to $1.04¾. Again the market was turned up slightly, and the last quotation for May was $1.04⅝. The tone of the market at the close was that of extreme nervousness, rather than either distinctively strong or weak. The bulk of trading was in May, of course. The range for other active deliveries was as follows, however: January opened at $1.02, ranged from $1.02¾ to 99¾c, and closed at 99¾c. July opened at 97¼c, sold down from that point to 95½c, and closed at 95¾c. As compared with Monday, closings show a shrinkage of 2¼c for January, 2¼c for May, and 1¾c for July. The range for the day was 3⅛c for May.

The corn market was weak and prices ruled lower and largely in sympathy with wheat, but aided in its weakness by remarkably fine weather, the mildness of which is favorable to economy in the use of feeding stuffs and to a free movement from farmers. Deliveries were light and without significance. There was an increase in the amount on ocean passage of 320,000 bushels. Daily shipments from this point show a good consumptive demand to exist, and the export movements increasing, as the figures given above clearly show. Business was fairly active, but the feeling was heavy and nothing occurred to lighten it. Closing prices were from ¼c to ⅜c under those prevailing at the end on Monday.

Oats opened nearly steady in the regular market and followed the lead of other cereals in a downward course, declining nearly ¼c and ruling fairly active and slightly weaker. Later trading was confined chiefly to May, and there were fair selling orders with some covering by shorts. Futures this side of May were slightly more active than recently, with light business at ⅛@¼c decline. No. 2 in store or to go to store sold sparingly at 25⅜@25c, with sales chiefly by sample, the receipts grading mostly No. 3 and No. 3 white.

In provisions trading opened with a bearish turn. Holders of property exhibited from the start a rather strong disposition to realize, and influenced by the monthly deliveries, which were quite large of short ribs and pork, and an increase of 27 pounds over December, 1887, in the weight of the hogs received last month, the market broke badly. Lard, which it was claimed was being sold freely by one of the late manipulators, was perfectly weak, and in a measure led to the receding movement. The bear interest had no trouole to obtain and retain control, and to-day's actual decline, based on Monday's closing, amounted to 5@7½c on pork, 2@25c on lard and 12@15c on short ribs. Business was more than fairly active, with May the favorite month.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—CATTLE—The general market opens slow and unsatisfactory. Prices, perhaps, are no lower than last week or Monday, and one would fancy the same were down to bed-rock, which means that values are down as low as at any time in 1888, and unless there is a falling off in the run, there is little chance for any improvement. The run to-day was largely made up of fair to useful natives, with an average per cent of common, and but few prime, old-fashioned, finished steers, and in turn but few of that class wanted. There were no Texans of note, yet butchers' stock, except a few choice cows and heifers, sold rather slow and about as low as any time. This turn was rather unexpected, as usually when Texans are scarce native cow stock sells a shade stronger but the exception was the rule to-day. There was little or nothing doing in stockers and feeders. Choice beeves, $4.50@4.90; medium to good steers, 1350 to 1500 lbs, $4.00@4.30; 1200 to 1350 lbs, $3.50@4.00; 950 to 1200 lbs, $2.85@3.30; stockers and feeders, $2.10@3.20; cows, bulls and mixed, $1.40@2.90; bulk, $1.90@2.30. Texas steers, 950 to 1050 lbs, $2.40@3.00; cows, $1.75@2.25.

HOGS.—Business was fairly active with a down turn of about a nickel on the ordinary run of good to choice mixed, bulk selling around about $5.15, a few common $5.00@5.10, and best heavy at $5.20, a few lots at $5.25@5.30. Towards the close $5.20 was about the top and scarcely a load sold in the Northwestern division above $5.20. Large sorts were largely neglected, selling largely at $5.15@5.20. For averages of 180 lbs down at $1.25@1.30. Skips and roughs light, $4.75@5.05.

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—STOCKS—The stock market this morning opened fairly active and strong, first prices showing a gain of ⅛ to ½ per cent over Monday's closing figures. New England developed considerable strength, and Union Pacific and Coalers were quite firm. The market had only got fairly started on the up grade, however, when Atchison began tumbling down, declining 2 per cent on a very poor showing in the net earnings for November. This, with the revival of the rumored resignation of President Strong, gave the bears a more favorable opening than they have had in many weeks, and they at once began attacking the whole list. Grangers were the first to feel the influence, St. Paul declining 1 per cent, Northwestern ¾, and Rock Island 1¼. London was not interested in the market to any great extent, and stocks were very plentiful in the loan crowd. Chicago houses were free sellers of Grangers, Rock Island and St. Paul in particular. Cotton Seed Oil certificates were stronger, and advanced ½ per cent. The short interest in this stock is said to be very large, and its friends are talking higher prices in the near future. Commission houses were buying few stocks on the decline. Money has ruled easier all the morning, loaning at 4 and 5 per cent. The bears were picking up a few stocks on the decline for a bull turn. At noon the market was dull and heavy at about the lowest prices. Afternoon dealings were on a narrow scale, and were confined almost wholly to professionals, the outside public evincing but little interest. A prominent broker, who has just returned from London, says: "There is little speculative interest in our railroad securities on the other side at the present time. The speculative fever is running in South Americans, particularly in connection with the various Argentine Republic bonds." The net declines for the day show Rock Island, 1¼; Missouri Pacific, 1½; Atchison, 3¼; St. Paul, ¾; Northwestern, ¾; Lackawanna, ¾; Cotton Seed, ¼, and Reading ⅝ per cent. Coal stocks and Cotton Seed Oil have been well sustained throughout the day. Among the many rumors regarding Atchison was one that the company would pass a dividend at its meeting next month, and while the rumor has not been confirmed, it is generally believed to be true. The total sales of stocks to-day amounts to 182,957 shares, including Lackawanna, 21,000; Lake Shore, 10,000; St. Paul, 14,000; Reading, 22,000; Union Pacific, 15,000; Northwestern, 8,500; Missouri Pacific, 8,000 shares.

OMAHA LIVE STOCK.

Cattle.

Wednesday, Jan. 2, 1889.

The opening trade was confined almost exclusively to butchers' stock, while beef cattle, which were quite plenty and of good quality, moved slowly. The market was all of 10c lower and not very brisk at the decline. The packers were very slow to take hold of the heavy cattle, which were in the majority, but they showed a decided preference for handy, fat, little cattle. This latter grade did not suffer as much decline as the heavy weights. The demand for feeders is fair, but there was nothing of any account on sale. There is no quotable change in prices, good feeders being held at $2.75@3.50.

Hogs.

The market was not in a very satisfactory condition for salesmen, the trade being 5@10c lower and not very brisk at that. The hogs, however, were all sold by noon, the bulk going at $5.00@5.05, with two choice loads at $5.15.

Sheep.

There were only two loads here and they were not especially desirable for the packers.

Live Stock Notes.

Everything lower.

There is likely to be a good deal of kicking over the change of rates on live stock, which is virtually an advance on stock from Nebraska points amounting to from $2.00 to $6.00 per car.

During the past month 23,919 cattle were weighed, as against 9,131 for the same month in 1887.
